

Predestined 851

Chapter 851

Alyssa closed the door and returned to the room.

Thinking of something, she walked to the window and looked out.

But the floor she lives on is a bit high, and it's still night, even if she looks out, she can't see anything.

She closed the window and returned to her room.

Lying on the bed, she could not sleep over and over.

When she closed her eyes, Karl was in his head.

â€

The next day.

At breakfast, Grace bit the bread and stared at Alyssa and said, "Mom, your eyes are like giant pandas."

Alyssa said kindly: "Cute, right?"

Grace pursed the corner of her lips: "It's still a cute panda."

â€" Alyssa felt that when Grace grew up, she might be as poisonous as Karl.

Alyssa's plan today is not to go to the company and take Grace out to play.

Because it was still summer, they went out early.

After playing outside for a day, they came back after dinner.

After arriving home, Alyssa took Grace to take a bath first.

After playing for a day, Grace was also very tired, and fell asleep after taking a shower and lying on the bed.

Alyssa turned off the lights for Grace before returning to her room to take a shower.

Coming out of the shower, she went to the desk and looked through the papers.

Although Karl said that she could do the job of Adams' as she wanted to, but since she took over, she still had to do what she should do.

When Karl took over Adams's House, it took a lot of effort to increase company's performance.

After all, Adams's House still had part of Karl's hard work.

As Karl said, Alyssa still had him in her heart.

But sometimes people who love each other don't care about being together as long as they love each other.

Karl cast such a big net, Alyssa was kept in the dark, this incident could not be easily passed.

But now is not the time to solve these things.

She didn't even know exactly what arrangements Karl had made or how to confront Clifford.

If Karl didn't tell her, she would think it was nothing.

Alyssa took a deep breath, took an instinct file and opened it.

When she saw the last page, she found that it was signed below.

The handwriting is exactly the same as hers.

However, she clearly remembered that she had not read this document.

Did she sign it when she was dreaming?

This is ridiculous.

Alyssa put the signed document aside and opened another document, only to find that it was also signed.

She has read through the stack of documents and signed them all, and they are exactly the same as hers.

At this time, she found an open notebook lying aside.

She took it over and found that it was recorded in the notebook, the brief content of these files, and some of the current situation of Adams's

Who can imitate her handwriting and is so familiar with Adams' situation, who else besides Karl?

Karl sneaked in to help her with the documents when she was not at home?

Alyssa didn't know what expression to make.

Does Karl think of her as a snail girl?

Alyssa sat quietly for a while, put the documents one by one, and put them back in place.

The next day, she went to the company.

After Smith knew that Alyssa had processed all the documents, the expression of the whole person was extremely shocked.

"Mrs. Adams, did you handle the documents at home yesterday?" If it weren't for the words on it that looked exactly like Alyssa, he would suspect that Alyssa had asked someone to do it.

Alyssa did not answer his question directly, but just said, "Take it out."

Chapter 852

Smith gave her a look, didn't say much, and went out holding the stack of documents.

Alyssa sat at the desk and took out Karl's pen.

She got a lot of these pens when she was young.

But never thought that one of them would eventually become indissoluble.

What made her unexpected was that the boy was really Karl.

At that time, the little boy looked so embarrassed, he didn't look like a rich kid at all.

When Alyssa was thinking about it, her phone vibrated.

It is a reminder of new WeChat messages.

Alyssa picked it up and looked at it and found a red "8" on the WeChat icon.

There are eight unread messages.

Who sent her so many messages in the morning.

Alyssa was about to click, but found that the number above was still increasing.

Alyssa frowned slightly, sending her WeChat in such a hurry, it must be something urgent.

She took a look and found that Tina had sent her a message.

"Alyssa, have you watched the news?"

"Are you busy?"

"[Picture][Picture][Picture]."

"Look at it, suddenly there was a lot of news about Karl's black material!"

"These news items, one by one, have noses and eyes, I don't think they are true, right?"

"I think Karl should not be this kind of person."

"Are you there?"

"Are you in a meeting?"

"I think someone deliberately wanted to punish Karl."

"Are you?"

Alyssa replied to Tina with typing: "I just arrived at the company, let me take a look."

After Alyssa took over Adams', the outside world has never stopped questioning her various speculations.

There are always three streams of media writing news using her as a gimmick.

She was too lazy to bother, so she directly blocked the news feed.

