

Predestined 871

Chapter 871

When Smith heard the words, he was taken aback, then smiled and nodded slightly, and went out.

Alyssa reentered the lounge, planning to ask Grace to get up for the meal.

Grace usually has three meals on time, and it was time for it.

Therefore, when Alyssa called her, she woke up.

Her face was red in sleep, the hair on her forehead was messy, and she was at a loss as she just woke up, so cute and charming.

Before Alyssa spoke, Grace said softly, "I dreamed of Dad."

"Really?" Alyssa lags slightly: "What did he say to you?"

After she finished speaking, she dressed Grace casually again.

Grace dressed with Alyssa, tilted her head and seriously recalled the scene in her dream.

After Alyssa dressed her, she looked at her expectantly.

As a result, Grace thought for a long time, then frowned and said, "I forgot."

The little girl has a rich expression, frowning when she gets annoyed.

A frown will make her brows look like old men.

Alyssa laughed: "Let's eat first, are you hungry too?"

"Well! I'm hungry." Grace nodded heavily immediately.

Alyssa asked her to get out of bed and put on shoes before taking her out of the meeting room.

As soon as Grace came out, she saw the food on the table.

She couldn't wait to run over, exaggeratedly exclaimed: "Wow, so many delicious things."

Grace looked back at Alyssa, her eyes sparkling.

Looks really greedy.

Alyssa speeded up and walked over, putting the food on the table one by one.

Grace cleverly helped Alyssa to uncover the packing box, but it was a bit laborious to uncover.

In order to prevent spilling halfway, the lid of the packing box is designed to be particularly tight.

Alyssa worried that Grace would be given hard time by the lid of the lunch box to open it with too much effort, so she stopped her with a loud voice, "Leave it for mom."

"I can uncover it." Grace pursed her mouth and secretly worked hard, and her small eyebrows were wrinkled together again.

Then she opened the lid of the lunch box with a “pop”.

Grace smiled and handed the lid of the lunch box to Alyssa with a happy face: “Look, mom, I can open it.”

Alyssa encouraged her: “Awesome.”

When it was the turn of the lunch box that contained the soup, Grace was in trouble. She pushed to Alyssa: “This is your turn, the soup will spill out.”

When uncovering the lid of the soup box, the uncomfortable strength is indeed easy to spill.

Alyssa opened the lid of the soup box with a smile, and filled a small bowl of soup for Grace: “Drink the soup first.”

Grace learned how to use tableware when she was very young, and she was very good at eating when she got a little older, especially now that she is four years old, she can eat independently.

But she still wants an adult to help her pick up vegetables.

Alyssa looked at Grace who was eating well, feeling soft.

The phone placed aside suddenly vibrated.

It is the alert tone for new messages.

It was a moment in the beginning, and then it kept shaking.

Alyssa had a bad feeling in her heart.

Grace also noticed Alyssa’s cell phone vibrating constantly, and cast a curious look.

Alyssa picked up the phone.

The unread new message on the WeChat icon already shows “99+”.

The phone is still vibrating, and there are always new messages coming in, making her hands numb.

The last time she encountered this situation was also a major event.

Alyssa opened WeChat, and all the familiar and unfamiliar people on WeChat sent her messages.

When she was with the group, she added a lot of staff’s WeChat and other people’ she needed to deal with at that time.

She didn’t have time to read the feeds, but turned off the vibration mode first.

Chapter 872

There were too many people sending messages to Alyssa, and she couldn’t come over.

She glanced at the people who sent her WeChat, and saw some content vaguely.

There are too many people who have sent messages to her, and she can’t find anyone she knows for a while.

Her complexion changed slightly, she clicked into the address book, found Tina WeChat, clicked in and clicked "Send Message".

When something goes wrong, Tina will send her WeChat.

From Tina, she can understand the state of things the fastest.

She entered and she saw the message Tina had sent to her.

The time display is two minutes ago.

"Alyssa, everyone is rumoring that you and Karl have a daughter. The news has spread throughout Rostenvel. Everyone has a nose and an eye. I think someone deliberately released the news."

"I'm going on a show soon. It's not convenient to call you. If you see the message, please reply to me."

Alyssa glanced at other people's messages just now, and probably knew that this happened.

She couldn't be sure until she saw the message of Tina.

Alyssa turned her head and glanced at Grace before replying to Tina: "I see."

