Chapter 81

Because Tina was coming back, Alyssa was in a particularly good mood all day.

There are a lot of things in the company, and Isabel didn't find any fault.

Before leaving the workplace, she called Smith and told him not to pick her up. She invited her friends for dinner.

After leaving the office, Alyssa thought of cooking for "Luther" again.

She stood on the side of the road and took out her mobile phone to call "Luther".

The phone was connected and only rang once, and then someone picked it up.

"What's up?"

"Luther"'s voice was a bit low, and it sounded even more fascinating on the phone.

Alyssa was used to his voice, and still shook her head slightly, saying, "Are you going home for dinner tonight?"

He asked back: "Otherwise?"

Alyssa was very angry and explained to him: "I made an appointment with a friend to eat out tonight."

There was a moment of silence on the other side, and his voice came faintly, with an inexplicable chill: "Ask Norris?"

Alyssa twitched the corners of her mouth, this person was simply ill.

"Female!" Alyssa gritted her teeth: "Although I promised to cook for you, I am not a servant at home, and I also need my own social circle and friends."

"Luther" suddenly slowed down a lot, and said lightly, "Oh, go."

After hanging up the phone, Karl raised his head and glanced at Peter, his tone indifferent: "Did you just say there will be dinner tonight?"

"Aren't you not going?" Peter looked at him with a little surprise, Karl almost didn't attend any dinners.

Clayton on the side already knew everything: "Because his wife is not at home tonight for dinner."

"Just you talk a lot." Karl glanced at Clayton, and Clayton silently turned around and went out.

â€¦

When Alyssa took a taxi to Best Day, she did not see Tina.

She was about to pick up her mobile phone to call Tina, when she walked over to a very tightly armed woman.

Alyssa asked tentatively: "Tina?"

Tina pulled her sunglasses away, and looked around nervously: "It's me."

After she finished speaking, she dragged Alyssa towards the door, and asked her as she walked, "Can you get in?"

Tina naturally knew that Best Day was one of the top high-end clubs in Rostenvel. It paid great attention to privacy, so it was not easy for anyone to enter casually.

Alyssa nodded: "You can get in, I have eaten here."

The two had just reached the door at this time. When the doorman saw Alyssa, he even yelled the words "Welcome" a lot, with exceptional enthusiasm.

After entering, Tina held down her sunglasses and tore off the scarf covering half of her face. She carefully looked up and down Alyssa: "I went out and filmed a scene and came back. You are reborn?"

Tina and Alyssa have known each other for many years, but most of the time, Alyssa is an "ugly looking" and she is used to it.

When she returned to the crew last time, although Alyssa had already restored her original appearance, she only changed back to her original appearance in her eyes. After watching it after such a period of time, Alyssa's temperament all seems to be better.

The two had already entered the elevator, and Alyssa took a photo against the elevator wall: "No, it's the same as before."

Tina stood next to her, and suddenly said, "Or you can come to the film too, maybe you can be more popular than me."

"The circle is chaotic, the water is deep, don't go."

"â€¦"

â€¦

The two found a place to sit down and order food.

Alyssa got up and went to the bathroom.

She came out after washing her hands, walking with her head down, and she accidentally hit someone around the corner.

She quickly apologized: "I'm sorry."

The man was taller, and he didn't say anything for a long time.

Alyssa raised her head curiously, just to meet the gentle face of Gerald.

He laughed, giving people a feeling of spring breeze, and called her name in preparation: "Alyssa."

Alyssa was a little flattered: "Are you eating here too?"

She had never imagined that the Rostenvel was so small that she would meet Gerald twice in such a short period of time.

“Yes, I made an appointment here with a friend.” Gerald nodded and suddenly asked: “How are you doing recently?”

He had seen the news about Alyssa and “Karl’s cousin” before.

He doesn’t know how many of Karl’s distant cousins are, but there is only one close cousin, and that is his own brother, Luther.

His mother is Karl’s aunt, his father’s surname is Cain, he takes his father’s surname, and his younger brother takes his mother’s surname.

But the younger brother is only fourteen years old and lives abroad with his mother.

“Very good.” Alyssa couldn’t understand why Gerald would ask.

She always felt that Gerald seemed to have known her before.

“That’s good.” Gerald said with a smile, without saying more.

Back in the dining room, as soon as Alyssa sat down, Tina raised her phone to her: “Alyssa, I just turned to Gerald Cain account he posted a Tweet, do you think this place is Best Day?”

Alyssa looked down and saw that the pictures in Gerald’s latest Twitter were clearly shot in Best Day.

But this is not enough, because she has just seen him.

Seeing Alyssa’s calm face, Tina patted her on the shoulder: “Aren’t you excited at all? You might still meet Gerald now when you go out and go around.”

“Actually,” Alyssa paused, afraid Tina would not believe it, and tried to make her tone serious: “I’ve met Gerald twice, and the last time I met him when I just went to the bathroom.”

After listening to her, Tina’s mouth had opened into an “O” shape.

Not far away, Gerald deliberately walked around the hall and took a look. He just happened to see where Alyssa was. The woman opposite her seemed to be the little star who had played with him last time.

When Karl and his party arrived at Best Day, he received a consumer text message on his mobile phone as soon as he entered the elevator.

Did Alyssa use her card?

Peter saw the content of his text message sharply, and saw the inconspicuous smile on his face. He suddenly felt horrified: “Crazy, people are so happy to spend your money.”

Karl raised his eyes to look at him, with a faint tone: “She is willing to spend my money, is Tina willing to spend yours?”

Peter felt an arrow in his chest, and his heart hurt.

Karl glanced at the four-digit consumption amount on it, and after a little thought, a smile appeared on his face.

Peter felt that Karl smiled maliciously.

Ding—

The elevator doors opened.

As soon as Karl looked up, he saw Alyssa standing outside the door.

Alyssa also saw him, and cried out in surprise: “You are also here?”

Are these people scheduled today? One by one all ran to Best Day.

When Peter saw Tina, his eyes lit up, and he squeezed directly. The tall man was honestly like a pug: “Tina!”

Tina glanced at him and kicked directly.

“what—”

Chapter 82

Alyssa had already seen Tina deal with Peter, so it was no surprise.

She looked at Clayton who was standing next to “Luther” and greeted him with a smile: “Mr. Cox.”

Clayton also nodded slightly as a response.

Karl noticed that what Alyssa said was “You are also here?” The word “also” in it meant that she had met other people before.

Alyssa has no friends, let alone friends who can come to Best Day.

Karl’s eyes flickered, walked up to Alyssa, and looked at her condescendingly: “Why don’t you tell me in advance if you and your friends were coming to Best Day for dinner?”

Alyssa looked inexplicable: “Why does it matter to you?”

Peter was kicked by Tina and didn’t get angry. He smiled and said, “Have you already eaten? You must not have enough to eat. Would you like to eat more with us? There are so many people!”

“No, we are already full.” Alyssa refused very simply.

Karl spoke to her irritably, “Let’s go together, we can go back together later.”

Alyssa was actually quite soft-hearted, and it was rare to hear him speak so irritably, so she hesitated.

Taking advantage of her hesitation, Karl had directly pulled her towards the box.

Alyssa was not hypocritical, anyway, she could take his car on the way back, but it would be too ugly to be dragged by him.

“You let go and I will go by myself.”

“Luther” turned his head and glanced at her, then let go of her without saying anything.

Alyssa turned to look at Tina, but Tina followed.

However, the look of watching the show in her eyes gave Alyssa a bad feeling.

