

Predestined 301

Chapter 301

It took a few seconds for Alyssa to digest the meaning of Norris's words.

"You didn't tell me this in the morning?" She looked back at Norris with a cold expression.

Norris smiled and looked innocent: "I just found it out too."

Alyssa laughed, she believed that what he said was a ghost.

She turned her head and looked in the direction of the entrance of the banquet hall, where Karl was not seen.

After Karl officially accepted the Adams' family, he would attend many events and dinners.

But because the dinners and activities he attended were very high-end, Alyssa never expected that something that Norris attended, Karl would also come.

On the other hand, the Weber family and the Adams' family did not have any business dealings, and they rarely got sides.

Therefore, she had never thought about the direction that Karl might come to the dinner party.

She now feels that Norris was deliberate.

"You are my female companion now, and your task tonight is to be with me." The smile on Norris's face deepened, and he closed his arms and signaled Alyssa to follow him.

Alyssa's mood is a bit complicated.

If Karl came and found out that she and Norris were attending the dinner together, she didn't know how angry he would be.

Alyssa thought about it, it is better to "surrender" first.

After walking two steps forward, Alyssa stretched out her hand to protect her stomach: "My stomach hurts a bit, I have to go to the bathroom."

Norris stopped and looked at her with a smile.

After Alyssa finished speaking, she felt that this was a bit familiar.

At the beginning of the year, she dumped Norris at the airport and went abroad alone, using this trick.

Alyssa was also a little embarrassed, and explained very sincerely: "This time it's really a stomachache!"

After thinking about it, she casually made up a reason: "I have a bad stomach, and I have eaten a little bit mixed in the past two days, a little diarrhea!"

Norris nodded and said, "I will accompany you."

This man is really!

Alyssa let out a sigh of relief, letting Norris accompany her to the bathroom, dumbfounded.

After she entered the female hand washing, she hid in the cubicle and called Karl.

The phone rang twice and was picked up.

“Alyssa.”

Karl’s voice has always been low and deep. After a long time, Alyssa felt that her name was also particularly intimate.

Alyssa organized the language and asked, “Are you going to a dinner party tonight?”

“What? the hotel one?” Karl’s voice had a slight smile: “Don’t worry, I don’t have a female companion, I have Smith.”

Alyssa secretly cried out when she heard the words.

In the latter words, she no longer knew how to speak.

Seeing Alyssa’s delay in speaking, Karl asked, “What’s wrong?”

“Iâ€¦” Alyssa couldn’t say it, or she didn’t dare to say that she accompanied Norris to the dinner party.

Karl on the other end patiently waited for her to speak.

Alyssa hesitated for a moment, and said, “It’s fine if you don’t take a female companion.”

The smile in Karl’s tone was even more obvious: “I’m going to the banquet site now, and I will call you later.”

Alyssa said, “Okay.”

After hanging up the phone, she circled around in the bathroom cubicle.

Karl is really coming to this dinner, if she goes out, she will definitely meet Karl.

After thinking for a while, Alyssa gritted her teeth and sat down directly on the toilet.

She decided not to go out, and stayed here until the banquet was over!

She didn’t believe that Norris could still run to the women’s bathroom to find her!

â€¦

Norris waited for Alyssa outside, waiting for her to come out.

So, he called her.

Alyssa didn’t answer the phone for a long time, he thought something was wrong with her.

When the call was about to be automatically hung up, Alyssa answered the call: “Hey.”

Norris breathed a sigh of relief and asked her: “Why haven’t you come out yet?”

It was quiet for a while before Alyssa's weak voice sounded: "I can't get diarrhea. Go back and let me squat for a while."

Norris: "€!"

He knew that Alyssa didn't want to accompany him to the banquet, but she didn't expect that she could even come up with such a boring excuse.

Norris stretched out his hands on his hips, and said helplessly: "Alyssa, have you forgotten our previous agreement? You accompany me to the dinner, and I will tell you what I know."

Although Alyssa wanted to know something about Adams' family from Norris's mouth, when things came to her head, she found that the angry Karl was more terrifying than Adams' matter.

"The big deal you won't tell me, so be it, goodbye."

"beep—"

There was a busy tone on the phone that the call was hung up, and Norris was taken aback for a moment, and stood there for a while with an unpredictable expression. He didn't know what he was thinking before raising his foot to leave.

At this moment, a slender man walked towards him.

Norris squinted his eyes slightly, stood still, and when the man approached, he stopped his way aloud: "Mr. Adams, long time no see."

Karl stopped, raised his eyebrows, and said casually, "You really want to see me?"

After Norris helped Alyssa escape last time, Karl let go of his harsh words and rectified the Weber family, but in the end he stayed a line and did not bankrupt the Weber family.

For a man who has been coveting his own woman, Karl has no mercy.

But he knew very well that if he broke the Weber family down, Alyssa would definitely blame him.

Norris also thought about what Karl had done to the Weber family, his face was drunk, but soon he laughed again: "No, I just waited here for Alyssa to come out. I didn't expect to meet you so coincidental."

After Norris finished speaking, he smiled deeply.

Sure enough, after Karl heard the words "Alyssa" again, his expression changed slightly.

Karl squinted his eyes slightly, and said in a deep voice, "Who are you talking about?"

"Your ex-wife, Alyssa." Norris said word by word, and deliberately increased the word "ex-wife".

Seeing that Karl's complexion had turned gloomy, Norris continued to add fuel to the fire and continued: "She accompanied me to the dinner party. After all, you were married to her. Do you want to say hello when she comes out later."

Karl sneered with a gloomy expression, but after a glance at Norris, he walked straight to the women's bathroom.

"What are you doing?" Norris watched Karl walk directly into the women's bathroom, a glimmer of disbelief flashed in his eyes.

At the moment the banquet has just started, there are really few people in the bathroom.

When Karl thought of the call Alyssa had called him before, the arc of his mouth became even colder.

Alyssa, you are very capable.

He started from the bathroom door, followed the first bathroom compartment, knocked all the way past.

Chapter 302

Alyssa was sitting on the toilet in the cubicle, and she had a bad feeling in her heart when she heard someone knocking on the door of the cubicle outside.

Isn't it Norris?

But she thought about Norris's character, and felt that it could not be him.

Although Norris has changed a lot, his good face has remained the same.

Therefore, it will definitely not be Norris.

Who is that?

At this time, the knocker had knocked on the door of her compartment.

Knock!

He knocked it two or three times in a row, very rhythmic, with a calm breath.

Alyssa felt a little in her heart.

She thinks it might be Karl!

The sixth sense of human is such a strange thing.

There was clearly a door, and the two did not speak, nor could they see each other, Alyssa could be sure that the person outside the door was Karl.

Alyssa pinched her nose and lowered her voice: "Who? I'm not done yet."

The next moment, Karl's slightly gloomy voice sounded outside: "Do you want me to help you?"

It really is Karl!

Alyssa reached out and patted her forehead.

How could Karl find here?

He would not have installed a GPS positioning system on her body.

Alyssa decided to struggle to death: "This is the women's bathroom. What are you doing as a man? I will call the police if you don't go out again. I!"

Karl interrupted her: "Come out by yourself, I'll kick the door and choose one."

His tone was extremely cold, and Alyssa shuddered.

Can she choose neither?

However, her body has made choices faster than her brain.