Tina's end was about to enter the shed. Seeing Alyssa's reply, she immediately sent another message: "You have finally returned a message to me, and I was about to call you."

After she posted this one, she quickly posted another one: "You have to be careful these days, there will definitely be reporters who change the law and want to take pictures."

"Are you going to be on the show?" Generally speaking, Tina would call her directly when such a big event happened.

Tina didn't call right away, which meant that she might be busy and couldn't get away.

Tina replied: "Yes."

"Be on your show with peace of mind, you don't have to worry about me. I don't need money or people." After Alyssa sent the message, she turned her head to see Grace.

Grace was holding the paper towel, picking up the rice sprinkled on the table one by one.

Alyssa laughed: "I'll make it after dinner."

"Yeah." Grace responded, but the movement on her hand still kept on.

Grace just picked up the spilled rice grains before continuing to eat.

While picking rice, a carrot fell out of the rice bowl and onto the table.

Grace tilted her head and took a look, then took the chopsticks and put it in her mouth.

Alyssa: "â€¦!"

Grace turned her head and saw Alyssa who was staring at her, and explained, "The table is clean and not dirty."

On the contrary, Alyssa didn't know what to say.

At such a young age, don't know who to follow.

She smiled and nodded: "Yeah."

Alyssa looked at Grace, and the smile on her face gradually faded.

No matter who exposed Grace's existence, the person who exposed it must be uneasy and kind.

As Karl's daughter, she was destined to arouse other audiences.

However, Grace is only a child, not a public figure, and does not need to disclose her identity to the public.

Now that Grace is exposed to the public, it will definitely arouse a lot of criticism.

Most people want to live a smooth life and want to be calmer.

But there is always someone who makes you uneasy.

And your blind retreat will only make him worse.

At this time, is there still a need to give in?

Alyssa sipped the soup slowly, her eyes gradually becoming firmer.

There are only a handful of people who know Grace exists.

In addition to the people around her, Miana knew of Grace's existence.

However, Miana is in prison.

Chapter 873

Except for Miana, only Clifford is left.

Alyssa was not surprised that Clifford would do such a thing.

It just needs to be checked again.

After all, Clifford had used Grace before.

Almost let Grace in the fire!

Thinking of this, Alyssa gritted her teeth secretly.

"Mom, I'm full." Grace's voice pulled back Alyssa's thoughts.

Alyssa regained consciousness and smiled and looked at Grace: "Come here, mom will wipe your hands."

Grace came over obediently.

Alyssa wiped Grace's hands, ate something casually, and got up to collect the lunch box.

She was going to play with Grace for a while after receiving the lunch box.

At this time, there was another knock on the door outside.

It should be Smith.

“Come in.” Alyssa said as she gathered her things.

The knocker pushed in from outside.

Alyssa looked sideways, and the person who came in was indeed Smith.

Seeing Alyssa collecting the lunch box he hurried over: “I’ll take it.”

“Uncle Smith.” Grace spent the whole morning playing in the office, and was very happy to see Smith come in.

Smith’s complexion was soft: “Grace has eaten?”

“I’ve eaten it!” Grace finished speaking, then asked, “How about you?”

“I have eaten too.” Smith reached out and touched her head.

Alyssa turned her head and saw Smith squatting in front of Grace, speaking with her eyes level.

The picture is very warm.

Smith’s usual ability to do things is first-rate, but in life, he is a calm father.

Alyssa couldn’t help but ask: “Mr. Smith, are you so kind to your son?”

Smith was taken aback and said, “No, boys are a bit more naughty, not too gentle.”

Alyssa nodded without saying more.

When he came in Smith wanted to help Alyssa clean up the lunch box.

He used to do these things for Karl, which was his habit.

But Grace kept pulling him to talk.

In front of familiar people, Grace talks a lot.

After going to kindergarten, she became more lively.

Children still love to go out and play, and no matter how smart and precocious children are to “play”, they have no resistance.

Alyssa thought of something for a while, and asked Grace: “Grace, do you want to play with Uncle Smith for a while?”

Grace nodded immediately: “Yes.”

Grace’s careful thought, Alyssa couldn’t see clearly.

She has been pestering Smith to speak, obviously just wanting to go out to play.

Alyssa smiled and said to Smith: "Mr. Smith, you can take Grace out for a tour, it won't take too long, you will come back after."

