

Predestined 881

Chapter 881

Rachel looked at Travis and said with an ugly expression: "Travis, youâ€™!"

Although Travis's attitude towards Rachel is not good, he basically doesn't pay much attention to her.

To Travis, she was also an elder after all, and he was still a little bit unconscious when he faced her with cynicism in front of her.

Rachel turned her head to look at Colin, hoping that Colin could help her say a few words.

At this moment, how could Colin speak for her?

"Solve the things you provoke yourself. If you can't solve them, get out of Hunt's house!" After Colin said this, he turned upstairs.

Colin went upstairs, and Travis also stood up.

He stretched out his hand to adjust his shirt, with a mocking smile on his mouth: "I really admire your courage. I still can't tell the seriousness of the matter. You dare to provoke Alyssa. You didn't see Grandpa and my dad. You dared to mess with her?"

Although Colin seemed to have a clear conscience, he didn't think he had done something wrong.

But he still has a guilty conscience.

Otherwise, on the day Alyssa became Adams' CEO, he would go directly to her.

Only Rachel was really as stupid as a pig, and even dared to provoke her.

Travis's cell phone rang again. He was about to answer the call when he heard Rachel say: "I just want to get justice for Isabel, she killed Isabel!"

Rachel's voice was a little hoarse because of her emotions, and her eyes were full of resentment.

Travis paused, looking at Rachel in disbelief.

Rachel's malice towards Alyssa made Travis feel incredible.

He felt that Rachel was completely hopeless.

He sneered: "I think I should let dad take you to a mental hospital."

He cut off the phone and looked at Rachel with a cold face: "I know how Isabel died, I know better than anyone. If you don't want to live anymore, let you go, but don't drag our family into the water, please don't drag the family into the water!"

Travis turned around, thinking of something, and suddenly walked toward Rachel aggressively.

Rachel looked at him with some fear: "What are you going to do!"

Travis's expression was very ugly, and Rachel couldn't help taking a small step back.

“Follow me to find Alyssa, and apologize to her face to face!” Travis grabbed Rachel’s arm, took her and walked out.

Rachel shook her head repeatedly: “I won’t go! She killed Isabel, I did nothing wrong!”

Travis ignored her at all.

He originally wanted Rachel to be more conscious and go to Alyssa to admit her mistake.

But looking at Rachel’s appearance, he knew that it was absolutely impossible for her to take the initiative to ask Alyssa to come to apologize.

When Rachel saw that Travis ignored her at all, he started to struggle.

She pays great attention to body management, and she is too old to be able to struggle with Travis.

Travis forced her into the car, then got into the car himself and dropped the safety lock, and drove to Adams’.

Rachel held the handle of the car door and tried to open it. After finding that the car door could not be opened, she shouted hysterically at Travis: “Let me get off the car! I won’t go!”

In Hunt’s family, Rachel’s deep-rooted thought is to please every in the family except Alyssa.

Subconsciously, even if she was angry with Travis, she only dared to yell at him, and didn’t dare to do anything.

Roaring towards Travis is already the limit she can achieve.

Chapter 882

Travis was annoyed by it, turned his head and looked at Rachel coldly: “Shut up!”

Rachel looked stiff, lowered her head in fear, and finally closed her mouth.

This incident was originally caused by Rachel. She did not realize her mistakes, and she looked unrepentant.

Looking at her like this, Travis became more and more disgusted.

He stared straight ahead and drove the car steadily, but the words he spoke were addressed to Rachel.

“What is your identity, and what you should do, weigh it carefully by yourself! Don’t think that my dad really protects you wholeheartedly. You spend more time with him than me. What kind of person he is? You know better.”

Travis’s words contained strong warnings.

Rachel pressed her lips tightly, staring at her knees with embarrassment, and clenched the seat belt with both hands unconsciously.

Travis was right, Rachel and Colin had been together for nearly thirty years, and she knew Colin’s personality better than anyone else.

When she first married Colin, Colin was immersed in the pain of losing his wife. Rachel was young and beautiful and loved him wholeheartedly, which gave him a lot of comforts.

Colin also really liked Rachel.

Just like it.

Not everyone knows what love is.

Not everyone can feel the happiness and joy of love.

Rachel didn't doubt that Colin would abandon her when necessary.

Thinking of this, she only felt that a deep chill came from the bottom of her heart, and she couldn't help reaching out and hugging her arms.