With a "click", the door opened.

Karl's gloomy face appeared in Alyssa's sight.

He fixedly looked at Alyssa, raising his eyebrows, so that he could look at her in his spare time.

Alyssa swallowed, trying to make her tone sound normal: "Why are you here? Such a coincidence!"

"Alyssa." Karl called her name in a calm voice.

Alyssa's scalp tightened, she straightened her back and stood up straight, looking like she was waiting.

Karl smiled with anger, "Now that you know your guilty conscience?"

Alyssa lowered her head and whispered, "I have always had a guilty conscience."

"Then you still accompany that man to the dinner party?" Karl now doesn't even want to mention Norris's name in front of Alyssa.

Alyssa had never attended a dinner party with him, and Norris even wanted to make it first.

dream!

"I have a reason." Alyssa tried to defend herself.

"Reason? Are you grateful for him to help you escape abroad before?" Karl sneered, "I didn't even flatten Weber's. I was already magnanimous. Does he want you to pay back the favor?"

Alyssa pursed her lips: "Don't just flatten other people's companies!"

"You can accompany other men to the dinner, why can't I level Weber's?" Karl raised his eyebrows and looked at her with a bad tone.

Obviously he was angry and still jealous.

Such a jealous Karl is quite rare, Alyssa felt a little strange and couldn't help but want to laugh.

Karl noticed her expression and stretched out his expressionless hand and rubbed her head indiscriminately.

"The hairstyle is messed up." Alyssa pushed his hand away dissatisfied.

Just now Karl was only concerned about getting angry, only then did he notice that Alyssa had made a special hairstyle today.

Seeing Karl's eyes narrowed, Alyssa hurriedly pulled him out: "Let's go out first. It's too strange to stay here all the time."

Karl didn't say much, letting her take him out.

As soon as she left, Alyssa saw Norris still there.

When Norris saw her coming out, he called out: "Alyssa."

Alyssa smiled awkwardly.

Karl directly ignored the existence of Norris, and looked at Alyssa: "I'll let someone take you back."

When Alyssa thought of the conversations between the women she heard when she first entered the banquet hall, she did not immediately answer Karl.

Karl refused to let her accompany Norris to the dinner party, but he himself came out to provoke the grass and peach blossoms.

Besides, she hadn't seen Karl very much in this period of time, and she finally met once in an upright manner. How could she just leave like this?

Seeing Alyssa's delay in answering, Karl knew she didn't want to go back.

Karl lowered his head, touched her face, and whispered, "Observe."

Alyssa was a little irritable: "I've come here, and it's too bad to go back like this, just treat it as a long experience."

Karl curled his eyebrows and said nothing.

Alyssa glanced at him, turned sideways, staggered from his side, and walked towards the banquet hall.

The interaction between Karl and Alyssa just now gave Norris a panoramic view, and now he was looking at Karl with an unclear expression.

The previous media released news that Karl and Alyssa had divorced.

He knew how angry Karl looked after Alyssa ran away, so he didn't believe the two had divorced.

It now appears that his guess is not wrong.

When Norris looked at Karl, Karl also looked back at him.

Karl stared at him for a few seconds, and said aloud, "I think you are a smart person."

Norris's eyes flashed slightly: "Don't dare to be."

"What should be said, what should not be said, what should be touched, what should not be touched, Mr. Weber should be very clear in his heart."

When Karl spoke, his eyes did not leave Norris, so naturally he did not miss Norris's slightly changed face.

He smiled contemptuously, then turned and left.

A woman who also wants to rob Norris?

â€¦

When Alyssa returned to the banquet hall, she saw Smith.

Smith was here with Karl, and when Karl was absent, many people naturally went to tease Smith.

Smith was Karl's right and left hand.

A woman happened to ask Smith: "Has Mr. Adams have a new girlfriend recently?"

This woman asked very directly, this question is also what other people want to know.

Smith is not an ordinary subordinate, but a talented person who has been tempered by Karl: "This is Boss's private matter, I am not very clear."

After Smith finished speaking, when he looked up inadvertently, he saw Alyssa.

Just as Alyssa took a glass of champagne from the waiter, she nodded when she saw Smith over.

Smith was stunned for a while, but didn't expect to see Alyssa here.

No wonder Boss hasn't come back after going to the bathroom for so long. It turns out that the young lady is here.

A woman noticed Smith's gaze and naturally saw Alyssa.

The woman asked the person next to her: "Who is that woman?"

She felt that Alyssa was familiar, but she couldn't remember where she had seen her.

"Mr. Adams' ex-wife, Alyssa." The person next to her said: "But I heard that she was ugly, I guess she had a plastic surgery."

Chapter 303

The conversation between these two women naturally did not escape Smith's ears.

"Coughâ€¦" Smith pretended to cough and interrupted the woman.

The woman thought that Smith was the person under Karl, and realized that what she had just said was something wrong.

She also wanted Smith to bring her a speech in front of Karl.

Thinking about this, she was about to say something to him, when she heard Smith politely say: "I'm sorry, please let me."

The woman had to go aside.

Smith went straight to Alyssa: “Miss Alyssa.”

I’m used to calling “Madam”, and he almost couldn’t change his mouth just now.

After a brief astonishment, Alyssa exclaimed in a kind-like voice: “The time is special.”

Smith looked around quietly, and while others were not paying attention, he asked Alyssa in a low voice, “Madam has seen Sir?”

“Yeah.” After Alyssa said, she saw Karl coming from behind. She pointed her chin to Smith’s back: “He’s here.”

Smith saw Karl’s expression of relief.

As soon as Karl came, he went to the bathroom, and God knew how annoying he was being surrounded by the women.

Smith quickly walked towards Karl: “Sir.”

“Yeah.” Karl replied, and glanced in Alyssa’s direction casually.

Alyssa turned and walked to the other side.

Except for Karl, Smith and Norris at the banquet, Alyssa didn’t know anyone else.

Naturally, no one took the initiative to talk to Alyssa, so she went to a humble corner and sat down.

She chose her location well. Sitting on a high chair, she could almost see the entire banquet hall.

Karl is tall and has a cold temperament, and he is particularly conspicuous when walking in the crowd.

Within a few minutes after Alyssa sat down, she saw women constantly coming to talk to Karl.

Karl dealt with it coldly, but even so, people kept coming up, trying to attract Karl’s attention.

In the past, Karl did not attend events or banquets. Even if these women had that heart, they had nothing to do. Now Karl often appears in public and is still “single”. Of course, these women will not let this opportunity pass.

The truth is, Alyssa naturally understands.

But seeing the eyes of those women looking at Karl, as if she couldn’t wait to swallow him, Alyssa was panicked.

“This is just the beginning, you can’t stand it?”

Norris’s voice rang in her ears.

Alyssa turned her head and saw Norris sitting down beside her with a glass of champagne, looking at her with a smile on his face.

Alyssa curled her lips and said without a smile: “You can control a lot.”

“Alyssa, I’m doing it for you.” Norris’s expression was serious: “Karl is sinister and cunning. The water in Adams’ family is too deep. You are really not their opponent.”

“Then you tell me, what is the deep technique of Adams’ water?” Alyssa was obviously using Norris’s words.

Norris shook his head: “I mean serious. Even if you are not with Karl, you may not be with me. I just think you can choose a more suitable person.”