The next moment, she felt her mobile phone vibrate.

She picked it up and found that Tina had sent her a message.

“Cousin is so domineering! He’s so handsome!”

“I think you can think about this cousin, whether he is in good shape and nice!”

Alyssa: “â€¦” It’s really embarrassing that Tina can see from the outside that “Luther” is in good shape.

She gave Tina back a [pointing face] expression.

Tina replied with an expression of [making things] unwilling to show weakness.

Alyssa smiled mysteriously at her, and replied a message to her: “Peter is also pretty good, he has a good figure, and has money. Think about it?”

Tina didn’t reply to her text, so he stared at her.

Finally got to the box.

The three came over for a meal, but because Alyssa and Tina were there, they didn’t go to the meal anymore. Instead, they opened their own boxes, simply had a meal and went back.

Alyssa and Tina had already eaten by then, so they ordered a fruit platter for digestion.

â€¦

Gerald also happened to finish the meal. When the assistant came in, he leaned in his ear and said, “I just saw Mr. Adams coming.”

“Mr. Adams” the assistant said was exactly Karl.

Gerald got up and walked out: “Then I have to go over and say hello.”

When he reached the door of the box, he pushed the door in, and saw Karl at a glance.

He was about to speak when he suddenly turned his eyes and saw Alyssa.

Karl also didn’t expect Gerald to be here. He first glanced at Alyssa without a trace. She was looking down at the phone with Tina.

Later, he turned his head to look at Gerald again, and said first: “Is the emperor Cain here?”

As soon as he uttered the words, “You are also here” that Alyssa said before flashed across his mind quickly, and his expression changed imperceptibly.

Hearing his words, Alyssa raised her head abruptly, just in time to see Gerald who was still standing at the door.

Gerald had already reacted at this time, and said with a smile: "I just heard that Mr. Grant is here, so I came over to say hello."

It is no secret that Gerald is a contracted actor under the banner of AdamPic, so this statement can be considered reasonable.

The atmosphere in the box suddenly fell into an awkward atmosphere: "Ah, yes, you are here too!"

"Well, there are friends waiting for me, so I'll go there first." Before leaving, Gerald glanced in the direction of Karl and Alyssa seemingly inadvertently.

Alyssa felt that Gerald was watching "Luther."

Karl felt that Gerald was watching Alyssa.

The two people turned their heads to look at each other with weird faces, and soon frowned and looked away.

"That person was Gerald just now!" Tina reacted slowly and slapped Alyssa: "Alyssa, that person was Gerald just now! Why didn't you go up and take a photo with him!"

Peter immediately answered the conversation, his eyes narrowed with a smile: "Alyssa, if you want to take a photo with Gerald, you can come to the company to find me."

As the saying goes, if you want to get a woman down, you can start with friends around her, and Alyssa is Tina's good friend.

When Karl heard the words, he glanced at Peter coldly, "Can't stop your mouth even after eating?"

Peter looked inexplicable, did he say something wrong?

Why does Karl seem angry? He was so happy when Alyssa spent his money just now!

He was trying to please Alyssa! Shouldn't Karl feel relieved?

The originally harmonious atmosphere became a little weird because of Gerald's sudden appearance.

Until she left Best Day, Alyssa still felt a little weird.

On the way back, Alyssa asked "Luther": "Do you also know Gerald?"

Otherwise, when Gerald is leaving, what does it mean to look at him?

Karl felt a little irritable, and only said coldly, "What's up with you?"

What temper? She asked him carefully, she didn't want to say it, so he had to stab her?

Under the same roof, she wanted to have a good relationship with him!

Until returning home, Alyssa didn't say a word to him.

As soon as she walked in, she asked her bodyguard, "Is your boss at home?"

The bodyguard prepared to say early in the morning: "Boss has fallen asleep."

"Oh." Alyssa nodded and went upstairs.

After thinking about it, she sent a text message to Karl: I went to dinner with Tina tonight, and just came back, good night.

Karl returned to the room with a cold face, and received a text message from Alyssa.

Still know to report the itinerary to him? It's getting more and more coaxing.

Even though he thought so in his heart, his expression of strain still involuntarily relaxed.

The long finger slid on the screen, and the word "um" was returned to Alyssa.

As soon as the message was sent, Gerald called.

Karl stared at the phone for two seconds before answering the call.

Gerald's voice was gentle, as usual: "Karl?"

In memory, Gerald has always been a good-tempered elder brother.

But Karl was not polite, and said, "Big Brother has seen Alyssa."

Chapter 83

Gerald was silent for a moment, and his tone was open and upright: "I saw her once by chance."

Karl's tone grew colder: "She is Alyssa."

"I know, she is your new wife, Alyssa." Gerald's voice suddenly became a little illusory.

Karl frowned, he stopped talking, and finally hung up without saying anything.

Early the next morning.

Alyssa got up and made breakfast, and when she saw "Luther" coming downstairs, she couldn't help but remember what happened yesterday.

She brought out the breakfast while sneaking at "Luther" with her eyes.

Karl lowered his eyes slightly to look at the phone, took a sip of water from the cup, and suddenly said, "What are you doing?"

Alyssa raised her eyebrows and looked at him provocatively: "Seeing that your complexion is a little bad, would you like me to braise some bullwhip for you?"

Hearing this, Karl paused, raised his head and smiled unclearly: "You are the only woman in this family. What do you stew for me to replenish the kidney?"

Alyssa glared at him, then turned and went into the kitchen.

She is rarely an opponent of "Luther" in terms of lip service.

The two finally broke up again.

As usual, Alyssa was sent to Hunt's for work by Smith.

In the car, Alyssa couldn't help but ask: "At this time, your boss, has always been so invisible?"

Smith remembered Karl who was running around every day, and said without conscience: "Yes."

"Have he ever seen a doctor?" After Alyssa finished speaking, she realized that what she said was easy to misunderstand, and then explained: "I mean, it is impossible for him to see people like this all his life."

The Karl who needed to lead a normal life, but at this moment called Smith.

"Excuse me, I'll answer the phone." After Smith finished speaking, he answered the phone.

Karl's voice was a little serious: "Look closely at Alyssa."

Karl's order was a bit inexplicable, but Smith didn't ask too much, and responded, "Yes."

When Alyssa came to the door of the company, she met Isabel.

Isabel glanced at the car that sent Alyssa over, a flash of jealousy flashed in her eyes.

If it was her who married into Hunt's house, she would be the one who uses that car to get to work every day.

Alyssa brushed her hair, walked to Isabel, who was only as tall as her in high heels, and said with a smile, "Mrs. Hunt, morning."

Isabel snorted coldly and ignored her.

When she arrived at the office, Alyssa continued to copy the rest of the information from yesterday, just like yesterday.

Isabel's approach clearly made it difficult for Alyssa. Everyone in the project department could see clearly, but no one dared to say anything.

However, this did not prevent them from discussing this matter in private and passing it to Colin's ears.

When the lunch break was approaching, Colin called Isabel to the office.

"Even if you don't want to see Alyssa, don't be so obvious! This will let others see and gossip!"

Isabel didn't seem to care at all: "I am the daughter of the chairman and the manager of the project department. Who dares to say anything?"

"You have to suppress Alyssa, and you have to suppress her like a bit." Colin hates iron for not making steel. He used to think Isabel was clever, but now she seems so stupid!

"Yes, I will take her out to talk about the project this afternoon." Isabel was too lazy to listen to Colin's tirades, turned around and walked out.