Smith is a trustworthy person, and Grace is more at ease if she asks Grace to hang out with him for a while.

They are all parents, and Smith knows very well that Alyssa is willing to let him take Grace out to play, because she trusts him greatly.

Surprise flashed through his eyes: "Okay."

"Goodbye, mom!" Grace said goodbye with a smile on her face.

Alyssa said again: "Don't go too far, just take her around the company."

The weather is still very hot now, and it is very sunny when going out.

Although Grace had been to Adams several times, she had never looked around.

After holding back in the office all morning and being able to move around in the company, Grace must be happy too.

After Smith and Grace left, Alyssa picked up the phone to check other unread messages on WeChat.

She checked the Internet again, and there was no news about the word "Karl's daughter".

Chapter 874

There is no news on the Internet, but everyone around Alyssa knows Grace's existence.

Is this a warning?

At this moment, a new short message came on Alyssa's mobile phone.

"If you don't want your daughter's affairs to be exposed, see you at the coffee shop at eight o'clock in the evening." The address of the coffee shop is also attached.

She has never been to this cafe, but the address is familiar.

The message to her was a strange number.

â€!

After work, Alyssa took Grace to Best Day for dinner.

Alyssa did not notify Peter when she passed by.

But as soon as she finished ordering, Peter came.

As soon as he walked over, he smiled and called Grace: "Little Grace."

"Uncle Grant." Grace turned her head and called Peter.

He teased Grace, and said to Alyssa with a slightly solemn expression: "You know about that, right?"

So many people knew and sent messages to Alyssa asking about Grace. This news spread to everyone who knew her. How could Peter never hear of it?

Alyssa nodded: "Yeah."

"Then what do you plan to do?" Peter asked her.

Alyssa turned to look at Grace.

Grace was lying on the table, listening to them with a curious look.

Alyssa smiled at Grace, but said to Peter: "This is the end of the matter, what else can I do."

Because Grace is still here, Alyssa's expression is still very gentle.

But there was a hint of coldness in her voice that was not unusual.

Peter roughly understood Alyssa's thoughts.

He asked tentatively: "May I check it for you?"

"No need to check, I know who did it." Alyssa said, "I have something to deal with later. You can take care of Grace for me."

Grace heard Alyssa's words and asked her, "Where are you going?"

"There's something wrong. You play for a while with Uncle Grant, and I will pick you up soon."

"Okay." Grace sighed old-fashioned.

Alyssa burst into laughter and reached out and rubbed the top of her hair.

After eating, Alyssa handed Grace to Peter and went to the cafe alone.

She parked the car at the entrance of the cafe, but did not get off immediately.

She looked through the car window, looked in through the glass wall of the coffee shop, and saw Rachel sitting by the window.

Rachel called her before, saying that she killed Isabel, so she didn't regret it, she didn't take it seriously.

After all, with Rachel's temperament, Alyssa wouldn't be surprised to say anything that reverses black and white.

Rachel seemed to be fidgeting.

She looked in the direction of the cafe door from time to time, stirred the coffee in front of her, took a sip, and changed her posture.

Alyssa stared at her for a while, then opened the car door and went straight to the door of the cafe.

As soon as she entered the coffee shop, she collided with Rachel who was looking towards the door.

Rachel seemed to be stiff, and pretending to be calm, she took a sip of the coffee in front of her.

“It turned out to be you.” Alyssa walked up to her and sat down with a surprised look.

Rachel seemed to be waiting for Alyssa to say this. She lifted her chin slightly with a smug expression: “I said earlier, you will regret it, how about it? Do you regret it now?”

Alyssa did not answer her question, but said with a calm expression: “Where did you know about Grace?”

Rachel seemed to finally have a chance to express her anger, and her face was even more proud: “Want to know? Please me.”

Chapter 875

Alyssa just raised her eyes and glanced at Rachel, and said a word indifferently: “Clifford.”

A crack appeared on Rachel’s originally proud face.

From the beginning, Alyssa guessed that the person who spread Grace’s affairs was Clifford.

However, the person who sent her the address to meet her was Rachel.

This situation can only illustrate one problem.

That is, Clifford told Rachel about Grace.

It’s not difficult to explain why Rachel called her last time and said she killed Isabel.

Isabel was taken by Clifford to rescue his sister. Later, Karl disappeared and Clifford hurriedly left the country, only to find Isabel’s trace.