Alyssa’s expression was cold: “I know if it fits.”

Norris was silent for a moment, then lowered his voice and said, “Do you think that someone who can’t protect even a child is suitable for you?”

When Alyssa heard the words, the hand around Champagne suddenly tightened.

About the child, except for her and Karl, as well as the people who trusted them, no one should know.

She put down the champagne in her hand and looked at Norris solemnly: “How did you know?”

“It seems that my guess is correct.” Norris smiled and sighed.

Alyssa did not speak, waiting for his next words.

Norris glanced in Karl’s direction: “I know you, you will take care of your child when it is born, but you are living alone now and there are no children by your side. Will be separated from him?”

Having said this, Norris paused slightly and looked at Alyssa’s expression before continuing: “The child is not by your side, nor is it by Karl’s. What does this mean?”

Alyssa’s face was cold, she lowered her eyes slightly, suppressing the emotions in her eyes: “So, where do you think our child is?”

“Our child”, these words seemed to stimulate Norris.

Norris’s expression also cooled down: “You and Karl will not be happy together. He looks handsome, but he is also subject to Adams’ family.”

“Enough.” Alyssa interrupted him: “What will happen to Karl and me? This is all my business.”

Norris did not force Alyssa anymore.

The two sat side by side, and no one spoke again.

“Just the woman in the black dress?”

“That’s her? Not so much?”

“No, she is lucky to get married into Adams’ family.”

“She’s a wild girl, she’s not good enough for Mr. Adams, she finally got divorced.”

“She knew that Mr. Adams would come to the banquet today, so she came on purpose?”

“That must be true. For a man like Karl, which woman doesn’t like, she probably wants to restore Karl’s heart.”

“It’s just a dream, where’s her turn?”

A woman's ability to disseminate information should not be underestimated. After someone recognized Alyssa before, the news that "Mr. Adams' ex-wife also came to the dinner" spread.

Many women are talking about Alyssa.

To keep a low profile is to take a look at a distance.

Shamelessly, just like these two women, they ran to Alyssa and pointed them.

If it's normal, Alyssa just listened to it.

But she had just listened to Norris's words, and her heart was upset right now.

Alyssa got down from the high chair, and walked to the two women with her arms around her chest: "Yes, I can still dream. You have no chance."

One of the women stood up and argued with her: "What are you talking about!"

"Don't understand?" Alyssa sneered and raised her chin slightly to look at her: "If you don't understand, go back and look up the dictionary."

"You!" the woman pointed at Alyssa and said, "Do you think you are still the young lady of the Adams' family? Who would show such arrogance."

"No, I'm not the young lady of the Adams' family now, but I used to be." Alyssa looked at the woman who was so angry that she couldn't speak, and felt a little bored.

She has nothing to care about with these fools.

She felt bored, turned around and took the bag and planned to leave.

Not a few steps away, she felt someone following her.

Looking back, she found that Norris was following her.

Chapter 304

Alyssa was a little irritable and stretched out her hand to help her forehead: "What are you doing with me?"

Norris didn't mind Alyssa's impatience at all, but said with a smile: "Don't you want to know what secrets I know about Adams' family?"

"Would you like to tell me?" Alyssa would not believe that Norris would be so kind.

Norris's complexion narrowed slightly: "In your heart, am I so unbearable?"

For Alyssa, there is no need to think about this issue.

But Isabel thought of something before.

Alyssa asked him with interest: "After Isabel's indecent video came out, why did you stay with her later? What did she hold on to you?"

Alyssa didn't believe it at all, Norris would tell her the secrets of the Adams' family he knew.

It would be better to ask something she has been curious about, although Norris might not say it.

Norris was silent for a moment: "Are you curious?"

"Yes." Alyssa said as she walked towards the elevator entrance: "If you are not curious, I will ask you what to ask."

After Alyssa had reached the elevator entrance, she heard Norris behind her say: "If you invite me to dinner, I will tell you."

Alyssa smiled and said nothing.

"You don't believe me?" Norris said.

Alyssa got into the elevator: "Tell me if you know?"

Alyssa turned around and found that Norris was still standing outside the elevator. She raised her eyebrows and asked, "Are you not going?"

Norris bends his lips, revealing a very reluctant smile: "You go."

Alyssa felt something in her heart, it might be that what she just said hurt him.

But what she said was the truth.

She has nothing to apologize to Norris, nor does she need to accommodate him.

Throughout the night, Norris had been saying that she and Karl were inappropriate, and she could bear him enough.

Even Tina didn't say anything about her and Karl, where did Norris's face come from?

Is it because he once helped her escape?

But this is not the case.

â€

When Alyssa left the hotel and took a taxi on the roadside, she remembered that she hadn't told Karl that she had left.

She took out her mobile phone and was about to make a call to Karl. Suddenly, a car stopped in front of her.

When she looked up, the back door of the car opened and an arm stretched out from the car, pulling her into the car.

Alyssa stayed for a while, and was about to call for help, but heard a familiar low voice in her ear: "It's me."

When Alyssa heard the words, she cried out uncertainly, "Karl?"

"Yeah." The man holding her replied in a low voice.

While Alyssa breathed a sigh of relief, she felt a little irritated, and threw her hand twice on his body: "You shouldn't do this kind of thing in the future, it's very scary."

Karl responded with no sincerity, "Oh."

When the two talked, the car had already started to move forward.

The car drove to a sparsely populated place, stopped, and Smith got off.

Only Alyssa and Karl were left in the car, and Karl's hands became restless.

He directly dragged Alyssa to his leg to sit, and his hot lips moved up to kiss her neck, and finally landed on her lips.

The air conditioner was still on in the car, but Alyssa felt a little hot.

Karl clasped one hand on her waist, and lingered on her white and tender legs with the other. The meaning couldn't be more obvious.

"Karl." Alyssa called him in a low voice and stopped him.

If Karl hadn't heard of it, his other hand had already fumbled and found the zipper of her skirt at the back collar.

He squeezed the small and exquisite zipper and pulled it down, stretched his broad palms in, and gently peeled off her clothes.

Alyssa was ashamed and angry, holding his still messy hand: "Stop!"

Karl's breathing had already become thick and heavy. He clasped Alyssa's hand with his backhand, clasped her ten fingers, pressed her lips, and whispered, "No one saw it."

"Smith!"

Karl gasped slightly, but his voice was very clear: "He's gone."

"That won't work either." After all, this is in the car!

Alyssa was unwilling, and Karl did not reluctantly. He just hugged her hard and kissed her for a long time before dressing her and holding her quietly.

Alyssa asked him: "When did you come out?"

She remembered Karl was still talking to others when she left.

When she got to the roadside, Karl and Smith had already come down.

"When I saw you leave, I followed."

The tenderness just now made Karl's voice covered with unspeakable tenderness, layering on Alyssa.

Alyssa smiled silently while curling her lips, without speaking.

Suddenly, Karl asked her aloud, "Want to know what secret Norris has?"

“What?” Alyssa didn’t know why he suddenly talked about Norris.

“Norris is not a child of the Weber family. His father is not healthy, but in order to sustain the offspring and save face, he asked his mother to go outside to find someone else to give birth to Norris.”

Karl’s voice was already low and deep, but at this moment, his intention was low, and it happened to be close to her ear. It was so good that her scalp was numb.

Alyssa was stunned for a long time before reacting: “So it’s like this?”

