Chapter 61

Alyssa's eyes widened: "Cain!"

She hadn't said what followed. The man wearing a mask squinted slightly and interrupted her in time: "Am I not supposed to ask you this? What are you doing here?"

There is a trace of sternness in the nice voice, and the concern expressed is just right.

Alyssa almost thought that this man was really her "cousin", and said dumbfounded: "I'm planning to go back."

"I'll send you off." The man wearing a mask finished speaking, and took her wrist to walk out.

But the male colleague who came with Alyssa obviously would not give up easily. He stepped forward and stopped Alyssa: "We are here to do market research. Are you skipping work now?"

Alyssa looked at him with a smile: "My cousin finally came back from abroad. I got to get together with him first, so please ask for leave for me."

The man still wanted to stop Alyssa, the man wearing a mask slowly took out his cell phone: "Should I call the police?"

Hearing this, the man immediately stepped aside.

Alyssa followed the man wearing a mask to the car. She hesitated, and finally plucked up the courage to ask, "Are you Gerald?"

Gerald took off his mask and looked at her with a smile: "Is it so easy to recognize?"

Alyssa shook her head repeatedly, a little excited: "No, no! I just!"

Alyssa didn't feel embarrassed to speak like this for eight years.

She watched all the plays he participated in, so she knew his eyes well.

Seeing that she was silent, Gerald nodded, with a gentle voice: "I understand."

He lowered his eyes and drove seriously, and asked her, "Where are you going?"

"On the place with a lot of people in front, I'll just take a taxi and go home." Alyssa never thought that there would be a day when she sees Gerald as a real person. She was very happy to see him, and only liked him. Drama, he helped her this time, and she shouldn't bother him in the name of a fan.

When he arrived in a crowded place, Alyssa asked him before getting off the car: "Will you pick up a new script after you return to the country?"

Gerald said without hesitation: "If I have a good script, I will keep filming until the day I am too old to shoot."

Alyssa's eyes lit up and nodded heavily: "Well, as long as you act so well, I will keep watching."

Gerald laughed. It seems that she really likes his plays and is also a very straightforward audience.

Alyssa said again, "Thank you so much for today."

Gerald thought about what happened before, and raised his eyebrows and said, "It's a great effort, but girls must be careful outside."

"Well, I will." Alyssa smiled at him again, turned and left.

Gerald looked at her back, and when he was lost for a while, he asked her, "What is your name?"

Alyssa looked back in surprise: "Alyssa."

"Alyssa!" Gerald said her name gently, then frowned slightly.

If he remembers correctly, Karl's wife who just passed the door seems to be called by this name!

Best Day Senior Club.

As soon as Karl entered, he saw Smith.

He was sent to a foreign country just before midnight and just returned.

Smith walked to him and said respectfully: "Sir."

Karl raised his hand and looked at the time: "Is the big brother here?"

Smith: "Just arrived."

Karl went directly to the box.

When Gerald heard the door opening, he raised his head and looked towards the door. When he saw Karl, he showed a gentle smile, making him even more gentle.

He called out: "Karl."

Karl walked across to him and sat down and pushed the menu to him: "Brother hasn't ordered yet?"

Gerald is the son of Karl's aunt and a top-notch Actor signed by AdamPic Media.

"No hurry." Gerald didn't go to the menu, but instead asked with interest, "How is your relationship with your new wife?"

Speaking of Alyssa, Karl frowned slightly, unwilling to say more: "Not very good."

Gerald stretched out his hand to hold the water glass in front of him, and asked casually, "What? Is it difficult to wrap around?"

He doesn't know whether Alyssa is difficult to pester, she has never pestered him anyway.

Gerald is a relatively lazy person, and he has a lot of problems today.

Karl leaned back and looked at Gerald with a look of scrutiny: "You came back to care about my married life?"

Gerald also realized that he had asked a little too much. He smiled and naturally changed the subject: "My mother said, if I don't find a girlfriend, she will let me go on a blind date show."

There is a rare look on Karl's face that he is watching a good show: "The company can't let you go on a blind date show. As the boss, I can arrange a blind date for you."

Gerald coughed, cleared his throat and said, "I will lose my powder when I fall in love."

Karl looked up at him: "Think you are an idealist?"

Gerald: "€" Is it his fault to become a Grand Slam actor at the age of 28?

In the evening, when Karl returned home from work, he found that Alyssa was not only at home, but also had prepared food.

Usually, when he comes home from work, Alyssa has just returned. How could she come back so early today?

When he walked to the door of the kitchen, he happened to see Alyssa carrying a large bowl of soup wearing heat-resistant gloves.

Alyssa frowned when she saw Karl, "Luther, let me go."

Karl did not let go, but took off the suit jacket on his arm and put it on Alyssa's arm to hang it, and reached out to take the soup in her hand.

Alyssa watched him serving the soup with bare hands, and couldn't help reminding him: "Hey, this is very hot!"

Karl put the soup on the table with a calm expression.

Alyssa: "€" This man must be beaten with iron.

When the two sat down to eat, Karl asked casually, "Why came back so early today?"

Alyssa filled for herself with a bowl of soup and turned her head to look at him: "Do I need to report to you?"

Karl smiled extremely angry: "The teeth are sharp and the mouth is sharp!"

But his current "Luther" status can't cure her.

"Thank you for the compliment." Alyssa felt that the experience she had summed up was not wrong, as long as she did not show weakness, "Luther" could not do anything to her.

Karl squinted his eyes and fixedly looked at Alyssa.

His whole person is arrogant and domineering, and even when he focuses on people, his eyes are somewhat different from ordinary people.

Alyssa was uncomfortable by him, and when he was about to speak, he heard Karl slowly say: "Alyssa, I am Karl."

Alyssa: "?????"

There was dead silence in the dining room, and there was a dining table between them, both looking serious.

Alyssa held the chopsticks tightly in her hand, and her voice was hoarse: "This is your new trick to tease me?"

Chapter 62

Karl's eyes were locked tightly on her body, not letting go of any subtle expressions on her face, with scrutiny and seriousness.

When he watched Alyssa, Alyssa was also watching him, and the two looked at each other in silence, like a silent contest.

Finally, Alyssa turned her eyes away first.

"Luther" is Karl?

No matter how you think about it, I think this is absurd.

Looking at the constantly changing expression on her face, Karl knew in his heart that he suddenly said it too abruptly.

He retracted his gaze, took a sip of water slowly, and said without a rush, "If I said no, would you believe it?"

Alyssa heard the joke in his tone, and felt relieved: "Of course not, do you really think I'm so foolish?"

Karl said lightly, "No."

He didn't think she was fooling, but she was always fooling.

After eating and returning to the room, Alyssa was still thinking about what "Luther" said.

She and "Luther" didn't get along for a long time, but the arrogance in his bones could never be at the mercy of others to marry a woman he didn't like.

Regardless of whether she or Isabel married, he can find out the details of the two of them.

She was "ugly and stupid" at the time, and Isabel had a chaotic private life. Playing outside during the semester was not a good match.

If "Luther" is really Karl, there is no need for him to wrong himself to marry her and Isabel.

What's more, Karl is a flawed person, and his indifferent attitude towards Alyssa is more authentic and credible.

With this analysis, Alyssa settled down and took the clothes to the bathroom.

After taking a shower, she just heard the phone ringing.

She didn't see who was calling, so she answered the phone.

"Are you skipping work today?"