No matter how they report or slander her, it will not affect her life.

Alyssa turned on the computer to search for news about Karl.

She moved her mouse to the search bar and clicked. Among the top news headlines that automatically popped up below, eight out of ten had Karl's name.

"Karl Adams' hidden rules."

"Karl Adams is suspected of economic crime."

"Karl Adams imprisoned abusive assistants."

"Karl's..."

Alyssa just saw the title and couldn't stand it anymore.

Before that, she had never thought that Karl would have such a day in his life.

Who is Karl?

He is arrogant and self-confident, smart and powerful enough to be almost omnipotent.

Therefore, Alyssa never thought that there would be a day when Karl was nailed to the pole of shame, slandered and trampled at will.

Alyssa didn't even click to watch the news, and directly dialed the inside line to Smith.

"Mrs. Adams."

"Mr. Smith, let the public relations department hold an emergency meeting."

Smith didn't know about Karl's news. After two seconds of silence, he said, "OK."

As a subordinate, of course you have to follow orders.

After informing the Public Relations Department of an emergency meeting Smith learned about the Internet.

He also just checked the news headlines online.

He is very busy and has a lot of things to do, so he has no time to watch.

He put the phone away and went to the CEO's office to tell Alyssa that the people in the public relations department have arrived.

When he knocked on the door to enter, he saw Alyssa standing in front of the French windows.

The figure is thin, but it gives people a very determined feeling.

Before he could speak, Alyssa looked back and asked him: "Is everyone in the public relations department here?"

"It's all here." Smith nodded.

"Then let's go." Alyssa raised her foot and walked outside the door.

Chapter 853

In the conference room, all the staff for important positions in the Public Relations Department arrived.

After sitting down, Alyssa looked around and asked, "Do you know what I call an emergency meeting?"

He worked steadily. After he informed the public relations department that he was going to have a meeting, he probably knew that it was because of Karl's affairs, so he mentioned something and prepared.

The meeting room was very quiet, and no one spoke first.

After about ten seconds, someone cautiously said, "Is it because of the news about Mr. Adams on the Internet?"

Alyssa nodded: "Yes."

She clasped her hands together on the conference table, straightened her back slightly, in the same tone as usual: "I want your PR to shut down those things on the Internet, double the salary and double the bonus. Can you do it?"

The people below looked at each other.

They also learned some news about Karl.

The news came out all of a sudden, overwhelming.

It's not easy to have a beautiful PR.

Seeing that they were not talking, Alyssa said, "If you can't do it, I can only find a public relations team that can do it."

Finally, the general manager of the public relations department stood up and said: "We will do our best."

"Well, I want to see the results as quickly as possible. This matter must be carried out in secret, and the outside world must not know that we are in public relations and the meeting is over.

After Alyssa stood up and walked out.

â€¦

The news broke suddenly.

As if premeditated, it all broke out all at once.

Some people feel that Karl is now in a "missing" state, and the people who broke the news have bad intentions.

Some people think that Karl can be such a big man, and he has such a powerful wrist.

The online discussion about Karl reached its peak.

The reviews are also mixed.

Alyssa returned to the office, but still didn't hold back and went online to check it.

At this time, she found that a new title was squeezed to the top.

“Peter, CEO of AdamPic Media, posted a mockery on Twitter”

Alyssa immediately went to Twitter and clicked on Peter’s homepage.

The latest Twitter posted on Peter’s profile has only one word: “Heh.”

The posting time shows half an hour ago.

In just half an hour, there have been nearly 10,000 comments.

After refreshing, the number of comments, reposts and likes on Twitter also increased.

Peter is really very popular.

Alyssa faintly understood the meaning of this Tweet by Peter.

She thought about it and called Peter.

After a while, Peter answered the phone, with a trace of suppressed anger in his tone.

Maybe something or someone provokes him just now, but he answered the phone and still pressed his temper.

Alyssa asked him: “What’s wrong with you?”

“After a meeting, no one could give me a useful plan, and I was mad at them.” Peter exhaled heavily.

Alyssa paused, “Is it because of Karl?”

Peter was silent for a moment and replied: “Yes.”

Alyssa said, “We have a meal together at noon.”

Peter knew that Alyssa was about to talk about Karl’s news, so he responded, “Okay.”

At noon, Alyssa went to Best Day.

Best Day is still overcrowded.