“Back then, Isabel knew about this, so she was able to threaten Norris!” Alyssa said, “Norris himself, did he know about this early? Then he used to?”

Karl chuckled lightly: “It’s not his own flesh and blood. His father will naturally guard him. Norris himself knows this. In order to live a stable life in the Weber family, he has to be stupid.”

Alyssa nodded, and then reacted fiercely: “You overhear me and Norris!”

“Heh.” Karl chuckled and pushed her against himself with a hoarse voice: “With so much energy, we might as well do something else!”

Alyssa: “?”

“?”

The two stayed in the car for a while, and Karl drove Alyssa home.

However, Karl drove the car over and did not drive away.

“Bought it for you.” Karl stuffed the car key into Alyssa’s hand.

He can’t pick up Alyssa anytime now, so he has to buy her a car.

Only then did Alyssa notice that the car that Karl was driving her back was white.

The model is smooth and beautiful, and it is not too expensive, two or three hundred thousand, which happens to be something Alyssa can afford.

Karl told her: “The procedures are all done, so drive carefully.”

Alyssa took a step forward, held his face, kissed his lips, smiled and said, “Thank you.”

Under the dim light, Karl’s eyes gradually darkened: “Do you want me to sleep for one night?”

Chapter 305

Alyssa was taken aback for a moment, and gave him a dumbfounded look: “Don’t.”

Karl didn’t say much, touched her head, turned and walked towards the night.

Until his figure disappeared, Alyssa took the car key and turned back to the room.

“?”

The next day.

When Alyssa woke up, she habitually took out her mobile phone and swiped Twitter.

As a result, she swiped her own trending search on Twitter.

“Mr. Adams’s ex-wife tried to save it.”

What kind of trending search is this?

Alyssa clicked in.

“At a dinner held in a high-end hotel last night, some people saw Mr. Adams and his ex-wife both present, and some speculated that it was Mr. Adams’s ex-wife who wanted to save Mr. Adams’s”

There is a large explanation behind.

Below are a few pictures that are not very clear.

The picture was indeed taken at the banquet, and the blogger also carefully circled the figures of Alyssa and Karl, and developed a rich association with them.

This is probably the strength of the media people.

She just went to a dinner party by accident, but she didn’t expect that Karl would be there.

Then the photos were taken by the media, and she wanted to save Karl.

Alyssa flipped down.

“It’s normal, a man like Karl, which woman is willing to let go.”

“This means that these two must have been divorced?”

“It feels like my opportunity has come.”

“This ex-wife is also quite shameless, she is still entangled after Karl is away.”

It’s nothing more than these comments, Alyssa is not surprised.

Alyssa got up and went to the bathroom to wash, and when she came out, she received a call from Mattie.

Mattie ridiculed her as soon as she opened her mouth: “Awesome, your posture of trending search in the past three days, our drama is hard to imagine.”

Alyssa laughed: “What the media want to write, how can I stop it?”

“Hey, I’m just curious, have you separated from Karl?”

Mattie mentioned this topic again, and Alyssa asked, “What do you think?”

“I don’t think so.” Mattie’s tone was somewhat determined.

Then, she continued: “If you are already divided, why would Karl want to be tied to you on trending search?”

Mattie was so sensitive that Alyssa was a little suspicious that the woman who had entered Karl's villa with the servant was her.

Alyssa said, "He just doesn't care about such small things."

"Really?" Mattie obviously didn't believe it.

At this time, another call came in.

Alyssa looked at the caller ID and found that it was Karl who was calling.

"Sorry, I have a call, so I won't talk to you."

Alyssa hung up Mattie's call and answered Karl's call.

Karl asked her, "Have you seen the trending search?"

"I saw it." Alyssa sighed, "I didn't expect that people from the media would get in at the banquet last night."

"I let someone put it up on purpose." Karl groaned for a moment and said, "It just happens to be able to help your new drama create momentum, and I'll let someone withdraw it later."

Alyssa laughed: "You don't need to be like this. It's just a web drama. There will be related activities and plans on the propaganda creator."

When her voice fell, she heard Smith's voice on the other end of the phone.

"Sir!"

"You're busy I guess." Alyssa finished speaking and hung up the phone.

!

The most recent filming of "Lost City" was in the studio.

Alyssa drove over and was filming a scene of a roadside fight when she arrived.

Mattie was not there either.

Alyssa hadn't been to the film and television city much before. After watching the roadside for a while, she planned to explore.

She didn't go very far, heard a familiar voice.

"Alyssa? Is that you?"

Alyssa stopped, and the people behind her immediately walked to her.

Rachel looked at her with surprise: "I just looked at the back image of you, but I didn't expect it to be you."

Alyssa looked at her coldly, without saying a word.

“Has this half a year been okay?” Rachel looked a little embarrassed when she saw Alyssa’s delay in speaking.

“It’s okay.” Alyssa looked at Rachel, and found that Rachel was no different from before, and she looked like a well-maintained lady.

At that time, all the media said that she was dead, and it seemed that this incident did not have a slight impact on Rachel.

Rachel is still the glamorous Miss Hunt.

Alyssa looked down at the watch on her wrist, with an impatient tone: “Is there anything Miss Adams?”

Rachel’s expression changed slightly when she heard Alyssa’s address to her: “Alyssa, youâ€™!”

“If it’s okay, I’ll leave first.” Alyssa didn’t give a chance to speak more, and turned to leave.

“Alyssa, wait.” Rachel quickly reached out and stepped forward to hold her: “In the situation like that back then, you should be able to understand us, we justâ€™!”

“I understand very well.” they were afraid of being implicated by her, so they severed the father-daughter relationship with her in the newspaper, which was very decisive and wise.

When Rachel heard this, she seemed to believe her statement, and she sighed with relief: “I’m here to explore Isabel’s class. She is filming here. Would you like to see it? After you came back, you met her?”

Alyssa frowned slightly: “Isabel is filming here?”

When Isabel wanted to enter the entertainment industry, Alyssa knew about it.

But unexpectedly, Isabel was already filming now.

“Yeah, the scene she took this time is a big production, and it should be popular.” When Rachel talked about Isabel’s filming, she was very happy, and she could see that she was happy for Isabel.

The smile on Alyssa’s face didn’t reach the bottom of her eyes: “Really? Then I congratulate you in advance.”

At this moment, her cell phone rang suddenly.

Mattie called.

She glanced at Rachel and answered the phone: “Hello? I’ll be there soon.”

She hung up the phone and glanced at Rachel: “Mrs. Hunt, I have to leave beforehand.”

“Eh, Alyssaâ€™!”

Alyssa left without hearing Rachel calling her.

When she arrived on the crew of “Lost City”, Alyssa approached Mattie and asked about Isabel.

“Are you talking about your sister Isabel?” Mattie sneered: “Like you, she is often on trending searches, but she bought them all by herself. She bought trending search headlines everywhere, and she also filmed several scenes. , But the ratings are not good.”

During the days when Alyssa left Rostenvel, she only logged on domestic websites except for checking Karl’s affairs. Generally, she did not go to domestic websites, so she was not clear about Isabel’s affairs.

At first she knew that Isabel wanted to enter the entertainment circle, but she didn’t expect it to come true.