Hearing Colin's stern voice, Alyssa froze for a while, turned on the hands-free and put the phone on the bed, and then wiped her hair while saying: "Dad's news is really good. I went home as soon as I went out this morning. It's all night until you know I'm skipping work."

During the day, the man who went out with her to do market research must be Melvin looking for revenge.

Otherwise, with Isabel's temperament that loves making trouble for her, how could it be that this time will be told to Colin?

Isabel probably got involved in this matter too, maybe after she was sure that the person had not succeeded, she ran to Colin and complained.

Isabel really spared no effort to deal with her.

Last time, she hadn't asked Isabel to settle the account about the ZVR Club!

At Colin's office that day, she deliberately said that Isabel had gone to the ZVR Club again, just to test if Isabel was really at the ZVR Club that day.

Although the mastermind of that matter will have no one other than Isabel, she still needs to be sure.

Colin knew nothing about what happened to Alyssa today. After hearing Alyssa's arrogant tone, the anger in his heart grew stronger. He shouted loudly on the phone: "Alyssa! You really think you are now Adams' woman, can't I take care of you!"

Alyssa said in a lazy tone: "No, if you want to control me, you can do it anytime."

However, since she was a child, Colin didn't care about her. He would only look at her more when he needed to use her.

Colin was blocked by Alyssa's words for a while, and said several "good" words in a cold voice: "Good, good! I'll talk to the company on Monday!"

After speaking, he hung up with a snap.

Isabel took a glass of water and put it in front of Colin: "Dad, what did Alyssa say to make you so angry?"

"I think she thinks that no one can cure her, she's just arrogant!" Colin was so angry that she patted her on the desk.

Isabel stretched out her hand and stroked his chest to give him comfort, and said comfortingly: "Dad, I think Alyssa is really too much this time. You are so good to her, but she doesn't look at you. Here, I see, I still teach her a lesson."

Hearing the words, Colin thought slightly, then nodded slowly.

â€¦

Regarding the Monday company that Colin said, Alyssa had long expected this matter to be unfinished.

Since she dared to go to the Adams' family, she was not afraid.

Tina is still filming outside, and Alyssa doesn't have any friends in Rostenvel, so she doesn't go out much on weekends. She stays at home and writes dramas and scripts.

Hunt's must not stay long, and her professionalism cannot be lost.

In the past two days, "Luther" didn't know what he was up to, and rarely showed up at home. She didn't see many others during the whole weekend, which saved her a lot of things.

Monday morning.

When it was almost twelve o'clock last night, she heard the sound of a car engine, so she guessed that "Luther" should also be at home.

So when she made breakfast, she made two.

When she brought her breakfast to the entrance of the restaurant, she saw "Luther" in a neat suit sitting at the table.

This was the first time they met head-on after dinner last Friday.

Alyssa was also dissatisfied with what he said that day, so she sat down with her breakfast, glanced at him and said, "Go to the kitchen to get your breakfast."

Karl didn't speak, his eyes fell on her breakfast.

The breakfast she made was very simple, consisting of porridge and egg pancakes.

Alyssa felt his gaze, and there was always the illusion that he would grab food with himself.

So, she bowed her head and took a bite of the egg cake and swore her sovereignty.

After doing this, she felt a little naive.

However, she did not expect "Luther" to be more naive than her.

He stood up directly, taking advantage of the long hand, brought the breakfast in front of her directly to himself.

Not only that, but like a demonstration, he took a bite of her omelet.

Alyssa had never had any contact with the opposite sex, so she blushed, "You, you shameless!"

Karl put down his chopsticks, his expression was serious and calm: "I didn't insult you, why are you cursing?"

Alyssa: "â€¦"

She couldn't talk about him, she turned back to the kitchen to take the rest of the breakfast, and came out directly in the kitchen after eating.

When she came out, Karl gave her a slightly surprised look.

Alyssa warmed her feet and walked out, watching her disappear, Karl couldn't restrain his lips and smiled.

In fact, she didn't know that he was Karl, and it seemed quite interesting.

Although he was very busy these two days, he still missed Alyssa's return so early last Friday.

Isabel had a vicious heart and would definitely try to deal with Alyssa. He wouldn't do anything unless he had to. After all, it was very interesting to watch the woman Alyssa fight against her enemy.

This is what he thought in his heart, but his body had already reacted directly and got up and walked out.

Chapter 63

After Alyssa left the villa, she heard the whistle of a car behind her before she didn't go far.

Alyssa turned around, and the car stopped right beside her.

The window of the car came down, revealing the handsome face of "Luther" but it was completely disgusting in Alyssa's eyes.

He squinted slightly and said in a low tone: "Get in the car, I'll take you to work."

"No." Alyssa refused directly, she didn't want to be onlookers anymore.

She can already imagine that when "Luther" sends her to the company, she will definitely be watched, and then there will be a lot of rumors.

"Luther" suddenly smiled, Alyssa's eyes were a little frightening, and his voice was low: "What are you afraid of?"

What is she afraid of?

Alyssa was taken aback, only then realized that she had been coldly treating "Luther" intentionally or unintentionally, but she was actually afraid.

Although she has always acted to hate him, she has to admit that he is a very good man.

His arrogance seems to grow in his bones, making people think that a man like him should have been so confident, like a natural luminous body, and must be eye-catching.

He is a little bad sometimes, but when he is good to her, it is also real.

Such a man is actually very easy to make a woman's heart.

So Alyssa always avoided him consciously and treated him coldly.

She wears the label "Daughter-in-law of Adams' family", and this label may follow her for the rest of her life, so she knows more about herself and knows more about keeping her duty.

She was afraid that she would be moved.

Seeing Alyssa's delay in speaking, Karl continued to increase her weight to stimulate her: "Or, what do you think of me?"

"I didn't!" Almost immediately, Alyssa retorted her aloud.

When she reacted, she had already opened the door and sat in the position of the co-pilot.

"Luther" looked forward without squinting, his expression calm and no extra emotions, but there was a trace of success hidden in his eyes, which exposed his mind.

Alyssa didn't look at him with some guilty conscience, turned her head and looked out the window, at first she had nothing to say: "How much is your car worth?"

"Luther" first said: "Not expensive."

Alyssa was a little surprised. This car was rare. When she was still in school, many rich second generations would drive to the school gate to pick up girls. Among them, there were many famous cars, including Bentleys, but she never saw this kind of model.

She thinks this car should be quite expensive.

Karl glanced at her: "But it was discontinued a few years ago."

"I am?" she just asked casually.

Karl cut her words directly: "If you want something nice, I can consider giving it to you."

Feeling that Alyssa's complexion suddenly changed, Karl realized what he had said.

In his identity as Karl, it is understandable to send a car to Alyssa, but if it were "Luther", it would be a bit inappropriate.

After that, until the Hunt's, neither of them spoke.

When getting of the car, Alyssa said to him, "Thank you."

Her tone is very polite, but she has a deep sense of alienation.

She closed the car door, turned around, and ran into the front with Isabel.

Isabel looked at her mockingly, and glanced at the car behind her: "It seems that you and Karl's cousin get along well, and the one who brings you to work or picks you when you get off work is quite harmonious. "

"It's all a family, of course, we have to live in harmony, do we have to be like you?" Alyssa took two steps forward, approached Isabel, and said in a voice that only two people could hear, "A place like the ZVR Club, Not everyone loves to play. Next time, sister, don't pretend to be a fool to play with me."

Isabel's face was slightly stiff, but she quickly recovered her naturalness: "I don't know what you are talking about."

Alyssa smiled brightly, with a hint of threat in her tone: "Daddy doesn't like you to go to the ZVR Club to play, you should be careful."