Alyssa went directly to the box Peter said.

When she went in, she found Tina was also there.

When Tina saw Alyssa coming in, she got up and helped her pull a chair: “I’ll come and have a meal.”

Chapter 854

Alyssa smiled slightly after hearing Tina’s words.

After she sat down, Peter handed over the menu: “Let’s order.”

Alyssa took the menu and said with a complicated expression: "I have seen Karl."

Peter immediately sat up straight and asked, "Where is he?"

Because of his excitement, his movements were a bit big, and the chair he was sitting on made a harsh sound on the ground because of his movements.

"He took the initiative to look for me, but I'm not sure he will come to me again," Alyssa said.

"He is safe and good."

After Peter finished speaking, he thought of other things as if he was a little angry: "Karl! I don't know if there is a brother like me in his heart, and don't know whether to send me a message."

"Knocking!"

There was a knock on the door outside.

Peter asked in a loud voice, "What is it?"

A muffled voice came from outside: "Brought water."

"Don't need any water." Peter directly refused.

But the box door was still pushed open from outside, and a tall figure in uniform walked in.

Tina first saw the waiter's face. She was shocked when he entered, "Puff! you!"

"What's the matter?" Alyssa handed Tina a paper towel and turned to look at the waiter who walked in.

And the waiter was watching her.

Alyssa said in surprise: "Karl?"

"I just said you! you came out for me!" Peter got up from the chair, walked up to Karl, reached out and punched him in the chest.

Without a word, Karl kicked Peter's leg up.

"hiss!!"

Peter gasped with pain, "Could you be gentle!"

The way men greet each other is really special.

Karl's gaze fell on Tina.

Tina happened to be sitting next to Alyssa, and she immediately understood what Karl meant.

Karl asked her to give up her position.

She got up and sat down next to Peter. Karl walked straight to her original seat and sat down.

There was not much water in Alyssa's cup. After Karl sat down, he picked up the kettle set aside to pour water for her.

“No need!” Alyssa wanted to remove her cup when she saw it.

But Karl didn’t care what she said and poured water for her, but he didn’t pour much.

At this time, Peter’s voice sounded: “Karl, where have you been all this time? Don’t let us know if there is anything wrong, we were all very worried about you.”

Karl heard this and looked at Alyssa.

Alyssa knew what he meant: “Peter has been sending people to find you, and he is very worried about you.”

Karl asked, “How about you?”

“I’m very busy and I don’t have time to worry about you.” Alyssa lowered her eyes slightly, looking at Karl’s perspective, she could only see her cold profile.

Karl stared at her for a moment, then looked up at Peter: “Hide and seek with Clifford. I only returned to Rostenvel in the last few days.”

Peter asked, “What happened in the car accident?”

“At that time, Clifford and I were in the car. He cut the brake cable and had a car accident.” Karl said lightly in a few words, but the people on the side heard it with fear.

Alyssa turned her head and asked him, “Why were you in the same car as Clifford?”

Karl: “He asked me out.”

Alyssa sneered: “He asked you to go out and you went? Are you that stupid?”

Chapter 855

Karl looked at Alyssa blankly, his eyes were cold and she couldn’t see the happiness or anger.

Alyssa also raised her head and looked at Karl without giving up.

“Alyssa!” Peter squeezed a cold sweat for Alyssa.

Only Alyssa dared to scold Karl like this.

If others dare to say this to Karl!

No, others don’t dare to say that to Karl at all.

The two looked at each other for a moment, and finally, Karl kept his eyes open, took a sip of water from the water glass, and did not say much.

Alyssa watched him drink water, only to realize that he was using her cup.

Before Karl came, there were only three of them in the box and only three drinking glasses.

Karl drank from her cup just now.

Alyssa pursed her lips, but in the end she said nothing.

Seeing the two people finally calmed down, Peter finally found another opportunity to speak.

“Karl, is the news exposed on the Internet this time also done by Clifford? What is he trying to figure out?”

“I don’t worry about the news on the Internet.” The old god Karl was there, and he didn’t seem to worry about his reputation at all.

Peter said angrily: “No worry? Do you know what ugly things those people say on the Internet? If you really don’t care, they will say that the black ones will be white and the white ones will be black.”

“I don’t worry.” Karl said again, with unquestionable resoluteness in his tone.

Peter wanted to say something, but under Karl’s gaze, he spread his hands: “But I have already let people from the public relations department intervene.”