Immediately, she said in a low voice: "I understand."

When Travis heard Rachel's answer, he showed a satisfied look.

It didn't take long for the car to stop in front of the building of the Adams Group.

Travis said without looking back, "Call Alyssa yourself."

This sentence was naturally addressed to Rachel.

Rachel took out her mobile phone and called Alyssa.

Travis stared at Rachel from the rearview mirror and called.

After the call got through, Rachel kept waiting for Alyssa to answer the call.

However, Alyssa did not answer the phone until the phone was automatically hung up.

"She didn't answer my call." Rachel looked up at Travis, his voice a little quiet.

Travis frowned for a moment and took out his cell phone to call Alyssa.

At this time, Alyssa was listening to reports from his subordinates.

Hearing Alyssa's mobile phone rang, the subordinate who reported to the work consciously silenced, and did not continue.

She knows Travis's itinerary well, and according to time calculation, Travis should have returned to Rostenvel long ago.

But he didn't call her until now.

This shows that Travis has figured out the cause and effect of the matter.

The phone call to her at this time means he probably brought Rachel to apologize to her.

Rachel has been in Hunt's house for so many years, thinking that everything she did was for Hunt's consideration.

As everyone knows, no one treats her sincerely.

Travis has no feelings for her either.

When something goes wrong, he will naturally not consider Rachel's thoughts, and will definitely take her to Alyssa to apologize.

Alyssa picked up the phone and handed it to Smith: "My eldest brother's phone, please answer it for me."

There was no need for Alyssa to say anything, Smith understood her meaning.

He answered the phone for Alyssa: "Hello, may I ask if you are looking for Mrs. Adams? Mrs. Adams is in a meeting now. I am her assistant. I can tell her something for you."

Chapter 883

Travis called, and when he heard the call was connected, there was a joy in his heart.

But when he heard the voice, he realized that it was not Alyssa's call.

His face was a little ugly, but his tone was still very polite: "When will the meeting end?"

Travis brought Rachel to come and apologize to Alyssa. Naturally, it is impossible to tell Smith and let him convey it to her.

After all, this is considered a family affair.

The ugliness of the family should not be exposed.

Travis's idea was to bring Rachel and Alyssa to meet, and the three of them would deal with the matter face to face.

"Not sure when it will end, Mrs. Adams has been very busy recently." Smith said that Alyssa was very busy, and indirectly told Travis that Alyssa didn't want to see them.

"Really? No matter how busy you are, you still have to eat. You tell Alyssa, I'll be here waiting for her to go to dinner together in the evening." Travis finished speaking without giving Smith a chance to speak. One sentence: "Goodbye."

He immediately hung up.

He threw the phone aside, and his expression was sullen, reaching out and grabbing his hair.

Rachel heard what he had just said clearly, and she asked, "Alyssa didn't want to see us?"

"Do you think she is what you want to see now?" Travis is annoyed when he sees Rachel now, and his tone of voice can't be any better.

Rachel lowered her head, looked aside, and stopped speaking.

Travis was brought up by Douglas, and he barely made a living for others.

Although Douglas is no longer there, Travis will be a man. Although the company is in a recession, relying on Douglas's contacts, there are still a few fixed partners to maintain operations.

Although occasionally he needs to beg someone in a low voice, it is for the company and he can bear it.

Alyssa is quite ignorant of the rest of the family, and her attitude towards Travis is not bad compared to that.

Regarding this, Travis still had a little calculation in his heart.

He also knows Alyssa's personality.

She is not a cruel person, if he can maintain a relationship with her, in time, he might be able to let Alyssa lend a hand.

But this time Rachel caused trouble, and Alyssa didn't even give him face.

Travis felt more irritable the more he thought about it.

He squinted at Rachel in the rearview mirror, and began to wonder what to do with her after the incident was over.

â€

When she got off work, Alyssa drove out of the parking lot and paid special attention to the roadside.

Sure enough, she saw Travis's car.

She knew that Travis would not give up easily.

Smith helped her drive the car, followed Alyssa's sight, and slowed down.

Alyssa looked back at Smith and said, "Stop it."

Smith stopped the car and got off with Alyssa.

Travis has been paying attention to the surrounding situation, and beware of not missing Alyssa.

Therefore, he quickly found Alyssa standing on the side of the road.

He quickly drove the car to Alyssa's side.

