

Predestined 211

Chapter 211

Alyssa and Tina looked at each other, and saw speechlessness in each other's eyes.

Alyssa hadn't seen Norris for a long time, but when he saw her, he said that, and she was sick.

"What's the matter?" Tina quietly squeezed Alyssa's arm and asked in a low voice.

Alyssa shook her head: "Where do I know, let's go."

She did like Norris once, and she felt like a deer bumping into each other when she saw him.

Only later the deer in her heart was hit and killed, and she didn't like Norris for a long time.

But Norris didn't intend to stop like this, he ran to Alyssa and blocked her way.

"Alyssa, we have known each other for so many years. You should know what kind of person I am."
Norris paused when he said that, as if he was considering the following words.

Alyssa came out today to be relieved, and Norris's behavior made her feel irritated.

She took a deep breath and grabbed her long hair irritably, with a cold tone: "don't know what kind of person you are. What I know is, if you have anything you want to say, go to Isabel. She's your girlfriend."

"She's not, we've broken up." Norris denied it completely.

Alyssa curled her lips and stabbed him mercilessly: "Oh, then come to me when you break up with her? Am I picking up rags?"

"Alyssa!" Norris's expression changed, and his handsome brows wrinkled tightly, as if he could hardly believe that Alyssa would say this.

"I'm sorry, I'm in a bad mood, but I don't think I'm wrong." Alyssa looked at him with a smile, "Do you have anything else to say?"

"Alyssa, we had some misunderstandings before, but I know you and Karl are not married, as long as you are willing to leave him, come to me, I'll..."

Before his words came out, he was punched in the face by a man who jumped out from the roadside.

He was unprepared for a while, just fell straight down like that, making a "bang" noise.

This sudden change made Alyssa and Tina shocked.

"Norris?" Alyssa reflexively called out Norris's name before raising her eyes to look at the person who beat him.

Who is that tall figure, not Karl?

Karl stood two steps away from Alyssa with a stern face, his brows were cold, and his body exuded an icy breath that no one should be near.

Alyssa paused before walking to him: "Why are you here?"

Tina was not in front of Karl, and she was more frightened than Alyssa, especially Karl who looked like a stranger, she rubbed her arms with the cold, and took two steps back quietly.

At this moment, Norris, who had just been knocked to the ground with a punch by Karl, had already gotten up from the ground, frowning and staring at Karl, "Karl?"

The place where they were at this time happened to be a corner of the night market. The lights were dim and there were few people passing by, so no one noticed the situation here.

Karl glanced at Norris coldly: "Shut up."

Norris was swept upright by Karl's eye, and he subconsciously shut up and stopped talking.

But when he changed his mind, he thought that Alyssa was also there. If he was bluffed by Karl, wouldn't it be very shameless.

Norris raised his head and stalked his neck and said, "What are you proud of? Alyssa has nothing to do with you now, so why do you care about her?"

Alyssa lightly waxed Norris in her heart.

Although she would occasionally challenge Karl with the courage and fatness, she would never choose to challenge Karl when he was already on the verge of rage.

Norris asked for more blessings.

Karl raised his eyebrows and sneered, his tone arrogant and disdainful: "What qualifications do you have to talk to me?"

"Hello, are you Alyssa?"

Suddenly, a tentative voice came from behind.

Other people's attention was also attracted by this sound.

Alyssa turned her head and found that she was a girl who looked like a high school student.

The girl tilted her head to look at Alyssa's face, and threw the unfinished cup of milk tea directly on her body: "b!tch, when you are a mistress, you will be punished by pushing her original partner so hard. ofâ€¦â€¦"

Alyssa was completely stunned when she spoke.

It was Karl who reacted first and pulled Alyssa into his arms, avoiding the cup of milk tea.

The girl's voice caught the attention of others.

Seeing other people coming over here, Tina is the celebrity who is more sensitive to these things. she said, "Go."

Alyssa glanced at Tina, thinking that Tina is now in the rising period, and there are many fans. If people see her and Tina together, it will definitely affect Tina's image.

So, she said to Tina: "Let's go away separately."

Karl glanced at her when he heard the words, and took her hand and walked over to the side road.

The small road was a wide road, where Karl's car stopped.

He opened the car door and directly stuffed Alyssa in, while he pulled open the cab door from the other side, got into the car and drove.

Before Alyssa had time to fasten her seat belt, the car rushed out as if it was out of control.

"what--"

Alyssa screamed, holding her head dangerously, turning her head and shouting at Karl: "You drive slowly!"

But her words obviously didn't work. On the contrary, it seemed to be more exciting to Karl. Not only did the car speed not slow down, but faster.

Alyssa was dizzy due to the bumps, and she spoke intermittently.

"Kaâ€¦Karlâ€¦I want toâ€¦spitâ€¦!"

She had just eaten enough, and she was so shaken now that she really wanted to vomit.

This time, Karl finally slowed down and stopped.

Alyssa stretched out her hand to drive the door and was about to go down. Karl thought she was going to run, so he pulled her into his arms and kissed her down.

He kissed hard and anxiously, his lips and teeth were tightly intertwined, sucking made her lips tingleâ€¦!

However, she really wants to vomit now!

Alyssa hammered him a few times, but he was holding her too hard and couldn't push her at all. The space in the car was limited and her hands and feet could not be stretched out.

Karl held her motionlessly and kissed her, prying her lips apart and kissing deeper and deeper.

Alyssa accidentally touched a sensitive part of him, and pushed him away while he was stiff.

But how could Karl be willing to let her go, still holding her tightly, his eyes dangerous.

"vomitâ€¦!â€¦!"

Alyssa couldn't help not vomiting out anymore.

She felt the arms wrapped around her waist stiff.

But Karl did not push her away as she expected. Instead, the palms on her waist moved up and patted her back to help her smoothly.

Chapter 212

Alyssa ate a bit too much at night, and vomited badly now, so the taste was not good.

She couldn't smell it herself, but Karl felt it obvious.

He just frowned slightly, and when she was done vomiting, he took a tissue and wiped her, then dug out a bottle of water in the car and handed it to her.

“Get out of the car.” Karl’s voice has calmed down.

He opened the door and got out of the car, took off the coat and sweater that had been stained with Alyssa’s vomit, leaving only a thin shirt.

But Alyssa didn’t get anything on her body.

When she got out of the car, when the cold wind blew over, she was refreshed a lot.

Turning her head and glanced at Karl, who was wearing only a thin shirt, she couldn’t help but ask, “Is it cold?”

When she looked at Karl, Karl also turned to look at her.

She just vomited once, her eyes were wet, her eye frames were slightly red, and her pale face was pursing her lips to look at him, which was extremely pitiful.

So when the phrase “what do you think” came to the lips, it became: “It’s not cold.”

Alyssa was ready to accept Karl’s poisonous tongue, and then replied “deservedly”, but he said it was not cold.

Mr. Adams is indeed not an ordinary person, and the temperature is almost below zero, and he is not cold in his thin shirt.

Karl’s “not cold” was not just talking, Alyssa was shivering in the cold wind, and Karl didn’t even react at all.

â€¦

The car was dirty, and Alyssa took a taxi back with Karl.

As for Karl’s car, hand it to the bodyguard to drive it back.

Back home, Karl went to the study to take a bath, and Alyssa went back to the bedroom to take a bath.

When Alyssa came out of the bathroom, she found that Karl was already wearing a nightgown sitting on the single sofa in front of the window.

The headlights in the room were not turned on. There was a dimly yellow floor lamp next to him, and the halo shrouded him, making him look gentle.

