

Predestined 651

Chapter 651

It turned out to be Miana again!

Just now, when Alyssa saw a woman next to Karl, she felt a little confused.

And now that she knew that the woman next to Karl is Miana, Alyssa's throat became a little breathless.

Miana is everywhere!

Karl took part in the event with Miana! It was Miana who came to this meal!

What does he mean? Is he really going to be with Miana?

For an instant, many things flashed through Alyssa's mind.

In the first three years when Karl lost his memory, Miana was his nominal fiancée.

During those three years, did he and Miana already have something?

After thinking about these things, Alyssa felt confused.

Miana looked at the stunned expression on Alyssa's face with satisfaction, and slowly walked to her: "It seems that Miss Alyssa is very surprised to see me."

Alyssa set her eyes on Karl.

Ever since Robert was playing with her here just now, and trying to belittle her, she noticed that Karl hadn't moved, and didn't look at her more.

Had it not been for Miana just now, she might have been beaten by Robert.

She called his name again to Karl who was still motionless.

"Karl." If you listen carefully, you can still hear the trembling in her voice.

Miana followed Alyssa's gaze and turned to look at Karl.

When she saw that Karl was still holding the previous posture, she smiled in satisfaction.

Although Miana had tried to hide it, her eyes still showed the joy of the winner.

She knew that Karl and Alyssa were not people in the same world at all, and Alyssa was simply not worthy of Karl.

One day, Karl will get tired of Alyssa.

This day is not too late.

Karl did not speak. As his female companion, Miana naturally said to Alyssa, "Karl has a cold temper and doesn't care about irrelevant people. You should know this, don't blame him. Yeah."

Robert heard the conversation between the two clearly.

Judging from the content of the dialogue he heard, Alyssa and Karl should have known each other, but they weren't that close.

Otherwise, if Alyssa has been standing here for so long, why would Karl ignore her?

Robert, who thought he had figured it out, flashed a shadow in his eyes, but when he spoke to Miana, he was still polite: "Miss Palmer, since it is an irrelevant person, why bother yourself so much? Just leave her to me."

Miana naturally wanted Alyssa to fall into Robert's hands. Miana couldn't know what kind of stuff the group of elder brothers headed by Robert were like.

But Alyssa was after all the woman Karl had loved. Although Miana wanted to show Alyssa a little bit of color, she was still afraid of Karl.

She turned her head and glanced at Karl. Seeing Karl looked indifferent, she thought for a while and said, "Karl, what do you think?"

Karl didn't say anything immediately, but suddenly stood up and said without expression: "It's too noisy."

After speaking, he must go out.

When Miana saw that Karl really didn't care about Alyssa, her face was happy, and she didn't say much, so she followed Karl's footsteps and wanted to go out.

Seeing Karl had gone, Alyssa wanted to follow, but was stopped by Robert.

Robert stopped in front of Alyssa, with a hint of evil in his tone: "This kind of place, do you come and leave if you want?"

"It seems that you really don't understand human words."

Alyssa said this sentence expressionlessly. As soon as she stretched out her hand and raised her foot, the people on the side didn't even know what was happening. When everyone reacted, Robert, who was just in the imposing manner, had already fallen. On the ground.

"You bltch! I'm so good to you, you really treat yourself as a good dish, right? I will teach you today!"

After Robert finished speaking, holding hands to get up, Alyssa smoothly took a glass of wine on the table next to him and poured it down slowly directly on top of Robert's head.

"Puff! Puff! You crazy woman, what are you doing!" Robert was soaked in the wine that he couldn't open his eyes, still cursing.

After Alyssa soaked him, she smashed the wine glass on the ground forcefully, and said disdainfully: "You didn't live to understand, and you want to teach me to be a new man? You are the one who is crazy."

So many people in the box were stunned by this scene.

This woman looked thin and weak, except for her extremely beautiful appearance and a very different temperament from the people here, no one thought that she could have such a good skill, so neatly, that she would dare to attack Robert.

For a while, no one spoke out in the huge box.

Alyssa didn't even bother to pay attention to the irrelevant people. When she turned to look at the door of the box, she found that Karl and Miana had already left.

She couldn't take care of that much, so she just chased up.

After going out, there was a low voice in the box.

"Why is this woman so crazy?"

"It seems familiar!"

"I saw her somewhere, but I don't remember a bit, wait for me to think about it!"

They all talked about Alyssa, but they forgot Robert who was still lying on the ground.

Robert's face was distorted with anger: "Don't you know how to come and help me? A bunch of useless idiots!"

After the voice fell, several young models came to help him.

The tender model asked with a worried look: "Mr. Scott, are you okay?"

Robert is not a fool, these women's false intentions are just for his little money.

He glared at the young model with sullen eyes, and yelled at the tender model: "Does your mother look okay? Look at my face! It's all caused by that bitch!"

This girl was so frightened by Robert that she couldn't say a word, she lowered her head and let Robert scold her out.

After a while, Mr. Scott was almost cleaned up by someone, and he gritted his teeth and made up his mind that he would not let the woman go!

When Alyssa chased them out, Karl and Miana had not gone far.

She ran over and stopped in front of Karl.

Karl raised his eyes slightly, his eyes falling on Alyssa without a trace of temperature.

Just now in the box, Miana was very satisfied with Karl's nonchalant attitude towards Alyssa.

However, she was still worried that Alyssa would rekindle her old relationship with Karl when she walked around in front of Karl from time to time.

She rushed in front of Alyssa and said loudly: "Alyssa, what else do you want to do? You are okay now!"

Alyssa didn't even give Miana an extra look, staring straight at Karl's eyes: "I have something to ask you."

Hearing this, Karl twisted his eyebrows slightly, raised his hand to look at the watch on his wrist, and said impatiently, "Alyssa, why haven't I noticed that you are so annoying?"

Chapter 652

Alyssa's complexion suddenly changed.

What did Karl just say?

She even suspected that she had heard it wrong.

However, the cold expression on Karl's face told her that he did say that just now.

Alyssa originally had to find Karl's determination to ask clearly, but it fell apart at this moment, all words swallowed in her throat, unable to speak.

Seeing that she was no longer speaking, Karl reached out and pushed her away, and left straight away.

Miana stayed at the end, smiling brightly and said, "Do you know who the Robert you just offended is? In this Rostenvel, no one except the Adams' family dares to provoke the Scott family casually. You are now in danger, there is no such thing as Karl's umbrella, so do it for yourself."

The gloating in the tone is self-evident.

Alyssa could be stabbed by Karl's words, but in front of Miana, she would not give up.

She quickly sorted out her facial expressions, and slightly curled her lips: "Even if Karl is not my umbrella now, he will not necessarily become your umbrella. I look forward to you and sit firmly on the throne of Mrs. Adams one day."

Of course, it is impossible for Miana to know that Adams' real boss now is Alyssa, so she naturally couldn't hear the deep meaning of Alyssa's words.

She and Alyssa are not too familiar, and seeing Alyssa's confident look still makes her feel a little suspicious.

However, she would not express the doubts in her heart.

"Then you just wait." Miana sneered and walked away.

Alyssa looked at the backs of the two leaving one after another, turned around and raised her foot to kick against the wall.

How could she not be angry?

Is she really thinking too much?

But Karl also said before, let her stay away from Dave!

For no reason, why did he keep her away from Dave?