"Alyssa!" Travis stepped out of the car and walked towards her with joy.

Alyssa's expression was cold, her eyes flashed from Rachel who was following him, and she called out lukewarmly, "Big Brother."

Travis tried to greet her: "You just got off work."

"Yeah." Alyssa just nodded faintly, without mentioning the acquisition of Hunt's.

Travis didn't mention it cleverly either.

"Why don't we find a place to have dinner together? We haven't eaten together for a long time."

“OK.”

Travis was stunned for a moment. He didn't expect Alyssa to agree so simply.

Chapter 884

Travis chose a restaurant nearby to dine with Alyssa.

Alyssa sat with Smith, Travis and Rachel sat together.

Rachel knew that this was not the time for her to talk, so she sat quietly and said nothing.

Even if she speaks out loud, it may make Travis unhappy.

“Alyssa, what do you want to eat, pick something.” Travis smiled and handed the menu to Alyssa.

Alyssa took the menu and turned two pages, then handed it to Smith.

Travis's expression suddenly became very ugly.

Smith took a look at Alyssa and saw her expression indifferently, so he took the menu and started ordering.

He is now Alyssa's assistant, often ordering work meals for her, and he naturally knows some of Alyssa's tastes.

Smith ordered a few dishes according to Alyssa's taste.

Alyssa's behavior is just to be particularly energetic.

Travis invited her to dinner. She didn't order the food by herself, but asked the accompanying assistant to order. This did not put Travis in her eyes, nor did she give him any face.

Not to mention Travis, even Rachel could see her intentions clearly.

Rachel took a peek at Travis, and saw that Travis was only green and did not say anything, so she had to keep quiet.

“Mrs. Adams choice is ready.” Smith turned her side slightly and handed the menu to Travis.

Although Travis felt a little dissatisfied with Alyssa's behavior, he couldn't show it.

He is here today to beg, and he has no right to lose his temper.

Although Smith is only a special assistant, it is different from ordinary assistants.

He has followed Karl for many years, but his reputation is not worse than those of the industry elite.

With the blessing of Karl's special assistant, everyone in the industry looked at Smith very highly.

Travis was unhappy. He could neither rush to Alyssa, nor use Smith to cast fire, he could only hold back.

Therefore, his dissatisfaction with Rachel is even deeper.

If it weren't for Rachel, he wouldn't have come here to be angry.

Travis smiled and took the menu: "Okay."

After ordering a few dishes, he passed the menu directly to the waiter without giving Rachel any face.

Alyssa saw all this in her eyes, she was very unclear, and Travis did it to her on purpose.

She drank the water silently, and did not intend to speak out.

She wanted to see how Travis brought Rachel to look for her.

Alyssa's attitude was neither cold nor hot, and Travis was also a little uncertain.

He turned his head and glanced at Rachel, motioned her to speak out with his eyes.

Alyssa was too cold, and if he spoke first, it wouldn't look good if Alyssa put him down directly.

It is better to let Rachel speak first.

Rachel understood, she swallowed, looked at Alyssa, and yelled softly, "Alyssa."

Alyssa raised her head to look at Rachel, with a calm expression, and motioned to Rachel to speak.

Her expression was too indifferent, as if nothing had happened.

"I have something to tell you, can you let your assistant go?" Go out.

Rachel looked at Smith with an embarrassment.

Smith didn't seem to see Rachel's expression, sitting there motionless as a mountain, with no intention of leaving.

"You have something to say, what does it have to do with my assistant?" Alyssa looked at Rachel indifferently, without a trace of temperature in her eyes.

Chapter 885

Rachel was blocked by Alyssa's words, and suddenly choked.

The last time she saw Alyssa, she asked her to meet in a coffee shop and provoked her.

At that time, Rachel was arrogant, immersed in the joy of finally grasping Alyssa's handle.

But a few days later, she came to apologize to Alyssa in a low voice.

Rachel was silent with an ugly expression.

Alyssa raised her eyebrows slightly and asked, "Isn't there something to say? Why didn't you say it?"

Let Rachel apologize to Alyssa. After weighing in her heart, Rachel had already planned to apologize.

However, there was one more person at the scene.

For Rachel, Smith was an outsider, and she didn't want to lose face in front of outsiders.

"I can't" Rachel still couldn't tell.

At this moment, the waiter knocked.

Immediately, the he came in and served the dishes.