But no one knew better than Alyssa.

In Karl, all tenderness is an illusion.

Alyssa walked towards him, preparing to sit down beside him.

But she didn’t want to, she just walked over and was pulled into arms by Karl’s backhand.

He took a sip of the red wine in his hand to Alyssa’s lips: “Take a sip.”

Alyssa frowned and pushed away: "I don't want to drink." After washing, she didn't want to eat or drink.

Karl didn't force her, he took a sip on his own, and pressed it to her lips.

He hooked her lips and put the red wine in his mouth into her mouth.

Alyssa was caught off guard by taking a sip of wine and almost choked.

Karl stretched out his hand and stroked her long hair, moving softly with a comforting touch.

After Alyssa came over, she hammered Karl's chest neither light nor heavy.

Karl stretched out his hand to wrap her small fist, slightly lowered his eyelids to cover the emotion of the bottom of the eyes, and said indifferently, "He is the reason why you dumped the bodyguard?"

His endless words made Alyssa puzzled for a moment before realizing what he was talking about.

"What do you mean?" He was saying that she dumped her bodyguard just to meet Norris?

Karl raised his eyes and looked at her deeply, "You want to leave me."

"What are you talking about!" Alyssa frowned and frowned, "I don't understand what you are talking about."

"You don't take wedding photos, and you don't want to marry me." When Karl spoke, the expression on his face remained unchanged, but Alyssa was very keen to hear a tense emotion.

"I explained to you before, I was not meeting!"

Karl didn't want to listen to her explanation at all. He knew exactly what Alyssa was thinking.

He hooked Alyssa's waist with one hand, and the wine glass in the other hand fell to the ground, and the floor was covered with a blanket. The wine glass did not break, and the unfinished wine dipped into the carpet.

Karl sat on it with Alyssa, hooked her waist and legs, stood up and hugged her to the side of the bed, and the two rolled onto the bed together.

Alyssa was a little uncomfortable.

The moment he was about to enter, Alyssa suddenly stopped him, panting and asking, "You divorced Isabel?"

"Yeah." With fine beads of sweat hanging on his forehead, Karl responded with a heavy breath, and was about to rush inside.

Who knows, Alyssa stopped him again: "You didn't wear! Ah!"

The words behind her lips were scattered by his brutality.

She lifted her slender white neck and opened her lips slightly and moaned.

Karl leaned over, leaving a string of wet pink marks on her snow-white neck, lewd and cute.

Her waist was thin and soft, which always gave Karl the illusion that she would be broken by a pinch. The tyrannical factor in her heart was always tossing at this time, making him want to just pinch off her waist and make her Crying for mercy

Alyssa still remembered that Karl didn't wear a condom.

Karl hit deeply, Alyssa said intermittently in a short sentence: "You don't be in the first two"

At this time, he didn't want to hear her still talking about it.

He deliberately found her sensitive-feeling point and slowly tortured her, and when she couldn't help it, he found the right place and slammed hard

Vaguely, Alyssa remembered that Karl had been inside the last few times.

They are not suitable for having children now.

She thought about this faintly, and finally fell asleep deeply.

Karl turned over and got out of bed and took a warm wet towel to wipe Alyssa's body.

He lowered his eyes, his movements were gentle and slow, focused as if the artist was treating precious and rare works of art.

After wiping Alyssa's body, he pushed aside the sweaty bangs on her forehead, and lightly branded a kiss on her forehead, his voice so soft that he could hardly hear: "I only have you."

Alyssa seemed to have heard someone talking in her ear, she raised her heavy eyelids, and the outline of the person in front of her was blurred, but she also knew it was Karl.

She was so sleepy that she raised her hand laboriously, and the next moment she felt her hand held by a more generous and warm hand. She felt at ease, closed her eyes and fell asleep again.

Karl sat by the bed, stared at her for a long time, and put her hand back under the quilt.

The next day.

When Alyssa woke up, the place beside her was empty.

She stretched out her hand to probe, and there was no temperature, which proved that Karl had been up for a while.

She sat up with her sore body, leaning on the bed and closing her eyes to calculate her safety period.

It seems that the calculations are not accurate, so she can only take medicine.

She hasn't thought about the child.

In addition to the unstable relationship between her and Karl, she still has a lot to do.

She is only twenty-two years old and her life has just begun. She does not have a good mother, and she may also be an unqualified daughter herself.

Even if she had a baby now, she didn't know how to take care of him.

Chapter 213

Alyssa remembers that she bought spare contraceptives.

She changed her clothes and squatted down in front of the drawer. As soon as she found the medicine, she heard a "creak" behind her.

She turned her head, still holding the medicine bottle in her hand, and saw Karl push the door and walk in.

She reacted quickly and silently hid the medicine bottle in her hand behind her: "Are you at home?"

She thought Karl had already left, but she didn't expect him to be still at home.

"What are you looking for?" Karl walked towards her in a hurry.

Alyssa tightly hid the medicine bottle behind her, and slowly stood up: "I feel a little uncomfortable in my throat, I want to find some medicine."

Karl's eyes were insightful, his tone indifferent and normal: "The medicine cabinet is not here."

Alyssa was flustered by the look in his eyes: "Yeah."

But Karl walked directly past her to the other side: "I will give it to you."

Although Alyssa felt a little surprised in her heart, she breathed a sigh of relief.

At this moment, Karl, who had already walked forward, suddenly turned around and stretched out his hand to snatch the medicine bottle that Alyssa had hidden behind him.

Karl's speed was too fast to give Alyssa a chance to react, so he snatched the medicine bottle in her hand.

"Youâ€¦!" Alyssa looked anxious, opened her mouth, and fell silent as she watched Karl's increasingly gloomy face.

Karl held the medicine bottle and looked at her condescendingly, "What is this?"

He stared straight at Alyssa with a nice eye, his whole figure resembling a tight bow, which could burst at any time.

Alyssa swallowed, turned her head and looked aside, and whispered, "Contr@ceptives."

"Speak louder." Karl's voice was a little hoarse.

Alyssa turned her head and shouted at him: "I said birth control pills, can't you hear me!"

Karl's hand holding the medicine bottle couldn't help tightening, the joints bulged, as if he was about to crush the bottle.

Alyssa reached out to him, "Give it to me."

Karl pressed his lips tightly, and slammed the medicine bottle in his hand.

Because of the emotional ups and downs, his breathing was a little heavy, and his voice was suppressed:
"Alyssa, you just don't want to have my baby?"

"No, it's just that I don't want to be a mother now." Alyssa bit her lip and took a half step back.

"Don't try on the wedding dress, don't get married, don't have children, then, just don't want to be with me anymore, don't you?" Karl's voice was as cold as a layer of ice slag, and it was so cold.

Alyssa retorted: "No."

"Isn't that what kind of medicine do you take?" Karl looked at her with a sullen expression, the veins on his forehead violently, as if his patience reached the limit.

"It's not that I don't want your child, I don't think it is right now."

"Anyway, sooner or later, I will give birth. What is the difference between the present and the future?"

"If I am pregnant now, I may not be able to devote myself to work in the next year or two."

"You're only twenty-two years old, and it's the same after giving birth to work."

"â€¦" Alyssa realized that if she continued to say this, she might not be able to say Karl.

Alyssa stretched out her hand and grabbed her hair, and said annoyed, "Can't you respect my ideas? You make decisions about everything, and I have my own ideas, and I have my own life plan. , This is allâ€¦" It is negotiable.

Karl interrupted her: "Your life plan does not include giving birth to one of our children."