Alyssa fell into self-doubt again.

On the other side, Karl and Miana walked directly to the parking lot after leaving the golden tripod.

Karl pulled the car door and sat in on his own.

Although Miana was a bit dissatisfied that Karl hadn't opened the door for her, she was even more afraid that Karl would just leave her behind.

She also thought about asking Karl to send her back, so that she could spend more time with him.

As soon as she got into the car, and as soon as she sat firmly, without even having time to fasten the seat belt, Karl started the car.

Due to inertia, Miana leaned forward fiercely, her expression a little unpleasant: "Karl! I haven't worn my seat belt yet!"

Karl looked straight ahead, speaking without emotion and temperature, and looked a little cold: "Then tie it."

Miana was a little frustrated. While buckling her seat belt heavily, she said dissatisfied: "Is it the same for you and Alyssa? Can she stand your temper?"

Her words seemed to have suddenly reached Karl's forbidden area, and the temperature in the carriage suddenly dropped.

There was a harsh creak, and the car braked urgently.

Miana shook, and was pulled back by the seat belt, looking a little embarrassed.

She turned her head angrily to look at Karl, and said loudly, "Karl, what's the matter with you! How do you drive!"

"From now on, don't mention that name in front of me." Karl's low voice sounded in the carriage, inexplicably gloomy.

Miana was a little surprised. Does Karl hate Alyssa so much? Can't even say in front of him?

Miana thought for a while and tentatively said, "When I saw you and Alyssa together, you're very affectionate. Now you turn your face and don't recognize anyone, and I can't even mention her? You are so cruel."

"Don't bother with irrelevant people." Karl restarted the car, and the temperature in the compartment also eased, indicating that his mood has gradually stabilized.

However, during the next journey, he did not say one more word.

No matter what Miana said, he always looked ahead, as if driving seriously, refused to say a word, and didn't mean to pay attention to her.

Miana was unwilling to feel Karl's indifference, but after thinking about it, she felt that Karl's nature was like this, which made her feel better.

During the three years that Karl lost his memory, Karl was so indifferent to her.

Finally, the car stopped in front of Palmer's house.

Karl stopped steadily and said, "Get out of the car."

"Do you want to go in and sit? My parents have always wanted to see you." Miana softened her voice and said softly.

"Today I am too late already."

Karl refused so straightforwardly, Miana felt dull, opened the car door angrily and went down.

Miana got out of the car and felt puzzled again, and wanted to bend down and say a few words to Karl. But Karl did not give her this opportunity.

After she got out of the car, she closed the car door, and he left.

The black car whizzed away, leaving only a shadow.

Miana stamped her feet on the spot with anger, gritted her teeth and said, "Karl! One day, I will let you fall in love with me with all my heart!"

â€¦

Karl accelerated all the way and drove to Best Day.

When he got out of the car, he strode into the Best Day.

He saw Peter and Tina who were pulling and pushing in the lobby.

Peter also saw him and called out, "Karl!"

When Karl heard this, he strode over: "You have seen Alysâ€¦!"

As soon as he spoke, he suddenly stopped, his voice changed, and said: "Have you seen Robert?"

Peter thought for a while and asked, "Just the sc*mbag of the Scott family who gathered a crowd at home to have a party last time?"

Karl had a sullen face and nodded, "Yes."

"I didn't see him, he came to Best Day?" Peter pressed his tongue-head to his chin, and changed the slimy look in front of Tina, his expression looked a bit cynical: "Our Best Day is a legal business place, let me see Is that kid messing around here."

The Scott family's money is strong, but the son they raised has no way of being on the stage, and has been exposed to scandals many times.

People in the upper class are generally reluctant to contact the Scott family's prodigal sons, but the Scott family is powerful and influential, and many people can only meet the Scott family's prodigal sons superficially.

But Peter is also a gangster, he is not afraid of Robert.

After Peter finished speaking, he turned to find Tina and found that she was on the phone.

He quietly leaned over and listened. He didn't know who was calling, so he asked in a low voice: "Tina, who are you calling?"

Tina turned her head and glanced at him, pushed him disgustingly, and said to the phone: "Come back sooner if you have nothing to do. We will sit tomorrow if you have time. Bye."

Peter thought for a while and asked, "Are you calling Alyssa?"

"It's your problem!" Tina hung up the phone and glanced at Karl, snorted angrily, turned and left.

Chapter 653

Tina raised her bag and turned back to make a gesture to Peter to hit him. Peter immediately shut up obediently and stopped making a sound.

However, when he turned his head, his face was full of smiles: "Look at Tina, who is rude, to see if she can marry in this life, and don't know when she will be gentler like Alyssa!"

"Gentle?" Karl raised his eyebrows slightly: "You mean Alyssa?"

"Yeah, isn't she very gentle in front of you?" Peter felt that Alyssa was better to Karl than Tina was to him.

Karl twitched the corner of his mouth, sneered, and said nothing.

The woman who slapped him the first time they met!

His sneer made Peter's scalp tight: "I will ask someone to find Robert who is still not here."

Peter did not know that Alyssa had gone to find Karl, let alone that Karl was in the same box with Robert.

He only thought that Karl was afraid that Robert would play foolishly in Best Day.

He took people into the elevator, and then realized it later: "How did Karl know that Robert was here?"

The waiter who followed him happened to receive Karl and Miana in between, and said, "Mr Adams and Mr. Scott were drinking in the same box before."

"Are you sure you read it right?" Peter subconsciously suspected that the waiter had read it wrong.

After all, Karl usually hates dinking and doesn't like to play outside. Even if he invites Karl out to drink, Karl is not willing to agree.

Not to mention someone like Robert who is not on the stage.

"It can't be wrong, I even went in to pour wine. Mr. Adams has been here so many times in Best Day, I can't read it wrong." The waiter shook his head repeatedly, saying that he really didn't read it wrong.

Peter was completely dumbfounded. Recently, Karl's work was really confusing.

From Alyssa, to Miana, to Robert, this series of chaos is nothing like Karl's style.

Peter thought for a long time, stretched out his hand and scratched his head a little irritably, and sighed: "Oh!"

I don't think about it.

He took people to the box where Karl and Robert were drinking before.

There were still many people playing inside. When they saw Peter, they greeted him: "Mr. Grant?"

"What kind of wind brought CEO Grant over today!"

Peter is also regarded as a celebrity. There is a lot of rumors in the circle, and he eats very well. Many people give him face, and they greeted him one after another when they saw him.

"I happen to be here, just come over and take a look at some time." Peter said, looking around calmly.

Did not see Robert's figure.

But maybe Robert went to the bathroom?

Peter narrowed his eyes and asked casually, "You have a lot of people today."

"I have visited several times. If you come here early, Mr. Adams and Scott would be there."

"Really? They're gone?"

"Just left, one after another."

Just left

Peter smiled and said, "Well, I think of something else. You keep yourself busy, and I'll send you some fruit plates."

"You're so polite!"

"Everyone is a friend!"

Peter said a few words to them and then withdrew.

The box was full of smoke. After he came out, he took a long breath before heading to the elevator.

Karl was still waiting for Peter.

He sat blankly on the sofa in the hall, his hands propped on his separated knees, his back was straight, and the whole person showed a very tight state.

Peter, who was familiar with him, could tell at a glance, this was Karl's anxious expression.