Alyssa has been working intensively in recent days. When she saw the food, she really felt a little hungry.

“Everyone, eat, I’m all hungry.” Alyssa picked up the chopsticks and began to eat.

Seeing this, Travis nodded slightly, picked up his chopsticks and started eating, he was not welcome at all.

This time Alyssa agreed to come and have dinner with Travis, not simply to accept their apology.

She wants to take the opportunity to let them understand one thing.

She wants them to understand that she has never been tolerating them because of her surname.

It’s just because she didn’t do it.

She is soft-hearted, but if she does it, she will definitely hit their lifeblood.

She doesn’t take it easy, once she takes it, it’s not so easy to expose it.

Travis and Rachel looked at each other, neither of them moved their chopsticks.

But only Alyssa and Smith two people are eating very comfortably.

“You asked me to eat, but you don’t eat it yourself?” Alyssa looked up at Travis.

Travis laughed and said, “Eating, I want to eat too.”

Alyssa curled the corners of her lips very shallowly, revealing an inconspicuous smile.

While Alyssa lowered her head to drink the soup, Travis tilted his head to Rachel’s ear and said in a voice that only two people could hear: “Do you want to say something? If you still can’t hold back your face to apologize now, just waiting to be finished with Hunt’s family!”

Travis’s voice was low, and it sounded a bit harsh.

Rachel clenched her hands involuntarily.

She stabilized her mind, and said as if she had finally made up her mind: “Alyssa, the previous thing was wrong with me. If you are angry with me because of the previous thing, you will let go of anger. Right!”

She said everything in one breath.

Alyssa listened to her, slowly put down her chopsticks, and looked at Rachel with a cold expression.

She stared at Rachel for a few seconds, then asked, “Do you think I’m angry with you?”

Rachel looked at Alyssa blankly, she didn’t know why Alyssa asked.

“Heh.” Alyssa sneered and turned to look at Travis: “Big Brother, do you think I am angry too?”

“I can’t” Travis couldn’t figure out what Alyssa was thinking from the beginning, and didn’t dare to speak easily.

Alyssa said indifferently: “I am not angry. For Hunt’s acquisition, this matter has been put on the agenda. The staff of this project has also paid a lot for this. They are working on the project very seriously. Because I was angry that I wanted to buy Hunt’s family, you made a mistake.”

Chapter 886

As soon as Alyssa’s voice fell, the atmosphere in the box became a little weird.

What she said was very official at first glance.

But the meaning in the words is not ambiguous at all.

In short, the acquisition of Hunt’s project was done by someone under her hand and had nothing to do with her. Although she is the boss, the person in charge of this project has paid a lot of effort, and she cannot easily deny the work results of the employees below.

Although the meaning in the words is like this, Travis is very clear that the acquisition of Hunt’s family is definitely meant by Alyssa.

Adams’ financial resources are strong, with a complete management system and precise investment vision.

Many senior executives with decision-making power are the top elites in the industry. They do a project, acquire a company, do a lot of data comparison, risk assessment

But this time the incident happened suddenly and it did not conform to the formal procedures of Adams’.

Even if Alyssa denied it face to face, Travis still believed that this was Alyssa’s decision.

The reason why she did not admit that it was her own order, on the other hand, was that she didn’t want to give Travis and Rachel a chance to change her decision.

She didn’t even bother to give them a chance, which proved her determination.

And Rachel obviously hadn’t figured out what was going on.

When she heard that Alyssa said that it was not her own intention, she believed it and said, “Since it was not what you meant, can you tell them not to continue? If Hunt’s company is acquired, what shall we do?”

“You have already caught up with Clifford, are you still worried about your way out?” Alyssa’s tone was extremely sincere, without any irony.

At that time, Isabel was missing, Rachel looked around for Isabel’s news.

Although Travis didn’t want to care about Isabel at that time, it was his own sister, Rachel was helping to find her, and he naturally followed it for a while.

At that time, Alyssa asked Rachel to find Clifford.

Travis later went to investigate Clifford with Rachel.

Although no news about Isabel was found, no more identity and background of Clifford was found.

But Travis was already a little clear in his heart that Clifford was not a simple character.

How could a person who dared to challenge Karl can be a simple character?

Must be a character that Hunt's family can't afford.

Since then, he hasn't checked Clifford again.

The rescue of Isabel later proved that his decision was correct.

If he hadn't given up on saving Isabel at that time but had heads-on with Clifford, what would have been the end?