“Then let them stop.”

“â€¦you!”

Peter took out his mobile phone angrily: “Okay, I will stop them now, okay!”

After he finished speaking, he called the company’s public relations department.

Alyssa looked at Peter, then turned to look at Karl.

As a result, when she turned her head, she saw him staring at her.

His eyes are always a little dark, and when he stares at someone intently, it makes people feel flustered.

After a few seconds, he said, “You should also call the public relations department.”

Alyssa’s complexion faded, and Karl knew everything.

Alyssa did not speak, pretending not to understand: “What is it to me? Do you think I will let the public relations department help you with public relations? Be affectionate.”

Somewhat unexpectedly, Karl didn’t say much, but responded lightly, “Oh.”

Oh?

What is this reaction?

Karl believed her words.

Alyssa turned her head, with a trace of doubt in her eyes.

What does Karl mean?

Alyssa didn’t understand what Karl’s “oh” meant until she left Best Day and returned to Adams’ after eating.

She went back to the office and called Smith to ask about the progress of the public relations department.

The result wasâ€¦

“The Public Relations Department said that it had received an order to not continue to do public relations for Bossâ€¦”

Hearing this, Alyssa took a deep breath, was quiet for a while, and asked aloud, “Who gave the order?”

“The public relations department said that it was your order and the mail was sent from your mailbox.”
Smith’s voice was quiet.

He had already guessed what was going on.

Listening to Alyssa’s tone, she had never issued such an order.

And there is only one person who can send such an order to the public relations department through the mailbox under the eyes of so many people.

That is, Karl.

“I know.”

Alyssa hung up, thinking about it again, feeling a little angry.

Karl was already like this, and he could still pretend to be Alyssa and send emails.

She really looked down upon Karl too much.

Chapter 856

Peter stopped doing public relations after Karl said so.

As for Alyssa, because Karl pretended to be her and gave the order, the public relations department didn’t care about it anymore.

For a while, Karl was pushed into the storm of public opinion.

Watching the excitement, talking cool wordsâ€¦

Everywhere.

Some people even say that Alyssa is ruthless and has no conscience and is too unsympathetic to Karl.

After all, even though Karl and Alyssa had already divorced, he still left Adams Group for Alyssa.

Even at this point, Alyssa shouldn’t ignore Karl’s affairs.

Not only those on the Internet say this, even people in the upper class are saying that Alyssa is a cruel and unfeeling woman.

Even Tina called Alyssa and asked her if she wanted to control her.

Alyssa replied quite firmly: “No.”

Since Karl said that she didn’t need to care about it, she would definitely ignore it.

What if she is said to be a cruel woman?

Does she still care about these things until now?

The so-called “scandals” about Karl on the Internet have been fermenting and have been on popular headlines for several days.

But Karl has long since disappeared from the public’s sight. What use is it for those people to attack him on the Internet?

Karl himself could not be found, and Alyssa also divorced Karl.

Adams’ is hers now, but she has nothing to do with Karl.

Those people also maliciously speculated on Alyssa, but she didn’t care at all.

Adams’ Stocks has also suffered a little loss, but this is not painful for Alyssa.

After so many things, there are few things that can irritate her now.

Karl was one of them.

Alyssa took the elevator to the underground parking lot. Only when the elevator door opened, she saw Karl standing outside the elevator.

He wore a peaked cap, a simple T-shirt and trousers. At first glance, he was inconspicuous in the crowd.

However, Karl was born into a wealthy family, but the noble temperament cultivated in the family cannot be concealed, and it does not need to be embellished by luxury goods.

Karl’s aura is noble and natural, from the inside out.

Alyssa squinted slightly and looked up at him: “You still dare to go out now, and you are not afraid of being recognized for throwing rotten eggs on the road?”

Alyssa spoke in a bad tone, with a touch of sarcasm.

Karl appeared a bit frequently these days, and Alyssa’s attitude towards him was as bad as ever.

Karl stretched out his hand and raised the brim of the peaked cap: “Even if you are thrown away with rotten eggs, I will pick you up from work.”

“Thanks to you, if it weren’t for you, I could now write scripts at home comfortably, and I won’t have to go to the company every day.” If it weren’t for going to work in Adams’, she wouldn’t have to ask auntie to take care of Grace.

