

Predestined 91

Chapter 91

In the dark night, "Luther"'s voice was a little hoarse, so it sounded a bit like "Karl"'s voice.

Alyssa was taken aback, feeling that tonight's "Luther" was exceptionally abnormal.

She was obviously kidnapped. She slept for a while and now her mood is almost calm, but "Luther"'s mood seems to be particularly bad, and a gloomy atmosphere has enveloped his whole body.

People can't figure it out, and they can't help but fear.

Alyssa hesitated, but got out of the car.

She walked to "Luther" and stood still, and asked him softly, "What's wrong with you?"

"Luther" did not speak, he extinguished the cigarette in his hand and turned around.

In the night, although Alyssa couldn't see his face clearly, she could still feel the heavy pressure on her face.

Suddenly, the man standing in front of her bowed his head sharply.

He kissed hard.

Immediately, she came back abruptly and stretched out her hand to push him away.

But "Luther" was not like before, she tried to let go as soon as she struggled.

Not only did he not let go of her, but the arm around her waist also tightened harder, making her unable to move.

It wasn't until both people's breathing became heavier and heavier that "Luther" let go of her.

As soon as he let go, she felt as if she was about to fall to the ground. With a slight effort, "Luther" picked her up and threw her into the car.

"Luther" got into the car from the other side, started the car, and said nothing more.

After a while, Alyssa calmed down. Although she was angry at "Luther"'s behavior, she couldn't attack him. The two went back to the villa in silence.

The villa is brightly lit, with bodyguards on the three floors and the outside.

Alyssa was a little surprised: "What happened?"

It is impossible for Karl to notice that she is missing, so he recruited bodyguards to find her, right?

"Luther" who had assaulted her before, as if he hadn't heard her, raised his foot directly into the villa.

Alyssa followed him, looking at his upright back, she felt that "Luther" was unfathomable.

Once inside, "Luther" went straight upstairs.

When Alyssa returned to the villa, she felt more at ease. Once she settled down, she panicked with hunger.

When a bodyguard saw her go to the kitchen, he hurriedly followed up and said, "What does the young lady want to eat? I'll make it for you."

"I have some ready-made, I can just eat something." She is so hungry that she can eat two whales now.

She said she would eat something casually, but the bodyguard brought her a large table.

She was so hungry that she was staring at the stars, picked up the chopsticks and ate.

Halfway through the meal, she looked up and found "Luther" walked in and sat opposite her.

A bodyguard immediately brought him the tableware.

Seeing this, Alyssa asked him, "You haven't eaten yet?"

"Luther," said lightly, "I didn't have time to eat."

Yes, it took a lot of time for "Luther" to rescue her. It is normal if there is no time to eat.

"Luther" has changed his clothes, his hair is slightly wet, and he should have taken a shower.

Alyssa had almost eaten at this time, so she put down her chopsticks and said solemnly, "Thank you for saving me again."

She is in a mixed mood.

For a long time, she wanted to keep a distance from "Luther", but he helped her save her many times, and the two of them had long been confused.

"Don't be so stupid next time." "Luther" didn't look up, without any emotion in his tone.

Alyssa looked sad when she heard the words, and smiled self-deprecatingly: "I am indeed too stupid."

"But what can I do? She is my biological mother after all. I can't ignore her. No matter how bad she is, I never thought that she would lie to me with others, and"

Alyssa was already choked up after speaking.

She fell silent, her tight jaw with a hint of forbearance.

"Luther" looked up and looked at her stubborn and stubborn appearance. I didn't know what had come to mind, and slowly said, "Not all mothers are like her, your mother, she is not fine."

Alyssa looked up in surprise, "Luther" is this comforting her?

When she thought he would say something more, he lowered his head and ate slowly, as if he hadn't said what he had just said.

"

This night, Alyssa had nightmares again and again.

She got up very early, made breakfast but was not in the mood to eat, so she slept on the sofa in the living room and watched TV.

She didn't rush to confront the Hunt family.

Because she knew that even if she came to the door, Isabel would not admit it.

Buzzing—

The phone vibrated.

Alyssa glanced at the caller ID, Tina called.

Yesterday, she called Tina, but she didn't elaborate on what happened yesterday, only a few words, so Tina didn't know that she almost had an accident yesterday.

The reason why "Luther" would rescue her was because Tina called Peter.

"Should we go out to go shopping and relax? I'm going to promote new movies all over the country in a few days, and I will be a trapeze again."

Alyssa responded, "Okay."

She went back to the room and changed her clothes. When she went downstairs, she saw "Luther".