After Peter approached, he discovered that there was a glass of water in front of him, which should have been given to him by the waiter.

Hearing the footsteps, Karl turned his head back to look at Peter, with a sullen face, his tone low: "How's it going? Has Robert gone?"

"He went out, soon after you." Peter Grant sat down opposite Karl, and looked at Karl calmly.

Karl stood up and said, "I'm going back then."

"Eh!" Peter stood up, with a sad tone: "Why are you like this? You are leaving now?"

How come one or two of them are like this, otherwise they will always be looking for him, and once the matter is finished, they will all leave him and go!

Is there any humanity?

Karl stopped and said, "Thank you."

Peter "cut": "Who wants you to thank me!"

â€¦

After Karl left, Alyssa had nothing to do in Best Day, so she drove back.

On the way, she stopped at a convenience store to buy something, threw the things in the back seat, and then continued to drive.

It was already eleven o'clock in the evening.

At eleven o'clock in the winter night, there are not many people on the road.

Since it is such a residential area, there are not many people on the road.

She parked the car in the parking lot next to the community, and when she walked into the community, she vaguely felt that someone was following her.

But when Alyssa looked back, she found that there was nothing suspicious except for a few cars behind her in the lot.

Despite this, she was still a little uneasy.

Alyssa quickened her pace, and barely felt a little more at ease after entering the community.

The greening in the community is well done, but the street lights are a bit dim.

Alyssa had to turn on the phone torch to see the road clearly.

Occasionally, one or two people walked past and walked to a place where the street light was brighter, and Alyssa felt calmer.

At this moment, she heard the rustling footsteps of several people behind her.

Hearing the footsteps is a bit quicker.

Alyssa turned her head and saw several tall men walking towards her.

The man who lags behind is a bit familiar.

Alyssa's eyes flashed, she squinted, and then her eyes widened sharply.

Isn't that man Robert!

Alyssa secretly said that it was not good, turned around and ran.

However, how could she run past those men with long legs.

That is Robert's bodyguards and they are professional.

Alyssa was surrounded by them before she ran far.

"What are you going to do?" Alyssa looked at them warily.

At this moment, Robert came over.

"Alyssa." He emphasized his tone and clicked on her name, then laughed, and said with disdain: "Do you think Robert is the kind of person who can let you do it casually!"

It's not that Alyssa never thought that Robert might trouble her, but she didn't expect it to be so fast.

This is not the first time she has seen such a villain.

After a brief panic, she calmed down.

She raised her chin slightly, and her tone was very calm: "So, you are here for revenge now, bringing four bodyguards to find me, a woman, for revenge?"

Chapter 654

Even a fool could hear Alyssa's disdain in her tone.

Robert has seen all kinds of women, seen beautiful ones, and seen those who don't know how to praise.

But he has never seen such a beautiful woman like Alyssa, who would not know how to promote herself when she is about to die.

He suddenly became more interested in Alyssa.

Robert waved his hand, motioning the bodyguard to step back.

The bodyguard stepped back, Robert walked up to Alyssa, shook his head, and said angrily: "Why? Four are too many? Then you are obedient, wash yourself and kneel down for me. If one admits the mistake to Robert Scott, everything will be fine, right?"

How could Alyssa couldn't hear the obscene meaning in Robert's words.

She can't step on Robert to death now.

But now there are too many people, she is not their opponent, if there is only one Robert, she is really not afraid.

She took a deep breath, pursed the corners of her lips forbearingly, and said calmly, "Really? It's that easy?"

"I told you a long time ago that I am a person who loves and cherishes jade, especially for someone who is a little bit like you, of course, I am more forgiving. The way is pointed out for you, and you choose yourself."

It is said that looking at beauty under the lamp, Alyssa was standing under the street lamp at this time, Robert stood so close again, looking at Alyssa's beautiful and bright face, he couldn't wait to rush on immediately.

However, he should not be too anxious for the best products like Alyssa.

When the time comes, he gets it, and some are in need of time, to get and play with slowly.

Robert licked his lips, staring at Alyssa obscenely, making no secret of his intentions.

At this time, not many people come and go in the community.

Either an office worker who came home late, or an old lady who came back outside, the people who saw Alyssa surrounded by a group of men were curious to look over here, but no one came to ask her if she needed help.

It seems that it is impossible to expect others to help her.

And Robert in front of her was confident, as if everything was under control.

The fact is also true.

As long as Alyssa didn't pay attention, she might be taken away by Robert.

She couldn't help but think of what Miana said before.

Yes, now Karl is no longer her umbrella.

No one will be as efficient as Karl, who can find her as quickly as possible after an accident.

It's impossible.

But what can she do?

She can only let it go.

Alyssa took a step forward and curled her lips together and smiled at Robert: "Mr. Scott is always a smart person, and I'm stupid. I also know that a person who knows the current affairs is a good man. How would Scott always think I would choose?"

Robert smiled triumphantly: "Hmph, your women are cheap, why bother in Best Day! Anyway, the final result is the same."

"Yes." Alyssa continued to laugh.

Robert put down his guard, and reached out to touch Alyssa's face.

However, before his hand touched Alyssa, Alyssa violently raised her foot and kicked under Robert.

"Hi! ah!" Robert's eyes widened suddenly, and he bent down in pain, spinning around in circles, unable to speak.

Robert's bodyguard was personally hired by him to ensure his safety.

The bodyguards are all men. Seeing that Robert is doing this, they hurriedly gathered around and asked, "Mr. Scott! How are you?"

"I'm! Mom! is dying!" Robert struck his neck, almost squeezing such a sentence from his teeth.

Alyssa took advantage of the bodyguards around Robert, and ran out of the community.

There are only two guards in the community, and they are not very capable.

Alyssa rushed out of the community, planning to take a car and run away.

On the other end, Robert was sweating profusely with pain. He waved away the bodyguard's hand and gritted his teeth and said: "Go! Get that woman back for me, as long as you get her back for me, no matter whether you live or die, you will be alone rewarded one million."

The bodyguard heard Robert's words and all of a sudden ran out.

After all, it was a million temptations and deceptions, and their potential was stimulated.

As soon as they left the community, they saw Alyssa.

"The woman is there! Chase!"

Alyssa heard their voices, the secret path is not good, are these bodyguards stepping on the hot wheels, running so fast one by one.

She doesn't care about taking a taxi anymore. The roads here are narrow, I'm afraid she just got in the car, and the car will be pulled off by the bodyguards before the car leaves.

Alyssa's heart touched her throat, her legs were a little numb, she knew she had to run fast, and she lost consciousness when she ran.

But her physical strength is not as good as the group of bodyguards.

After Alyssa ran for a while, she couldn't run anymore, but the group of bodyguards ran faster and faster, seeing that they were about to catch up with her.

At this moment, a man appeared from nowhere, and hit the front of the group of bodyguards.

The bodyguard immediately cursed: "don't know how to see are you blind!"

don't know what the man who was hit by the bodyguards said, and then the two sides fought.

Alyssa was a little surprised.

A group of men fight in the street, and people passing by are inevitably onlookers.

Alyssa wanted to take the opportunity to run, but what if that man was not their opponent?

After thinking about it, she decided to stop and call the police before slipping away.

In a sense, that man also saved her.

However, when Alyssa took out her mobile phone to make a call, she found that Robert's bodyguards had fallen to the ground one after another.