All day long, she was exhausted looking at documents, having meetings, and learning something she used to think she would never learn in this life.

Karl did not speak, just looked at her.

His face was calm, with a good temper, it seemed that no matter what Alyssa said, he wouldn’t be angry.

When he first came back, Alyssa sneered at him, and he would change his face when she sneered at him.

Over the past few days, he has been able to listen to Alyssa taunting him calmly, not only not being angry, but also listening to her saying these things in a very patient manner.

Don't change your face, and you won't be impatient.

This made Alyssa feel like a punch on the soft cotton.

Chapter 857

Alyssa didn't say much anymore, walked over and pulled the car door, and got in the car directly.

He followed closely behind.

When he got in the car, Alyssa's cell phone just rang.

When she answered the phone, Karl leaned over to buckle her seat belt.

Alyssa originally refused, not wanting him to buckle her seat belt.

But Karl's attitude was tough, she just glared at him as if she wanted to answer the phone.

The one who called her was Travis, she hadn't contacted about Isabel anymore.

"Big Brother."

Hearing Alyssa's "loud", Karl raised his eyes and glanced at Alyssa.

Alyssa did not notice that Karl was looking at her, waiting for Travis on the other end to speak.

Travis said, "Grandpa is going to die soon."

Alyssa was stunned for a moment, and was stunned for two seconds before she found her own voice: "Oh."

"Are you really not even looking at him for the last time?" Travis paused when he said that, suddenly changed his tone, and said helplessly: "Alyssa, you just take it for the sake of my face. Come back to see him for the last time, right?"

Alyssa did not reply to Travis immediately, but turned to look out the window.

This summer seems extremely long.

With so many things happening, she thought it was over long ago, but the pedestrians on the road outside were still wearing short shirts and skirts.

Summer is not over yet.

Travis did not urge her either, he thought Alyssa was really thinking about it.

When Alyssa looked back, she said very simply, "I will come to the funeral."

"Youâ€¦!" Travis asked her: "For this reason, do you still hate Grandpa?"

“No, I just don’t think it’s necessary.” Alyssa didn’t consider herself to be Hunt’s family, she stopped long ago.

They forced her to marry Isabel into Adams’ family back then, and later severed relationship with her in the newspaper and used her again and again!

She still remembers those things clearly.

It’s just that these years passed, and she gradually stopped hating.

Without expectation, how can we talk about disappointment and hatred?

She just felt that there was no need to see the last time.

She had nothing to bear with Elder Hunt, and Elder Hunt probably had no last words to tell her.

So, there is no need to go.

Before Travis could speak again, Alyssa hung up the phone.

Karl’s voice came from the side: “Douglas’s funeral?”

Alyssa stretched out her hand to lift her hair, turned her head to look at Karl and said, “Is there anything you don’t know?”

Karl appeared frequently in the past few days, but all secretly.

She didn’t even know where Karl knew about these things.

Karl returned only one word: “Yes.”

“What’s the matter?” A hint of curiosity flashed through Alyssa’s eyes.

Karl still focused on driving the car, his tone was extremely calm: “I don’t know when you forgive me.”

Alyssa’s complexion was faint, she turned her head to look aside, and said casually, “You need someone to forgive me if you do something Sir? What do you think you did wrong?”

Karl actually didn’t think he had done something wrong.

Loving Alyssa is not wrong.

He used the best method he thought to deal with Clifford and isolated Alyssa. He also felt that he was not wrong.

Alyssa didn’t wait for his answer, and she understood in her heart, Karl thought he had done nothing wrong.

She twitched the corners of her lips and did not speak.

When the car drove to the gate of the community, she saw Alvin standing at the gate of the community at a glance.

Chapter 858

Alvin leaned under a tree, holding a lighter in his hand, and unconsciously pressed the ignition button.
Snapped! ignite.

Snapped! Turn it off again.

Alyssa had a hunch that Alvin might be looking for her.

She turned her head and glanced at Karl.

Karl was driving intently, as if he hadn't seen Alvin outside the car.

From the side, you can see Karl's tight profile, with a biting aura exuding his body.

Alyssa glanced out of the window again, and Alvin also saw her, looking towards her.

At this moment, Karl, who had not made a sound, suddenly said coldly, "Should I stop and let you walk over and watch?"

"What?"

Alyssa was dumbfounded before realizing what Karl meant.

Karl was mocking her for watching Alvin.