Alyssa basically lived in the copy room these past two days.

When someone came to print the documents, she greeted them with a smile. She was beautiful and good-tempered. She also had a relationship with the chairman. In this way, her colleagues had a better impression of her.

A kind colleague reminded her: "In fact, you don't need to copy everything, these documents are useless."

Alyssa showed a surprised expression, and she couldn't believe it: "Ah? This, these are useless?"

At this time, Isabel's secretary came to look for her: "Alyssa, the manager is looking for you."

"Then I'll go to the manager first." Alyssa stopped working with a smile and went to Isabel's office.

As soon as she entered, Isabel threw her a stack of materials: "This is the materials for the cooperation project that I am going to talk about today. You can take a look and go with me this afternoon."

Alyssa took a look, and made sure that she couldn't understand it at all, and there were quite a lot of professional words on it.

Interlaced like a mountain, if you don't understand, you don't understand.

She transferred to the project department by herself and she was unkind, and Isabel would definitely be unkind if she would take her out to talk about the project.

She has to check this company first.

After investigating for a while, no one was found.

Tina certainly didn't understand this kind of thing, Norris might understand, but she couldn't ask him.

After thinking about it, it seemed that she could only ask "Luther".

Don't know why, although "Luther" seems to be doing nothing all day, he is a member of the Adams' family after all, and he should understand this.

During the lunch break, Alyssa called "Luther".

She was still a little worried that no one would answer, but surprisingly, the phone was connected after a few rings.

Alyssa remembered that she had only attacked him this morning, and her tone was a little uncomfortable: "Luther, are you busy now?"

"Luther" cherish the words like gold: "Something?"

Alyssa said with some guilty conscience: "I want to invite you to lunch!"

"Luther" said casually: "Talk about the important points."

Does this man have clairvoyance?

Alyssa didn't squeeze anymore, and said as if to risk it, "I want to ask you for a favor!"

“Luther” also uncharacteristically did not ridicule her, and directly made a decision: “I will come to your office to pick you up.”

“Oh.” Alyssa responded subconsciously.

She didn’t think something was right until she hung up.

She asked “Luther” for help, shouldn’t she go to him?

He actually wanted to drive to pick her up!

“Luther” came very quickly, Alyssa did not wait for him at the door, but went to wait for him at a nearby intersection with few people.

When Karl found her, his face was ugly: “Get in the car!”

In her heart, he is so shameless?

Alyssa also guessed why his face was unsightly, and apologized in a small voice: “I’m sorry, many people at my office have seen you before, and I’m afraid of being photographed again and people guessing about our relationship.”

Karl didn’t say anything, just smiled coldly.

This feeling of hiding is very uncomfortable. If he knew that, the night she was drunk, he should have handled her directly!

Alyssa was shocked by the expression of “Luther” as if he was about to swallow her alive, and she shut her mouth very practically and stopped talking.

“Luther” drove her to a restaurant with a small crowd.

The two sat down to order a meal, “Luther”’s eyes fell on the file bag she was holding, and his voice was low: “Take it out.”

Alyssa looked at him in astonishment, and slowly took out the file: “How do you know this is what I’m asking for your help?”

“Luther” glanced at her like a fool.

small theater:

Alyssa: Cousin is so good.

Karl (sneer): The best time is when I am in bed.

Chapter 84

“Luther” took the file in her hand and said lightly: “What major do you study do you not know?”

“â€¦”

Alyssa remembered that when she married into Admas house, they had already checked her up and down, naturally they knew what major she had studied and had no idea about business.

“Luther” scanned the document roughly, then set it aside with a slight frown.

Alyssa asked him suspiciously: “What’s the matter?”

“Luther” took a look at her and said, “There is nothing worth looking at this file. This project is not in agreement with the business.”

At exactly this time, the food was served, and Karl directly picked up the chopsticks and started eating.

Alyssa dubiously picked up the document and looked at it again. She really couldn’t see anything famous.

However, since she asked “Luther” for help, she should trust him and stop asking more questions.

â€¦

In the afternoon, Isabel took a group of people to discuss the project.

The company that went to talk about the project was called TenCents, and it was considered a medium-sized company in Rostenvel. It had better prospects than Hunt’s.

The group went to the meeting room, and after a while, the person in charge of the project came.

The project leader is a middle-aged woman, nearly forty years old, with meticulously combed hair, she looks like a very powerful woman.

Isabel stood up and greeted her with a very arrogant attitude: “Manager Keith, we meet again.”

Manager Keith glanced at her and sat down directly, as if not hearing the arrogance in Isabel’s tone, in an official tone: “Last time, I made it very clear that Hunt’s wants to cooperate with us in the projects, you must show sincerity.”

Isabel smiled and turned to look at Alyssa: “This is also Chairman Hunt’s daughter. Chairman Hunt, this time he sent us two sisters to discuss the project. Isn’t that sincere enough?”

Manager Keith glanced at Alyssa, her complexion worsened. She hated this kind of useless relationship households the most in her life. She didn’t look down on Isabel at first, but now she adds another Alyssa to her.

“Sorry, I’ll have a meeting at three o’clock later, and I’m leaving.” Manager Keith stood up and walked out the door.

Alyssa finally understood why “Luther” said that this project could not be discussed well.

At first glance, Manager Keith was a strong woman. It was obvious that she looked down on Isabel, and Isabel even thought of herself as a scallion, and wanted to pull her up and hated Manager Keith.

Isabel said to Manager Keith’s back: “Although my sister is just a rookie, she is also working hard. Manager Keith, would you consider it again?”

Manager Keith’s pace is faster.

Alyssa frowned and vaguely understood what Isabel’s purpose was for bringing her here today.

Manager Keith should be an old employee in the company at his age. Experienced has a certain deterrent effect, but the Hunt's sent Isabel who doesn't understand anything, so forget it, and now add another girl!

This is an insult to Manager Keith, and it is also a lack of attention to the project.

When Manager Keith went out, Isabel turned her head coldly and reprimanded Alyssa: "Dad takes this project very seriously. You messed it up now, let's see how you go back and confess to him!"

Alyssa: "???"

From the time Manager Keith entered and left, she didn't say a word clearly. The pot of messing up the project fell on her and made her carry it?

Alyssa turned to look at the other two people who were accompanying them. After feeling Alyssa's gaze, the two people just turned to look away, obviously they were with Isabel.

"What are you doing in a daze, still expecting Manager Keith to come back?" Isabel raised her chin, gave Alyssa a contempt, and went out first.

Alyssa followed behind and walked out slowly.

She feels that Isabel is simply a fool, and would rather mess up a project that is very important to the Hunt's family, and step her on her feet.

Isabel is really spoiled. She can enjoy the life of Miss Chill with peace of mind. It's not because of the Hunt family, but she treats the company's projects as a trifle.

If this continues, the Hunt family business will be finished sooner or later.

Upon returning to office, Isabel asked Alyssa to go to Colin's office together.

When Colin came back after the meeting, seeing that they were both there, he asked aloud: "How did you talk about the project today?"

Isabel bit her lip, her eyes reddened: "Dad, I'm sorry, I shouldn't indulge Alyssa to let her follow TenCents's project!"

Before she could finish her words, she was interrupted by Colin angrily: "TenCents? Who told you to talk about TenCents's cooperation project?"

His own daughter, he knows how many catties she is. He attaches great importance to TenCents's project, and knows that Isabel is not good at talking, so he plans to start a long-term discussion and find a suitable person to deal with the discussions.