Colin doesn't care about Alyssa, but he likes to use her. As the young lady of Hunt's, she has a great use. If Colin knew what Isabel did to Alyssa, he would definitely scold Isabel.

Alyssa understood this, and Isabel naturally understood it.

But Isabel was obviously not afraid of Alyssa's threat at all. She proudly said: "There is nothing to say, who believes you?"

"Alyssa, what time is off work, I will pick you up."

The voice of "Luther" came coldly, and Alyssa looked back at him blankly, with a clear expression in her eyes: Why haven't you left?

Karl treated her eyes as if he didn't understand her. He stood still and didn't move. It seemed that he wouldn't turn around and leave without waiting for a satisfactory answer.

Alyssa had nothing to do with him, so she nodded, "Okay."

Karl received a satisfactory answer, gave Isabel a cold glance, returned to the car, and drove away.

Isabel was shivered by his glance, but there was a touch of greed in her eyes.

If she knew that Karl had such a superb cousin if she had married into Adams' family, would "Luther" send her to work?

She thought of the black card that Alyssa had taken out when she was in Best Day that day, and her eyes were about to burst into flames.

She started to regret it a bit, she should have been married into Adams' family!

Alyssa turned her head and saw Isabel looking greedily in the direction where "Luther" was leaving.

Alyssa curled her lips and said mockingly: "My sister regrets now and gave me her fiancÃ©? But it's useless if you regret it. Even if Karl is willing to divorce me, he will never marry you. ."

Although Isabel's turmoil has passed, her reputation has been ruined after all. It is only strange that Adams' family would let such a disgraced woman come in.

After being pierced by Alyssa, Isabel's complexion became ugly.

But her face quickly returned to normal, and she fluffed her hair and said triumphantly: "I don't want to marry that cripple, Karl."

What she wants is "Luther".

If a man of top quality like "Luther" can be with her, she will definitely have endless aftertastes.

What if Alyssa's soil buns become more beautiful?

Without personnel, Alyssa could not guess what Isabel was thinking.

But Isabel said that Karl was a useless person, and she was not happy.

“What if Karl is a useless person? My husband, it’s not your turn to talk about it!” After Alyssa finished speaking, she felt uncomfortable and stomped Isabel’s foot. , Swaggering into the office.

Isabel screamed and chased up: “Alyssa, you b!tch!”

At this moment, Karl, who should have left a long time ago, walked out from behind the side pillar blankly.

Chapter 64

Karl had already left.

But thinking of what Isabel did last time, he fell back.

As a result, he watched a good show!

He grew up so that, except for his mother, it was the first time he was guarded by a woman.

It feels very strange.

â€¦

Alyssa wore small leather shoes with thick heels that were three to four centimeters high, and it didn’t hurt much to step on Isabel’s feet.

But Isabel couldn’t swallow this breath. It was Alyssa who murmured to her. Now the b!tch Alyssa dared to step on her!

When she ran into the hall, Alyssa had already waited for the elevator. She turned around and showed a provocative smile at Isabel before entering the elevator.

When Isabel chased her, the elevator had already gone up.

Alyssa got out of the elevator and went directly to Colin’s office.

He called her last Friday and said that he would talk about her skipping work when she came to the company on Monday. She still remembered.

She waited not long before Colin came.

Isabel followed behind him.

They didn’t know that Alyssa was in the office, and Isabel was still complaining to Colin: “Dad, Alyssa is too much. Although I have a bad temper sometimes, why does she treat me like that? It’s the project manager of the company that she doesn’t care about. I’m afraid she doesn’t even care about you!”

Alyssa sat on the sofa, tilting her head and looking innocently at the two father and daughter entering the door.

Hey, Isabel is wrong. She has a bad temper, she just has a dark heart.

“My sister is wrong. The person I respect most is my father.”

Hearing Alyssa's voice, the two, father and daughter realized that there were other people in the office.

When Isabel heard Alyssa's voice, her eyes widened like a ghost: "Why are you here?"

"Daddy wants to tell me something, so I came here to wait for him." Alyssa smiled harmlessly.

Isabel now finally believes that she will believe that Alyssa's previous accepting and swallowing sounds are all pretending.

Colin just heard Isabel's complaint to Alyssa, and his heart was angry. When he saw Alyssa, his face immediately collapsed: "It is the chairman's office, is it possible for employees like you to come in at will? "

"Oh." Alyssa stood up, walked straight out, and closed the door smoothly.

Colin and Isabel looked at each other, wondering what she was going to do.

Knock!

The next moment, accompanied by a knock on the door, Alyssa's polite voice: "Chairman, this is Alyssa, may I come in now?"

Colin got a headache from the hearing of Alyssa, he went to sit behind the desk, raised his hand, and pointed towards the door: "Isabel, you let her in."

Isabel's complexion was no better than Colin, and she reluctantly shouted at the door: "Come in."

Alyssa did not open the door to enter.

Isabel walked over and opened the door to see that there was Alyssa at the door.

She gritted her teeth, restrained her anger, and looked back at Colin: "Dad, she's gone."

At this time, Alyssa had returned to the grid room.

She did not see Melvin's figure.

After a while, Melvin came over and said, "Everyone, get ready for a meeting later."

Regular meeting on Monday.

As a small grassroots employee, Alyssa has nothing to do with him.

But not long after the meeting, Colin and Isabel both followed Melvin to the marketing department.

Alyssa intuitively felt that there was nothing good about them coming here, and it was very likely that they came for her.

At this moment, Isabel looked in her direction and said solemnly: "Alyssa, come here."

Sure enough, it was directed at her.

Alyssa glanced at the three of them, got up, and walked over.

Before she approached, Isabel stepped forward in two steps, slapped her face, and said very severely: "Do you know why I beat you?"

Alyssa held her numb face with pain, and after two seconds, she turned her head to look at Isabel.

Although Isabel had a righteous and awe-inspiring look on the surface, the retaliatory pleasure in her eyes did not escape Alyssa's eyes.

"I know that it is very hard for you to work in the marketing department, but you are my sister, a member of our family. Since you have decided to come to work in the company, you should set a good example for everyone. As a result, you just went out on the first day. Skipped work! What does this look like?"

When she found trouble for her from the beginning, she became part of the family?

Alyssa curled her lips and raised her eyes to look at Isabel coldly: "I was wrong about what happened yesterday!"

Having said this, she changed her voice and asked: "The male colleague who went out with me yesterday must have worked very hard. I want to apologize to him in public, can I?"

Isabel was a little surprised, but Alyssa gave in so quickly?

At this moment, Melvin suddenly leaned into her ear and whispered: "The man I brought yesterday is not working in the company."

Melvin didn't look for anyone in the company for the sake of being appropriate. He was afraid that things would come to Colin and Alyssa would not be taken seriously anymore. She was also his daughter. The fewer people knew about this kind of thing, the better.

Isabel frowned when she heard the words, and immediately said to Alyssa, "Manager Cross said that the colleague was unwell and took a rest today."

Standing on the side, Colin, who had not said anything, said at this time: "Is something so serious? Asking for leave on Monday?"

Every Monday, the various departments and teams of the company will hold regular meetings to assign tasks. Under normal circumstances, leave is not allowed.

Melvin's complexion changed, he hesitated and said: "I am not very clear, there are too many employees, and I can't remember clearly, or I will ask!"

Alyssa said quietly: "Then please tell Manager Cross the name of that colleague so that I can visit him after I get off work."