Alyssa directly choked back: "You actually parked!"

"You want to be beautiful." Karl snorted coldly and didn't stop. Anyway, he drove faster and went straight into the underground parking garage.

Alyssa couldn't help but screamed and turned to look aside.

The car was parked in the underground parking lot.

Once stopped, she would open the door and get off.

But she tried twice without opening the car door.

She turned her head to look at Karl angrily: "What are you doing! I want to get off!"

Karl turned off the central control lock, so she couldn't open the door.

Karl looked at her expressionlessly: "Sit with me for a while."

Alyssa: "Is there any place to sit, I want to get off!"

Alvin had already seen her in the car before, and it is estimated that she had something to do with her.

If her car drove into the underground parking lot and never got out, Alvin would definitely find it.

Karl still has not appeared in public, and is still "missing".

At the gate of the community before, Karl was driving and wearing a peaked cap. Alvin might not have seen him yet.

If Alvin came over, he would definitely see Karl.

At that time, Karl's trail would not be a secret.

"If you want, we can also do something." Karl deliberately misinterpreted Alyssa's meaning and emphasized the word "do".

At this moment, Alvin's voice came from not far away: "Alyssa, where are you?"

Alyssa heard his voice and said nervously, "Alvin I am here, you should get me out of the car. "

What is it? Are you afraid to let Alvin see us together?" Karl looked at her playfully, but his eyes were very dangerous.

As long as Alyssa returned a "right" word, he would tear her up.

"Karl, why are you getting childish as you get older! Alvin will find you when he comes here!" Alyssa didn't want to have trouble with Karl anymore, so she softened her tone and persuaded him.

Karl looked indifferent: "What if he found me? I can't stop seeing anyone?"

"Then you go to Adams' work by yourself tomorrow!" If the air is too narrow, Alyssa wants to kick him.

Suddenly, Karl said with a serious face: "Alyssa, come here a little bit."

Seeing her expression suddenly serious,

Karl asked, "What's the matter?" said silently, motioning her to come over. Point to say more.

Alyssa leaned over to Karl suspiciously.

As a result, as soon as she leaned forward, Karl gave her a kiss.

She didn't understand what the situation was, and blinked her eyes sluggishly.

Karl's face was close at hand, he curled his lips slightly, and said softly, "Don't look at me with this kind of eyes, let's go home and kiss again."

Alyssa suddenly understood something, turned her head abruptly, and saw Alvin standing outside the car.

Chapter 859

Alvin's eyes fell straight on Karl's body, with a hint of shock in his eyes.

He looked at him in surprise, as if he was not sure that Karl would be here.

At this moment, Karl whispered in Alyssa's ear: "He is looking at you, go and ask him what's the matter with him."

Alyssa glared at Karl, "He is looking at you!"

"Go down there."

After Karl finished speaking, he got out of the car first and walked aside to open the door for Alyssa.

Alyssa pursed her lips and got out of the car.

She walked up to Alvin with a calm expression and her usual tone: "When did you come back?"

"Morning." Alvin curled the corners of his lips. He was talking to Alyssa, but his eyes crossed her to look at Karl behind her.

The scene is a bit awkward.

Alyssa also felt a little embarrassed.

She could only pretend not to see Alvin watching Karl all the time, and bit the bullet and said, "Then how is your business going?"

"Still looking for Clifford, but he should be able to show up soon." Alvin paused: "After all, Karl has returned, and Clifford must be looking for him too."

He finally mentioned Karl, but Alyssa was relieved.

Alvin walked a few steps forward, passed by Alyssa, and walked straight to Karl: "Karl, it's been a long time."

"Mr. Mann doesn't seem to want to see me." Karl raised his eyes, his expression calm, and no emotion could be heard in his voice.

Alvin snorted and said with a deep meaning, "Aren't you the same?"

Both men's eyes were hostile to each other.

Alyssa smelled gunpowder.

She stepped back a few steps and said aloud: "Since you guys have such a good chat, let's keep talking. I will go home for dinner."

After speaking, walk directly to the elevator entrance.

When Karl and Alvin looked over, the elevator door had closed and she had already taken the elevator up.

â€¦

The next day, Alyssa never saw Karl again.

He did not come to look at the documents for her, nor did he pick her up when she was off work.

Alyssa went to the underground parking lot to drive home. As soon as she got in the car, she received a call from Mattie.