"I just told youâ€¦"

"I understand." Karl sneered before turning around to go out.

Just before going out, he didn't forget to pick up the medicine bottle he had smashed on the ground and take it away.

Is he afraid of her taking birth control pills?

Alyssa felt funny and exasperating.

Karl had just clearly become so angry that he was about to explode, so he even picked up the medicine bottle.

â€¦

Karl took the medicine, Alyssa had to go downstairs to eat, and wait until the meal was over before going out to buy the medicine.

After breakfast, Alyssa planned to go out.

When she reached the door, she was stopped by the bodyguard: "Madam, where are you going?"

Alyssa didn't think much about it, and said directly: "I'll go buy something, don't need you to follow, I'll just go by myself."

After she finished, the bodyguard who stopped her didn't let go.

Alyssa frowned, her face sinking slightly: "What do you mean?"

The bodyguard said blankly: "Boss has explained that if the young lady wants to go out, she has to wait for him to come back and go out together."

"Karl said so?" Alyssa suspected that she had heard it wrong.

The bodyguard nodded respectfully: "Yes."

Karl is restricting her freedom and not letting her go out?

Alyssa pursed her lips, took out her mobile phone and called Karl: "What are you going crazy Karl? What do you mean by not letting me go out?"

Compared to Alyssa's cold and sharp voice, Karl's voice seemed extremely calm: "You need to go out and wait for me to come back, and I'll go with you."

"Who wants you to accompany me, don't know how to walk myself!"

"obedient."

"Listen!" The relationship between the two has not been harmonious during this period. Karl kept his face cold all day long, and Alyssa was not in a good mood, and couldn't help but burst into words.

Karl now restricts her personal freedom, treat her as a pet or what?

"I'll be back soon." Karl's tone sounded extremely calm, and there was no sign of anger at all.

Alyssa had to hang up the phone directly.

The bodyguards naturally knew that Alyssa had called Karl. They had just heard Alyssa's words, and they all lowered their heads like a chill and pretended not to hear them.

Only the young lady dared to talk to Boss like this.

Karl came back quickly.

The weather was already very cold, and Karl walked in from outside wearing a formal suit, still carrying a chill.

Aunt Tami saw Karl coming back, and hurriedly greeted him: "Sir."

Karl waved his hand and motioned to Aunt Tami to go down.

Aunt Tami also knows that the relationship between these two people is not good recently. When she left, she looked back at them with some worry.

Karl sat down next to Alyssa until the shadow of Aunt Tami's figure vanished.

He stretched out his hand to hold Alyssa and said, "Where you want to go, I will accompany you."

Alyssa pulled her hand back and asked him mockingly, "When are you going to let me out?"

Karl's complexion was slightly drunk, but quickly eased: "It's better for you not to go out recently."

"Are you afraid I would go out to buy contraceptive pills?" Alyssa is not stupid, Karl took her medicine in the morning, and she was stopped by the bodyguard when she came down.

She had to admit that Karl was really decisive and ruthless sometimes.

Karl's eyes flashed slightly: "Since you know, then behave."

"What if I don't?" Alyssa squinted at him slightly, speaking provocatively.

"Then I have to use my own methods to make you obedient." Karl said casually, there was nothing unusual in his tone.

But this sounded to Alyssa's ears, but it made her scalp tight.

Karl has made up his mind and must make her pregnant!

Chapter 214

Alyssa started a life without leaving home.

Karl went to Adams' family every morning and took the documents home in the afternoon, saying that he was afraid that she would be bored with him at home.

In fact, Alyssa didn't look good when she saw him, and the two of them were either speechless or quarreling.

But even if the quarrel is just Alyssa's cold-eyed provocation on her own, Karl doesn't hurt at all.

"Aunt Tami said you didn't eat at noon?"

Karl walked in from the door, walked straight to Alyssa and sat down.

Alyssa hugged the computer and struck her slender fingers on the keyboard, staring at the computer screen intently as if she hadn't heard Karl's words.

This is not the first time this has happened.

Karl sullen his face and covered her laptop in one fell swoop.

There was a hint of warning in his voice: "Alyssa."

Alyssa tried a few times, but couldn't move his hand away. She turned her head a little frustrated and stared at him: "Take your hand away, I haven't finished writing yet."

Karl's big hands are still pressing-on her laptop, with an indifferent expression: "Didn't you hear what I said?"

"I don't have an appetite and don't want to eat." Alyssa simply got up and walked around Karl, and sat down on the sofa furthest away from him.

Karl pursed his thin lips, and his eyes narrowed tightly, as if he was patient, but also as if he was about to explode at any time.

Both of them have not been doing very well recently. Alyssa didn't look good to him, and he didn't let Alyssa go out. Neither of them had benefited, and neither was the family.

After a while, Karl compromised: "I will take you out for a walk."

Alyssa refused directly: "I Don't wanna go."

Karl's complexion froze, and he took a deep breath and exhaled heavily: "You have to go if you don't want to go!"

His tone was a bit heavy, and Alyssa was still a little afraid of him in her bones, and she was frightened subconsciously by his tone.

Upon seeing this, Karl's expression became more ugly, and he got up and walked out.

Outside.

Aunt Tami just came over with a tray in which was a bowl of porridge with a few delicate dishes.

Seeing that Karl's complexion was not good, she asked, "Fighting again?"

Karl stretched out his hand and squeezed the center of his eyebrows. There was a bit of gritted teeth in his voice: "She just wants to piss me off!"

Aunt Tami seldom saw Karl being so emotional, she was slightly stunned, and then she wanted to laugh.

When she was young, she entered the Adams' house as a servant and waited on Karl's mother, and she could be regarded as watching Karl grow up.

Later, there was a kidnapping case and Karl was sent abroad, so she quit her job and left the Adams' family.

However, she had been thinking of Karl.

When he was a child, Karl had a gentle personality, he was polite and good-looking when he saw people, and she liked it when he saw him.

Some time ago, when Karl found her, she could hardly believe that the person in front of her was Boss of the Adams' family.

Aunt Tami shook her head and sighed to persuade him: "Madam is a child and has a stubborn personality. How can she be happy if you keep her from going out like this and hold her back?"

When Aunt Tami spoke, she paid attention to Karl's reaction, but she couldn't tell from his expression whether he was listening to her.

This child is thinking too deeply.

Just when she thought Karl hadn't heard her at all, Karl suddenly said, "Aunt Tami, if I don't do this, she will leave."

“What’s wrong? Where are you going?” Aunt Tami was confused.

Although the two of them have a little conflict, she can feel it to everyone else and care about each other.

Karl didn’t say more.

Alyssa is a stubborn person, emotionally, there is no room for sand in his eyes.

Regarding Gerald’s case, he did let Gerald too much, so that in the end Alyssa was also implicated so much.

And Alyssa felt that he used her and let her be trapped in the whirlpool of scandals and rumors.

And the factâ€¦!

Karl couldn’t deny it.

Gerald’s series of actions were very abnormal, and he combined with what Douglas had said before.

If the mother’s case was also related to his aunt Lina, then as Lina’s son, could Gerald’s abnormal behavior be related to the events of the year?

He expected that the development of this matter would have an impact on Alyssa.

But if you block it immediately, you may miss important information.

In the end, the desire to find out the mother’s case prevailed.

Sometimes, he hoped that the woman Alyssa could be a little stupid, so that she would be inseparable from him.

Even if he did something wrong, he could correct it before she found out.

During this period of time, her series of reactions and behaviors have all proved that she has the idea to leave at any time.