He does not know.

But he saw Isabel's end.

She was tortured into a human form, and finally died unclearly.

Travis asked Rachel sharply, "What are you doing with Clifford again?"

"I didn't" Rachel first denied it subconsciously.

But in Travis's increasingly cold eyes, she quickly changed her words: "He took the initiative to find me. He said that he knew who was the real culprit who killed Isabel and could help me retaliate against her"

Speaking of the back, her voice became lower and lower.

"How stupid are you! Do you believe what Clifford said?" Travis trembled with anger, "No one else killed Isabel, it was Clifford!"

And Rachel was still arguing: "But Clifford said, it's Alyssa"

Her gaze fell on Alyssa, halfway through her thoughts of her purpose for coming today, and she fell silent.

Chapter 887

Listening to the conversation between Rachel and Travis was like watching a lively event.

Special meal.

As a result, Alyssa's appetite was much better.

Travis and Rachel hadn't eaten much, so they just spoke.

Therefore, when Alyssa was full, neither of them moved their chopsticks much.

"I'm full, so I'll go home now." Alyssa took a sip of water and stood up.

Smith also stood up with her.

Seeing that Alyssa and Smith were really leaving, Travis and Rachel were both anxious.

“Alyssa, don’t rush away. Let’s discuss this matter again?” Travis quickly stopped Alyssa for fear that she would leave.

“It’s getting late, I have something else, I have to go home.”

Alyssa said that there are other things, not perfunctory.

In the afternoon, Tina came to the company just when she was fine at that time and took Grace out to play.

She has to meet Tina.

Besides, she did not intend to stop like this time.

Rachel met her bottom line.

“Alyssa!”

Alyssa turned around and was about to go out, when she heard a “boom” behind her.

The voice is heavy.

Alyssa was startled for a moment.

She looked back and saw Rachel kneeling a step away from her, eyes full of pleading.

“Alyssa, I beg you, let the Hunt family go. The previous thing was all my fault. I shouldn’t have announced that you and Karl had children, but I didn’t let this matter develop further. The media reporter knows that it hasn’t affected you, I beg you!”

Rachel spoke with tears, but Alyssa’s expression became colder and colder.

What a familiar scene.

On the day she married into Adams’ house, Rachel knelt in front of her in the same way, begging her to marry Karl for Isabel.

Today, Rachel knelt before her, begging her to let the Hunt family go.

“You beg me, should I agree to you?” Alyssa’s voice was cold to the bone: “Anyone can beg due to weakness, but not everyone is qualified to be forgiven.”

Alyssa looked at Rachel indifferently, with an indifferent expression.

This made Rachel completely panicked.

“Please, give me another chance, Alyssa, I know I was wrong!” Rachel knelt on the ground and tightly hugged Alyssa’s legs, not allowing her to leave.

Alyssa didn’t even change her eyes.

There is no slightest movement.

Seeing this Smith said coldly: "Mrs. Hunt, please respect yourself."

Where did Rachel still think about Smith's words, only Alyssa was in her eyes.

All she knows is that if Alyssa is really cruel to buy the Hunt's, she will be over.

Hunt family will also over.

At that time, let alone Colin, Travis would not let her go.

"Mrs. Hunt, if you don't mind being laughed at, I will call the manager to deal with the trouble now."
Smith said of trouble, naturally referring to Rachel.

Travis's face turned blue when he heard the tone of business.

But he could only bite the bullet and reached out and pushed Rachel: "Let go!"

Rachel was still unwilling.

"Alyssa! Look at me, I really know I was wrong." Rachel's voice was crying, looking very pitiful.

Alyssa raised her eyes to look away, ignoring her.

"Mrs. Hunt." There was a hint of warning in Smith's tone.

Travis frowned tightly and pulled Rachel up very hard.

As soon as Alyssa was free, she moved two steps aside and said to Travis indifferently, "Big brother, thank you for inviting me to dinner."

After speaking, she went out.

Chapter 888

Rachel watched Alyssa go further and further, feeling anxious.

"Travis, why did you let Alyssa go! I will beg her again, maybe she will change her mind." Rachel's tone contained a trace of blame.

But Travis looked over with a look, and she immediately fell silent.

"You still have the face to say this?" Travis didn't want to talk to Rachel at all now.

But Rachel is still a member of the Hunt family, and he can't ignore her.