“I forgot to tell you that when the “Lost City” was recruiting, Isabel also came to try the mirror. The director didn’t look at her, she was still preparing to take the lead”

Alyssa: “”

Chapter 306

Isabel came to try the “Lost City” play, surely because she didn’t know that the screenwriter of “Lost City” was Alyssa.

But after the events of these two days came out, Isabel should already know.

”

When she returned, Alyssa had just left the studio, and a white nanny car stopped in front of her.

The car door was opened with a “brush”, and Isabel, wearing sunglasses, got out of the car.

In the weather of August, Isabel put on a leather jacket for her concave shape.

Isabel embraced her arms, walked to Alyssa, raised her chin slightly, with a high posture: “I heard you-Mom said, you are also in the studio.”

Alyssa didn’t speak, but just looked at Isabel.

Isabel was irritated by Alyssa’s ignoring her completely, but when she thought of her own purpose, she had to endure it abruptly: “You wrote “Lost City”?”

“Yes.” Alyssa wanted to see what tricks Isabel wanted to play.

Isabel took off her sunglasses: “You have a good relationship with the producer of “Lost City”? I saw this script, and I don’t have to be the heroine. Arrange a second female position for me. Our previous affairs, I will write off with you, and you can come back to Hunt’s house.”

A write-off?

Alyssa sneered: “What is it that you write off for me? Have I done anything to you? As for returning to Hunt’s house, I don’t want to go back if you ask me.”

Isabel didn’t expect Alyssa to be so ignorant of good or bad.

Her face changed greatly with anger: “This is the last chance I will give you. Seeing you alone outside, I will give you a chance to return to Hunt’s house. You still don’t know what is good or bad!”

Alyssa didn't know what Isabel thought.

What Isabel said was to give her a chance to return to Hunt's house. It was nothing more than wanting Alyssa to return to Hunt's house, and let her be sent by Isabel as she used to pretend to be silly and ugly.

Isabel's wishful thinking is indeed good, but Alyssa will not be fooled like a fool.

"I just don't know good and bad, you should leave this opportunity to others."

"youâ€¦â€¦"

Alyssa bypassed Isabel and left straight away.

â€¦

Alyssa knew the Hunt family, and Isabel would not give up easily when she knew this.

Sure enough, she received a call from Colin the next day.

The only advantage of Colin is probably his bottomless favor with his children.

Of course, except for Alyssa.

"Since you're back to Rostenvel, you are not coming home?" Colin seemed to have amnesia, and didn't mention the issue of the newspaper and Alyssa's dissolution of his father-daughter relationship.

Alyssa didn't plan to let Colin go over it like this. She reminded Colin: "Since Mr. Hunt has forgotten, let me remind you that we have terminated the father-daughter relationship."

Colin didn't put Alyssa's words in his eyes at all: "If you are willing to return to Hunt's house, I am willing to let you in."

Alyssa wanted to laugh.

"What did I do to sorry you, do you want to let me go?"

Alyssa felt that she would never understand what was thinking in the Hunt family's mind in this life.

It is clear that she has been being used and abandoned.

But when it came to Hunt family, it turned out that she had done something sorry for them. Now they are generous and want to forgive her and allow her to return.

Colin's voice became colder: "What have you done, you know in your heart, anyway, our family also has the kindness of nurturing you, and now it's time for you to repay."

"Mr. Adams, if you have time, you should go to the hospital for a brain department. Take a good check to see if there is a problem with your brain." After Alyssa finished speaking, she hung up.

She poured herself a large glass of water, let out a long sigh of relief, and sat down on the sofa.

There is no more food at home, so she decided to go out and buy something.

Alyssa drove to the nearest supermarket, and when she came back, she found a luxury car parked in front of the apartment building.

Said it is a luxury car, it is not comparable to Karl's, but compared with this community, it seems a little out of place.

At this time, her mobile phone rang a new text message alert tone.

Alyssa took out her mobile phone and found that it was a text message from Norris.

"Get in the car, I have something for you."

After reading the text message, Alyssa raised her head to look at the car, strode over, and opened the door to take a look. Isn't the man sitting in the car smoking a cigarette, isn't it Norris?

"What are you doing?" Alyssa frowned and looked at him.

Norris pinched out the cigarette in his hand: "I have something to do with you."

The strong smell of smoke in the car made Alyssa a little uncomfortable. She stretched out her hand to fan in front of her nose and looked at him suspiciously.

She noticed that something was wrong with Norris today.

The ashtray was already full of cigarette butts, and he looked haggard.

Alyssa asked, "What's wrong with you?"

"Care about me?" Norris looked back at her.

Alyssa immediately turned to leave, and Norris called her to stop: "Alyssa, I have something for you."

Alyssa turned her head and Norris said, "It's what you want."

She turned around and said, "Sit down in a cafe and say it?"

"Just in this car." Norris lowered the window.

It was already evening, and the wind was blowing and it was a bit cool.

Alyssa sat next to Norris.

Norris didn't know where to draw a file bag to her: "See it for yourself."

Alyssa glanced at him, took the file bag, opened it, and took out the contents.

It is a DNA comparison report.

Without a name, the final result is a parent-child relationship.

Alyssa's heart tightened: "Who is this and whose DNA comparison report is this?"

Norris was taking out a cigarette, seeming to want to light it: "One of them is Gerald."

After he finished speaking, he stretched out his hand and wanted to get the lighter, turned his head and saw Alyssa stretched out her hand to cover her nose, put the lighter back, and only pinched the cigarette in his hand to play.

“Gerald?” Alyssa’s expression changed slightly, and her mind was blank for a moment.

Norris slowly explained to her: “This DNA report was made by Gerald himself, and it was probably the time when you and he had the scandal last year.”

Alyssa calculated the time.

She and Gerald, the scandal, Gerald deliberately did it.

Especially for the second time, he also led the public opinion to AdamPic Media. At that time, he had already faintly expressed the intention of breaking with Karl.

Gerald will suddenly break with Karl in his temperament. Is it related to this DNA report?

Alyssa turned her head and asked him, “So who is the other person in this DNA comparison report?”

Norris curled his lips and smiled: “Gerald is very cautious. There are no two names on it, but it is not difficult to guess.”

Chapter 307

After hearing what Norris said, Alyssa felt a little in her heart.

Gerald went for a DNA test, and then began to confront Karl.

If she really want to guess who the other person in this DNA report is, Alyssa has someone in her heart.

However, she thought it was unreasonable.

Seeing Alyssa’s expression changing, Norris said aloud: “I said it’s not difficult to guess, you already have the answer in your heart.”

Alyssa murmured, “How is this possible?”

Norris just looked at her quietly without speaking.

Alyssa thought of something and asked him: “How did you get this DNA test report?”

“There is no impermeable wall in this world. If you want people to know it, you can’t do it yourself.”
When Norris said this, his expression was cold.

Alyssa thought that Karl had told her about Norris’s life experience.

It is impossible for everyone to choose their own birth.

Alyssa thought of Gerald.

Gerald used to have a good relationship with Karl, but when he knew that he and Karl were not just cousins, but brothers, how should he face Karl?

That’s right, what Alyssa guessed in her heart was that the other person on this DNA test report was Trevor.

Anything, as long as there is a result, the causality will become traceable.

When he returned to his old house during the New Year, Trevor said that he would let Gerald go to work in the Adams' family, and that he would let Karl and Gerald take care of each other.