Colin felt that Alyssa's attitude was not bad, and he couldn't push her too quickly, because he also felt that his daughter was different from before.

Therefore, Colin, who was very satisfied with Alyssa's attitude, asked while the iron was hot: "Which team has a colleague asked for leave today?"

The scene was quiet, no one spoke.

Melvin was so anxious that his head began to sweat.

Just when Colin frowned and became impatient, one of the group leaders replied: "It's because someone in our group has asked for leave."

The other members of this group looked at each other. Alyssa mentioned a male colleague just now, but is it a female colleague who asked for leave?

"That's OK, you will tell Alyssa about the person's contact information later, and ask her to visit him after getting off work." After Colin finished speaking, he looked around the employees below and said, "Everyone, don't be nervous, even if it is On Monday, you can ask for leave if you have important matters. The Adams' family is a big family, and everyone is a family!"

Colin said a lot of high-sounding words and left with Isabel.

Isabel, who didn't know that the matter was half-revealed, smiled triumphantly at Alyssa before she left.

Chapter 65

There are many female employees in the marketing department, and women will naturally gossip when they get together.

At noon, what happened in the marketing department in the morning has spread throughout the company.

Alyssa's face was severely swollen, and when she went to the bathroom halfway, she would also hear female colleagues gather to discuss morning matters.

"What the hell is going on? I heard that there is only a woman who asked for leave today, and no man?"

"It's unclear, Isabel and Melvin joined hands to warm up Alyssa!"

"No? Alyssa has only been here for a few days, so she offended Melvin?"

"No one knows what kind of person Melvin is. I heard that Alyssa did all the things he went to the hospital and asked for leave before!"

"Alyssa is so cruel?"

"I think Isabel is even more cruel. She slapped Alyssa before. I could hear the sound of the beating on the face so far away. What a grudge, such a cruel blow!"

Alyssa leaned against the wall of the bathroom, and when the outside was completely quiet, she opened the door and went out.

Standing in front of the sink, she looked in the mirror and looked at her face.

It's swollen, and some area is blue, and it looks a bit hideous.

Isabel really fought hard enough.

It seems that this period of time has suffocated Isabel enough.

Then wait and see who of them has the last laugh.

â€¦

During the lunch break, Alyssa was going out for dinner.

As soon as the talent got up, the phone in her pocket rang.

It was from "Luther".

Alyssa frowned and answered the phone: "What's the matter with you?"

As if not hearing the impatience in her tone, Karl said directly: "Come out to eat, I'll wait for you at the office door."

He dropped these words like order and hung up the phone.

Alyssa looked at the phone that had returned to the lock screen and picked it up and walked out.

After going out of the gate, Alyssa saw the eye-catching car and "Luther" at a glance. When she first got off, she secretly checked his car online.

The starting price of 10 million, the real price should be determined according to the owner's customized requirements.

This is already a sky-high price for Alyssa.

Even at Hunt's house, Isabel wants to buy a car worth tens of millions, but Colin is not always willing.

Seeing that many people around were talking about "Luther"'s car, Alyssa walked quickly toward him with her head down.

At this time, another car drove up from the side of the road, and Alyssa was about to wait for the car to pass, but the car stopped directly in front of her.

The driver got out of the car and opened the door of the back seat. The person who came down from above was Rachel.

Alyssa had not seen Rachel for a long time since she lied to Rachel to go to the restaurant and let her pigeons go.

Rachel instructed the driver to take down the two insulated food containers, and when she looked up inadvertently, she saw Alyssa standing next to the car.

She frowned, she was completely shocked, looked at Alyssa in disbelief, and asked uncertainly: "Are you Alyssa?"

Alyssa curled her lips, her smile didn't reach the bottom of her eyes, with a deep mockery: "Do you think I am?"

She lived under the same roof for more than 20 years, but her biological mother could not recognize her daughter.

Not only that, Rachel heard that her face had changed, but she ignored her unswollen face.

Don't know if this is Alyssa's sorrow or Rachel's sorrow.

Rachel approached and looked at Alyssa carefully: "Youâ€¦ you went for plastic surgery? So you didn't go there the last time I asked you to eat?"

At this moment, Alyssa couldn't even smile, and there was a trace of sorrow on her face: "Mom, I am Alyssa. I've been like this since I was a child, but you always say that I shouldn't be more beautiful than my sister. So, the more I grow up, the more ugly."

"How is this possible, you've been all these yearsâ€¦!" Rachel couldn't believe Alyssa, how could she pretend to be ugly for so many years?

Alyssa looked at Rachel calmly, with a sense of sorrow in her voice: "Because I want to be a good daughter of my mother, in order to make my mother happy, I did it as long as you ask me from my childhood. ."

Rachel moved her lips and was a little speechless for a while.

In memory, Alyssa was really cute and beautiful when she was a child, and her academic performance was good. Later, her grades deteriorated. The older she got, the uglier she was. Before that, she had indeed said to Alyssa that she should not be better than her sister.

But soon, she said with a defensive look: "You did it voluntarily. You can't blame me now!"

Alyssa was stunned, and asked her with sore eyes: "Mom, let me just ask, am I your biological daughter?"

"youâ€¦â€¦!"

"Go, come to eat."

A male voice interrupted Rachel's words very abruptly, and Alyssa raised her eyes and found that "Luther" did not know when she had already walked to her side.

He is tall and has to keep his head down when looking at Alyssa.

Alyssa looked up at him with red eyes, her beautiful cat eyes were soaked by the tears that were about to fill her eyes, and she looked very pitiful.

Especially when her gaze touched the swollen half of her face, Alyssa's eyes burst out with a sharp light, and she covered it for an instant, pulling her away without any expression.

Rachel recognized that this person was "Luther" who had been to Hunt's last time. How could he come to pick up Alyssa?

Did theyâ€¦!

Thinking of what they did in the car last time, Rachel quickly stopped them: "Wait."

The two turned to look at her together, Rachel said, "Alyssa, I brought a lot of food for your father and sister. Would you like to eat together?"

Alyssa was about to refuse, and Karl rushed to her and said, "Okay, it just so happens that I haven't eaten it yet."

“This” The food that Rachel brought was only enough for three people, and he knew that “Luther” was Karl’s cousin. It was not easy to offend him, and I didn’t know what to say for a while.

Alyssa was unclear, so she raised her eyes to look at him and hit him with her elbow in a small arc.

Karl held her forearm tightly, looked down at her, and gave her a calm look.

It is strange that Alyssa was really soothed by his eyes, she stood quietly next to him and stopped making a sound.

Rachel has been a full-time wife for most of her life. In addition to spending money to beautify Colin, she can also judge the situation a little bit. Knowing that “Luther” can’t neglect, she winks the driver and asks him to notify Colin.

Colin came down very quickly, and Isabel was still behind him.

Isabel obviously touched up her makeup on purpose, and her makeup looked slightly richer.

When she saw “Luther”, she didn’t remove a pair of eyes, her eyes were as greedy as she was looking at what was in her bag.

Alyssa noticed his eyes, moved her body, and stood in front of “Luther”, trying to block Isabel’s sight.

Chapter 66

But “Luther” is a big man with a height of nearly 1.9 meters, and Alyssa can’t stop his face even when standing in front of him.

Isabel glanced at Alyssa contemptuously, then stepped forward and looked directly at “Luther”: “Mr. Adams, we meet again.”

Karl glanced at Isabel, then looked at Alyssa who was suddenly blocking him, and instantly understood why Alyssa was blocking him.