"It was Alyssa who said that she wanted to prove herself and talk about big projects. I relented for a while and agreed to take her to talks!"

Isabel's words are actually full of loopholes, but Colin loves her, even if she knows that Isabel is lying, he will only spread his anger on Alyssa.

“Alyssa! I agree that you should be transferred to the project department for you to study, not for you to pull Isabel’s hind legs and mess up the company’s project!”

Colin had a sullen face, as if he couldn’t wait to come up and slap Alyssa.

Alyssa looked at the drama father and daughter coldly and sneered: “Isabel still needs me to drag her hind legs? She herself can do nothing like a broken leg! Ask yourself. After joining the office, how many projects have been negotiated for you by her, and how many projects have she messed up?”

“Alyssa, what nonsense are you talking about! There are countless projects negotiated every year in the company, and these are all taken down by my hard work and the team I lead!”

Isabel shook her head, with a sad look on her face: “You are all about the company, but you want to express yourself for your own desires. You messed up such a big project. Now you still blame me, are you honest!”

It’s the same.

“Is it for the company? You know in your heart.” The smile in Alyssa’s eyes didn’t reach the bottom of her eyes.

Isabel was involuntarily guilty of being watched by her.

“Of course I am dedicated to the company!” Isabel raised her voice to hide her guilty conscience.

Colin saw that the two of them were arguing very hard, and yelled: “Okay! You two will come back to me!”

Isabel still refused to leave. The purpose of her doing this today was to drive Alyssa out of the project department.

“Dad, Alyssa is really not suitable for the project department! Transfer her back to the marketing department!”

What Alyssa said before has actually been in the heart of Colin. Since the project department was taken over by Isabel, the performance has indeed been worsening year by year.

He was annoyed: “Get out!”

“Dad!” Isabel called to him, and she had no choice but to turn around and leave.

Chapter 85

Alyssa took the lead to go out, standing at the door waiting for Isabel.

Isabel didn’t look good when she saw her: “See how long you can be proud of, and wait for Dad to drive you out of the office!”

“Oh? Drive me out?” Alyssa smiled softly: “You don’t want Karl to bet funds for the business?”

Isabel snorted coldly, “Do you really think that Karl has any money in his hands?”

“Keep your mouth clean.” Alyssa gave her a cold glance.

“You are not clean, so you are ashamed to say to others?” Isabel raised her chin and smiled triumphantly. When she suddenly thought of something, she smiled slightly on her face and turned back to Colin’s office.

Alyssa glanced at the closed office door, turned and left.

Inside Colin’s office.

Isabel sat opposite him with a serious face: “Dad, there is something I forgot to tell you. Alyssa has a black card that has the global limited edition!”

“How do you know?” Colin asked in shock, “How long did she go to Adams’ house before Karl would give her a black card?”

“The last time I went to Best Day for dinner with Norris, I watched her pay the bill with that black card!” Isabel looked excited: “I heard that Adams’ black card is unlimited?”

Colin is not very clear about whether Adams’ global limited black card is unlimited.

As a top giant, even if it is not unlimited, there must be astronomical figures.

Seeing that Colin had listened to her words, Isabel continued: “If we can get the black card in Alyssa’s hand, we don’t have to worry about funds!”

Colin is also a little tempted, but he is a veteran of the business world, he is not as impulsive as a young man, and he is much more cautious.

He thought for a while and said, “But, anyway, the black card was also given to Alyssa by Karl. Will she use it for us?”

Seeing Colin’s heart moved, Isabel’s eyes flashed with success: “Dad, you are Alyssa’s biological father. You gave birth to her and raised her, loved her, if you just used her black card. What’s the big deal, even if she misunderstands you and doesn’t want to give you the card, at least there is mother’s love!”

Hearing this, Colin was silent for a moment before nodding.

Alyssa returned home from work, and “Luther” returned before the meal was ready.

The heating was turned on in the villa, and he took off his jacket as soon as he entered the door, leaving only a thin dark shirt and suit pants, very tall and straight.

He went to the kitchen to find Alyssa for a sound.

He leaned against the door frame, his voice was low and quiet, “How was the project talk?”

Alyssa happened to be cutting vegetables, and said nonchalantly, “Broken up.”

He said with a faint smile: “The first project was messed up.”

The emotion in the tone was not so obvious, it was difficult to tell if he was laughing at her.

Alyssa looked back at him: “It was Isabel who messed up, but not me.”

Although Isabel had already smashed the big pot of messing up the project on her, she would not admit it.

After she finished speaking, she turned her back and went to chop vegetables.

Karl lowered his head and laughed silently.

The next day is Saturday.

Alyssa got up early to make breakfast as usual, and "Luther" even got up quite early.

When Alyssa saw him, she said, "Did your cousin get up? You bring him breakfast."

"Misconduct." Karl refused without even thinking about it.

Other people here, what else to serve breakfast.

Alyssa glared at him and called a bodyguard to bring breakfast to Karl.

She went out after eating.

She usually doesn't go out much on weekends. Karl was a little curious about where she would go, so he called Smith to drive to follow.

As a result, Alyssa went to a psychotherapy clinic.

Across the road, Karl sat in the car, looking at the door of the psychotherapy through the window:

"What is she going there for?"

Smith thought of what Alyssa said in the car yesterday, and said carefully: "The young lady may be there because of the Sir."

because of him?

After thinking about it, Karl understood what was going on.

This woman thought he had a mental disorder, so she went to the psychology clinic?

Alyssa hasn't seen "Karl" after coming to Adams's house for so long, so she's afraid that Karl has a mental disorder if he changes to another person.

This woman really spent some thoughts on "Karl".

Smith looked at his boss's constantly changing face, and tentatively said: "When does the Sir plan to let the young lady know your identity?"

When?

Karl stopped asking this question.

At this moment, a familiar figure appeared at the door of the psychological clinic.

Smith realized that the man was Gerald, and said aloud, "Sir, is that the boss of the big watch!"

Karl looked in the direction Smith was pointing, and at a glance he recognized that the heavily armed man was Gerald.

He was too familiar with Gerald, and he could recognize it easily.

Smith didn't wait for Karl's answer, but when he was puzzled, he heard the sound of the car door being opened.

Karl had already got off the car and walked towards the door of the psychology clinic, and hurriedly followed by Smith.

â€¦

Psychological treatment room.

After listening to Alyssa's description, the doctor said with a serious face: "This type of symptom is also a type of post-traumatic sequelae. This should be related to his previous experience. In this case, we must rely on the guidance of people close to him. "

Alyssa repeated subconsciously: "Previous experience?"

The doctor explained to her one step closer: "It's just that something that irritated him more mentally, usually related to his childhood and teenage experiences, because people's minds are not fully mature and relatively fragile in these two periods. There are sequelae."

The doctor was simple and straightforward and easy to understand.

This is similar to what Alyssa thought.

She did not fully tell the psychologist of Karl's condition, but said that the newlywed husband did not like to see people and lived very away from the world.

Karl's situation is an open secret in Rostenvel. If she clarified Karl's situation too clearly, the doctor might guess that it was Karl.

"Okay, thank you doctor."

Alyssa thanked the doctor and got up and walked out.

After coming out without walking a few steps, she saw two men approaching.

Two men walked over here one after the other. The man walking in front was heavily armed, but his figure was a bit familiar.

As he gradually approached, the man took off his glasses, and both the smile on his face and the voice he made were just right and gentle.

"Alyssa, meet again."

"Gerald?"

Alyssa looked at the man in front of her in astonishment.