Is thisâ€¦ so powerful?

The man's fighting tactics were extremely ruthless, he was quick and accurate, and he didn't give the bodyguards a chance to react.

Alyssa was a little surprised, except for Karl, she had never seen anyone fight so fiercely.

She put the phone away, she may no longer need to call the police.

She walked over quickly: "Sir, are you all right?"

The man had his back to her just now, with a windbreaker hat on his head and a mask, Alyssa could not see his face clearly.

When she got closer, she looked at the man's exposed eyes and cried out with some uncertainty: "Dave?"

Dave didn't take the mask, and there was no obvious fluctuation in the bottom of his eyes: "Miss Alyssa, we meet again."

"Are you okay?" Alyssa looked at Dave and found that he didn't look injured.

It were Robert's bodyguard.

They all fell to the ground and shrank into a ball, groaning in pain.

Dave shook his head, turned and left.

Alyssa was a little puzzled, shouldn't Dave stay beside Claire in Karl's villa?

How would he appear here?

Just today, she went to Peter to ask about organization X, but she didn't ask anything about it. Now she just met Dave, so it's better to follow him.

Chapter 655

Thinking about this, Alyssa chased after him.

"Dave, you wait."

As expected, Dave stopped, his eyes silent: "Miss Alyssa, is there anything else?"

His expression was calm and indifferent.

Alyssa didn't mean anything, and asked directly, "Why are you here?"

Dave's tone was very casual: "Passing by."

"Do you think I would believe it?" Alyssa blocked Dave's way. Dave, who had originally planned to leave, had to look up at her.

Dave sneered: "Claire is going to a foreign country for treatment, she doesn't need me anymore."

Alyssa was a little surprised. The meaning in Dave's dialect wasâ€¦ Claire didn't want him?

She has always seen that Dave has a special meaning to Claire, but Claire is like the city's special, and a bit special, but a person like Claire will love Dave. Such a person?

Alyssa saw that Dave didn't want to mention Claire more, so she stopped asking more.

She asked unconsciously, "Then where are you going next?"

"Isn't it the same everywhere?" Dave sneered, there was a dashing breath of wandering prodigal between his eyes.

For some reason, Alyssa suddenly felt that Dave was nothing like a killer.

"Yes." Alyssa nodded and suggested, "You helped me out today. Why don't I invite you to dinner?"

The idea in Alyssa's heart is very simple, she just wants to find Dave's set to try.

Although Dave is most likely not to agree to her, what does it matter?

But to Alyssa's surprise, Dave nodded and said generously: "Okay."

Now, Alyssa was a little confused.

There is a barbecue restaurant nearby.

Dave was not picky, and followed Alyssa into the barbecue restaurant.

The waiter brought the menu, and Dave was not at all polite, and ordered a lot of meat.

But this kind of rotisserie stuff is very cheap, and it doesn't cost much to order a lot.

The way Dave eats is not elegant, but it gives people a very gentle feeling.

Alyssa stared at him for a while, and couldn't help laughing: "The killers in the TV series seem to be fierce, and they are utterly unscrupulous when eating."

Dave took a sip of beer and looked up at Alyssa: "Ignorance."

Alyssa was choked by him.

Forget it, don't worry about Dave, he just helped her, and she also wanted to play with him.

"I haven't seen it really. Of course, it's just how you watch it on TV." Alyssa leaned back, looking innocent.

Dave snorted, and then suddenly lowered his voice, using a voice that only two people could hear, and said in a low voice: "Do you know? The last deal I took was to be a teacher in a middle school, which was enough to teach. It took two years to find an opportunity to complete the transaction."

When Dave usually speaks, he doesn't seem to be good at it.

But when he said this in such a calm voice at this time, Alyssa felt a creepy feeling.

Dave is a killer, but he can be a tone teacher in a middle school! Two years of teaching, no flaws.

For two years deliberately to kill a person!

What shocked Alyssa even more was that Dave had the ability to be a teacher!

No matter how you look at it, he should be a physical education teacher!

It may be that Alyssa's surprise was too obvious. Dave twitched the corners of his mouth, revealing a smile but not a smile: "I know nothing less than Karl."

This time it was Alyssa's turn to pull the corners of her mouth.

She lowered her head, poked a piece of tofu in the evening with a bamboo stick, and did not pick up the topic of Dave.

Suddenly, she thought of something and suddenly raised her head to look towards Dave.

Seeing her with an expression of seeing a ghost, Dave frowned slightly: "You want to mention this topic yourself, but you can rest assured that I will not do anything to you without any grievances."

Alyssa fixedly stared at Dave and asked, "Do you know a person named Clifford?"

"Who?" Dave thought for a moment: "I don't know."

Alyssa was lost in thought.

Dave just said that his last business had been latent in a middle school for two years.

And Clifford also took care of Alyssa for three years, completely gained her trust, and finally exposed himself.

How similar these two things are.

This made Alyssa had to suspect that Clifford might be related to the organization X.

"Really don't know?"

The suspicion in Alyssa's tone made Dave unhappy. He said with a cold face: "Everyone in the organization who acts outside has a specific code name, and we don't know each other's real names and identities."

Alyssa was a little shocked when she heard this.

She didn't even dare to write such a script.

And reality is often more dramatic than drama.

Although Alyssa wanted to know more about Organization X, she had asked too much tonight.

Dave would tell her this, maybe because he was in a good mood, or because he wanted to scare her so that she would not dare to ask about the organization X in the future.

After that, she never asked Dave about the organization X.

After the two had a barbecue, they said goodbye to each other.

However, after the two said goodbye, Alyssa found that Dave had not left, but followed her.

“What are you doing with me?” Alyssa certainly wouldn’t think that Dave was afraid that something would happen to her, so he wanted to escort her home.

Dave put his hands in the pockets of his shirt, put on his mask and hat again, looking no different from any ordinary passerby.

His exposed eyebrows moved, and his voice was not very clear under the mask: “I’m going home.”

Alyssa pointed to the road ahead: “Are you going here too?”

Dave was too lazy to talk to her, and walked forward after passing her.

Alyssa followed him, and watched him enter the complex where she lived, and then into the building where she lived.

At the entrance of the elevator, Dave stepped in and shouted to Alyssa who was standing outside: “Hey, can you go?”

Alyssa glanced at him, and walked in with his foot raised.

She glanced at the elevator floor that Dave pressed, her pupils shrank sharply.

Coincidentally, Dave not only lived in the same building as her, but also on the same floor.

Seeing that Alyssa didn’t press the floor, Dave asked her, “What floor?”

Alyssa didn’t say a word, Dave snorted, his tone of disdain: “I have seen so many women, what do you think I will do to you?”

Alyssa found that if Dave didn’t care about his past, some of his personalities and habits were no different from ordinary people.

“I haven’t thought about it this way, but I just think it’s a coincidence.” Alyssa retracted her gaze, staring down at her toes.

Then the two stopped talking.

When the elevator door opened, the two got out of the elevator one after another, and then walked towards the opposite room.

Chapter 656

Alyssa stood in front of her room, and deliberately slowly took out the key to open the door.

She just inserted the key into the keyhole when she heard the sound of opening and closing the door on the other end.

Alyssa looked back, just in time to see the opposite door closed.

Does Dave really live here?

Is it really just a coincidence?