At that time, Isabel was brought back by the Hunt family, and she had only half her life left.

Even if you have to settle accounts, it should be counted on Clifford’s head.

Don’t know what Clifford and Rachel discussed, that could make Rachel think that Isabel’s death was related to Alyssa.

Rachel gave a dry smile, took a sip of the coffee in front of her, “Isabel’s death really has something to do with you.”

Alyssa looked at Rachel with cold eyes: “What does it have to do with me? Did I raise her like a useless person who has no ability to distinguish right from wrong, or did you see me hurting her body?”

“You know Clifford, he knows that you and Isabel had a faceoff, so you targetted Isabel!” Rachel’s expression looked very excited: “It’s all because of you! Isabel died.”

Alyssa looked at Rachel like a stranger.

Rachel has gone crazy in recent years.

It’s not like a normal person.

Isabel is not Rachel’s biological daughter, but these two people have no concept of right and wrong, and their ability to reverse black and white is exactly the same.

After a long while, Alyssa said quietly, "Do you know? I have something to thank you especially for."

Rachel frowned and looked at Alyssa, wondering why she said such words.

"I'm very grateful. You didn't care about me when I was very young. After I grew up, I was abandoned. Because of this, I didn't live like Isabel. No ghost, and live like a normal person."

Alyssa's heart was cold.

At this moment, she thought that she had still had expectations for Rachel, and she felt extremely shy.

If Rachel really treated her as she did to Isabel, then the person buried in the ground today is most likely her, not Isabel.

Family environment and parental education have too much influence on a person.

She could not imagine if she lived like Isabel.

Perhaps Alyssa's expression was too serious, and Rachel was stunned.

"Isabel was killed by Clifford, not me. I didn't put the knife on Clifford's neck and let him kill Isabel. I also didn't put the knife on Isabel's neck, forcing her to seek skin with the tiger. Don't die, I advise you to stop doing unnecessary things, and don't provoke Clifford."

"The people who have been in contact with Clifford have no good end. Isabel is the best example, and so am I."

This is Alyssa's last advice to Rachel.

She once thought that Clifford was a kind and good person.

But she paid the price.

Grace almost burned in the fire.

Karl had no choice but to choose the next strategy to separate from her and fight against Clifford.

Few people can take advantage of Clifford's ruthless character.

Chapter 876

Alyssa's eyes were a shocking warning.

Rachel was shocked for a moment.

But she quickly recovered her expression, squinting her eyes slightly and said, "Isn't it because of you that Clifford dealt with Isabel? If it wasn't for you, why should he treat her like that? Don't think about excusing yourself!"

After she finished speaking, she gritted her teeth and said, "Isabel was killed by you! You are a murderer."

Alyssa curled her lips mockingly: "So what? What do you want to do next?"

Don't know what Clifford and Rachel talked about. From Rachel's words, she has been completely brainwashed by Clifford.

Anyway, no matter what Alyssa said, Rachel would count Isabel's death on Alyssa's head.

Rachel fixedly stared at Alyssa, and slowly and firmly said: "I want you to come to Isabel's grave to plead."

If Rachel in front of her was not Alyssa's biological mother, she would be moved.

Such a mother who is dedicated to avenging her daughter, who can not be moved.

Alyssa only said two words softly: "Dreaming."

Rachel's expression looked a bit hideous: "Then don't blame me for being cruel!"

Alyssa looked at her with a non-smiling smile: "Really?"

Rachel looked at Alyssa's indifferent look, and even suspected that Alyssa was not her daughter.

Rachel said solemnly: "You weren't like this before."

"And you have always been like this." Rachel has always been so ignorant of right from wrong, and she regards Isabel more than anything else.

And her biological daughter seemed to be just weeds on the side of the road, she hadn't paid attention to her.

"Then let's wait and see!" Rachel finished speaking, stood up and walked out in a hurry.

Walking fast, it is not difficult to see that her heart is full of anger.

Alyssa took a slow sip of coffee and turned to look outside the glass wall.

Rachel had already made coffee, and stood by the side of the road and drove away.

Rachel secretly came out to find Alyssa, and naturally wouldn't let the driver at home send her out.

Now the most sober person in the whole Hunt family is Travis.

Travis naturally wouldn't let Rachel come to trouble Alyssa.

Therefore, Rachel came to her on Travis's back.

Watching Rachel's car disappear, Alyssa took out her mobile phone and called Smith.