It’s just an idea, he doesn’t allow it.

As long as he thinks that he might not see Alyssa when he returns home one day, he feels like an ice cellar, and the whole body is cold.

He thought for a long time, but didn’t think of a feasible way.

And there are men outside making Alyssa’s idea.

He has nothing to do.

Like the desperate death of a traveler who has reached the end of the road, Alyssa will never leave him as long as she is pregnant with his child.

Alyssa herself hadn’t received much care from her relatives since she was a child. If it were her own child, she would not be willing to let him have no father.

Therefore, as long as she has a child, she will never leave him.

Every time he looked at Alyssa's increasingly cold eyes, his heart would shake.

However, thinking of these, his ideas will become firm again.

"Karl."

Alyssa's voice came from behind, and Karl froze for a while, thinking that he might be hearing voices.

During this time, Alyssa hardly took the initiative to speak to him.

Without turning his head, he heard the voice behind him rang again: "Didn't you just say that you would take me out for a walk in the afternoon? Doesn't it count?"

Karl turned his head and saw Alyssa standing by the door watching him.

His eyes lingered on her, then he nodded and said, "Yes."

"Wait for me, I'll change my clothes." Alyssa said without expression.

Turning back to the room, Alyssa showed a triumphant smile as soon as the door closed.

She took out her mobile phone and called Tina, "I just told Karl, where shall we meet in the afternoon?"

Tina groaned for a moment and said, "Go to the supermarket, go to the mall, go to the cinema, just pretend to meet by chance."

"Okay." Alyssa was panicking at home recently, so she didn't let her go out. Tina wanted to come to see her, but Karl didn't let anyone in.

She didn't know if she should admire Karl's cautious applause or should she pity herself.

The only good thing is that Karl is responsive to her.

Chapter 215

Alyssa didn't doubt at all, if she said that she wanted the stars in the sky, Karl would find a way to pick them for her.

With Karl's ability, he might actually be able to pick the stars for her.

Thinking of this, Alyssa couldn't help but laughed at herself.

After changing clothes, she saw Aunt Tami.

As soon as Aunt Tami saw her, she opened her eyes and smiled: "You can eat something before you go. Even if you want to go out to eat, you haven't eaten anything in the morning. Just eat something to pad your stomach."

Karl told her to bring the food she brought back to the kitchen.

Alyssa's appetite hasn't been very good these days. When Aunt Tami saw her, she persuaded her to eat.

She herself was a little puzzled. Aunt Tami's craftsmanship is good and everything is delicious, which suits her appetite.

“Okay.” Seeing Aunt Tami’s concerned eyes, Alyssa nodded without wanting to brush her kindness.

Alyssa went to the restaurant, while Karl was waiting for her in the hall.

Aunt Tami brought the food to the table, bright and scented.

Alyssa had a rare appetite, and couldn’t help but move her index finger and began to eat.

Seeing Alyssa finally had an appetite to eat, Aunt Tami couldn’t help but smile.

She sat down opposite Alyssa and watched Alyssa eating with a gentle expression. She said with some emotion: “Sir, he has a mild temper when he was a child. The polite and polite people liked it when they met. He has a good nature, and sometimes he gets confused and does something bad. Don’t hold it in your heart. Even if you speak out, you can make trouble with him.”

“That child, looking cold-heartedly, in fact, he feels soft.” Aunt Tami seemed to think of something in the past, with a touch of emotion in her tone.

Alyssa paused, her eyes were slightly warm.

Almost no one said these things to her.

Although Tina also cared about her, Tina was very afraid of Karl, and besides helping her scold Karl, she also had any idea.

Aunt Tami met Karl when she was a child, and she naturally felt sorry for him. When she looked at him, she was like looking at her own child.

She said this to Alyssa’s heart.

When others see her and Karl, they will always have another layer of “Mr. Adams” halo on Karl. In this way, no matter what Karl has done, treat her better, maybe overdo it. People think that Alyssa should reconcile with him.

But only Aunt Tami said this, treating them like two ordinary young people in love, and comforting her with earnest words.

Alyssa nodded: “I know, Aunt Tami.”

She knew that Karl’s nature was not bad, she also knew how good he was to the people he cared about, and she understood the softness of his heart.

However, what he did this time could not allow Alyssa to compromise easily.

Human nature is sometimes very weak, compromise once will compromise a second time.

Moreover, the matter this time is a matter of principle.

Although Karl had undergone major changes, he was raised as the only heir to the Adams’ family, and he was also loved by thousands of people, and naturally developed a self-respecting character.

Strong and domineering, you must do what you decide, whether right or wrong.

Alyssa would not be so used to him.

This time, she will fight to the end.

However, she was really curious about the former Karl: "Aunt Tami, you can tell me something about Karl when he was a child."

"When Boss was a child, he was likable. Every time he went to a banquet, the old man would take him with him, especially with a long face. Those little girls love to go around Boss, and the little boys are the same."

After listening to Aunt Tami talk about Karl's childhood, it was difficult for Alyssa to say hello to the little boy who smiled and said hello to everybody, and also helped his little sister peeling candy, and now this admiration who can freeze to death by just looking at others Karl linked together.

Time is really a thief.

Always steal people's happiness and youth.

Aunt Tami couldn't stop talking about Karl's childhood, and Alyssa also heard it interestingly.

Obviously, she just said that she just filled her stomach and went out, but in the end she ate for an hour.

When she came out of the dining room, she found Karl sitting on the sofa.

One of his elbows rests on the armrest of the sofa, his palm rests on his chin, and there is a new light blue stubble on his chin, a thin layer, not very obvious.

However, his face was really haggard.

Alyssa hadn't seen Karl in the face recently, and now she looked carefully, only to realize that Karl's whole person was a little clearer, and his whole person looked colder and sharper.

It may be that her gaze was too focused, and the man who was still in a nap, suddenly opened his eyes.

There was a brief period of confusion in Karl's eyes, and he quickly sat up straight and recovered his focus: "Have you eaten?"

Alyssa nodded.

When they set off, Alyssa realized that Karl did not intend to bring bodyguards.

While starting the car, Karl asked her, "Where do you want to go?"

Alyssa thought about it for a moment, and said, "Go and stroll around."

Karl's expression remained unchanged: "Yes."

Then Karl took her directly to Best Day.

The car stopped at the gate of Best Day, Alyssa held her lips weakly, and sent Tina the address: "Best Day."

Tina returned her a series of ellipsis, apparently feeling a little speechless.

Alyssa returned the message to Tina with her mobile phone, and suddenly felt a shadow falling next to her. She turned her head somewhat frightened, and saw Karl leaning over to help her untie her seat belt.

He looked at the seat belt without squinting, and unfastened her intently. Without even looking at her phone, he pulled away and left.

Alyssa breathed a sigh of relief and got out of the car with her mobile phone.

The parking lot is opposite Best Day, and the two of them have to cross the road to go to Best Day.

Alyssa looked left and right, and found that there was no car coming, so she walked ahead and was about to cross the road.

She always walked a little fast, Karl stepped on his long legs and was about to catch up with her, and looked aside as if feeling, and saw a black car rushing towards Alyssa as if out of control.

Karl's expression suddenly changed, but he had no time to think, his body reacted faster than his brain.

When he reacted, he had already walked two or three steps behind Alyssa, and pulled her into his arms, and they fell to the ground in panic.

The car sprinted above the heads of the two of them and hit the guardrail beside the parking lot.

"There was a car accident!"

"Call the police!"

The security guard outside Best Day Gate had already seen this scene.