Before that, when negative news about Gerald spread on the Internet, Trevor also approached Karl.

At that time, Alyssa still faintly felt that Trevor cared about Gerald more than Karl.

If Gerald was Trevor's illegitimate son, then this matter would make sense.

The more Alyssa thought about it, the more she felt that her guess was correct.

"It's getting dark, don't you invite me to have a meal?" Norris's voice interrupted Alyssa's thoughts.

Alyssa got out of the car while talking: "Okay, let's go out to eat, I will drive my own car."

Norris stopped her: "Can't we go to your house to eat?"

Knowing that Norris might be interested in her, she certainly couldn't take him to eat at home.

Alyssa was silent and refused silently.

Norris laughed at himself: "It's me, one step is wrong."

Alyssa didn't know why he suddenly said such things.

â€¦

To show her sincerity, Alyssa still found a very high-end restaurant and invited Norris to dinner.

"So generous, I'm a little flattered." Norris teased her.

Alyssa smiled, "You can choose not to eat."

When ordering food, Alyssa felt that Norris had been looking at her.

She ordered food quickly and uncomfortably, then took out her phone and started playing.

"Karl told you about me, right?"

Norris's words caused Alyssa to turn her head and look at him.

"Yes, I was only born to my mother and a wild man outside. don't know who my biological father is. My existence is just a fig leaf, just to cover the fact that my adoptive father is impot3nt."

Although Karl had heard about this, Alyssa's mood was a little complicated when Norris said it in person.

Alyssa pursed her lips, and said aloud, "Aren't we eating? How do you say these things?"

Norris stared at her: "You let me finish."

Alyssa didn't speak anymore, if he wanted to, let him speak.

"Because of the impot3nt things of the adoptive father, my mother has been out fooling around with other men. On the surface they seem to be affectionate, but in fact they often quarrel. It is too easy to know my own lifeâ€¦"

Norris knew when he was very young that he was not of the blood of the Weber family. In the future, the Weber family's property would not have his share, and the people of the Weber family would not love him.

Therefore, he always pretended to be gentle when he was outside, just to make people like him and make people pay attention to him.

At the same time, he was also looking for a wife with a good family background.

Alyssa liked him, and always liked him, he knew it.

He really enjoys the feeling of being liked by Alyssa, so he treats Alyssa well from time to time so that she always likes him.

However, she finally married Karl.

Married into the same "ugly and impotent" man.

He thought of his mother, and then began to hate Alyssa.

Among those girls who like him, the Hunt family is considered to have a good family background, and Isabel is deeply loved by Colin. In the future, he and Isabel will marry, and Colin will surely arrange a generous dowry.

However, he didn't expect Isabel's private life to be chaotic to the point.

He was very popular with girls when he was in school, but among so many girls who liked him, only Alyssa was different.

She likes him attentively, but is secretly afraid of him finding out.

He is smarter than anyone and knows what he wants better than anyone, so he knows very well that he would not choose a woman like Alyssa as his wife.

Life is probably like this, one step is wrong, and always regrets when there are memories of the past.

Norris held the cup in front of him, and said solemnly: "Alyssa, I really like you, but I found out too late."

The less affectionate the person, the easier it is to be moved.

In the past few years, everything he did and everyone he contacted had a utilitarian purpose.

And only Alyssa, he was detached from her, just wanted her to like him all the time.

After the situation changed, when Norris said such words again, Alyssa couldn't feel a ripple in her heart.

Alyssa didn't want to recall her past thoughts with him. She pondered for a moment and said, "Don't talk about the past. After this meal, we are still friends."

Don't chase the past, it's over.

Everyone has to look forward.

The most appropriate way to deal with the past is to put it in the past.

“Yes, the past things are over.” Norris said here, and gave a slight pause: “But I want you to know that I have liked you not only before, but I will continue to like you in the future.”

Alyssa was about to drink water and stiffened.

“Karl asked me. He said he could help me take the Weber’s, but his condition was that I would not be able to actively look for you in the future.”

Norris said while paying attention to Alyssa’s expression: “But I refused. The conditions he gave are very attractive, but if I accept his conditions, then I can’t be so clean and open at this moment. Sitting here and saying that I like you, I now realize that there are many things in life, which are more important than money and power.”

Alyssa had long discovered that something was wrong with Norris today.

Unexpectedly, he had enough energy to confess to her today.

Chapter 308

Alyssa didn’t feel anything about Norris now, but she could also hear Norris’s words from the heart.

She waited until he finished speaking, and then said, “You can be yourself in the future. As for me, I only have Karl.”

“Are you really sure that you can go to the end with Karl?” Norris has always been optimistic about her and Karl.

Alyssa thought for a while, and said in a very serious tone: “Anyway, I never thought about living with anyone other than Karl.”

This is the simplest thought in her heart.

She can’t imagine myself living with other men, so even if it is difficult now, she has to stick to it.

Norris laughed mockingly: “I understand.”

After that, the two chatted with each other.

Most of it talking about the past, and it was basically Norris talking, and Alyssa was in charge of listening.

After listening to the meal, the two went out of the box to leave the restaurant.

At the entrance of the restaurant, they met Gerald and Isabel by coincidence.

Isabel was so worried about Alyssa’s rejection of her, and she naturally ridiculed her when she caught the opportunity.

Her gaze swept back and forth between Alyssa and Norris, and then raised the volume and said: “Oh, you can’t hook up with Karl, so you and Norris will rekindle your old relationship?”

Only after Alyssa got a DNA test report from Norris, and now she met Gerald again, her eyes naturally turned to Gerald.

Seeing that Alyssa had been staring at Gerald, Isabel immediately stood in front of Gerald: "What are you looking at? Eating the pot and thinking about the bowl? Shameless?"

Gerald didn't care and said hello to Alyssa: "Alyssa."

Alyssa yelled strangely: "Mr. Cain."

It was Norris who looked at Gerald with interest.

Because of their status and circle, Norris and Gerald have very few opportunities to meet.

He would get the DNA test report only occasionally, so he was very curious about Gerald.

Trevor's illegitimate son.

Is it really that simple as an illegitimate child?

"Gerald!" When Isabel saw Gerald actually talking to Alyssa, she called him in dissatisfaction.

Gerald lowered his head and looked at Isabel with a gentle look: "Anyway, Alyssa is your sister. Even if Alyssa's play "Lost City", you have no chance to cooperate with her, there could still be a script in future?"

Gerald's words made Isabel behaved like a cat that had been smoothed.

Alyssa narrowed her eyes slightly. It is no wonder that Isabel would audition for the cast of "Lost City" because of Gerald.

Gerald used to act in suspense-type movies, so he naturally has his own eyes on scripts.

However, Gerald asked Isabel to audition for "Lost City", whether it was because he fell in love with the script of "Lost City", or because he simply wanted Isabel to find Alyssa not happy. It's hard to say.

Alyssa had seen Gerald's badness.

Alyssa had no intention of telling them more, and only whispered to Norris: "Let's go."

Then she raised her foot and walked out.

â€!

Alyssa didn't go home, and drove directly to Karl's residence.

She has the key to Karl's apartment.

When she opened the door and went in, the room was dark and Karl had not returned.

Alyssa turned on the light and went to every room to take a look.

There was a thin layer of dust on the counter in the kitchen, which proved that Karl had never cooked at home.