Alyssa got through the phone, and after a while, he answered the phone: "Mr. Adams."

It was very quiet at the other end of Smith, and he might have found a quiet place to answer her call.

Alyssa didn't talk nonsense, and said concisely: "Prepare a contract plan for the acquisition of Hunt's. I will see it tomorrow morning."

Smith seemed a little surprised, but he only paused and said, "I understand."

“Thanks.” Alyssa bowed her head, finished the coffee in front of her, and got up and left.

â€¦

The next morning, Alyssa held a meeting as soon as she arrived at the company.

The theme of the meeting was the acquisition of Hunt’s.

In Adams’ eyes, Hunt’s is a small company that is not worth mentioning.

The acquisition is just a piece of cake for Adams’.

Alyssa looked at the acquisition plan made by the people under her hand.

Putting down the last plan in her hand, she clasped her hands together, looked around, and said slowly: “What I want is a plan that you use legally to acquire Hunt’s at a price below the market price.”

Who didn’t know that Alyssa was the Hunt family’s daughter, and her remarks made it clear that she would not give the Hunt family a living?

Chapter 877

The people under the office looked at each other.

Although Hunt’s was originally a humble small company, because of the marriage contract with the Adams’ family, it also has a certain reputation in Rostenvel.

Later, Colin publicly announced that he would abolish his father-daughter relationship with Alyssa.

Isabel entered the entertainment industry, became Gerald’s girlfriend, and later Rachel did somethingâ€¦

These things brought Adams’ family into everyone’s field of vision.

Alyssa used to be the young lady of the Hunt family, and the grudges between her and the family are not a secret.

But she has never done anything to the family.

She doesn’t seem to be a vengeful person.

But what is surprising is that everyone temporarily received a notice from Mr. Smith last night, asking them to prepare a plan to acquire Hunt’s overnight.

They had to stay up late to prepare for the acquisition of Hunt’s plan.

But after listening to Alyssa’s words today, they came to understand that she meant that she wanted to hostilely acquire the business and not give the family a way out.

“Why don’t you speak?” Alyssa stretched out her hand and tapped twice on the table before slowly saying.

As soon as she finished speaking, someone said: “We will hand over a plan that satisfies you as soon as possible.”

“The team that handed over the better plan in the faster time, the bonus doubled.” After Alyssa finished speaking, she got up and went out.

Smith followed her out together.

As he walked, Alyssa asked him, “You don’t ask me why I want to buy the Adams family?”

Smith seemed to be quiet for a while, and then said aloud: “Boss actually thought about doing this before, but he didn’t do it later.”

Alyssa paused, and it took two seconds before continuing to move forward.

As she walked, she asked, “Why didn’t he do it?”

“Although Boss didn’t say it explicitly, I probably understand what he was thinking.” Smith’s speech slowed down a bit: “Boss rarely interferes with Hunt’s affairs since he was with you. It’s indifferent, but he still cared about your relationship with the family, so he didn’t do things so absolutely.”

“Hmm?” Alyssa sneered, “Karl would also have some scruples? He is the most arrogant and confident. Otherwise, he wouldn’t have such a big game.”

Speaking of this, Alyssa was still angry.

Smith was silent and did not reply.

Mainly because he has nothing to say.

After all, this time, Karl was indeed irresponsible.

He has followed Karl for so many years, although he can understand Karl’s intentions, but he can’t agree with it.

Alyssa had a bad life since childhood, so she was more sensible and transparent than other girls.

Although she seemed to be very angry with Karl, Smith knew that Alyssa was just too angry.

Not really angry.

The relationship between Karl and Alyssa, had already matured after so many things over the years.

Smith couldn’t tell, but he knew it all.

â€¦

Travis took a plane to travel to other provinces early in the morning.

After landing, the local partner entertained him for lunch.

Halfway through, the partner went to the bathroom and came back, but his complexion was a little strange.

At first, Travis didn’t think too much, he just thought it was the partner who suddenly felt uncomfortable.

After drinking for three rounds, Travis raised the matter of cooperation, but was vaguely passed by the partner.

Travis has taken over the business for several years, and has been exposed to many such things.

Naturally, he understands that this cooperation may be out of date.

When he left the hotel, he was about to call the company, and a call came in.

“Mr. Adams, something is not good!”

Chapter 878

Although Travis was a little unsure in his heart, he still said softly, “What’s going on in a panic?”