Sheâ€¦ and occasionally met King Cain again! ! !

Gerald glanced over her expression, and said with a smile: "How come you are so surprised to see me?"

Alyssa nodded: "In just one month, I have met you three times. I think I can buy a lottery ticket."

Chapter 86

Alyssa didn't know what was funny about what she said, anyway, Gerald burst out laughing.

Gerald, a big entertainer, can't miss the paparazzi wherever he goes. Alyssa doesn't really want to meet him by chance for fear of being photographed.

However, Gerald has a good memory, and he took the initiative to greet her the next two times.

In case she was photographed by paparazzi, she would definitely be in the headlines again.

She even figured out the headline name.

For example, something.

It's scary to think about it.

Therefore, Alyssa stopped talking to Gerald, and smiled politely: "I have something to do, I will leave."

"Goodbye." Gerald's eyes flashed, and his attitude remained gentle.

This made Alyssa a little uncomfortable and left in a hurry.

Gerald turned around and watched Alyssa disappear before walking forward again.

The assistant behind him suddenly said: "Boss, does this woman have anything to do with Mr. Adams? I seemed to see her with Mr. Adams in Best Day that day."

"Really? I don't know." Gerald walked ahead with his head hanging down, the smile on his face narrowed, and he kept secret.

Gerald came here today, mainly to prepare for the next movie.

The new movie he has received is a suspenseful drama. He is acting as a psychologist in it, so today he came to the psychology clinic to experience it.

The two of them walked in, and Karl and Smith appeared in the corridor.

Karl looked at the place where Gerald and Alyssa were talking before.

Smith glanced at Karl, and stopped talking, but in the end he didn't speak.

Gerald's time is very tight, so he came out after staying with the psychologist for a long.

As soon as he came out, he saw Karl standing in the corridor.

He was surprised: "Karl? Why are you here?"

After finishing speaking, he showed a suddenly realized look: "You and Alyssa came together."

Karl didn't speak, raised his hand and signaled Smith to leave.

When Smith turned and left, Gerald's assistant also left with interest.

Only two of them were left in the empty corridor.

Karl's complexion was a little cold, but it was still somewhat different from the indifference towards those strangers.

He fixedly stared at Gerald: "Brother, I told you before that she is Alyssa."

"I know she is Alyssa, and her name is pretty good." Gerald's smile was just like normal, very gentle.

Karl was silent for a moment, as if he had made a certain determination, but his plain tone sounded cruel: "Alyssa looks very similar to Lisa, but she is not Lisa."

The gentle expression on Gerald's face finally fell apart. He opened his eyes and shouted loudly, "Shut up!"

Karl really fell silent and stopped talking.

After a while, Gerald calmed down, and the expression on his face returned to his usual gentleness.

"Karl, I really just met Alyssa by chance." After he finished speaking, he looked at Karl carefully: "You are quite nervous about her."

Karl squinted his eyes slightly and said in a low tone, "She is my wife."

"Why use my brother's name to lie to Alyssa?" Gerald's tone sounded like a casual question, but soon, he laughed again: "If he finds out, he will definitely ask you for a name to borrow fee?"

Karl took a deep look at him, his tone lowered a bit: "Brother, Lisa has been away for a long time, you should start to come out."

After finishing talking, he left without looking at Gerald's sudden change.

â€¦

Alyssa came out of the psychotherapy room, thinking about Karl in her heart, and walked a bit slowly.

Beep—

The car whistle sounded behind her.

Why are people so domineering now? She has already walked to the side of the road and honked her horn to make her way.

She turned her head without a good face, and the black car stopped right behind her. In the lower half of the car window, there was the handsome face of "Luther".

"Luther" turned his head to look at her with a lazy expression: "Get in the car."

Why is he here?

Although she was puzzled, her actions were not at all ambiguous, and she pulled the door and got into the car.

Before she could speak, Karl said directly: "Don't ask me the unnutritious question of 'Why am I here?'"

Alyssa was blocked and went back without saying anything.

Just forget it without talking.

Karl turned his head and glanced at her, seeing her look contemplative, smiling imperceptibly, but there was no smile in her voice: "What are you doing here?"

Alyssa turned her head and smiled solemnly: "I don't want to answer this kind of nutritious question."

When Smith was driving ahead, listening to the conversation between the two people, he couldn't help but laughed out loud.

But soon, after seeing Karl coldly glanced at him in the rearview mirror, he closed his mouth.

Alyssa just got in the car and didn't notice that Smith was driving: "Smith, your boss didn't go out today?"

Smith silently glanced at Karl who was sitting back, and shook his head: "No."

Alyssa nodded, already wondering what to do for Karl after returning home at noon.

After thinking about it, she reached out and poked "Luther".

"What are you doing?" Karl turned his head to look at her blankly.

It's really scary to be looked at by "Luther" suddenly.

Alyssa moved back: "You tell me honestly, what exactly does your brother like to eat?"

Alyssa wore a white down jacket today, her hair tied with a ponytail, her face without makeup was still fair and delicate, and she looked simple and innocent, like a little girl in the world.

She looked at him with beautiful and bright cat eyes, waiting for him to answer.

Karl stretched out his hand to loosen his tie, and his voice sounded a little more hoarse than before: "Why do you care about him so much?"

"I'm his wife, I don't care about him, do I care about you?" Alyssa couldn't help but glared at him when she remembered what "Luther" had done to her before.

"Luther" was uncharacteristically uncharacteristic and didn't care, and continued: "With my cousin's physical condition, you can't live like a normal husband and wife. He might not even be able to inherit the Adams' family? You haven't even seen him. What's the purpose of following him desperately?"

Alyssa did not hear the sarcasm in the tone of "Luther", his tone was more curious.

Alyssa pursed her lips, rarely willing to explain to him calmly.

"What is the picture?" Alyssa thought for a while, and said seriously: "It may be because of responsibility. Although I was forced to marry your cousin by my mother, if I resisted with death that day, she would definitely take it too. I have no choice. Since I am married to your cousin, I have to take on the responsibility of being a wife, andâ€¦!"

Alyssa paused, and almost sighed: "In the past few years, people in the Rostenvel have used Karl's affairs as post-dinner talks, but he doesn't want to be like this. He is just a victim. That's it, he is more innocent than anyone else."

Chapter 87

When Alyssa's voice fell, the carriage fell into a strange silence.

She looked at Smith when he was driving in front, then turned to look at "Luther". Seeing that he didn't know what he was thinking, she reached out and patted him: "You haven't said what your cousin likes to eat? Yeah!"

Karl returned to his senses, took a deep look at her, and after a few seconds, he said, "He is not picky about eating, he eats everything."

He was telling the truth, Alyssa's cooking skills are very good, he has eaten her cooked food for so long, and every dish feels good.

Alyssa felt as if he had said nothing.

After that, "Luther" remained silent and did not speak again.

I don't know what I'm thinking.

The first thing Alyssa did when he got home was to find Karl.

She ran to the door of the study and knocked, but no one opened the door for a while.

When she went downstairs, she met "Luther" and asked him curiously, "Didn't you say that Karl is at home? I just knocked on the study door, and no one answered."

Karl turned his head slightly to look away, avoiding Alyssa's gaze: "Maybe he went back to the room to rest. Cousin is not in good health and gets tired easily."

After telling a lie, you need to use countless lies to round it up.

He lied to Alyssa before because, he thought it was funny and teased her.

Openly and secretly, he has heard her defending the person "Karl".