Is there such a coincidence in the world?

Alyssa narrowed her eyes and thought for a while before opening the door and entering the room.

However, she entered the door with her front foot. On the other side, Dave, who had already closed the door, suddenly opened the door back.

He stood by the door, glanced at Alyssa's door, took out his mobile phone and made a call.

"I met her, she should be a little suspicious of me."

Not knowing what was said on the other end of the phone, Dave replied blankly: "I know."

â€¦

The next day.

When Alyssa went out, she deliberately glanced at the opposite door.

The door was closed tightly. don't know if Dave is at home or out.

Alyssa also plans to go to Karl to see Grace first, and then go to Mattie's studio.

She had breakfast outside, and when she passed by the cake shop, she bought a few delicate and beautiful little cakes, packed them and brought them to Grace.

She deliberately checked the time and confirmed that Karl had gone out before she drove to his villa.

When Alyssa drove to the door of Karl's villa, she found a car parked at the door, the trunk was opened, and a bodyguard was putting luggage in the trunk.

It looks like someone is going to travel far.

Alyssa glanced at the villa, frowned slightly and said, "Karl is at home?"

The bodyguard knew who Alyssa was. Although she had left the villa now, Karl still allowed her to visit Grace, which showed that she still had status.

Therefore, the bodyguards are also very polite to her.

The bodyguard listened to her and said respectfully: "Sir left early in the morning."

"Then what are you doing with your luggage? Who is leaving?"

Just as Alyssa questioned, before the bodyguard had spoken, Claire walked out of the villa and shouted, "Alyssa."

Alyssa looked up and followed the sound, and saw the thickly wrapped Claire walking towards her.

Recalling what Dave said yesterday, Alyssa asked, "Are you leaving?"

"Going abroad for medical treatment." Claire's head is buried low, wearing a thick wool scarf and gloves. She looks very cold and weak.

She heard Dave talk about this yesterday, so Alyssa didn't feel too surprised.

However, Alyssa's calm expression fell in Claire's eyes, and it became another meaning.

Claire thought that it was Alyssa and Karl who said something, that Karl would say those things to her and let her go for treatment.

Claire sniffed, her voice hoarse: "Thank you, Alyssa."

Alyssa felt inexplicable: "Thank me for what?"

Claire thought that Alyssa didn't want to mention this, but she just curled her lips and smiled.

Claire has a face today, but this face that is similar to Karl's foundation is too good, even if it is weak, it is beautiful.

"Miss, the time is up." The bodyguard on the side urged Claire.

Claire looked up at Alyssa again: "I'm leaving now, you and Karl should be fine."

The tone was faint, with a feeling of explaining the future.

Alyssa asked her expressionlessly, "Where is Dave? Why is he not here?"

Claire was startled slightly, and then said quietly: "He has nothing to do with me, what shall I do with him."

Dave didn't go abroad with her.

But Claire also has her own pride. She would not tell Alyssa that she actually wanted Dave to go with her, but Dave did not go.

Claire's thoughts about the twists and turns in the heart, Alyssa didn't know.

She felt a little puzzled in her heart, but she didn't expect that what Dave said was true, and Claire really didn't bring Dave.

At this time, Alyssa was still in a complicated mood facing Claire, and finally only said two words: "Take care."

"So do you." Claire seemed to have something to say, but in the end she just got into the car short and hesitant.

Claire drove away and Alyssa entered the villa.

Dave and Claire were missing in the villa, and a group of bodyguards and servants remained, which seemed a bit empty.

"Madam! Miss Alyssa." The servant still couldn't change his words.

Alyssa nodded slightly, and went upstairs to find Grace.

Grace's condition gradually improved. She heard the sound of the door opening, turned her head to see Alyssa, her eyes lit up, but she didn't speak.

Alyssa stayed with Grace in the room for a while, coaxing her downstairs to watch TV.

Fortunately, cartoons are so powerful that a child can hardly resist.

Alyssa took her to the hall, and when she changed channels with the remote control, she saw the latest entertainment news.

“Last night, a reporter photographed a woman from Karl, the current CEO of Adams’ family, returning home. It is understood that the woman is Miana Palmer who had previously been married to Mr. Adams.”

Alyssa pursed her lips and changed the stage.

“Karl and his ex-fiance got together.”

Unexpectedly, changing the channel would still be Karl’s entertainment news.

If this continues, Adams’s House has saved even advertising costs, and he doesn’t need to ask celebrities to endorse him at all. He carries a lot of traffic himself.

Alyssa gritted her teeth and continued to change channels.

Changing several channels in a row turned out to be Karl’s entertainment news.

Alyssa’s heating is up, and the TV is against her.

She turned her head, smiled and said to Grace: “Grace, we don’t watch TV anymore, there is nothing to watch today.”

Grace pointed at the TV, opened her eyes wide, and said clearly: “Look at Karl.”

Grace also recognized Karl in the news.

“He doesn’t look good.” Alyssa tried to change the channel.

But Grace frowned her eyebrows: “He looks good.”

Alyssa: “.”

She had to change it back again.

Grace stared at the Karl on the TV with gusto, and then suddenly two words popped out: “Like me.”

“Ahem.” Alyssa was drinking water, and almost choked on hearing the words Grace.

Grace turned her head and glanced at Alyssa suspiciously: “You have a cold.”

“Yes. I have a cold. Cough cough.” Alyssa coughed kindly.

What did she just hear?

Grace said that Karl looks good, is it because he looks like her?

Grace said solemnly: “Take medicine.”

“I’ll take the medicine later.” Alyssa was a little bit dumbfounded.

She found that Grace had a lot to say today, but there was a high coldness similar to that of Karl’s fans.

Karl's news was not long, and it was finished quickly.

This time Alyssa switched to the children's channel to watch cartoons, but Grace didn't say anything.

However, it didn't take long before she heard Grace on the side saying lightly: "It's boring, it doesn't look good."

Alyssa: "?????"

Chapter 657

In the past, when Grace watched cartoons, she didn't even blink her eyes.

She even said that the cartoons are bad and boring?

Alyssa asked tentatively: "Then what do you want to see?"

Grace didn't speak, but as soon as she jumped off the sofa, she went upstairs.

Alyssa followed and saw that Grace was already sitting on the ground holding the drawing board and began to paint.

Grace draws attentively, regardless of whether Alyssa has come in or not.

Alyssa tried to talk to Grace, but Grace didn't care about her either.

Grace was immersed in her own world and seemed to isolate everything.

Alyssa accompanied her for a while and went downstairs to make lunch for Grace.

She didn't plan to have lunch here, she just wanted to cook a meal for Grace.

The servant knew that she was cooking, and quietly exited the kitchen.

Karl didn't come back at noon, and now Claire is also gone. Grace's lunch is also cooked by Alyssa, and the servant doesn't need to prepare lunch for anyone.

Alyssa spent some thought and made some cute food.

Little girls like cute little things.

Alyssa came out of the kitchen with a smile on her face carrying the prepared lunch, and when she passed the hall, someone came in from outside the door.

She raised her head sharply and saw Karl strode into the hall.

Karl also just raised his eyes to look at her, and their eyes collided in the air.

Thinking of what happened yesterday, Alyssa looked like she had been burned, and suddenly looked away, as if she hadn't seen Karl, and went straight upstairs.