“Several of the cooperations signed before, all called to say that they would terminate the cooperation with us, not only that” The person on the other end said a lot.

When Travis heard from behind, he was a little confused.

“How could this be?”

“Listening to the gossip, it seems that Adams’ Group is going to acquire our company”

Travis was a little surprised when he heard this.

Because Alyssa didn’t go to see the last thing about Elder Hunt, Travis also felt that she was a little too indifferent.

Nevertheless, he still felt that she could not do such an excessive thing.

The Hunt family has been going downhill in recent years, and it has not been easy to maintain operations.

How could the current Hunt family stand the loss of Alyssa?

Alyssa is not the one who has fallen into trouble, she doesn’t have to take action against Hunt’s family.

“I see.” Travis hung up the phone and called Alyssa.

At this time, Alyssa was eating.

Seeing a familiar number flashing on the phone screen, she just turned the phone on silent, and put the screen down on the desktop.

She would not answer Travis’s call.

She had checked Travis’s itinerary before, and he happened to go on a business trip today. If he can’t make a call to Alyssa, he will naturally come back.

Alyssa never answered the phone, Travis was anxious.

Immediately let the assistant book a ticket back to Rostenvel.

When he landed at Rostenvel International Airport, his mobile phone was just turned on and a call came in.

This time it was Colin who called him.

“Where did you go? I can’t get through your call? Do you know about the company?” Colin’s tone also sounded anxious.

Colin’s health is also not very good, and now he doesn’t care about the company’s affairs. Important decisions and major events are all made by Travis.

“I just got off the plane and I heard about the company. I will go to Alyssa to ask about the situation.” Travis said as he walked towards the parking lot.

The assistant trot behind him.

Colin on the other end was about to say something, Travis heard Rachel’s voice resounding on the other end: “Take medicine.”

Hearing Rachel’s voice, Travis thought of something, and said, “I’ll be back soon.”

Colin asked, “Aren’t you going to find Alyssa?”

The answer to him was the busy tone of the phone hanging up.

Rachel heard him mention Alyssa, and asked, “What’s wrong? Why did Travis go to Alyssa?”

“All of Hunt’s cooperation has been suspended now. There is news that Alyssa wants to acquire the company.” Colin said with an angry expression: “This ungrateful thing will fly to the branch. Deal with us in turn!”

Rachel looked surprised: “Could it be a mistake? How could she treat us? Sheâ€¦!”

Colin looked up at her and sneered: “Oh, are you still protecting her?”

“I am not, I just think that Alyssa has never been a cruel person, how could she have treated â€¦!” Although Alyssa had a bad attitude towards her every time, she didn’t do anything to her either.

Therefore, Rachel felt that Alyssa would not do anything to the Hunt family.

“She’s just an ungrateful thing!” Colin still doesn’t feel that he has any reason to feel sorry for Alyssa.

Chapter 879

Rachel listened to Colin’s words and nodded with a pleasing eyebrow: “Take medicine first.”

Colin didn’t say much.

Not long after he finished taking the medicine, Travis returned.

As soon as he entered the door, his gaze fell on Rachel.

Rachel didn’t know why Travis stared at her as soon as he came back, and looked at him nonchalantly: “Travis?”

Seeing Travis coming back, Colin frowned and asked: "At this time, you don't deal with company affairs, what are you doing back?"

"Asking me what am I not doing?" Travis raised his eyebrows and pointed at Rachel who was sitting next to Colin: "It's better to ask what your good lady did!"

Hearing this, Colin turned his head and glanced at Rachel, frowning more tightly, and said disapprovingly: "Travis, now is not the time for willfulness, go back to the company!"

"Alyssa is now the CEO of Adams'. She wants to deal with our company. It's easy to do, so what if I go to the company?"

Travis walked to the sofa opposite the two and sat down, didn't look at Rachel deeply.

Colin naturally knew that the current state was not optimistic. He took a few breaths full of anger and said, "You call her and I will tell her! Anyway, my blood is bleeding from her body. She can turn the sky over!"

"She won't turn the sky, but it's too easy to turn over our company." Travis leaned back on the sofa, looking exhausted.

Rachel tentatively said, "It's not that serious, she's!"

"Do you think you know Alyssa well?" Travis sneered and said with a mockery: "I think you are right."