Karl was born in a large family of a century-old family. He had heard many things, and he could tell whether Alyssa said those words were true or false.

Just because Alyssa was telling the truth, his mood was so complicated that he couldn't even figure it out.

"Oh." Alyssa nodded and went downstairs.

Watching her enter the kitchen, Karl called Peter a little irritably, "Come out for a drink!"

"Actually Iâ€¦" Peter began to refuse, but Karl hung up the phone before he could say anything.

â€¦

Best Day Senior Club.

Peter reluctantly shook the wine glass and approached Karl: "Tell me, what is it that bothers you to ask me to drink in broad daylight?"

Karl did not speak, but silently poured himself a sip of wine.

Seeing him like this, Peter realized that the matter might be a bit serious, and no longer hippy smiles, and said sternly: "You always have to say what's the matter, right?"

Karl finally turned his head and looked at him directly.

However, he looked at Peter for a few seconds, then looked away, and said faintly: "You don't understand even after I say it."

"â€¦" Then why are you looking for me to drink?

â€¦

When Alyssa made the meal, the bodyguard told her that Karl and "Luther" were out together.

She had to eat alone.

As soon as she picked up the chopsticks, her mobile phone rang.

She took it out and found that Rachel was calling.

She stretched out a finger, tapped it on the screen, and finally swiped to the green connect button.

Alyssa turned on the speakerphone, and said in a low tone, "Hello?"

There was a harsh noise on the other end of the phone, and then the woman's sharp cry for help: "Alyssa, help meâ€¦!"

Alyssa checked the phone number again and confirmed that it was Rachel.

Rachel on the other end screamed, crying: "Alyssa, I used to be wrong. Anyway, I am your mother. You must save meâ€¦!"

Before Alyssa could speak, the phone was taken away. This time it was a man who answered the phone.

"Are you the daughter of this woman? Listen carefully, and get ready to give us 50 million, otherwiseâ€¦!" The man's voice suddenly became sulky: "We'll tear up the ticket!"

Alyssa was surprised at first, and then said indifferently: "I don't have money. If you want money, go to Colin!"

Rachel was kidnapped?

Fifty million is not a small number!

If the kidnapper had been eyeing Rachel early in the morning, he should have called Colin right now. How could he call her?

“Huh, you are the Adams’ daughter-in-law, you will have no money? It’s a joke! I will give you two hours to prepare the money, and I will contact you again in two hours. You are not allowed to call the police, or I will!”

The man hangs up after speaking.

Before he hung up, Alyssa heard Rachel’s screams on the other end of the phone.

Alyssa’s hand holding the phone tightened suddenly, and her complexion changed slightly.

No matter how much Rachel was her biological mother, she couldn’t just watch Rachel accidentally.

Alyssa took out her mobile phone to call Colin, and walked out.

No one answered the phone.

Anxious, Alyssa ran down the mountain and took a taxi to Hunt’s house.

After Alyssa returned to her original condition, she never returned to Hunt’s house, so when she stood at the door of Hunt’s house, she was directly stopped by the servant who guarded the door.

The servant asked her: “Who are you looking for lady?”

Alyssa gave her a cold look: “I am Alyssa.”

“Miss Alyssa?” The servant looked incredulous, but upon closer inspection, it was indeed possible to see that the woman in front of him looked a little like the wife.

The servant dared not stop her again.

Alyssa asked her as she went inside, “Where are my dad and Isabel?”

“Mr. Hunt and Miss Isabel are eating.” After the servant finished speaking, he asked one more sentence: “Miss third, have you eaten?”

When Alyssa heard these words, there was no need to care about him, and the anger in her heart was burning.

Even if someone loses a dog, they will look for it. What’s more, Rachel has been kidnapped now!

Alyssa was familiar with Adams’ family and went straight to the restaurant.

“Dad, this shrimp is good today, you can try it.”

“It tastes better than usual!”

When she entered, Isabel and Colin were eating their meals happily.

Isabel was the first to see Alyssa and looked at her with a surprise: “Usually mother invites you to come home for dinner and never you accept it. Today, if your mother is not at home, you came back by yourself?”

Alyssa strode over, and reached out to pick up the bowl in front of Isabel and smash it on the ground: “Mother is kidnapped, you still have the mood to eat!”

Isabel's eyes widened, and the astonishment on her face was even worse: "What, mom is kidnapped?"

"The kidnapper didn't call you?" Alyssa squinted at Isabel.

"Mom said before that she asked a friend to do beauty care together, so we don't have to wait for her to eat, how could we be kidnapped." Isabel also made a distrustful expression.

"Someone called me and said he kidnapped my mother and asked me to prepare 50 million in two hours, otherwise he would tear up the ticket!" Alyssa's tone was tense.

After listening to her, Isabel's first reaction was not to worry about Rachel. Instead, she frowned and said, "50 million? So much! The company is short of funds recently, so where can I get so much money all at once!"

Alyssa said coldly: "If you can't get it out, just think of a way! My mother has been a cow and horse at this house for so many years, isn't she worth raising 50 million?"

Chapter 88

Alyssa's words were a bit ugly.

But that's what she thought in her heart. Although Rachel seemed to be living the life of a rich wife in the Hunt family, she was relatively easy to support compared to other rich wives.

Most of the time, Rachel was eating and wearing for Colin and the three of them.

Although 50 million is not a small amount, Colin can definitely get it.

However, Colin was not necessarily willing to take it.

Isabel was obviously angry, but she squeezed her anger abruptly and said, "If we have money, of course, we are willing to take 50 million? But now the problem is that we have no money!"

"Raise money if you don't have money." Alyssa was too lazy to fight with Isabel anymore, turned to look at Colin, and called him: "Dad!"

Colin frowned tightly: "If this matter is true, I will collect 50 million ransoms anyway, but there are only two hours. Where can I raise this money!"

Alyssa was a little surprised, but she didn't expect Colin to be willing to raise money.

"As much as you raise," Alyssa finished speaking, looking down her mobile phone address book.

She just remembered that apart from Tina, she had few friends.

Colin had already taken out his mobile phone and started calling.

Alyssa walked aside and called Tina.

Tina quickly answered the phone: "What's the matter? Have you eaten?"

Alyssa pursed her lips: "Tina, I want to borrow money from you."

“Yes, how much?” Tina has always been generous to her, as long as she speaks, Tina will definitely lend her.

After all, the matter is very important, Alyssa can only bite the bullet and say: “How many do you need?”

“There is about three or four million, right? I don’t know very well, I have to see.” Tina said, she went to check her deposit on the mobile phone.

Halfway through, she suddenly realized something was wrong and asked her aloud, “Why do you want so much money? What happened?”

“My mother is kidnapped and needs a ransom of 50 million.”

“Then you call the police!”

“You have to redeem the people first.” Alyssa was still worried that something would happen to Rachel for fear that the kidnappers would take her life.

Actually, Tina wanted to say that she just let her heartless mother die.

But she knows Alyssa too well. If Alyssa doesn’t know about this matter, it’s fine if Alyssa knows now, she will definitely take care of it.

“Well, I will send you the money.”

“Thank you.”

After Alyssa warmed up, Isabel and Colin had been paying attention to the movement on her side.

When she heard Alyssa say “Redeem her back first”, Isabel’s face showed a triumphant smile.

She walked to the side of Colin and whispered, “I knew Alyssa would definitely not ignore her.”

Colin nodded, and the two smiled tacitly.

Seeing that two hours are almost there, a few talents have raised less than 6 million, which is far from 50 million.

Alyssa walked back and forth in a hurry.