"Lost City 2 is set for December."

"Okay, I see." Alyssa started the car while answering the phone.

On the phone, Mattie continued: "I told you so early in advance that I just hope you can spare time to participate in the press conference of "Lost City 2"."

For the first part of "Lost City", Alyssa did not attend the press conference.

While selling scripts, she was trying to escape to a foreign country and avoid Karl.

When it started, she was asleep because of the explosion on the island.

She missed the launch of the first drama in her life.

Now that she thinks about it, she still feels a little regretful.

“It is enough to inform me of the specific time at that time, and I will spare time to attend the press conference.” No matter how busy she is, she can spare time.

No matter how busy you are, you can spare time for what you want to do.

People who want to meet can meet no matter how difficult it is.

Mattie was relieved after hearing Alyssa’s words.

Alyssa hung up the phone, and when she drove out, she was not used to it.

Karl actually came to pick her up for two days after work.

Alyssa didn’t know where he lived, and could only see him when he wanted to appear.

What she hates most is that Karl doesn’t say anything and always makes decisions alone.

Chapter 860

Alyssa drove the car into the underground garage, and when she got out of the car and entered the elevator, she took out her mobile phone to check.

An unread new text message was found on the phone.

She clicked on the inbox and saw the text message.

“Grandpa’s funeral will be held three days later. The address is”

The text message was sent by Travis to Alyssa.

When Karl came to pick her up yesterday, she had received a call from Travis in the car.

At that time, he said that Douglas was dying, and asked her to take another look.

She refused.

Looking at Travis’s text messages, Alyssa guessed that he may have passed away in the early morning or during the day today.

She paused, and did not reply.

Put the phone back in the bag, and when she entered the house, there was a gentle smile on her face.

Three days later.

funeral parlor.

In the first half of his life, Douglas was also a well-known figure in Rostenvel.

The network was very wide. If it weren't for seeing Lina at the scene of Karl's mother's kidnapping a dozen years ago and was forced to go abroad, the Hunt family would have developed better.

Sometimes when faced with many things, people just can't choose by themselves.

Douglas was shrewd all his life, but when he met the Adams' family, he could only admit his fate.

When he went abroad, he had to make an appointment with the Adams' family. It was nothing more than thinking that when he was away, the Hunt family would naturally look at the order for the sake of the Adams' family.

But Isabel didn't want this marriage, and in the end the marriage fell to Alyssa.

And Alyssa didn't kiss the Hunt family, and almost severed relations with them.

In the end, the Hunt family didn't get any benefit from this marriage.

Douglas spent all his life working hard for his family, but in the end it was still a futile one.

Smith stopped the car and opened the door for Alyssa with an umbrella.

Alyssa got out of the car short.

After she got out, she opened the umbrella she was holding.

It didn't rain much during this time, but it happened on the day of Douglas's funeral.

Funerals are mostly held in rainy weather.

It may also be God's will.

Smith's voice sounded from the side: "Mrs. Adams, let's go in."

Alyssa raised her foot and walked inside, following Smith.

Many people came to attend the funeral. Most of them were old friends of Douglas, they had a friendship with when he was young, who came to see him for the last time.

After these people saw Douglas for the last time, most of them would not have contact with this family again.

When Alyssa entered, it attracted a lot of people's attention.

"Isn't that the woman who took over Adams' before?"

"You don't know her? She is Douglas's granddaughter!"

"My memory, if you don't tell me, I really didn't remember this thing!"

"Isn't it? In the past, everyone had heard that the youngest daughter of the Hunt family was not good. I didn't expect that now it is the most promising one."

"Who would have thought!"

Several middle-aged men discussed in a low voice, not very embarrassed.

Alyssa heard their conversation, but curled her lips slightly mockingly.

Is she promising?

Does it mean to be Boss of Adams?

She took over Adams', not because of her outstanding ability, but because Karl went crazy to give Adams' to her.

She was anxious to let Adams off her hands.

Karl's insidious and cunning man kept saying that she can handle Adams' whatever she wants, but she won't mess with Adams' if she is right.

After all, Adams' flourished in recent years all due to the result of Karl's efforts.

Alyssa has never been a wayward person.

It is not a child who is spoiled and grown up, and has no capital for willful mischief.

But Karl was obviously better than her, so he was so much older than Alyssa, and he gave it to her.