Karl didn't know how to cook.

Apart from a few bottles of water and wine, there is nothing else in the refrigerator.

It's really not like a house where people live.

Alyssa waited left and right, until eleven o'clock, Karl had not returned.

Alyssa simply took a shower and turned off the lights, and ran to his bed to sleep.

Karl didn't come back until after one o'clock.

He entered the door, turned on the light, and when he lowered his head he noticed a pair of ladies' single shoes by the door.

Who else can enter his house besides Alyssa?

The corners of his lips were raised unconsciously, and the exhaustion on his face was wiped away. He threw away the suit jacket on his arm, untied his tie, and walked to the bedroom.

There was no light in the bedroom, but Karl had already become accustomed to the layout of the room and walked to the bedside lightly, reaching out to turn on the bedside lamp.

Alyssa slept sideways on his bed wrapped in a quilt, her long black hair spread out to cover the pillows.

Coming back from work, he saw Alyssa sleeping on his bed.

It's just a scene that only appears in a dream.

Karl's throat moved, he leaned over to Alyssa, stretched out the hair covering her face, and gently dropped a kiss.

Since returning to Rostenvel, Alyssa's sleep has been very light.

Although Karl's movements were extremely light, she was still awakened.

She opened her eyes, turned her head and saw Karl's handsome face.

"You're back." The voice she had just woke up was dumb, with a little childishness.

Karl sat down by the bed, touched her face, and said softly, "Well, have you waited a long time?"

Alyssa nodded, and reached out to get her watch on the bedside.

Karl saw her intention, grabbed her slender and soft hand, and said, "It's almost two o'clock."

"Are you working overtime until so late now?" Alyssa sat up while talking.

Karl helped her shoulders: "No."

The denial was so straightforward, Alyssa knew he was telling lies.

Alyssa was not so coaxing, she turned her head to look at him: "You said it doesn't count, I have to ask Smith."

"It will be fine for a while." Karl laughed, watching her softer face under the light, and couldn't help leaning over to kiss her.

A very shallow kiss, with one touch: "Go to sleep, I'll take a bath."

"I was waiting for you, I have something to tell you." Alyssa kept thinking about the DNA test report and wanted to tell Karl earlier.

Karl was taken aback for a moment, and then nodded: "Yeah."

Alyssa also brought the DNA test report that Norris had given her, and placed it in the drawer of the bedside table.

When Karl came out of the bathroom, she handed him the DNA test report.

"What is it?" Karl stretched out his hand and took it. After only one glance, his eyebrows were twisted into a knot.

He sat on the edge of the bed and read the DNA test report.

When Alyssa watched it, she turned to the back to see the result.

But Karl obviously understood a little bit. After watching it for a long time, he raised his head and asked Alyssa, "Who gave it to you?"

His tone was very serious, as if he knew who this was and whose DNA comparison test report.

Alyssa told the truth: "Norris gave it to me."

Hearing this, Karl narrowed his eyes dangerously, and said in a low tone, "Did you go to see Norris again?"

Chapter 309

Alyssa felt that Karl's focus was not right.

Although she did meet Norris, shouldn't it be the DNA comparison test report that should attract his attention right now?

Alyssa was a little impatient: "Yeah."

"Take my words to ears?" Karl put aside the DNA comparison test report in his hand, and stared at her with a cold face.

"Let's not talk about it yet." Alyssa now only wants to know whether this DNA comparison test report is from Gerald and Trevor.

However, Karl showed extraordinary persistence: "I won't talk about anything else with you unless I finish this."

"Yes, I did meet Norris, but it was also because of business affairs." Alyssa patiently explained to him, "I just said something for a while. After a meal, everything's!"

Karl's complexion became more and more gloomy: "Have a meal together?"

Alyssa realized that she didn't seem to be so honest and said so carefully.

"It's just a meal." Alyssa pursed her lips, carefully watching Karl's reaction.

“Heh.” Karl sneered, “You accompanied him to a banquet last time. This time you have dinner together. Next time? What are you going to do together?”

Alyssa felt that Karl’s words were a bit too much.

She had always wanted to know from Norris about the secrets of the Adams’ family, and Norris had told her, it was understandable that she invited him to dinner.

“I did nothing with him, weâ€”

Karl directly interrupted Alyssa’s defense: “We are so soon? Your relationship with him is really getting closer by leaps and bounds!”

“Karl, I will be angry if you do this!” Alyssa couldn’t stand it most, because Karl would eat this meaningless vinegar at every turn.

Karl said coldly, “I’m already angry.”

Alyssa: “â€”

She felt that Karl was as naive as a child at this time.

“Okay, let’s talk about the DNA test report.” Alyssa reached out and took his hand.

As soon as she caught Karl’s hand, she was tightly clasped in the palm of her hand by Karl’s backhand.

Feeling the soft lump in the palm of his hand, Karl’s complexion only slightly improved.

He lowered his eyes to look at Alyssa, and said in a low tone, “Have you ever thought about why Norris knows about the relationship between Gerald and me?”

The relationship between Karl and Gerald has never been publicly announced.

Therefore, Norris should not know the relationship between Karl and Gerald.

However, Norris actually knew that Gerald was from the Adams’ family.

Alyssa thought for a while and said, “Perhaps, he also knew it by accident?”

Karl raised his eyebrows: “Everything happened to him alone. Why didn’t he buy lottery tickets? Maybe it could be 500 million.”

Karl’s mouth can really poison people sometimes.

Alyssa asked curiously: “Why is that?”

Karl’s expression was slightly cold: “Someone deliberately instructed Norris to give this DNA comparison test report to us.”

Alyssa felt that what Karl said made sense.

“Who would this person be?” Alyssa thought it was Norris who got this DNA comparison test report, but she didn’t expect things to become more and more complicated.

Karl frowned and said nothing.

Alyssa stared at the DNA comparison test report for a while, and said, "Then this DNA comparison test report is real and effective? One of them is really Gerald?"

Karl also set his sights on the DNA comparative test report, and did not immediately speak out.

During the New Year, in the old house, Luther heard him and Gerald's conversation and told him that Gerald often went in and out of the hospital during that time.

Later, Karl also sent someone to investigate, and it was indeed found that Gerald had done a DNA comparison test, but he did not keep a record.

Gerald was very careful and handled it cleanly, leaving no traces.

Even if he didn't get the report of DNA comparison test, Karl still had some guesses in his heart.

However, something happened to Alyssa later, and he has never had the opportunity to verify this guess.

After a long while, Karl said in a deep voice, "Is it right that Gerald and him? Just make a DNA comparison to know."

From Karl's words, Alyssa could hear that Karl had long been suspicious in this regard.

Alyssa thought for a while and said, "I'm going to get Gerald's hair. Recently, with the crew, I often go to the film and television city. There are more opportunities to meet Gerald."

Karl hadn't spoken yet, Alyssa knew he would reject her proposal.

Before he could speak, Alyssa said: "That's it. Don't accept the rebuttal. Okay, go to bed."

After she finished speaking, she lay down, pulled the quilt over her head, and covered herself tightly.

Karl looked at the raised quilt and stretched out his hand: "Don't cover it."

Alyssa pulled the quilt out, revealing half of her forehead.

Karl laughed, stretched out his long arms, pulled the quilt away, squeezed from behind her onto the bed, and clasped her tightly in his arms.