Suddenly, Isabel called her: “Alyssa, I remember you have a black card from Adams’ family in your hand!”

Alyssa looked back at her fiercely.

Isabel continued: “Now it’s a matter of life and death. Whether Mom can be saved or not is up to you. We have done our best.”

Alyssa was too anxious just now, she had forgotten that she still had a black card on her body!

“I’ll go back and get it right away!” Alyssa couldn’t take care of that much anymore. The top priority was to redeem Rachel back.

Colin spoke out at this time: "We will take you back together to get it, and then go to the trading place."

The two-hour deadline was approaching. In order to buy time, Alyssa accepted Colin's proposal.

The group soon returned to Karl's villa.

Karl and "Luther" hadn't come back yet, Alyssa came out after taking the black card.

As she walked, she took out her mobile phone and called the police.

Before she received a phone call from the kidnappers, she was so nervous that she had forgotten the matter of reporting to the police.

Seeing her on the phone, Isabel asked nervously, "Who are you calling? Or did the kidnappers call you?"

"Report to the police and prepare for the case." These fifty million can't be taken away by the kidnappers.

Rachel wants to be rescued, and the money cannot be made cheap by the kidnappers.

When Isabel heard that she was going to call the police, she was stunned for a while, and then she said, "Don't call the police first. Redeem mother first. She must have seen the kidnapper, and it will be as easy to catch for the police when the time comes."

"No, I have to call the police first."

Seeing Alyssa's resolute attitude, Isabel was heartbroken, and she grabbed her mobile phone and hung up, and she accused: "What are you doing in such a hurry to call the police? Do you want to kill your own mother? The kidnappers know, they tear up the ticket? I admit that she is better to me than to you? But you don't have to hurt her like this! Anyway, she is the mother who gave birth to you and raised you!"

Isabel spoke proudly, and she almost believed it herself.

"Shut up!" Although what Isabel said was true, she could still hear Alyssa's ears piercing.

She didn't care what she said, but that was her biological mother after all.

The kidnapper's phone call came again.

The kidnapper said an address, and then said: "You are only allowed to come here by yourself. Once we find a policeman or other people coming with you, we will take her life!"

The mobile phone turned on the hands-free, and Colin and Isabel also heard the kidnappers.

There was a strange feeling in Alyssa's heart.

She felt that the kidnappers seemed to be directed at her from beginning to end, without even mentioning Colin.

Is it just because she is the Adams' daughter-in-law that they thought she was rich, so they kidnapped Rachel?

Although this argument can be justified, but the behavior of the joint kidnapers always feels a bit far-fetched.

Isabel was the first to ask her: "Why do you only need to go alone?"

"It's not safe." Colin said: "You drive Isabel's car and go ahead, and we will follow you."

Colin and Isabel showed enthusiasm and integrity that they had never had before in saving Rachel.

Although Alyssa felt surprised, she didn't doubt too much. After all, Rachel had lived with them for more than 20 years.

After Colin finished speaking, he asked Alyssa: "Can you drive?"

Alyssa curled her lips and smiled mockingly: "Yes."

During the four years of university, she supported herself, and also took some small jobs to write scripts. Sometimes she earns more, sometimes she earns less. Excluding tuition and living expenses, she saves the money for learning a driver's license.

â€

The address given to her by the kidnapper was an abandoned garage in the suburbs, and the name was desolate.

After locating it, she edited a text message and sent the address of the abandoned garage to Tina and asked Tina to call the police for her.

She is going to rush over now, it is very likely that the kidnapers will be watching on the road, so she can only ask Tina to help her call the police.

After the text message was successfully sent, Alyssa deleted it.

Chapter 89

While driving, Alyssa noticed whether Colin's car had followed behind him.

When approaching the abandoned garage, there was a sharp turn.

After Alyssa turned the corner, she never saw Colin's car again.

She stopped the car at the door of the abandoned garage.

The rusty rolling shutter door of the garage was pulled open from inside, and a tall man walked out. He was wearing a mask and looked at Alyssa with gloomy eyes.

"Are you Alyssa?"

"Yes." Alyssa nodded.

"Did you bring the money?"

Alyssa said calmly: "I want to see my mother first!"

The man looked around and made sure she was the only one. He turned around and walked inside: "You come in with me."

Alyssa followed him in.

The old abandoned warehouse was in tatters, and a thick layer of dust accumulated on the ground. The inside was empty and messy, and there were many sundries.

Alyssa followed him, and saw Rachel tied to a chair from a distance.

The hair that Rachel usually takes care of has become a mess, her face is pale, showing a bit old.

Even though God-given beauty, it is still lost to the years.

Seeing Alyssa, Rachel's eyes burst into surprise, and her voice was a little hoarse: "Alyssa, you are finally here!"

"Are you okay?" Alyssa walked two steps closer, looking at her without expression.

Rachel smiled and shook her head: "I'll be fine when you come. Give them the money quickly, they just want money!"

At this time, the man who brought her in before stretched out his hand and stood in front of her: "Okay, where's the money?"

"The time you gave is too short, I can't find that much cash." Alyssa said calmly, "Since you know that I am the youngest of the Adams' family, you naturally know that I have a black card issued globally. Can I give you the card?"

When the man heard her, his expression changed: "Are you kidding me? Do you think I'm a fool? If I take this black card away, you will let people freeze the card and call the police to catch us!"

Alyssa's complexion changed slightly, she really thought so!

The little attendant behind the man suddenly stepped forward and said something to him.

The man wearing the mask raised his hand to reach her: "I can let this old woman go, but you have to go with me to get the money."

"Yes." Alyssa nodded without even looking at Rachel.

After they released Rachel, Rachel glanced at Alyssa, and Rachel's eyes panicked and dropped a sentence: "Alyssa, be careful."

Then she ran out quickly.

Alyssa curled her lips mockingly and said nothing.

She took out the black card to the man, and the man reached for it.

Suddenly, his hand reached halfway, suddenly raised his hand to the back of her head, and struck her in the neck.

Alyssa had no time to say anything, her eyes turned black, and at the moment she passed out, she recalled everything that happened today in her mind.

Then she suddenly realized that something was wrong, but it was too late.

When Alyssa woke up, she found that it had changed a place and was no longer the former abandoned garage.

Her mind is not so clear yet, she can vaguely hear someone talking.

“The one who hired us is also named Adams?”

“Just this woman’s family!”

“What kind of hatred or resentment is this! if we treat this woman! will anyone in the Adams’ family trouble us?”

“You have forgotten that Madam Adams was kidnapped more than ten years ago! In the end, it was not a quiet person. This kind of wealthy family wants face!”

Alyssa was full of violent spirits, and the whole body was like an ice cellar, and the cold suddenly burst into the limbs.

When she went to Hunt’s house, she fell Isabel’s bowl, and Isabel did not get angry.

Isabel refused to let her call the police.

Alyssa was really too anxious at the time. After all, it was a matter of life. Although she had no expectations of Rachel in her heart, she couldn’t just watch Rachel die.

After all, she was too tender and could not beat the father and daughter Colin and Isabel.

“Big brother, she is awake!”

The person over there has found that Alyssa is awake.

Alyssa’s face was cold and frosty, so calm as not to be controlled by others: “I heard what you just said, the people who hired you are Colin and Isabel?”

One of the men snorted impatiently, “Why are you asking so much when you are going to die!”

“I just want to die to understand.” Alyssa said while carefully paying attention to the surrounding situation.