Douglas and Isabel died one after another, and the blow to Colin was still great. After losing two relatives one after another, he seemed to wake up and finally realized that Rachel was his wife.

And he gradually cared about Rachel.

Hearing Travis mocking Rachel in this way, he defended her loudly: "How do you talk to your mother!"

"Where is she worthy to be a mother! If she hadn't been able to educate Isabel well since she was a child, Isabel would not become what she was later on, nor would she be in vain! If she had fulfilled her duties as a mother, Alyssa would not, in turn, deal with our company!"

Two consecutive deaths in the family also had an impact on Travis.

Looking back at Isabel's life, he felt chills in his heart when he saw Rachel.

Colin's eyes widened, and angrily said, "How can Isabel's death be blamed on your mother? And that Alyssa, this time she is completely ungrateful."

"What's the use of yelling at me? Go talk to Alyssa, and see if she wants to let our company go." Travis was surprisingly calm.

Colin suddenly looked like a deflated balloon.

At this time, Rachel said: "Why don't let me talk to her?"

Travis laughed: "Does your word work?"

Travis also turned to look at Rachel.

Rachel dodged his eyes and said, "Always try."

Travis suddenly asked her: "The last time Alyssa came back to attend grandfather's funeral, she was fine. Why is she suddenly dealing with our company? As her biological mother, don't you know the reason?"

"She is not the Alyssa she used to be. How do I know what she is thinking." Rachel smiled wryly.

Travis asked her casually: "What did you do when you went out frequently the last two days?"

Chapter 880

Rachel felt a guilty conscience when asked by Travis.

She reached out her hand and brushed the hair around her ears, and smiled stiffly: "I didn't do anything, it was just shopping."

"Travis, what the hell is going on with you today?" Colin frowned and said sternly: "As soon as you got back, you ran to the house and targeted your mother everywhere, and didn't deal with the company's affairs."

At this moment, Travis's mobile phone rang a new message alert tone.

Travis took out his mobile phone and clicked on the new message sent to him by the assistant. His expression was a little surprised at first, and he sneered after reading it.

He immediately raised his head to look at Colin: "I can't handle the company's business. Whoever stabbed the basket, will clean it up!"

When it came to the second half of the sentence, Travis's eyes fell on Rachel's body.

After Colin hosted two funerals in a row, although his attitude towards Rachel was better than before, it didn't mean that he had no brains.

Although Travis usually ignores Rachel, he is not so deliberately directed at her.

What's more, when the company had such a big problem, he made a special trip to target Rachel.

Although Travis's abilities were average and couldn't be a great weapon, he still knew the priorities.

Colin and Travis both looked at Rachel at the same time.

Rachel said with a guilty conscience: "I will pour you a glass of water."

As the head of the family, Colin always likes to play with majesty.

How could this time give Rachel the opportunity to change the subject?

He screamed: "Stop!"

Rachel shuddered all over, and immediately stood there, did not dare to move or look back at Colin.

Looking at Rachel's back, Colin asked in a serious tone, "Did you go to provoke Alyssa?"

"Iâ€¦!" Rachel moved her lips, always afraid to speak.

She also realized that Alyssa would not treat her as softly as before, but she never thought that Alyssa would really use any practical actions to retaliate.

After all, in her heart, Alyssa should just accept it and let her.

Sometimes she can feel that she has done a little too much.

But after another thought, Alyssa was her daughter, and even if she hated her again, she should endure it.

When she first heard about the company's accident, she didn't think about it at all.

"What are you doing? Does it seem that I have been too kind to you lately? You even dared to do tricks behind my back without letting me know!" The anger in Colin's tone was already very obvious.

He doesn't like Alyssa, but he also knows that he can't afford Alyssa's current identity.

Moreover, Rachel went to find Alyssa behind his back, which also didn't take him seriously.

"No! No, I didn't mean to keep you from knowing, I just wanted to get back justice for Isabel, I!"

"To shut up!"

Before Colin heard her finish her words, he interrupted her viciously with a grimace.

Isabel did all humiliating things in the following years, but Colin hurt her in the end, and felt a little sad about her death.

If you die, you die.

In the future, she will no longer be mentioned, and others will forget that there is such a daughter in the family.

But Rachel raised Isabel again.

"You don't know what is the relationship between Isabel and Alyssa?" Travis laughed angrily: "You dare to go to the door and seek justice for Isabel? Are you acting stupid or really stupid?"