Alyssa had to move to the other side of the bed.

She moved forward, and Karl was like a brown candy, and then glued to her side, unwilling to relax.

"Don't get so close, it's hot."

Although the air conditioner was turned on, it was summer, and the temperature on Karl's body was so high that he pressed against her like a stove.

Karl only said a word, and Alyssa was as good as a cat and stopped moving.

He said: "I will go to the company at seven tomorrow morning."

It was already over two o'clock, and Karl went to the office at seven o'clock and had to get up early, which meant that his sleep time this night was less than five hours.

For the two people now, it is not easy to hug each other and sleep peacefully.

After Grace was stolen from the bag, Alyssa's sleep has been poor.

She always wake up after sleeping for a while at night, and sleep time becomes fragmented.

When it was about to dawn, Karl woke up with a move beside him.

"You sleep for a while, don't worry about me." Karl noticed that Alyssa was waking up, and kissed her on the cheek sideways.

She was with him, and Alyssa followed.

When Karl took out his tie from the closet, Alyssa crawled to the end of the bed and took the tie in her hand.

While helping him tie his tie, she whispered, "Don't be too tired, pay attention to your body."

Although he only slept for less than five hours last night, there was no tired look on Karl's face. On the contrary, he looked very energetic.

She thought of Karl's gunshot wound again.

Although many times she felt that Karl's body seemed to be beaten with iron, but she knew very well in her heart that Karl was just an ordinary person throwing the halo at the beginning.

He is just more capable than ordinary people.

Chapter 310

The identity and aura that the Adams' family gave him requires his contribution to repay.

There is no absolute fairness, and there is no absolute unfairness.

The more you get, the more you will have to pay.

Karl bent his body slightly to match Alyssa's height, his black eyes were tightly locked on Alyssa's face, and there was a smile in her voice: "Suddenly care about me so?"

Alyssa did not answer him immediately, but carefully tied his tie and tidied it up, then raised her eyes and said sternly, "I always care about you, so you too Cherish your body."

"Yeah." Karl nodded.

Afterwards, he stretched his finger to his lips and motioned to Alyssa to give a parting kiss.

Alyssa shook her head. She didn't brush her teeth and didn't want to kiss him.

Where did Karl care so much, he pinched her lips and kissed her.

When he let go of her, a narrow smile flashed under his eyes: "A smelly kiss."

Alyssa squeezed her small fist and hit him.

He didn't avoid it, smiled and let her get rid of her breath twice, and then went out to work.

When Alyssa walked out the window, watched his car leave, and turned around to go to the bathroom to wash, she remembered that Karl had not eaten breakfast.

When they lived in a villa halfway up the mountain, Karl had breakfast at home before going out.

He lives alone now, there is no servant in the apartment, and she doesn't know if he has breakfast when he goes to work in the morning.

Alyssa thought for a while, and sent a text message to Smith, asking him to buy breakfast for Karl.

Karl went to work in the company, and she had to clean up and prepare to go to the studio.

Alyssa finished washing and drove back to her residence.

She simply made breakfast for herself, and she read Gerald's Twitter while eating, to see if she could see his schedule.

She hasn't read Gerald's Twitter for a long time.

In the past, Gerald opened a random Twitter account, and most of the comments below were praise for him.

Alyssa opened a Tweet and found that the bottom half was scolding him.

Since the termination of the contract between Gerald and AdamPic Media, the popularity has not declined, but the reputation has been mixed.

Among them, he and Isabel are the root cause of most fans turning black.

Gerald has too many fans, and AdamPic Media has maintained his personal image too well over the years. During that time, there were so many scandals, and he got mixed up with people like Isabel, without AdamPic. The media gave him public relations, and naturally a large number of fans became black fans.

Even Alyssa, from the perspective of a fan, these are enough for her to die of old age.

Before Gerald was really red, now he is black and red.

All black, but still red.

Gerald's recent Twitter posts are all advertising endorsements, as well as the promotion of a new drama.

Looking at the picture he posted, it looks like a costume drama.

Alyssa opened the comments below and found that someone commented below: "I saw Mr. Cain in the film and television city today, and I took a secret photo that is not very clear, so happy!"

There are many follow-up comments below this comment.

"Is it the Rostenvel Cinema City?"

"Yeah, I just don't know how long this drama was filmed. I'm a bit looking forward to meeting the actor Cain next time!"

“Envy, I also want to see the real person Gerald Cain.”

“What’s so good about a trash!”

“Pick up other people’s broken shoes!”

Alyssa didn’t bother to look at the following piles of comments scolding Gerald, but saved the photo in the main building.

When she drove to the film and television city, she showed Mattie the picture: “Can you see where this is?”

The Rostenvel Film and Television City is very big, and Alyssa is not very familiar, so she had to ask Mattie.

Mattie naturally recognized that person was Gerald, and asked, “Are you going to find Gerald?”

“No, there is something else, I want to go there to see it.” Alyssa didn’t tell the truth.

“Oh, this place!” Mattie told Alyssa an approximate location.

Alyssa bid farewell to Mattie and went to the place where Gerald was filming.

When she found a place, Alyssa realized that it was as difficult as ever to meet Gerald here because there were too many people.

In this way, if you want to see Gerald, you might as well go to Isabel faster.

Alyssa guarded outside for a long time, and indeed did not see Gerald.

It seems that this method will not work, and she really have to go to Isabel to see Gerald.

Alyssa walked towards her, thinking about how to find Isabel.

She remembered that she ran into Isabel in the restaurant yesterday, how about going there again?

Thinking of this, Alyssa drove directly to the restaurant from yesterday.

She found an empty table not far from the door to sit down, and after ordering the meal, she kept staring at the door.

Coincidentally, she actually made her wait for Gerald and Isabel.

Isabel’s dressing style has not changed, she is still wearing a low-cut and sexy dress, her whole body is glued to Gerald’s body, and she talks to him in a charming manner.

The expression on Gerald’s face was still gentle, allowing Isabel to stick to him, neither impatient nor disgusted, and smiled from time to time.

He curled his lips and smiled, and Isabel’s soul seemed to be hooked off by him, and her eyes lit up.

In the past, it was difficult for Alyssa to imagine what Isabel would be like when she really liked a man.

But she now discovered that no matter how vicious Isabel was, she was always a woman.

It is the same when a woman falls in love with a man.

The two went directly to the box.

Isabel walked in the front and advanced to the box. When Gerald was walking behind to enter the box, he suddenly turned his head and looked towards Alyssa.

When he looked back, Alyssa turned her head quickly, propped her face with arms, pretending to be looking at the phone.

After a while, when Alyssa looked back, she found that Gerald had entered the box.

Gerald should have seen her just now.

When he saw her, he saw her, anyway, her purpose was to get Gerald's hair.

After Alyssa's food came up, she deliberately ate slowly.

Finally, Gerald came out of the box and went to the bathroom.

Alyssa quickly got up and followed.

Afraid of losing Gerald, she deliberately trot to speed up and followed.

However, when she turned a corner, she did not see Gerald.

At this moment, someone behind her patted her shoulder.

She turned her head sharply and saw Gerald with a cigarette in his mouth.

He looked at her with a smile, and said lightly, "You are looking for me?"

Alyssa froze for a moment, and then returned to normal: "No, I came over to the bathroom."