He remembered what she had said when she fought him before, “the eldest sister is like a mother”, is her behavior of protecting the calf really treating him as a son?

Karl’s expression became even colder when he thought of this, he didn’t even bother to give Isabel an extra look.

Isabel was a little embarrassed to see “Luther” ignore her.

Colin said at the right time: “Let’s find a restaurant and sit down and talk.”

The group found a restaurant for dinner.

When taking seats, everyone intentionally let “Luther” sit first.

However, “Luther” did not sit down first, but pulled the chair away first and said to Alyssa, “Sit down.”

Alyssa didn’t know what he was going to do, but she subconsciously felt that “Luther” would not harm her, so she sat down obediently.

As soon as she sat down, "Luther" also sat down beside her.

Colin immediately winked at Isabel, and Isabel knew it, and immediately sat down on the other side of "Luther" with a smile.

Alyssa thought "Luther" would say something, but he didn't say anything, as if he hadn't seen Isabel sitting down next to him.

Alyssa replied in her heart. Could it be that she was wrong? Although "Luther" seemed to be aloof, he was actually not picky towards women?

Soon the dishes were ready, and Colin said something from time to time to ease the atmosphere, and it was still harmonious.

Isabel also gave "Luther" several dishes, but he did not refuse but did not eat either.

Alyssa felt that today's "Luther" was very strange. From the moment he sat down, she felt that the air pressure on his body was very low. After that, he didn't even refuse Isabel to pick him up. I believe he will be attracted to Isabel!

Isabel was overjoyed in her heart and smiled softly: "Mr. Adams, you can eat more, the food is good."

"Yeah." "Luther" replied, not salty, and did not move his chopsticks.

Isabel didn't mind, she asked him while the iron was hot: "Has Mr. Adams have a girlfriend?"

Asking this directly, "Luther" did not see the slightest anger on his face, but turned to look at her: "No."

"I don't have a boyfriend either. To be honest, I actually" Isabel made a shy look: "I have always loved Mr. Adams."

"Really?" Karl's lips curled, his smile didn't reach the bottom of his eyes, a gloomy breath appeared between his brows, and his low voice suddenly became extremely gloomy: "But I like women with big faces, Miss Hunt's face is too small Up."

Isabel's eyes widened in surprise, and both of her eyes were about to fall out.

Alyssa on the side just drank the water from the entrance, and almost vomited out in shock.

What is this "Luther" talking nonsense?

She glanced at the man next to her, and she could only see his nice side face with a slight nod, it didn't seem to be a joke at all.

"I can gain weight and make my face fat." Isabel was so excited that her voice was trembling, and she didn't forget to cast a triumphant look at Alyssa.

She will definitely be favored by "Luther".

Alyssa turned her head, too lazy to look at her.

"Really?" Karl lowered his eyelids slightly, covering his eyes coldly, and said casually: "There is a quick way, Miss Alyssa can try it."

Isabel believed it was true, and asked quickly: "What method?"

Karl turned his eyes to Alyssa: "Like her."

Isabel looked at Alyssa, but didn't respond for a while, but Colin understood something at once, and said, "Mr. Adams is really joking, hurry up and eat the food, otherwise it will be cold later."

Karl wouldn't put Colin in his eyes at all, the expression on his face had completely cooled down.

He was already handsome and aggressive, but now sitting there with a cold face, he didn't feel angry.

His aura was too strong, and no one dared to speak anymore for a while.

Karl was completely unmoved, staring at Isabel coldly, still in a casual tone: "I won't hit a woman, you do it yourself."

"Mr. Adams, this joke is not funny!"

"A joke?" Karl curled his lips, but there was no smile on his face. On the contrary, there was a bit of awe-inspiring sinisterness: "You think that Adams' family can spend three hundred million to marry the daughter-in-law who comes in. Just let you guys make a joke?"

Only then did they understand what the purpose of "Luther" was to have dinner with them today.

Alyssa looked at him in astonishment, she had never thought that "Luther" would even stand for her.

She didn't know until today that the Hunt family had given the Adams' family a bride price of 300 million.

Although three hundred million is nothing to the Adams' family, it is a large sum of money to Hunt's family.

"Luther" made it so clear that Colin, as an independent family, naturally wanted to stand up. He defended: "In fact, this is how Alyssa and Isabel are sisters. Alyssa did something wrong. Isabel's love sister eagerly taught her a lesson!"

"Mr. Hunt is so confused that he can't understand people?" Karl raised his head slightly, his eyes getting fierce.

When Colin heard the words, his face suddenly changed. He didn't expect this "Luther" to be so arrogant that he would not give him face at all.

He looked awkward and looked at Alyssa: "Alyssa, this matter!"

Alyssa ignored him, reached out and took a pumpkin pie from the plate in front of him, and ate it by herself.

Everyone understands that this matter today cannot be done well.

Colin frowned and didn't speak, but Rachel said: "Mr. Adams, you just think I am Alyssa's mother, let Isabel a horse, Alyssa, look!"

Karl exhausted his patience: "Hunt's latest huge investment failed and the capital chain was broken. It is urgent to re-inject capital. If this news is known by the peers, what will they do?"

Colin's face was pale, and Hunt's capital chain broke. This is an internal secret. How could "Luther" know?

If they were known to their peers, they would take advantage of the fire and make his condition worse.

Colin gritted his teeth and said cruelly: "Isabel, do it yourself!"

Isabel couldn't believe it: "Dad!"

Seeing that she didn't want to do anything, Colin got up and walked over, and slapped Isabel on the face.

Snapped!

Karl's tone was lazy: "There is another side."

Colin slapped the slap again, and Karl glanced at him, and said, "Big face? That's wrong."

So, Colin slapped Isabel again.

Chapter 67

Until both sides of Isabel's face were so swollen that she almost couldn't see the original appearance, Karl didn't call to stop.

But Alyssa couldn't bear it anymore. She was under the table, kicked his leg gently, and whispered to him: "Luther!"

Karl turned his head to look at her, knowing that she wanted to stop him, his slender fingers tapped on the table twice, and then he casually said: "Okay, Mr. Hunt is really cruel, she is like a flower. Your daughter is willing to be like this."

In his tone, he couldn't hear the consciousness of the culprit at all, but he looked like a bystander watching a play.

Colin felt aggrieved, but he couldn't offend him. He looked down at Isabel and immediately turned away.

Isabel's face that was swollen like a pig's head reallyâ€¦ out of sight.

Karl glanced at Isabel, and said leisurely: "It's right to teach his daughter, but she can't be as cruel as Mr. Hunt. You have to leave a way for yourself."

Colin looked aggrieved, only lowered his head, and didn't say anything.

Karl's goal had been achieved, and he was too lazy to stay any longer, turned his head and glanced at Alyssa beside him, his tone of voice was obviously relaxed: "Have you been full?"

Alyssa put down the pumpkin pie that she hadn't finished eating, put away the astonished expression on her face, and nodded, "I'm full."

“Let’s go.” After Karl finished speaking, he stood up and walked outside.

Alyssa quickly followed with her bag.

Karl has long legs, and when Alyssa chased him out, he had already gone a long way.

She was about to trot to catch up, when she noticed that he suddenly looked back, and then stood still, as if waiting for her.

Maybe it was because there were a lot of things happening today, or it was because Rachel had affected her, and her eyes were suddenly red.

When she was a child, she was taken to the playground once by Rachel, but Isabel also went that time.

Rachel was busy taking care of Isabel and didn’t have time to take care of her. At that time, she was curious about everything but then fell behind them. She watched Rachel disappear into the crowd without looking back at her.