She watched her nose, and walked upward, suppressing the urge to look back at Karl.

What is so good about him?

When he was in Best Day last night, since he didn't say anything about her, it means that he has made up his mind and is serious about separating from her this time.

Each club has its own dignity and bottom line.

She is the same!

After going upstairs, Alyssa found that the palm of her hand holding the tray was already sweaty.

Inexplicably nervous.

don't know what is this nervousness for.

Alyssa brought the lunch to Grace's room and came out after watching her finish.

When she came out, she couldn't help but glanced in the direction of Karl's study.

The study door was closed tightly, and she had just stayed in Grace's room for almost half an hour. Karl would come back suddenly, maybe just came home to get an important document, maybe he would have left by now.

Thinking of this, Alyssa relaxed a little.

However, when she walked to the top of the stairs and saw Karl sitting on the sofa in the hall, she relaxed her heart and raised it again.

Why is Karl still not leaving!

Alyssa's mood is a bit complicated, whether he is going on or not.

She looked down again, and Karl was holding the phone and lowered her head not knowing what she was doing.

At this moment, his cell phone rang.

Seeing Karl answering the phone, Alyssa went on with confidence.

When she arrived in the hall, she gave the dinner plate directly to the servant, turned and walked out.

At this moment, Karl's voice suddenly came from behind: "Stop."

Karl's voice was low and deep, without a trace of emotion.

Alyssa was stunned for a while, but didn't stop, but walked faster, and finally ran.

She seemed to hear Karl's sneer behind her.

But she couldn't think so much, she didn't want to stay here to face Karl, facing this Karl who had nothing to do with her.

The relationship between people is too weak.

There is no bondage of marriage between them.

Even with the daughter Grace, they have nothing to do with each other except having the titles of Grace's father and mother.

If there is a relationship, it is that Karl gave Adams's to Alyssa at that time, and there may be an interest relationship between the two.

For a time, Alyssa thought a little too much.

So that when she ran outside and was stopped by the bodyguard, she froze for a while before reacting.

"What are you doing, get out of here!" Alyssa lowered her face, her brows stern.

The bodyguards looked at each other hesitantly, but in the end they still had no intention of giving way.

Alyssa understood that this was what Karl meant.

Alyssa turned her head fiercely, and saw Karl walking out of the hall in a hurry.

A black suit made him appear more cold and deep, and it made him feel more and more elusive.

Alyssa twisted her eyebrows to look at him: "Karl! What do you want?"

Karl walked to her slowly, Alyssa felt that the pressure on her body became stronger with every step he took, and she involuntarily stepped back two steps.

In the end, Karl walked up to her and stood still, staring at her for a while, then slowly said, "Asked you to stop, didn't you hear?"

"You didn't call a name Mr. Adams, who knows whether you wanted to stop me or someone else."

Alyssa raised her chin slightly, her face was cold and uncompromising.

Karl laughed suddenly.

Alyssa curled her lips subconsciously, what did he smile? what's so funny?

Pretend to be a fool!

"You think you were able to get out of trouble in Best Day, so you think you are capable?" Karl looked at her mockingly: "Be a peaceful woman and avoid trouble. After all, you are the mother of my child."

â€"â€"You are the mother of my child.

Oh, it's so clear.

Karl was cautious and suspicious. When it was critical, he always spoke without leaking.

Alyssa looked at him mockingly, and said word by word: "It is none of your concern."

Sure enough, she only uttered these words, and Karl's face darkened at a speed visible to the naked eye.

Seeing Karl's face changed, Alyssa couldn't mention how happy she was.

Let her say something plausible and make him unhappy!

She didn't make him happy!

Alyssa squinted her eyes and stared at him without letting go.

Karl's jaw was tight, and the expression on his face remained unchanged, but Alyssa strangely noticed that Karl was clenching his teeth secretly.

Don't know if the two have been together for too long and have a tacit understanding, or she thinks too much.

After a while, Karl said two words coldly: "Very good."

"Since it's good, can I be released now?" Alyssa was not afraid at all.

For her now, the most important thing is Grace. Even if Karl regained his anger, he could never take Grace away.

Facing Karl, Alyssa was confident now.

To put it another way, break the jar and fall.

She and Karl are already like this, how bad can they be?

Thinking of this, Alyssa's expression became more calm.

Karl let out a cold snort, passed her straight ahead and walked outside.

Karl has gone, and the bodyguards who have stopped Alyssa had also retreated.

Chapter 658

When Alyssa got outside, Karl drove away.

Alyssa could only see the back of the black car disappearing in the distance.

She got into the car with a complicated look.

Karl has been in the news recently, but they are all lace news.

In fact, it is not only Miana, but occasionally there are some scandals about Karl and other women who cannot be beaten by eight.

As for whether these scars are true or not, whether it is written by the media for bloggers' eyeballs, or whether Karl really has anything to do with them, Alyssa couldn't know.

If you really don't care at all, it is fake or not, it is fine.

She and Karl have been together for so long, and it's not that she can't live without feelings.

She would still pay attention to the lace news of Karl unconsciously, but after reading the news, she herself felt extremely uncomfortable.

It's like self-abuse, knowing it will be uncomfortable, but it still depends.

And deep down in Alyssa's heart, she still felt that Karl was abnormal recently.

How can a man who is not lustful, has frequent scandals with different women?

This is simply not in line with Karl's acting style.

Alyssa drove the car, a little distracted, so she drove slowly.

It wasn't until a few cars caught up from behind to overtake her car and crossed her car before she reacted violently and stepped on the brakes.

Because of the sudden stop, her body leaned forward inertially.

She was dizzy for a moment. When she raised her head and looked outside the car, she saw people coming down one after another in the cars that were blocked in front of her.

The leader is Robert.

It's really lingering.

Alyssa took out her mobile phone to call the police.

However, as soon as her mobile phone was taken out, Robert's people directly smashed the car window.

Shards of the car window glass splashed on her body, and her hands and face were scratched to varying degrees.

Alyssa panicked in her heart, and subconsciously turned her head and fled towards the passenger position on the other side.

However, Robert's people had reached out from the broken car window and pulled in Alyssa's hair.

And Alyssa just made the alarm call at this time.

The phone slipped from the hand, and the voice of the police rang: "Hello? Is anyone there?"

Alyssa's hair was pulled very tightly by them, her face turned pale with pain, and she said loudly, "This is Rexter Road, I'm here!"

"The smelly lady dared to call the police!"

The person pulling her hair outside the window slammed hard at this moment, and her neck got stuck on the broken sharp corner of the car window glass.

She wore a white scarf today, and the blood dyed her scarf red.

Alyssa was so painful that she couldn't speak.

The door of the car was opened, she was dragged out directly, and her mobile phone was also taken away by them and threw it hard on the road.

Robert came up from behind, and when he saw it, he cursed and said, "What's going on? You killed me before I did it?"

Someone hurriedly explained angrily: "Mr. Scott, it's not that serious. You can't die."

"Better don't kill me, I want to live!" Robert tilted his head and glanced at Alyssa, smiling very gloomily: "Today, don't think that someone will come to rescue you. I won't let you go!"

After he finished speaking, he snorted and straightened up and said: "She called you to deal with it. Later, she will try to throw me away to police and send people to me."

After Robert finished speaking, he got in the car first.

It was just that he got into the car, and a black car rushed over.