Karl hugged Alyssa, feeling that his heart suddenly stopped beating, and the whole world became silent for an instant.

When Alyssa listened to the noisy voice in her ears, she realized what had just happened.

Chapter 216

She looked up, saw Karl's expression a little dull, and asked him, "What's wrong with you?"

Karl opened his mouth, trying to speak, but found that he couldn't make a sound for a while.

Alyssa noticed Karl's abnormality, and her tone of voice could not hide her worry: "Are you all right?"

It took two seconds for Karl to find his own voice: "It's okay."

He tried to move his stiff body and supported Alyssa up.

Some people had gathered nearby, and Karl pulled Alyssa back into the car.

Through the car window, Karl looked at the car that had hit him before.

Just now, the car clearly ran into them deliberately. At that speed, the accelerator was definitely bottomed, just to kill Alyssa.

A flicker of dark birds flashed in his eyes, and he took out his cell phone and called Smith: "Come to Best Day."

Later, he made two more phone calls.

Alyssa faintly heard him say: "Don't call the police, keep it private, and treat people well."

After he hung up the phone, Alyssa had the opportunity to ask him: "Just?"

"Go to the hospital first." Karl interrupted her.

She noticed that Karl's complexion had been very pale since just now, thinking that he was uncomfortable, but there was no blood on his body, and he was walking normally, which should not be serious, so she didn't ask any more.

As a result, as soon as she arrived at the hospital, Alyssa was pushed directly into the examination room.

"A full body check."

Alyssa looked back at him blankly: "I don't feel uncomfortable, I'm fine!"

However, Karl said to her at this moment, "If you don't want children, we can not give birth now."

"what?"

This time, he ignored Alyssa's doubts and urged the doctor to examine Alyssa.

Alyssa helped her forehead and discussed with the doctor: "Doctor, forget it, I'm fine, and I will pretend to have completed the examination when I go out later."

The doctor pushed his glasses: "So?"

"Yeah." Alyssa nodded.

She was in good health, but she didn't even touch it just now. It was too troublesome to check wherever she needed to be.

The doctor condensed his eyebrows, as if thinking about the feasibility of Alyssa's words.

Finally, under Alyssa's expectant eyes, the doctor shook his head expressionlessly: "Don't dare."

Alyssa: "!"

She really can't see that the current doctors are so ethical.

The doctor added quietly at this moment: "This is a private hospital under the Adams' family. If I dare to do this, I will be fired."

Alyssa knew that there were countless industries under Adams' family, but she didn't expect to have hospitals.

In this way, doesn't this doctor also know Karl and the news some time ago?

However, the doctor spoke upright.

â€¦

Although there are many items in the examination, Alyssa is the young woman of Adams' family. In the family hospital, she is naturally attentive.

Ordinary people do a full-body examination, and better hospitals should make an appointment for exclusion in advance. It takes a lot of time to complete the whole set.

Alyssa finished it soon.

Karl accompanied her all the way, but fortunately, he hadn't called a doctor to help her cheat before.

Alyssa has finished the inspection, and there is no result yet.

She turned to look at Karl: "Do you want to check it too?"

"No." Karl refused directly.

Not knowing what he thought of, his tone eased a little: "I have regular physical examinations every year, it's okay."

"Oh." Think about it, don't most people now have regular checkups.

Alyssa remembered what Karl had said before she went to check, and asked him aloud, "What did you say before?"

Karl's complexion didn't change much, but his voice was obviously tight: "It's what you understand."

During this period of time he wanted to make her pregnant, and he didn't even let her out of the door. Now suddenly he didn't force her?

This capricious character is even more difficult to understand than a woman.

The two were silent for a while.

The doctor came out with the test sheet at this moment, with a hesitant expression.

Karl's face was cold, and his voice was cold: "Say if you have anything."

The doctor pushed down the glasses, swallowed and said carefully: "Madam is very healthy, justâ€¦"

Karl glanced at him coldly, "Can't talk about it all at once?"

"It's like she's pregnant, but need a corresponding examination to be sure." The doctor bit his scalp and finished the following words, but he lowered his eyes and dared not move or speak out.

This was the first time he saw Boss and the young lady. Boss was as cold and scary as the legendâ€¦

The room fell silent for a while.

Alyssa was confused.

She is pregnant? After Karl said that he could not give birth if he didn't want to give birth.

“Really? The doctor is sure you read it right?” Although she had been ordered by Karl not to go out recently, Karl did not do anything with her during this time.

Is it the number of times that no measures were taken before?

But, how could it be so easy to get caught?

The doctor respectfully said: “So we need to do a detailed examination for Madam to get a definite result.”

“Go ahead.” Karl’s voice sounded a lot softer, revealing a hint of pleasure that was not unusual.

Alyssa pursed her lips, so she had to go for another checkup.

When the final result came out, Alyssa was still a little confused.

“Congratulations, Sir, young lady is indeed pregnant.”

Karl accepted the test sheet, his expression on his face did not change much. After reading it, he nodded, “Yes.”

Alyssa didn’t care about his expression either.

She was led out of the hospital by Karl in a daze, and when she returned to the car, she was still a little confused.

Although she didn’t want to get pregnant so early and give birth to a child, if the child came, she would definitely give birth.

However, this feeling is too subtle.

In the end, Karl succeeded, even though he had already said that she could not give birth.

Alyssa turned her head and looked out the window, but she unconsciously covered her lower abdomen with her hand.

Karl’s low voice came from beside him: “Not happy?”

“How about you? Are you happy?” Alyssa turned her head and looked at him coldly.

Karl’s face tightened suddenly when he heard the words, and said nothing.

At this time, her cell phone rang.

Tina called.

“Where have you been? I’m in Best Day!”

“I’m pregnant.”

Alyssa’s clear and indifferent sentence directly caused Tina to explode: “f*ck! What did you say? You say it again! I don’t believe it!”

The tone of this speech is exactly the same as Peter.

Alyssa had to repeat it again: "I'm pregnant."

Hearing Alyssa's voice didn't seem like a joke, Tina believed it.

"Then are you going to give birth?"

"Otherwise?" Alyssa curled her lips, revealing a smile.

She didn't notice, Karl's clenched hands.

Chapter 217

It wasn't until Alyssa answered the phone that Karl asked her aloud, "To Best Day."

She squeezed a face full of joy and anger as if a little unhappy.

Isn't she pregnant as he intended? What do you do with this face?

"Coming." Alyssa tilted her head and leaned on the back of the chair, looking lazy.

She had agreed with Tina early in the morning that she would meet at Best Day, and she had come out, of course she still wanted to meet.

€

At the gate of Best Day.

Alyssa also got out of the car and saw the cold car.

She took out her mobile phone and called Tina: "Get off the car and come in. I saw you."

The next moment, Tina opened the car door and walked down, wearing sunglasses and a mask with a tightly armed look.

Alyssa followed Karl into the Best Day.

As soon as Tina entered the Best Day, she took off the mask and sunglasses. When she looked back and saw Alyssa, her eyes lit up and he ran towards her.

"Alyssa, you are!" She only noticed Karl walking behind Alyssa.

She stopped talking and yelled angrily: "Big boss."

"Yeah," Karl answered indifferently, his expression unchanged.

He turned his head to look at Alyssa: "You go to the box first."

Before Alyssa could answer, he turned around and left.

As soon as he left, Tina breathed a sigh of relief, and asked Alyssa, "What's the matter? Didn't the big boss insist on getting you pregnant before? How come you are pregnant now, doesn't he seem very happy?"