It was found that she was in the living room of a house with a sofa and a dining table. She was tied to a chair and tied very tightly, and she was a little sore.

“What if I tell you? It’s just for them to hire us. Don’t blame us if you die, you can only blame yourself for bad luck.” The man saw that Alyssa was beautiful, and he was happy to say a few more words to her.

Alyssa felt that her luck was indeed bad.

She too underestimated Isabel's methods.

What role did Rachel play in this kidnapping?

Did she know Isabel's plan early in the morning, but she was willing to help Isabel deceive her black card, regardless of her life or death.

Another man walked up and stared at Alyssa wryly: "Don't talk nonsense with her, finish the business early and leave Rostenvel soon! Who of us will come first!"

"Brother, come on!"

Alyssa's pupils shrank sharply, and her heart sank sharply. Out of instinct, she tried to break free twice, but she was tied too tightly and couldn't move at all.

Last time at the ZVR Club, Isabel wanted to harm her, but she got lucky and escaped. This time, is she really unable to escape?

She is not reconciled!

Alyssa forced herself to calm down and raised her head slightly to make herself look confident. "Do you really think the Adams' family is so annoying? Does the person who participated in the kidnapping of Mrs. Adams's life still survive? It's very important, but can they tolerate others stepping on their heads?"

The "Mrs. Adams" they just mentioned should be Karl's mother.

Seeing that the expressions of the two men were a little shaken, Alyssa continued: "Even if Isabel gave you a lot of money, you may not be able to spend it alive. If you let me go now and leave Rostenvel, Family will naturally not trouble you."

"Huh, this girl is threatening us!"

"I don't plan to live long in this life. Even if the Adams' family doesn't trouble me, the police won't let me go!"

While the man was talking, he stretched out his hand to pull on Alyssa's clothes.

Alyssa paled suddenly.

Don't be afraid, there must be another way!

Alyssa's down jacket was zippered, and the kidnapper pulled her down jacket away at once, reaching out to poke in through the hem of her sweater.

Chapter 90

Out of the instinct to survive, Alyssa struggled violently, and even fell to the ground with a chair.

"grass!"

The kidnapper scolded, kicked Alyssa's stomach, reached out his hand to pull her hair, and was about to pull her up.

His kick was a little harder, and Alyssa was so painful that cold sweat came out.

She has no extra thoughts in her mind now, just knows to avoid the kidnapper's disgusting hand.

The gang pulled her hair, and before she was pulled up, the door of the room was kicked open from the outside.

The loud "bang" sound was very abrupt.

Alyssa's head was torn by the man, she pressed her lips tightly and looked towards the door of the room.

When she saw the familiar figure standing at the door of the room, she let her fear and fear suddenly flood her like a tide, tears falling one after another like beads with broken threads.

Although she was crying, she did not cry at all. Instead, she smiled and said to the person at the door: "Luther, you are here."

At this moment when she saw "Luther", Alyssa realized that what had supported her calmness and resistance before was that she subconsciously felt that someone would come to rescue her.

The person who will come to save her must be the most powerful person she knows.

Among the people she knows, the most powerful person is "Luther."

When Karl saw the situation inside, his hands were already clenched into fists, and his body was covered with a gloomy breath, like Shura crawling out of hell. A glance made people feel frightened.

The two kidnappers were even more frightened and their voices were shaking: "You're who are you?"

When the Hunt asked them to kidnap Alyssa, he didn't say that such a person would come to rescue her!

"Come and ask me this question again in my next life." Karl walked in their direction step by step, his low voice and the ice-breaking steps: "Because in this life, you have no chance to know."

The voice fell, and the man who had only slowly walked towards them, suddenly stepped quickly, and walked up to the two steps. Before they could see his movements, he fell heavily to the ground and curled up in pain. The body screamed.

Karl squatted down, carefully supported Alyssa with a chair, and untied the rope very quickly.

There was no superfluous expression on his face, but there was an unspeakable gloom, which looked scarier than usual.

But Alyssa was a little worried at this time, because she found that no one came in behind "Luther".

In other words, "Luther" came by himself.

"Luther" asked her, "Nothing?"

"It's okay, why did you come alone?" Although she didn't know how he found here, it was always too risky to come alone.

“I am enough.”

When Karl spoke, he lowered his eyes slightly, making it difficult to see the expression in his eyes.

He said with commands: “You go out and wait for me.”

Seeing him so confident, Alyssa felt relieved, but when she lifted her foot, she realized that she was soft and could not move.

Even if the surface is calmer, her body is more honest than her heart.

She was scared.

Suddenly, Karl stretched out his hand to pull off his tie, covered her eyes and tied it to her head, pushed her onto a chair and sat down, then pushed the chair to the corner.

Then, he whispered in her ear: “It will be all right soon.”

Then, Alyssa heard the sound of fighting and screams, and the smell of blood.

As the smell of blood became heavier, the screams disappeared.

Finally, the room became quiet.

Alyssa felt her hand wrapped in a generous palm, and then the voice of “Luther” sounded: “Okay, let’s go.”

Alyssa reached out to take off the tie that bound her eyes, but was held by “Luther”.

“Go out and talk, follow me.”

Blindfolded, her vision was pitch black, Alyssa was led by “Luther”, feeling at ease like never before.

This made her feel a little frightened.

After going out, “Luther” stretched out his hand and tore off the tie that covered her eyes.

Alyssa blinked before adopting again.

The sky has darkened, but the surrounding withered grass can still be seen clearly.

Obviously their location is still in the suburbs, but they have moved from an abandoned garage to here.

The hands of the two were still tightly held together, hers was very cold, but “Luther” was a little warm.

For the first time, Alyssa didn’t think about avoiding suspicion, but was led by “Luther” without resisting at all.

Be willful onceâ€¦

Before leaving, she looked back with lingering fears, and she happened to see the two kidnappers lying motionless in a pool of blood from the half-closed door. One of them stared at her with a pair of eyes. The direction is like a dead end.

Don’t die?

Alyssa was shocked by her own thoughts. Those two people were killed by “Luther” just now?

Feeling the strangeness of her, “Luther” turned his head and glanced at her, not knowing what she was thinking, leaned over and hugged her sideways.

“You can go by myself.” Alyssa reacted and subconsciously hugged his neck.

“Luther” still did not speak.

Alyssa found that since his appearance, he didn’t seem to have spoken much.

“Luther” directly carried Alyssa into the car.

Alyssa had many questions to ask, but the car was too warm and there was “Luther” next to her. Her tight nerves suddenly relaxed and she fell asleep with exhaustion.

After Karl drove the car for a certain distance, he noticed that Alyssa was asleep.

She didn’t seem to suffer much, her hair was messed up, and she didn’t even scratch her hands or face.

There was no danger, but he was almost frightened.

What he hates most-is the kidnapper.

They all deserve to die.

At this moment, his cell phone rang suddenly.

Smith called.

“Sir, where are you?” Smith’s tone was a little anxious. He had heard that the boss drove away and didn’t know where he went.

Karl’s voice was low, and he ordered: “I will send you an address, and you will bring someone to the aftermath.”

Smith was stunned for a moment, and then replied respectfully: “Yes.”

The heating in the car was fully turned on, and Alyssa was awakened by the heat.

There was no “Luther” figure beside her, she turned her head and saw a tall figure that was blurred to almost blending with the night and a little spark outside the window.

When Alyssa opened the car door, she was shivered by the cold winter night.

Hearing the movement, “Luther” turned his head: “Don’t get out of the car, I will come up after smoking this cigarette.”