Robert's eyes widened, and he kept scolding the driver: "Son of a b1tch!"

The driver turned sharply, but the car still crashed.

Alyssa's neck was still bleeding, and her body was already a little cold at this time, her vision was a little fuzzy, and she couldn't see who was in that car.

Karl had just left in front of her, is it Karl?

The door opened and a tall figure walked out of the car.

The man walked straight over.

When he approached, Alyssa couldn't see who was coming.

She murmured in disbelief: "Clifford!"

"Alyssa." Clifford called her, with a consistent smile on his face, but when his eyes touched her blood-stained scarf, his face suddenly became gloomy.

Alyssa no longer felt any physical pain at this time, and she was just thinking about one question.

Why not Karl?

Why not him?

But no one can answer her.

Robert's car was hit, but his car was fine and there was no problem.

He originally thought it was a big man, but when he got out of the car, he saw Clifford standing there alone, and he was full of confidence: "Smelly boy, are you new to Rostenvel? Do you know whose car you hit?"

Clifford turned his head and glanced at Robert, and said coldly, "Let her go."

It may be because of his love to laugh all the time, Clifford's face made people who didn't know him or his details looked at it, and they only felt that he has no attack power.

Robert didn't look at Clifford at all: "Huh, you are so courageous! I haven't seen anyone with courage like you in a long time. You know where all the courageous people I have seen have gone?"

"They are all dead." Robert smiled very viciously: "I will give you a chance. Now you kneel down and say sorry, I can let you go, but if you don't kneel, you can only be with those people."

Not only did Robert fail to see Clifford in his eyes, but also Clifford did not see Robert in his eyes.

He just took a look at Alyssa, the emotions in his eyes were a little hard to distinguish, as if he was confirming something, and as if there was nothing.

Then, he quickly looked away, and moved very quickly to Robert. Alyssa didn't see how he moved his hand. She only saw Clifford pressing Robert's head into the side car window.

don't know how much energy Clifford exerted. The car window shattered and Robert's head was smashed. The blood was flowing down his forehead and all over his face.

Robert's scream was about to pierce through people's eardrums.

Robert's subordinates surrounded Clifford and they were about to do it when they heard Clifford say to Robert, "Are you sure you want your men to do it? If they do, do you think you can go home alive?"

Clifford's attack was too ruthless. Robert had never seen a man like Clifford. Although he usually fought fiercely, he was still afraid of death at the critical moment.

Robert trembled all over, too scared, and even his voice trembled: "Don't come over, go back!"

Clifford saw Robert's sorrow, a trace of contempt flashed in his eyes, and he said coldly: "Release Alyssa."

"Let her go, let the woman go!" Where did Robert dare not listen to Clifford's words.

His subordinates quickly released Alyssa and pushed her towards Clifford in the front.

Chapter 659

Robert's head stuck in the car window, and he didn't dare to move. He trembled, and there was a water stain on his body.

Is this scared?

Alyssa glanced at Robert coldly, then looked up at Clifford.

She was calm and sober now.

Seeing Alyssa standing still, Clifford said sharply, "After me!"

Alyssa still stood still.

She will not want to be rescued by the man who almost killed her daughter again.

I don't want to.

Clifford seemed to have seen her thoughts through her heart: "If you don't follow me today, you cannot see the sun tomorrow, you know very well in your heart. If you follow me, there is still a chance to retaliate against me."

Alyssa's eyes widened.

She could hear that Clifford was using a radical technique.

However, Clifford's eyes were open.

His tone was serious, he really wanted to save her.

There is no smile on his face, his face is gloomy, and there is a cold feeling. This is how he removed his disguise.

She really didn't want to be saved by Clifford.

However, if she really died in Robert's hands, it would be even more worthless.

The corners of Alyssa's lips were pressed tightly, and she walked slowly behind Clifford.

When she walked behind him, she felt Clifford's shoulders collapse as if relaxed, and then turned his head and whispered, "Get in my car!"

Alyssa didn't hesitate any more, turned around and got into the car directly.

What she opened was the door of the cab.

Clifford suddenly pulled Robert out of the car window, clasped him and walked out of the car door.

Alyssa reached out and opened the door of the co-pilot.

Robert's life was still pinched by Clifford, and he tremblingly said: "You don't let me go! I've let go of that cheap ah!!!"

Before he could say the rest, he was pulled over by Clifford and threw him to the ground, making a scream.

At the same time, Clifford quickly got into the car.

As soon as he got in the car, Alyssa started the car.

The speed reached the highest, and Robert's men did not react.

However, even if Robert's subordinates reacted, they didn't have the heart to catch them, after all, Clifford did not take Robert lightly.

They naturally have to save the life of their boss first, otherwise no one is paid.

After driving some distance, they heard the horn of a police car.

Alyssa thought for a while, and said aloud: "I called the police before."

Clifford let out an "um" and turned to look at her: "Get over, I'll drive."

Alyssa's condition was indeed not very good. She took a look and found that no car was following, and the police car happened to pass by from the other side, so she parked the car safely on the side of the road.

She and Clifford changed sides. Clifford drove the car and asked, "How is your injury?"

"I can't die." Even if she was saved by Clifford, it couldn't offset the things Clifford had done.

She had never seen anyone more perverted than Clifford.

It was so bad that he saved her again and again.

Instead, Alyssa's mood became a little complicated.

Originally, after the villa fire incident, Alyssa really hated Clifford.

But now, the hatred seemed to fade a little.

Clifford didn't say much.

The scar on the neck is actually not deep, the blood has coagulated, and the wound does not bleed much, as long as it is not pulled, she can still go to the hospital.

Alyssa leaned back in the chair and turned to look out the car window.

Suddenly, she straightened up abruptly: "Stop!"

Clifford didn't know why, but he stopped the car.

Only when his car stopped, Alyssa got out of the car.

Clifford frowned, looking in the direction Alyssa was walking, and he happened to see Karl and Miana hugging each other.

He curled his lips and said to himself: "It's really interesting."

Alyssa walked quickly, but she stopped when she walked only a few steps away from Karl and Miana.

Just glanced at the car, she thought she was wrong.

So she has to come closer and see clearly.

It turned out to be Karl and Miana.

Alyssa stopped and stood there, biting her lips tightly, staring at Karl and Miana.

Miana saw Alyssa and pushed Karl away with a shy expression, and said, "Look, isn't this Miss Alyssa?"

Karl turned his head to look at Alyssa, his eyes were so dark that it was difficult for people to see what he was thinking.

He stared at Alyssa for a moment, and then faintly responded, "Oh."

Miana was very satisfied with Karl's indifferent appearance, and deliberately said in surprise: "It looks like something has happened to her? How to say she is also your ex-wife, don't you ask what happened to her?"

"People who are irrelevant, I don't ask more, let's go." After Karl finished speaking, he opened the co-pilot's door for Miana.

Miana smiled triumphantly at Alyssa, and got into the car with a raised chin and a proud face.

In fact, the person Alyssa was watching from beginning to end were only Karl.

She cares only about Karl.

But what did Karl say?

People who are irrelevant, don't need to ask more.

Good one, don't ask more.

Miana got into the car, and Karl closed the door and turned to get in from the other side.

At this moment, he heard Alyssa's piercing voice behind him: "Karl!"

When Alyssa called his name, he felt a chill from the inside out.