In the end, the stupid things Rachel did were made by the Hunt family to pay for her.

"With this energy, you'd better save it to go home and explain to my dad!" Travis sneered after speaking, and strode out.

Rachel only then realized afterward what was waiting for her next.

Colin treats her much better now than before, but this does not mean that he can tolerate her angering Alyssa, causing Alyssa to acquire Hunt's.

â€¦

On the way back, Alyssa kept silent.

She just silently sent a message to Tina and asked where Tina was.

Only Tina never responded.

Alyssa originally thought it was Tina who didn't see the message, so she waited for a while.

However, after waiting for a while, Tina still didn't give a reply.

Alyssa felt a little uneasy in her heart.

She took out her mobile phone and called Tina.

But the phone went on for a while and no one answered it.

Alyssa's heart became more disturbed.

Smith noticed that Alyssa's expression was wrong, and asked, "What happened Mrs. Adams?"

"Tina didn't answer my call." Alyssa took a deep breath, then took out her cell phone and dialed Tina.

No one answered this time.

Alyssa gritted her teeth and was silent for a moment, then dialed Clifford's phone.

It is impossible for Tina not to answer her calls for nothing.

There must be something wrong.

There was no accident early and no accident late, but at this moment, Alyssa had to think of Clifford.

There was nothing Clifford couldn't do.

Clifford didn't know what ecstasy soup had been poured into Rachel, so Rachel listened to him, and spread the news that she and Karl had a daughter.

And this incident was not exposed by the media in the end, there must be Clifford's handwriting.

This incident looked like a warning instead.

"beep—"

After Clifford's mobile phone was opened, there was no sound of music, only a dry beep.

After ringing five times in succession, Clifford finally answered the phone.

"What do you want?" Alyssa's voice was cold.

Clifford did not speak immediately.

However, Alyssa had already lost her mind.

“I’ve never seen someone as despicable as you, even don’t let go children. I don’t think you are wronged at all. You will feel disgusting from the inside out. If your parents and relatives still living in the world, they will also be ashamed of you!”

From Clifford’s attitude towards Muffi, it can be seen that he is actually a person who cares about his family.

And Alyssa’s words, sentence by sentence.

Clifford is despicable, and her words are also very vicious to Clifford.

“Call me on a special trip, just to say this? Is that enough?” Clifford’s tone was inconceivable dark.

He was indeed irritated by Alyssa’s words.

“No! Not enough!” Alyssa couldn’t forgive Clifford for everything he did to Grace.

At this moment, Alyssa received a new call from her cell phone.

She took the phone to her and found that the person calling was Tina.

Chapter 889

Alyssa’s heart was shocked, haven’t Tina and Grace been captured by Clifford?

She didn’t care what else Clifford would say, so she hung up Clifford’s phone and answered Tina’s call.

Without waiting for Tina to speak, Alyssa asked anxiously: “Tina, are you and Grace okay?”

Tina didn’t know what happened to Alyssa just now, and said in a relaxed tone: “We’re all right, in Best Day, come here!”

“Okay, I’ll come over right away.” Alyssa returned her heart to her stomach.

After hanging up the phone, she said: “Go to Best Day.”

After a long sigh of relief, she gently leaned back on the chair with a lingering fear.

Smith drove to Best Day in silence.

When Alyssa got out of the car, considering it was too early, she had to go home at night.

She turned around and said to Smith: “You can drive my car home, I’m all right here.”

As long as Grace is well, nothing matters anymore.

Smith in the car heard what Alyssa said to Clifford on the phone, and he still felt a little worried.

“I am not in a hurry.”

When Alyssa heard this, she didn’t even decline.

Smith is Karl’s subordinate, but he’s not a simply subordinates.

Without Karl, he has an unspeakable sense of responsibility towards Alyssa.

Alyssa knew these things in her heart.

The two entered the elevator one after the other and found the box Tina said.

This box is very large and is designed differently from other boxes. It is not usually used to entertain foreign guests and is usually reserved for personal use.

As soon as Alyssa entered, she heard Grace yell: "Mom!"

She was taking off her shoes and standing on the sofa. When she saw Alyssa coming in, she danced with joy.

It can be seen that Grace had a great time today.

"Alyssa, here comes!" Tina also greeted Alyssa enthusiastically.

Alyssa walked towards them.

The box is large, with lights on one half and dark on the other half.