"don't know, a man who is more difficult to guess than a woman's mind." Alyssa spread her hands: "I know what he is thinking from somewhere."

Tina was stunned when she heard the words. She turned her head and looked at Alyssa's expression carefully. Seeing her indifferent expression, she asked tentatively: "You haven't reconciled with the big boss?"

Alyssa asked her back: "Do we have any questions?"

There was indeed a problem between her and Karl. Originally it was only related to Gerald. It was not a big problem that could not be solved. It seemed to be more complicated now.

Tina shook her head and said, "I can't say it, I feel you are all weird."

Alyssa curled her lips, lowering her eyes to hide her emotions.

â€¦

After Karl and Alyssa separated, they walked straight to the room he left in Best Day.

There was a bodyguard guarding the door of the room, brought over Smith.

When the bodyguards saw Karl, they bent down and said respectfully in unison, "Sir."

The bodyguard standing by the door opened the door for him.

Karl raised his foot and walked in.

Seeing Karl coming in that night, he quickly nodded respectfully.

"What about people?" Karl looked around for a while, but didn't see anyone else.

Smith took two steps to the corner of the wall and pulled out the woman who had been shrinking under the table and threw her in front of Karl.

He had given an order before, asking them to smuggle the perpetrator and wait for him to come back to deal with it.

The car didn't hit Alyssa and Karl, and finally hit the guardrail of the parking lot. The front of the car was deformed and the people in the car were naturally unclear.

The woman's face was bloody, and there was a lot of blood on her hair. At this time, it was dry and solidified on the hair. The hair was stuck together, one by one like hemp rope.

Even so, Karl recognized the woman in front of him at a glance.

Karl took a step forward, his eyes fell on her with gloomy eyes, and his voice was as gloomy as someone crawling out of hell: "Isabel, long time no see."

Isabel trembled like sifting chaff, and she couldn't say a word: "Yesâ€¦ rightâ€¦ right, lâ€¦ youâ€¦ Adams.."

She was talking, shaking her head and looking up at Karl. Her eyes were full of fear, desperately trying to ask for mercy, but because she was too scared, she couldn't say a word.

It's rare for Karl to be so patient with someone other than Alyssa. He didn't speak, but watched Isabel tremblingly speaking out of tune.

Looks cold and indifferent.

After two minutes, Karl seemed to feel boring, and waved to the bodyguard: "Bring the knife."

As soon as Isabel heard what he said, her whole body shuddered even more, but she miraculously said her words clearly.

"I'm sorry! there won't be another next time! I will never fight Alyssa again! You let me go, I beg you to let me go!"

Isabel had lost too much blood and was dizzy just now, now she is completely awake.

"Don't be so scared." Karl squatted down, Alyssa's eyes were dark, and his voice was slightly lower: "You want to kill Alyssa, but I'm not as ruthless as you. I won't kill you."

"No!!" Isabel screamed out of fright.

Karl did not kill her, but what he did to her was more painful than killing her.

"It's not the first time, you have to get used to it." Karl stood up slowly, and some bodyguards took a chair and placed it behind him.

Karl sat down.

Isabel's stockings and skirts were the same as she always wore. The bodyguard took a knife and slashed her stockings with a light stroke.

Isabel widened her eyes and twitched all over her body: "No! Don't do this to me!!! Ah!!!"

The bodyguard took the knife and began to shave the meat layer by layer along Isabel's calf.

Isabel has been domineering since she was a child, and she has been dominated by the family.

The last time she would lie to the media to clarify the marriage certificate, Karl was forced to commit the crime with this method.

Isabel is too easy to deal with a woman who has no mind.

Isabel kept yelling, and Karl said faintly: "It's a big noise."

After that, Isabel's mouth was blocked and she could only make a vague whimper.

Smith stood aside, seeing the muscles on his face twitching, and finally pressed his lips and looked away.

Just when Isabel was about to pass out of pain, the door of the room was suddenly opened.

Smith's eyebrows jumped, who is so untruth, dare to push the door in at this time?

"Karl!"

When Smith heard this voice, he secretly cried out.

Besides Alyssa, who else would call Karl's name like this.

As soon as Alyssa rushed in, she ran in the direction of Karl.

Directly in front of Karl was Isabel who was on the verge of fainting, and Alyssa naturally saw what Isabel looked like at this time.

Isabel had just had a small car accident, and then she was scared to death by Karl. At this time, she was completely tortured to be impersonal.

Alyssa was also shocked by Isabel's appearance, and it took a few seconds to react, and asked the bodyguard next to her: "She, is sheâ€¦ alive?"

The bodyguard nodded mechanically: "Alive."

After the bodyguard finished speaking, he raised his head and took a careful look at Karl.

Karl didn't say a word after Alyssa came in.

Chapter 218

Alyssa directly ordered: "Send her to the hospital."

The bodyguard did not act immediately upon hearing this, but took another look at Karl.

Karl glanced at the bodyguard, "Didn't you hear what the young lady said? Take the person to the hospital!"

Alyssa heard his voice and turned to look at him.

Karl lowered his eyes slightly, and sat motionless in the chair, his expressionless expression was a little awkward, and it was hard to guess what he was thinking.

Alyssa looked at him, wanted to say something, but didn't know what to say.

In the previous car accident, Alyssa had already thought that the perpetrator might be Isabel.

After all, the person who wanted her most to die was Isabel.

This is not the first time Isabel wanted to kill her.

She could guess that Karl must already know that Isabel was the perpetrator, and he might not let Isabel go.

However, when she really saw Karl's way of torturing Isabel, she still felt a chill in her back.

Not to mention Isabel, anyone who is awake and shaved off his body with a single knife will not be able to bear it.

"Yes."

The bodyguard received Karl's order and immediately helped Isabel from the ground to walk out and took her to the hospital.

Smith was very perceptive and followed out, leaving the room for Karl and Alyssa.

The light in the room was bright, and there was a smell of blood.

Alyssa turned her head and saw a few pieces of meat on the ground that had been shaved from Isabel by bodyguards.

“vomit.”

Nausea came surging, and the stomach was churning, Alyssa was retching while holding her lips and bending over.

Karl stood up from the chair suddenly, walked over to support Alyssa, patted her back with an eyebrow, and said in a deep voice, “Let’s go out first.”

Alyssa was very uncomfortable, and obediently followed Karl out.

Karl embraced Alyssa and opened the door and went out. At the door, he saw Gerald who had not known how long he had been standing.

Gerald wore a black suit with a black stiff black suit and a white shirt inside. He looked gentle and elegant, with a consistent gentle smile on his face.

In the past, Alyssa not only watched his movies, but also liked his people because of Gerald’s gentle and harmless appearance.

Looking at Gerald’s appearance now, Alyssa felt very uncomfortable in her heart.

Gerald swept his gaze back and forth over the two of them, and said with a smile: “Karl, I am very grateful for you to let Isabel go.”

The language is as warm as ever, as if nothing happened.

Alyssa frowned, and Gerald’s words were clearly intended to stimulate Karl.

She held Karl’s hand with her backhand and looked at Gerald coldly: “Isabel will be punished by herself. This has nothing to do with our letting go.”

“Alyssa is right to say that.” Gerald’s smile deepened, and it was a bit strange.

His speech suddenly changed and asked her: “This is the first time you have seen Karl’s method of handling things. Although the method is a bit cruel, it is also for you. Don’t be afraid of him because of this.”

Gerald’s smiling eyes clearly contained maliciousness.

Alyssa was just an ordinary girl before she married Karl.