He turned his back to Alyssa and did not look back.

Alyssa's face was cold and numb: "As you wish, we will all be irrelevant people in the future!"

After she finished speaking, she turned around just like when she came, and walked quickly towards Clifford's car, and quickly got in.

Clifford looked at her with a playful look: "Can you go now?"

Alyssa's face was as cold as this winter.

"As you wish, Karl and I have never been involved anymore."

The expression on Clifford's face paused slightly, staring at her face, and an inexplicable smile: "Really? Then why are you crying?"

Alyssa was stunned for a moment, and stretched out her hand to touch her face.

Fingers touched the cold moist feeling on her face.

He hesitated to stretch out his hand to her, it turned out that she was crying.

The tears are cold.

Alyssa stretched out expressionless hands to wipe away the tears on her face, and then said in the same cold voice: "The wound is too painful. If you don't hurry to the hospital, I will die in your car."

"I won't let you die." Of course, Clifford would not believe Alyssa's nonsense at this time, even though Alyssa said it seriously.

Clifford flew all the way and took Alyssa to the hospital.

Chapter 660

Alyssa's wound was not deep, but it was still a bit long.

The doctor said to stitch.

Alyssa has been very quiet.

However, when the doctor wanted to give her anesthetic, Alyssa refused.

There was no wave on her face, no expression: "Sew it directly, without painkillers."

The doctor is a middle-aged man. After hearing Alyssa's words, he first looked at a loss, and then asked uncertainly: "No need for painkillers?"

Without waiting for Alyssa to speak, Clifford came forward, frowning and said: "Alyssa, are you irritated or stupid? Do you think you are a female soldier?"

Alyssa didn't look at anyone, her eyes didn't focus much, and she said quietly, "I want to remember this pain."

She must remember the pain Karl gave her.

Clifford seemed to be extremely angry and smiled, his face was a little ugly, and he dropped two words: "It's up to you!"

The doctor naturally didn't understand what the two said, and didn't know the relationship between the two, but just knew that both of them decided not to take painkillers.

Alyssa didn't care about Clifford's expression or what he said, and only raised her eyes to the doctor: "Doctor, you can start."

Clifford slammed the door and went out.

The doctor obviously hesitated.

"Doctor, I can, don't have any worries." Alyssa said again.

The doctor sighed and started to take the equipment: "If you can't help it, tell me."

"Yeah." Alyssa's voice was unusually firm.

In fact, only two or three stitches are required.

However, the feeling of sharp needles piercing the flesh is still quite painful.

Alyssa bit the corner of her lips, fine beads of sweat leaked out of her forehead, and her face turned pale.

The doctor was a little surprised to see that she really could bear it.

After sewing, the doctor handed Alyssa two tissues: "Wipe off the sweat."

"Thank you." Alyssa reached out and took the tissue and stood up.

"I'll give you a prescription. You can take some medicine back and take the stitches in a few days, or you can take them at another clinic."

"Thank you." Alyssa reached out to take it.

The doctor looked out the door curiously: "Hey, where is your boyfriend? Why hasn't he come in yet?"

"He is not my boyfriend." Alyssa finished speaking and went out.

She didn't see Clifford outside the door.

Not too lazy to care where Clifford went, Alyssa went straight to get the medicine.

When she left the hospital, she found Clifford's car was still parked in front of the hospital, and he was sitting in the car smoking a cigarette.

Alyssa stayed there for a while, and walked over with a complicated expression: "I'm going back."

"Don't say thank you? Karl and other women can kissed and hug each other. If I didn't save you today, would you still stand here alive?"

Clifford had a cigarette in his hand and squinted his eyes slightly. The expression on his face looked like a dude.

"As long as it's not something that hurts the world, you can find me when you need me to repay you."

Alyssa had just sewed a needle, there was no blood on her face, and her eyes were not as bright as usual.

Clifford looked unpleasantly.

He squeezed out the cigarette in his hand a little irritably, and repeated: "As long as it's not something that hurts the world, it's okay?"

Alyssa nodded blankly: "Yes."

"Oh." Clifford put his hand on the car window, with a serious tone: "Then you marry me."

Alyssa directly ignored Clifford's words: "Clifford, my words always count."

After she finished speaking, she turned and left.

She didn't expect Clifford to answer seriously, but when she heard him tell her to give it to him, she still found it ridiculous.

Alyssa's car was stopped by Robert's people on the road before. When she and Clifford were leaving, they were driving Clifford's car.

She can only take a taxi back now.

The phone is not on her and her wallet is still in the car.

Everything is terrible.

Alyssa thought, she might have to go back.

"Hey!"

A voice came from the coming car.

Turning to see, it turned out to be Clifford.

Alyssa quickened her pace and ignored it.

"Get in the car, I'll take you back." Clifford's speed was very slow, and he was very well controlled, just enough to parallel Alyssa.

Seeing Alyssa ignored him, he said again: "Are you planning to go back?"

Alyssa had already made up her mind to ignore Clifford, so naturally she would stop speaking.

But Clifford was also very stubborn and followed her like that.

Both of them stopped talking, just like that, one walking and the other driving back to Alyssa's residence.

Fortunately, the hospital was not very far from Alyssa's residence. Even so, she still walked for almost an hour.

When she went upstairs, Clifford was still following her.

"Are you planning to follow me in?" Alyssa stopped at the door.

"It's all here, don't you plan to invite your savior in for a cup of tea?" Clifford swore to not give up.

Alyssa didn't have much energy to deal with him, opened the door and walked in, went directly to the kitchen to boil water and make a cup of tea for Clifford.

She put the teacup "boom" on the coffee table: "Hurry up after drinking."

The heating in the room hasn't turned on yet, and the tea is cold quickly.

Clifford didn't bother too much, and left after drinking tea.

After Alyssa was the only one left in the room, it was terribly quiet.

She threw the tea cup that Clifford had drunk directly into the trash can, walked into the bathroom, and stood in front of the mirror looking at the wound on her neck.

The woman in the mirror looked terrifying, her expressionless face looked like a walking dead.

Alyssa touched her face and murmured: "You have to cheer up. There are still things to be dealt with later, and the script is still a few episodes away!"

She pulled the corners of her lips, trying to make a smile.

However, such a squeezed smile is more ugly than crying.

Alyssa sank her face, washed her hands and went out of the bathroom.

It's so ugly, she doesn't want to look in the mirror anymore.

She changed her clothes, cleaned herself up, and put the blood-stained scarf and coat ready to be removed and thrown away.

She went out of the house, and when she waited for the elevator, the elevator door opened, and the person who came out was Dave.

Dave carried a black bag and a peaked cap. He didn't look like a good person.

But Alyssa knew that Dave has his own rules and principles.

People with rules and principles are not so scary, provided that you don't break his rules and principles.

"Miss Alyssa?" Dave noticed the wound on Alyssa's neck, his tone was puzzled, but he didn't ask.

Alyssa nodded slightly and raised her foot to enter the elevator.

At this time, Dave stopped her: "Miss Alyssa, I haven't found a new employer in the past few days."

Alyssa turned her head and raised her eyebrows slightly, motioning him to continue.

Dave said directly: "Do you need a bodyguard?"

Alyssa knew Dave's strength.

During this period of time so many things happened one after another, Alyssa didn't even think about it, and said directly: "I Need."