"Are the two of you here?" Alyssa subconsciously glanced at the dark place on the other half, a little surprised.

It stands to reason that Tina brought Grace out to play, and she would only go to the kind of children's place. She didn't expect that she would bring Grace here.

Peter also let her open such a big box.

"Yeah!" After Tina finished speaking, she caught a glimpse of Smith who was following Alyssa, and said hello with a smile: "Mr. Smith is also here."

Smith nodded slightly: "Miss Weber."

Grace opened her hands and looked for Alyssa to hug her, and Alyssa walked over and hugged her.

Grace is getting heavier and heavier, and Alyssa will struggle to hold on for a long time.

Therefore, Grace also consciously did not stay in Alyssa's arms for too long.

Smith saw that Alyssa's current expression had almost recovered, and he felt relieved and planned to leave.

At this time, Tina also stood up suddenly: "Alyssa, I'm going to the bathroom, look after Grace by yourself."

"Yeah." Alyssa nodded.

When Tina left, Alyssa suddenly remembered that there was a toilet in the box, and Tina didn't need to go outside to use the toilet.

At this time, Alyssa heard slight footsteps in the box.

She raised her head sharply, and saw a slender, tall and familiar figure walking out of the shadow on the other side of the box.

And Grace had already yelled out first: "Dad!"

Grace looked at Alyssa with a smile, and pointed to Karl happily and said, "Mom, it's Dad!"

Alyssa glanced at the door and suddenly laughed.

No wonder Tina wants to go out to the bathroom.

Chapter 890

Karl was still the same as Alyssa had seen before, in a neatly tailored suit with grim eyes.

He came over, first touched Grace's head, and then sat down beside Alyssa.

Grace looked at Karl and Alyssa, then jumped off the sofa, put on her shoes and ran out.

Her series of movements are very neat and fast, as if they had been practiced in the morning.

When Grace went out, a cool voice came from outside: "Alyssa, I will take Grace out for a stroll, you guys talk."

After she finished speaking, she closed the box door with a "bang".

Alyssa didn't expect to see Karl here.

Only she and Karl were left in the room.

Karl was the first to break the silence and asked, "Have you met Rachel?"

Alyssa raised her eyes to look at him, with a faint surprise in her eyes.

How did Karl know that she had met Rachel?

"You don't have to worry about people who I deal with. Just do what you want. If you need it, I can help you deal with it." Karl's tone was light, but he had an extremely natural int!macy.

Alyssa was taken aback: "You came to me suddenly just to talk about her?"

Rachel did have some influence on Alyssa.

Until now, Rachel didn't feel that she had done anything wrong.

She didn't even feel how much she had done to Alyssa.

What makes Alyssa feel sad is that she had been so sad because of Rachel, but Rachel felt that she had done nothing wrong.

This made Alyssa feel a little unreasonable.

"No." Karl denied, looking serious: "The main reason is that I really wanted to see you."

Unpreparedly hearing Karl's words, Alyssa was startled for a moment.

Immediately, she laughed lowly: "Really?"

The mood in the tone is difficult to understand.

Karl knew what Alyssa thought.

He grabbed Alyssa's hand, and Alyssa wanted to break free, so he held it tighter.

He held her hand to his heart, and his voice became a little low: "Go home during this time."

Alyssa thought he would say something sensational in this action, but she didn't expect him to say this.

"I have always lived at home." Alyssa deliberately didn't understand the meaning of his words.

Karl said that he would go home and live in the villa where Alyssa lived with him.

But later, Alyssa was driven away by him.

Karl called out her name in an unpleasant tone: "Alyssa."

"You don't need to be so loud, I can hear it." Alyssa pulled her hand back, as if she didn't want to talk more: "I'll leave if there is nothing else."

She stood up and walked out.

When she didn't see Karl, she would worry about him.

However, once she saw him, she couldn't help being angry.

Angry at what he did before, but also at his lack of news.

Staying longer, she is afraid they will quarrel again.

Karl quickly grabbed her hand with his hands, and with a slight effort on his long arm, he pulled her into his arms.

The familiar breath lingered in her nose, and her body stiffened for a moment.

As if afraid that she would run away again, Karl tightened his arms and circled her tightly.

He bowed slightly, buried his head in her shoulders, his voice was very soft, with a gentle gentleness: "Stay a little longer."

Alyssa's complexion was weak, and she did not move in his arms.