At that time, she wished Rachel could look back for her.

Karl saw her standing still, frowning and walking back: “What’s wrong with you?”

Alyssa quickly lowered her head and wiped her eyes. When she raised her head again, there was nothing strange except for the red-eye sockets.

“The wind is a bit strong, and the sand is in the eyes.”

She thought that her botched lie would be exposed by “Luther”, but she didn’t expect that not only did he fail to expose her, but rather leaned over and said, “Don’t move, let me see.”

Alyssa was still immersed in the good feeling that “Luther” had just helped her out, so she stood still obediently, raising her head to show him her eyes.

But she forgot that even if “Luther” does something good occasionally, he is not a gentleman.

She watched “Luther” zoom in in front of her eyes, her face getting closer and closer, she had a bad premonition in her heart, and she wanted to step away.

Karl quickly stretched out his hands to support the back of her head with eyes stubborn, lowered his head and took a bite on her lips, and then quickly retreated.

It took only two seconds from when he kissed her to retreat.

After a while, Alyssa reacted and wanted to scold him, but he had just helped her.

But if she doesn’t scold him it’s impossible!

“Luther! Can you point your face!” Alyssa was already a little bit out of words when she scolded “Luther”.

After repeatedly removing “shameless” and “shameless”, she couldn’t find other words to scold him.

But he still doesn’t repent.

“Tsk, Alyssa, I can kiss you with this hideous face, you should feel touched.” He said, reaching out and touching the swollen half of her face.

Alyssa patted his hand away and looked at him coldly: “Don’t move your hands!”

“Luther” stretched out his hand again as if it was fun, Alyssa stretched out her hand again to pat his hand away.

However, this time she failed to achieve her wish because “Luther” directly grabbed her hand.

The woman’s hand was boneless, holding it softly in his palm.

Interest flashed across Karl’s eyes and rubbed her hand again, pulling her forward before Alyssa became angry.

“You let go!” Alyssa has been struggling.

She felt that today’s “Luther” was particularly presumptuous, and even kissed her and held her hand in public.

It’s not far from Hunt’s family. Some employees will come here to eat, just in case, someone hits them!

Alyssa felt that if this continued, she would be driven crazy by “Luther”!

She couldn’t win the hands of “Luther”, and couldn’t make the movement too loud for fear of attracting people’s attention, so she was led into the car by him in the end.

After the two of them left, Isabel stood up behind the pillar at the entrance of the restaurant with a swollen pig face and glanced at the photo she had just taken, her eyes flashing gloomy.

Alyssa took the name of Adams’ young lady, and she was still entangled with her cousin. She wanted to see how these two ended up.

She has suffered so much today, she will never let it go!

Alyssa was taken to the clinic by “Luther”, applied her face, and then applied anti-inflammatory drugs, and then returned to Hunt’s to continue to work.

When she arrived at Hunt’s, she sat down in her cubicle and heard the person next to her saying that Isabel had taken leave and went home to rest.

As soon as the speaker saw Alyssa coming, his voice suddenly dropped.

Despite this, Alyssa heard a few words on the tip of her ears.

“I think this Alyssa is not easy!” Once she came to the company, the management of the company had accidents one after another, and asked for leave!”

Alyssa thought for a while, it seemed that this was indeed the case.

First is Melvin, then Isabel.

But can she be blamed? They provoked her first!

When she got off work, Alyssa was about to leave after she had gathered her things, and she saw Colin's secretary approaching.

"Miss, the chairman is looking for you."

What did Colin ask her for?

Is it because of the daytime that he wants to avenge Isabel?

With Colin's love for Isabel, this is not impossible.

Therefore, Alyssa said very seriously and gently: "Sorry, it is now off work time. If the chairman is looking for me on business, I will go to him tomorrow. If it is private, he will definitely call me, and I also want to visit the 'male colleague' who has worked so hard because I skipped work."

Colin's secretary has been with him for many years, and he knows a little about Alyssa. He looks mediocre and unresponsive.

He also knew about things in the company recently, but after real contact, he realized that Alyssa not only became more beautiful but also sharpened her teeth.

The secretary said unwillingly, "But Hunt always confessed to let you go there."

Alyssa's response was that she went out directly with her bag on her back.

Chapter 68

Alyssa went out of Hunt's gate and went directly to the bus station.

There were a lot of people waiting for the bus, and suddenly, a familiar black car stopped in front of her.

The window lowered, Colin turned to look at her: "Get in the car."

Alyssa hesitated, opened the car door, and went in.

Only the driver and Colin were in the car. After Alyssa got in, she didn't take the initiative to speak.

The driver drove the car out of the road and stopped at the side of the road.

After a while, Colin said faintly: "Alyssa, I know that your skipping work is a misunderstanding. Your sister has suffered such a serious thing today, so this matter is over, don't take it to your heart."

Alyssa sneered: "In the past?"

Colin frowned, "Your sister has already suffered such a serious blow, what do you want?"

"Here." Alyssa pointed to her face, "Isabel hit it."

Why did Colin say that this matter passed?

Colin said coldly: "Why haven't I found you so vicious before!"

“Without your poison, my own daughter could be beaten so hard.” Alyssa lowered her head and fiddled with the zipper on the bag with a careless expression, but the mockery in the words was self-evident.

Colin was so embarrassed by “Luther” today that he is still very depressed in his heart.

It’s okay not to mention it, but when he mentions it, he gets angry.

“You still have the face to mention this? I’m such an old man, and I was forced to beat Isabel so hard by a little boy, don’t I feel distressed?” Colin was emotional, even the volume of speech was special Big.

Alyssa covered her ears, and said impatiently: “It’s all right, I know, let’s talk about it quickly.”

She is also busy going back to cook for “Luther”.

Colin glanced at Alyssa, the impatience and indifference on her face were so obvious that she could see it at a glance.

Colin, who had full certainty that Alyssa could obediently persuade Karl to inject funds into the Hunt family, was unavoidable.

He thought slightly, and sighed: “You heard what Luther said today.”

Alyssa didn’t speak, and he continued: “The company’s capital chain is broken because of an investment error. Anyway, you are also a member of the family. At this time, you should pull it, and take responsibility.”

Alyssa twitched the corners of her mouth ironically, with a sharp tone: “Isn’t there still the 300 million betrothal gift from the Adams’ family? I have subsidized you by selling myself, how do you want me to help you? Sell me again? I’m afraid no one wants me.”

Colin said sternly: “You were married in a righteous name, how could you speak so badly!”

“It’s Isabel who should have married rightfully.” Alyssa looked up at him, not afraid of him at all.

Colin was startled by Alyssa’s eyes, so cold and alienated, not at all like the hardworking Alyssa from the past.

Since persuasion was useless, Colin also condensed his face, threateningly said: “Do you think that my family collapses, will that Adams’ family still treat you kindly? A young Adams’ daughter-in-law who does not have the support of her mother’s family is very difficult to stand stable in there!”

“Just get divorced if I can’t stand firm!” Alyssa looked indifferent.

She finally knew why Colin was willing to give her shares in the company and wanted her to return to work in the family business.

It turned out that he wanted her to persuade Karl to inject capital into the Hunt family.

The Hunt family can’t do serious things, but they have a good calculation.

Colin was so angry that he could not speak: “You’re!”

"I'll tell you the truth." Alyssa narrowed her expression, with a rare serious tone: "Why did Karl get engaged to Isabel in the first place? Is there any shameful deed in it?"