The little girl living in a peaceful and prosperous world usually cuts vegetables at most and hurts her fingers. If she has ever seen Karl’s cruel methods, she will naturally be afraid.

Gerald has been in contact with Alyssa so many times and thinks he knows Alyssa very well.

He thought that after this incident, Alyssa would definitely be afraid of Karl.

But he didn’t know that Karl was a cruel and deep-hearted man in Alyssa’s heart from the beginning.

Therefore, no matter what Karl would do, although Alyssa would be surprised, she would not be as afraid of Karl as Gerald thought.

Perhaps she was a little afraid of Karl in her bones, but she would not be afraid of him as Gerald thought.

Alyssa chuckled lightly, with a somewhat sincere tone in her tone: "Since you have said so, Karl will do this for me. How could I be afraid of him because of this? It is too late for me to not love him."

Gerald never expected that Alyssa would answer him like this.

His face changed slightly, and he uttered coldly: "Really?"

"Of course." Alyssa raised an eyebrow and looked at Gerald defiantly.

Gerald twitched his lips: "Then I will wait and see."

After leaving such a sentence, he turned and left.

As soon as he left, Alyssa breathed a sigh of relief, and raised her foot to continue walking forward.

However, she could not go because the man beside her kept holding her hand.

She turned her head and found that Karl was staring at her with burning eyes.

The look in his eyes was hot-as if two small flames were lit inside.

Alyssa frowned, "What's wrong with you?"

Karl squeezed her hand, his voice was rare and gentle: "Say it again."

Say it again?

Alyssa thought for a while, and had to say it again: "What's wrong with you?"

"Previous sentence." Karl was very patient, the expression on his face was even a little expectant.

"I have said so much before, how do I know which sentence you ask me to say again?" When Alyssa just thought of what to say when Gerald was just talking about it, she really didn't know which sentence he wanted to listen to.

The corner of Karl's lips pressed, it looked like he was disappointed.

However, in the next moment, Karl held Alyssa's face and kissed it.

Alyssa's first reaction was that it seemed to be in the corridor at the door of the room.

She wants a face, and of course she doesn't want to show it to others in person.

Moreover, she and Karl are still in conflict.

But Karl completely ignored her rejection, kissed softly and domineeringly, sucking her lips bit by bit and poking in, gradually increasing the offensive, until the kiss made Alyssa warm legs soft. He just let go of her.

He was still feeling a little bit, and he tapped his long finger on Alyssa's lips, and couldn't help but peck.

Alyssa panted, and when she raised her head, she saw Karl's eyes, which were always deep as ink shining for the first time, and they were as bright as stars.

Alyssa wondered in confusion, what exactly did she just say that made Karl happy?

Seemsâ€¦!

â€”â€”How could I be afraid of him because of this?

Not for this sentence, not for it.

She had seen Karl deal with the two kidnapers before, and she didn't act as if she was afraid of him, and Karl's reaction was nothing special. It was definitely not the reason.

Later, she seemed to say somethingâ€¦!

Alyssa realized what she had said before, and felt that she was going to burn.

She is a short-term person in her bones. No matter what conflicts between her and Karl, she can complain that he can ignore him, but others can't say that he is bad.

Chapter 219

Karl asked her to say it again before, it should be the same sentence.

â€”â€”Itâ€™s too late to unlove him.

How could she say such a thing!

How could you say such a thing in front of Karl!

Alyssa became angry, and walked forward after throwing away Karl's hand.

Karl followed with a smile from the corner of his eyes, and took her hand: "Go slow."

"I like to walk faster." Alyssa wanted to shake his hand away, but without success, she had to be led by him.

The two met Tina at the corner of the corridor.

As soon as Tina saw Alyssa, she stopped screaming, "Alyssa! You are not alone now, so you can't let me save snacks? Just go to the bathroom and not come back for a long time. Phone, you make people like thisâ€¦!"

When she saw Karl again, she swallowed everything behind.

Tina frowned, coughed slightly, and her voice immediately became a soft girl, pinching her throat: "Ahemâ€¦! you don't want to do this next time."

Alyssa shook the non-existent goosebumps: "I am not a person now, or a ghost?"

Tina smiled and didn't smile: "You are two people now."

She was also exhausted, but it was because of Alyssa having a meal, and as a result, one after another accident happened, which is really a sigh.

The group returned to the box and finally had their meal.

During the dinner, Tina asked Alyssa, "What did you do, why did you leave suddenly when you went to the toilet?"

"I just met Karl. Several elders of the Adams' family were eating here, so I followed him to meet them." Alyssa lowered her eyes, lying and not drafting.

Karl glanced at her and said nothing.

"Oh, it turned out to be like this." Tina believed easily.

It wasn't until a meal was over that Tina remembered that Karl was the only heir to the Adams' family. Besides his father and his grandfather, who else would he bring Alyssa to see?

Oh, maybe the elder Alyssa is talking about is Elder Adams.

On the way back, both of them were silent.

When approaching the door of the house, Alyssa suddenly said: "I went to the bathroom and met Gerald. He said that he could not contact Isabel for a day, and said that Isabel would do stupid things with an impulsive personality. , It is very likely that you caught her."

There is no need to elaborate on the latter things, smart people can naturally think of it.

Before Alyssa thought that the perpetrator was most likely Isabel, but with Karl's acting style, Isabel's fall into his hands would definitely make her worse than death.

The fact is also true, if she hadn't rushed over, Isabel might still be tortured at this moment.

After listening to her, Karl just asked, "Gerald is looking for you?"

"Yeah." Alyssa turned to look at him suspiciously.

The car was driving on the winding road, and the trees outside the window retreated extremely quickly, making it dark.

But Alyssa could still vaguely see a hint of coldness from Karl's fuzzy facial contours.

Alyssa was afraid that Karl would directly kill Isabel, but she didn't think so much.

At this moment, she repeated Karl's sentence "Gerald is looking for you" just now in her heart, and she felt a chill in her back.

At that time, Isabel suddenly speeded over to hit her. When that happened, there were no people around. At that time, Karl called and took her to the hospital.

Karl was well-rounded, and the phone call must have caused those people to arrest Isabel first.

Moreover, Isabel also suffered serious injuries at that time, and the people under Karl were also vigorous and resolute, so he arrested Isabel for a day without disturbing the Adams' family.

Instead, Gerald came to Alyssa first.

In this way, things are clear.

Gerald instigated Isabel to hit Alyssa, and then took the time to find Alyssa so that Alyssa could see Karl's cruel methods.

It's not a seamless plan, but if Alyssa were more timid, she would indeed feel scared.

Thus, the contradiction between her and Karl would enlarge.

It's just that if the conflict between her and Karl expands, what are the benefits to Gerald?

Or should Gerald just not see Karl? Just simply trying to make Karl unhappy?

But she knew Karl and Isabel was not such an innocent person.

She didn't agree with Karl's approach, but she could understand him.

Suddenly, Alyssa thought of something and turned to look at Karl: "Last time, you also used this method to make Isabel willingly clarify the marriage certificate incident in front of the media?"

"Yeah." Karl admitted simply.

Alyssa sighed slightly.

Say he was wrong, his starting point is good.

Say he was right, being able to be violent is not the right way to solve the problem.

She thought for a while, and said: "I know that there are some things and some people can't be solved by reason, but violence to violence is not the only feasible way."

Karl said without turning his head, "I only use the method that has the fastest effect."

Alyssa heating laughed extremely: "So when you want me to get pregnant, you just shut me up in the villa?"

Because of her words, the atmosphere in the carriage suddenly dropped to a freezing point.