Colin's face changed slightly, and his tone was anxious: "What nonsense are you talking about! How is your sister not worthy of Karl! It is Karl who is not so lucky!"

Colin has always weighed the pros and cons. The Hunt family was worse than it is now more than ten years ago. Even if he loves Isabel again, he should know that under normal circumstances, there is no possibility that the Adams' family will marry the Hunt family.

And Colin's sudden change of face, as well as his eager rebuttal, all confirmed that there may be something inside the marriage that has to be said.

Alyssa had always wondered about the marriage between the Adams' family and the Hunt's, but she just asked casually, but instead of expecting it, it aroused her interest.

"It's late, I'm going home, let's talk about it tomorrow." Alyssa checked the time, opened the door and jumped out of the car.

Colin shouted behind her, "Alyssa!"

Alyssa turned her head and smiled and waved at him with a brilliant face, and walked freely.

â€¦

Back at the villa, Alyssa saw "Luther" as soon as she walked in.

He is still wearing the suit from the daytime, with retro dark blue stripes, which is quite elegant, provided that he speaks.

"You came home an hour later than usual. This hour is enough for you to have a candlelight dinner with the wild man outside." "Luther" raised his wrist to look at the time, and looked at her with a cold face. .

Alyssa glared at him, lifted the bag in her hand and threw it at him, turned and went into the kitchen.

Karl accurately caught her small satchel, raised an eyebrow and glanced at her back.

Is this tantrum?

A cell phone suddenly rang.

Karl discovered that it came from Alyssa's bag.

He unzipped the zipper and took out Alyssa's phone from inside.

The person who called was "Tina".

Tina? Does it seem that the little star in Peter's family is called Tina?

Seems to be a woman?

He noticed that the phone was very intimate with a case with a tempered film, and he could see the owner's love for it.

Karl curled his lips, and walked towards the kitchen with her mobile phone in a kind-hearted manner, but accidentally touched the screen in the middle of the call and connected.

Tina's screaming voice came from the phone: "Alyssa, do you know? Gerald is back in Rostenvel, you can go out and go around, maybe you can meet him again soon! I can come back soon. At that time, I will see if I can find out where he is attending the event or something. I may find a chance to take you to see him!"

Karl stopped after hearing her words.

Tina on the other end was very puzzled: "Hello? Alyssa, why are you not talking? Are you happy and stupid? Or I have no signal here!"

At this time, Alyssa happened to come out of the kitchen: "I heard my phone ring."

Karl threw the phone to her blankly, turned around, and left.

Alyssa almost didn't catch the phone, glanced at the back of "Luther", "cut", and muttered to herself: "The same temper in June! When you change your face, you change it like the weather!"

Alyssa took the mobile phone into the kitchen, and Karl looked back at this moment with a gloomy look.

Karl thought that Alyssa came home very early that day, that day when Gerald returned to Rostenvel when they met, Gerald asked several questions about Alyssa.

Karl slowly shook his phone and dialed Smith's phone call: "Check where Alyssa went last Friday and who she met."

Chapter 69

When eating in the evening, Alyssa felt that "Luther"'s complexion was not right.

In fact, he usually puts on a cold face most of the time. When he doesn't speak or puts on his face, he is full of vigor and aggressiveness.

However, Alyssa could not tell from his usual expression that he was in a bad mood.

Alyssa picked up a piece of fish and put it in his bowl: "You taste this, I put Sansho pepper today, I wonder if you can get used to it."

"Luther" didn't move, so he picked it out and threw it on the dining table.

Alyssa: "!" It looks as if she provoked him.

However, she clearly didn't remember where she provokes him. Could it be that he was angry when she came back and threw a bag at him?

Not that, although this man is stingy, he usually doesn't count on such a small matter.

Feeling Alyssa looking at himself, Karl raised his head suddenly: "Where did you go last Friday?"

"Huh?" Alyssa, who was busy avoiding staring at him, didn't hear what he said.

Karl put down his chopsticks, his eyes were like ink, and he looked at her heavily, speaking slowly and clearly, "Last Friday, where did you go and who did you see?"

Alyssa was stunned and looked up at him: "What do you mean?"

"Luther" the voice of the deputy interrogation made Alyssa feel very uncomfortable.

He smiled and his eyes were cold: "You are starting to have a guilty conscience? Did you really find a wild man outside with my cousin behind?"

"What nonsense are you talking about!" Although this is not the first time he has said this, this time the tone sounds particularly excessive.

Alyssa put her chopsticks on the dining table forcefully and stood up with a "brush": "Even if I was sold to your house for 300 million, it doesn't mean that anyone with the surname Adams can do it. Intervene in my business, point fingers at me!"

After she finished speaking, she walked out angrily.

When she reached the door, she accidentally bumped into the door frame, showing she was very angry.

Karl also lost his appetite, put down his chopsticks, and the phone rang.

The call came: "Sir, I have already sent the surveillance video and information transferred that day to your mailbox."

"Well, hard work." After Karl finished speaking, he hung up, got up, and went to the study.

What was sent to Karl right away was the surveillance video from the drugstore last Friday.

In the video, Alyssa had contact with the other two men besides the doctor who gave her the medicine.

Karl recognized one of them, who was heavily armed with a mask and a peaked cap, and he was Gerald.

The location of this pharmacy is already close to the suburbs, and Alyssa will not go there if nothing happens, and Alyssa has recently promoted daily necessities. She does not need to go to the suburbs for work.

In the video, Alyssa grabbed Gerald by the arm, obviously calling for help.

Later she was taken away by him.

The video intercepted later showed that Alyssa got off the car when she reached the downtown area. Except when she got off the car, the two said a few words and did not overstep the rules.

The video was frozen. When Alyssa walked a few steps and turned around, Karl wanted to see what she said clearly, but the video had been enlarged and was not very clear. He could only vaguely feel what she said. What was said, there is no way to tell.

Karl turned off the computer and rubbed his eyebrows.

He found himself abnormal lately.

Gerald didn't need to ask a few more questions about Alyssa, but he went all out to check these things!

When Alyssa slept until midnight, she woke up hungry.

She regretted it, and she couldn't get rid of her own stomach because of her anger!

In the end, she couldn't stand it. She turned over and got out of bed, wrapped herself tightly in a thick long down jacket, and was about to go downstairs to the kitchen to find something to eat.

The villa was quiet at night, but because the villa was built halfway up the mountain, occasionally she heard a little wind coming in from outside.

She quickly touched the kitchen, found some greens and tomatoes, and planned to cook some noodles for herself.

When she was cutting the tomatoes, she felt a bit cold on her back and felt something was wrong, as if someone was behind?

The feeling became more and more obvious. She closed her eyes and gathered the courage to look back. She heard a temperature less voice behind her: "What are you doing?"

Alyssa shook her hand in fright, and the kitchen knife in her hand fell on her foot.

Fortunately, she was wearing thick cotton shoes, otherwise, she would be miserable.

When Karl saw the kitchen knife falling, his heart was raised, and he squatted down to see if she had hurt herself and confirmed that the kitchen knife did not hit her tightly wrapped feet. Then he stood up with a sigh of relief, his voice low: "Alyssa, I have never seen a stupid woman like you!"

Alyssa had already recovered. She picked up the kitchen knife, glared at "Luther", turned around and turned on the faucet while washing the kitchen knife, and said: "It's really hard for you, Mr. Adams, to call me as a stupid woman every day. Food, otherwise I won't cook from tomorrow, and I can still move out of the villa before Karl comes back, so you can't see it. Can you think that's okay?"