Squeak

The car made an emergency brake and Alyssa's inertial body leaned forward.

Karl on the side suddenly leaned over in a panic to hug her and help her stabilize her figure.

His voice is still a little unstable: "Is it all right?"

Alyssa pushed him aside, opened the door, and got out of the car.

The place where the car stops are only more than ten meters away from the villa.

When Alyssa got out of the car, she saw several cars parked in front of the villa.

Someone is here?

She didn't mind paying attention to Karl anymore, and walked directly towards the villa.

As soon as she entered the door, the bodyguards lined up neatly bent over: "Sir, Young Lady."

Aunt Tami trot out in a hurry: "Sir, Young Madam, you came back. The old man has been here since the afternoon and has been here waiting for you to come back."

Why is Elder Adams here again?

Alyssa turned her head to look at Karl with a puzzled face.

Karl had a clear look and reminded her aloud: "The hospital you went to check today belongs to Adams' family."

Alyssa quickly reacted. Elder Adams came to the door after receiving the news of her pregnancy.

After thinking about it carefully, she took it for granted.

Hearing the movement outside, Mr. Adams had already walked to the entrance of the hall and said in a loud voice: "When you come back, come in quickly and don't stand in the yard. It's cold!"

Alyssa glanced at Karl and ran towards the entrance of the hall first.

Karl curled his eyebrows and followed behind her: "Alyssa, slow down!"

As soon as Archer saw Alyssa, he pulled her inside and said, "How cold it is outside, come in and sit, the room is warm."

Alyssa smiled: "Grandpa, I'm not feeling cold."

As soon as they entered the hall, a row of maids all bent over to say hello: "Young lady."

Alyssa was taken aback, a group of maids?

Chapter 220

Before Alyssa could speak, Elder Adams had already said aloud: "You are different now, your body is important, and Karl has no servants here. I have a group of maids for convenience. They will take care of you."

Alyssa glanced at them, and roughly counted. There were about a dozen maids.

She and Karl lived in this villa, so how could there be so many servants?

There are too many people but it is not comfortable.

But Alyssa couldn't refuse Mr. Adams' kindness.

"My grandpa is bothering. The doctors say that I am in good health now!"

"No matter how good it is, you need to take good care of it. When Karl was born with the wind, the medical conditions were not as good as it is now, and she suffered a lot!"

Elder Adams paused when he said that, and seemed to sigh: "If you don't say anything, don't say anything. Anyway, what do you need, what you want, and what you want to eat, just tell Karl, if that stinky kid doesn't get you, you just call me, don't you have my phone number? Or you can add a WeChat account!"

As he said, he took out his phone and opened WeChat.

Alyssa wanted to laugh a little, thinking that Mr. Adams was very cute like this.

She smiled and took out her mobile phone, and said with a smile: "Let me sweep you."

"Come on, click here, right?" Father Adams leaned in and opened his QR code.

When Karl came in, he saw two people getting together to add WeChat friends.

He glanced, and sat down on the sofa beside.

When Mr. Adams saw Karl, he didn't have a good face: "Take good care of Alyssa in the future."

Karl raised his eyelids, "Do I want you to tell?"

"Humph." Elder Adams snorted: "If it wasn't for Alyssa, you thought I wanted to see you?"

Karl folded his legs together, and said lazily, "Would you like to leave after reading?"

Elder Adams pointed at his nose and cursed: "You just want to piss me off!"

But there is not much anger in his eyes.

Elder Adams didn't stay too much, just said a few words with Alyssa, and then left.

Elder Adams left, but a group of servants were left behind.

Alyssa sat on the sofa in the lobby, looking at the servants back and forth, and found that they looked good.

Wealthy people look for maids, they are all of good value.

Several of them are still carefully peeking at Karl.

Alyssa had a headache, she stretched out her hand and rubbed her eyebrows, and looked at Karl: "Take care of it, I'm going to sleep."

Karl watched Alyssa's figure disappear before speaking indifferently: "If you have anything, you can listen to Aunt Tami's arrangements. You can't go to the second floor if you have nothing to do. Just do what you need to do?"

His voice was low and pleasant, but it was so cold that there was no trace of emotion, and the few maids who had peeped at him bowed their heads and dared not to return.

The maids all responded, "Understood!"

When Karl returned to the room, Alyssa was already lying down and fell asleep.

There are a lot of things happening today, and she gets tired easily now, so she falls asleep easily.

When Karl leaned over to kiss her, he could still smell the warm fragrance from her, which was fascinating.

He lay on the bed from the other side, gently pulling Alyssa into his arms.

Alyssa didn't sleep deep enough, so she woke up as soon as he did this.

She opened her eyes, her cat's eyes were filled with confusion, staring at Karl in a daze.

Karl kissed her eyebrows again, and patted her thin back with his palms, acting softly as if he was coaxing a child.

In the deep voice, there is a gentleness that cannot be removed: "It's okay, go to sleep."

As expected, Alyssa closed her eyes again, then moved her arm, hooking Karl's neck.

She slept drowsily at the moment, which was completely a habitual reaction.

Karl brushed her long hair onto the pillow, tucked the quilt, and fell asleep together.

â€¦

Karl sued Isabel and Clayton took over.

Clayton is a gold-level Lawyer in Rostenvel. Although he is good at commercial cases, he is also good at such small cases.

After the Hunt family knew about Isabel, Rachel came forward to find Alyssa.

Alyssa didn't want to care about her at first, but Rachel called her every day. If this goes on, why Rachel will come to her house.

Therefore, when Rachel called again, Alyssa answered.

"Alyssa, you finally answered your mother's call." Rachel's voice was a little excited: "You listened to your mother, what happened to your sisterâ€¦!"

Alyssa directly interrupted what she was going to say later: "Karl has appealed, and the court will be held in a few days."

"No, Alyssa, Isabel is your sister anyway, I know she is wrong this time, but she is still so young, do you really want to put her in jail?"

Rachel's voice was already crying, and she should have been very worried about Isabel during this period of time.

For Rachel, Alyssa's heart was already cold.

She sneered and said, "What about me? If she hit me at that time, she would kill two bodies!"

Rachel on the other end of the phone was silent.

After a few seconds, she whispered: "Aren't you all right now, your sisterâ€¦!"

“This is not the first time. You don’t need to call me again, and don’t come to me again, it’s useless.” Alyssa said coldly and hung up the phone.

Rachel would come to her to intercede for Isabel, which was expected.

She couldn’t imagine that if Isabel hit her that day!

She also reached out and touched her abdomen, where it was flat, but there was a little life slowly growing.

She doesn’t think this is the best time to get pregnant, but the baby has come and it will be born.

On the other side, Rachel hung up the phone, turned to look at Colin, and said with some embarrassment, “Alyssa!”

“What did she say?” Colin hadn’t had a good night’s sleep for several days because of Isabel’s affairs. His face was haggard and his voice was hoarse.

“She! She told me not to look for her again, she won’t help us.”

After Rachel finished speaking, she felt Colin’s face change suddenly.

Immediately afterwards, he raised his hand and slapped her face severely.

He was a man, and he was angry again. This slap used his full strength, and Rachel was directly staggered by it and fell to the ground.

There is a sweet smell in the mouth.

She touched the corners of her lips, reached out to her eyes, and saw the blood on it.

Half of her face was so painful that she was numb, and there was a buzzing in her ears.

Colin glared at her with a grim expression: “What’s the use of you? Such a small thing and you can’t help? This is your good daughter! She will send our Isabel to prison in the end!”