Alyssa put the cleaned kitchen knife back, turned around, and looked at "Luther" seriously.

She was really fed up with the man "Luther".

He helped her, and she was grateful to him, but one yard went to one yard, and she couldn't indulge him to do something because he helped her.

"No." Karl lowered his face and said coldly: "You want my cousin to think I've driven you away so that we cousins can have a rift?"

"Whatever you think." Alyssa lowered her head, not wanting to argue with him anymore.

The position where Karl stood was backlit, and Alyssa stood facing the light, so the subtle expressions on her face could not escape his eyes.

Because she got up from the bed in the middle of the night, her hair was a bit messy, her thick long down jacket was zippered up to her neck, and her face was white and glowing under the light of the light. Those cat eyes that are always buoyant on weekdays, this look was mostly covered by the drooping eyelids, and the whole person looked very depressed.

Alyssa felt that it had been a century-long before she heard the moodless voice of the opposite man: "Before, I was wrong."

"What? You say it again?" Alyssa looked up at "Luther" in astonishment.

Is he apologizing to her again?

But "Luther" is willing to say it again. He glanced at the half-cut tomatoes placed on the flow table, with a natural expression: "I want to eat too."

Alyssa's anger has disappeared for more than half, but she still habitually goes back: "I put poison in it, do you want to have it?"

Karl glanced at her with a heavy gaze: "If you eat, I will eat."

"â€¦" Neuropath.

Chapter 70

Alyssa sliced tomatoes and beef to make tomato beef noodles.

When she was cutting the beef, Karl stood by her side and did not leave. For a long while, he said in a weird tone: "You cut it slowly."

A straight man who has never cooked.

Alyssa cut faster, and after putting the beef cubes on the plate, she turned her head to look at him: "Get out, don't stand in here."

Maybe it's easy to feel lonely late at night. Karl doesn't want to go to the restaurant to wait for dinner by himself but wants to watch Alyssa cook here.

He looked calmly and found an excuse for himself: "I'm just here watching, what if you really poison me? I don't want to die yet."

"I'm not that stupid. If you are poisoned to death, I will definitely not be able to live! I am very expensive, but I am worth three hundred million!" Alyssa was actually just teasing herself.

But talking unintentionally, listening intentionally.

Karl rarely wanted to defend himself: "This matter was brought about by the elders on both sides, and his cousin didn't want to be like this."

"I didn't blame you, you were nervous." Alyssa looked at "Luther" weirdly: "I remember when I came over on the first day, you still said in front of me that Karl was a waste. Now you are helping Karl speak again, is your relationship with him good or bad?"

"Luther" asked back: "What do you think?"

Hehe, I think you are a shameless neuropath!

But Alyssa just dared to say this in her heart.

Soon, she put two bowls of noodles on the table.

It may be because of the silence in the middle of the night, both of them put down some guards and chatted while eating.

But most of the time it was Alyssa talking, and she asked mostly about Karl.

“Luther”’s answers are mostly “um”, “no”, “don’t know”, “maybe” and so on.

This made Alyssa suspect that the relationship between the cousins ‘might be made of plastic.

The next day.

Alyssa overslept.

After washing and changing clothes quickly, she ran out of the door.

At the top of the stairs, she met an energetic “Luther”.

The same person who woke up last night and had supper, why did she feel sluggish after sleeping, and this man looked so energetic!

She once again suspected that the man’s body was made of iron.

Karl frowned slightly when she saw that she was not in good spirits, “Did you sleep well?”

Alyssa felt that he was showing off.

She looked down at the time, dropped the sentence “I’m almost late, I won’t make breakfast today”, and ran downstairs in a hurry.

Karl took three steps and took two steps before he stepped forward and grabbed her collar: “I will send you.”

Alyssa didn’t really want him to send her off, but now she was going to join the crowd on the bus, she might be really late.

In the end, “Luther” also failed to send Alyssa to work because he was called away by a phone call. Before he left, he ordered the bodyguard to drive Alyssa to work.

Karl went to a very private tea house.

Powell waited for him at the door. When he saw him coming, he nodded slightly and said respectfully: “Sir, Sir is waiting for you inside.”

With that, he turned and walked in front.

In the box, Trevor sat in front of the tea tray, his face sinking like water.

“Came to me in a hurry, what’s the matter?” Karl sat down on the sofa furthest from Trevor in the room, his tone indifferent not as if he was talking to his biological father.

Trevor was also accustomed to Karl’s attitude towards him. He just raised his head and said to Powell, “Show him!”

Powell took the tablet and handed it to Karl.

On the screen of the tablet computer, a piece of headline news from the morning is displayed.

The above headline is very eye-catching: Young Adams is suspected of having a close relationship with his cousin’s wife?

This title is eye-catching, seemingly obscure, but very intriguing.

Therefore, the number of clicks on this news is extremely high.

He scrolled down, and the content of the article was mainly directed to the rumored “Karl’s cousin” who had an improper relationship with his cousin Karl’s wife.

There are also two pictures below. In the photos, he and Alyssa are indeed behaving intimately, and the background is outside the restaurant where he and the Hunt family ate yesterday.

Trevor said at this moment: “Explain.”

Karl nodded, with a serious tone: “The angle of the photo is not very good, the face is invisible, and there is a little blur.”

“Karl!” Trevor was so angry with his perfunctory attitude that he directly smashed the cup in front of him to the ground.

“You have been angry with me for so many years because of your mother! Because you are young, I have kept one eye closed as if I didn’t see it! But you have become more vigorous against me! You are taking revenge on that year Didn’t you save your mother back?”

As Trevor is currently in charge of the Adams’ family, when he speaks, that powerful and forceful aura is naturally radiated.

Powell on the side stepped back involuntarily.

But Karl didn’t have the slightest fear. He looked at Trevor with a deep face, mocking in his tone: “What are you talking about? My mother died in the hands of the kidnappers. What does it have to do with you? Don’t worry about it. Take responsibility.”

Until he finds out the truth, no one needs to bear the responsibility. After he finds out the truth, no one who is related should want to live easily.

Hearing the words, Trevor raised his head and looked at his son carefully.

Because of Karl’s mother, the two of them hadn’t sat together and talked for many years.

Every time they meet, it is this kind of tense atmosphere.

“Karl, I’m getting older, and you will need to take over this huge Adams’ family from now on. You always have to reconcile with me. I have met Alyssa. She is a good girl with a kind heart. If you really don’t want to After spending time with her, after you take over the family business, you can divorce her and marry another!”

The Adams’ family is a big family, and many of the side relatives coveted the position of the Adams’ family in power, and this time Karl will suddenly get married because the family is saying that Karl cannot be humane and cannot take over the Adams’ family.

Since Karl’s mother died that year, not only did he not show up outside, but even some of the next relatives of the Adams’ family had never seen Karl again.

Trevor even gave Karl a woman, who was beautiful, gentle, and intellectual, but the woman who was sent in would be miserable when she was sent out.

Karl did not touch them.

Trevor really had no choice but to force him to get married first, blocking the mouths of the rest of the Adams’ family.

He knew that Karl’s body was fine. After a few years, Karl would understand his painstaking efforts, and he would naturally be willing to inherit the family.

“How are Alyssa and I? This is all our business. I advise you not to stretch your hands too long, so as not to fold your arms back, and flash your waist!”

Karl suddenly thought that Alyssa probably didn’t know the news before she went out.

He really underestimated Isabel’s courage to find death, and even dared to take such pictures and send them to the media.