"Where to go?" "Luther" glanced at the bag she was holding, and knew she was going out.

"Shopping with friends." She especially proactively added: "It's shopping with Tina, the girl you met."

Having said this, Alyssa felt that her behavior to explain specifically to "Luther" was a bit strange.

"Luther" stood up and picked up the car key from the side: "I will take you."

Alyssa wanted to say no, but "Luther" seemed to see her thoughts, and said before she spoke: "Cousin ordered, if you go out, if I have time, let me see you off. "

Speaking of Karl, Alyssa didn't shine like before.

When she had an accident yesterday, it was "Luther" who went to save her. She didn't see Karl when she returned to the villa, and he didn't even say a word of concern.

She thought that she had shown enough sincerity in this period of time, but Karl was reluctant to see her.

That being the case, it's good to be a couple who respect each other like "ice".

Irrelevant to each other, not caring about each other, each live his own life.

Since she was a child, she has not been cared about by anyone, and it would not be a big deal to have another Karl.

Thinking of this, Alyssa relaxed a lot. She took two steps towards "Luther", turning her head slightly to look a little playful: "If it's your cousin's order, you don't have to send me. If you have nothing to send me off, then I have to trouble you."

Chapter 92

“Luther” heard Alyssa’s words, and a flash of surprise flashed in his eyes. He looked at her thoughtfully, but only faintly said: “Let’s go.”

Alyssa followed him, her expression a bit complicated.

Everyone is easily dominated by emotions. She now sees “Luther” not so disgusting, but feels grateful and admired, if he is not Karl’s cousin, if she did not marry Karl!

But in this way, the problem went back to its original point.

If she hadn’t married Karl, as her identity, it would be impossible for her to interact with “Luther” in her life.

This is an unsolvable problem, and fate is so ridiculous and helpless.

When the two got into the car, “Luther” suddenly asked her, “How are you going to get that black card back?”

Alyssa smiled: “Of course it is to find a way.”

“Aren’t you afraid that cousin will pursue this matter?” “Luther” calmly tempted her.

“If he wants to be held accountable, he would have asked me last night.” The smile on Alyssa’s face gradually disappeared: “He is so magnanimous, of course I have to take that card back to him.”

Originally thought that Karl would let her accept the black card, which was a way of acknowledging her identity.

Now it seems that it is just because he doesn’t care about the black card.

Karl grasped the key word in her words: Give it back to him.

When he gave her the phone, he said that “Karl” bought it, and she happily accepted it.

When he gave her the black card, she not only didn’t want it, but also took it back to “Karl”. “Karl” asked her to collect the black card, and she even took it and swiped it once.

Before that, she gladly accepted what Karl gave her.

But now, she wants to return the black card to Karl.

Did she finally lose patience with the “Karl who had never met before” and plans to focus on “Luther”?

This recognition made Karl unhappy, but his expression became darker.

!

Tina made a lot of money in filming, but it was also difficult to spend.

Every time you go shopping, you have to spend hundreds of thousands, and occasionally you can spend millions.

Although Alyssa's consumption outlook is different from Tina's, she feels that girls can spend whatever they want with the money they make.

The two of them had been shopping almost all day, and in the evening, Alyssa pulled Tina early and ate dinner before separating.

Back at the villa, Alyssa came in and saw "Luther".

"Have you eaten? If you haven't eaten, I will cook it for you now." Thinking of cooking for "Luther" in her heart, she came back deliberately.

It's only 6 o'clock in the evening now.

"Luther" raised his head, the expression on his face vaguely revealed the four characters "flattered".

He gave a concealed cough, and then said very seriously: "I didn't eat it."

The face of the bodyguard on the side twitched. He would definitely not tell Madam and boss that the Sir had just returned from Best Day after eating.

After Alyssa made the meal, she packed a portion out and put it on the tray for the bodyguard to send it to Karl.

"Luther" hasn't eaten yet, and Karl must have not eaten either.

Then she went back to her room.

Karl sat at the dining table, looked at the delicious dishes, and asked the bodyguard who poured water for him: "Why do you think Madam is different from before?"

The bodyguard thought about it seriously, and said straightforwardly: "The young lady used to ask if the Sir was at home when she came back. She didn't ask today."

The "Sir" in the bodyguard's words meant "Karl who never showed up".

After the bodyguard finished speaking, he felt that he hadn't made it clear, and then explained: "The Sir I'm talking about is not you, or that Sir', young lady"

After talking for a long time, the bodyguard felt that he was becoming more and more complicated.

"I see, you can go out." Karl interrupted him, raising his hand to signal him to go out.

â€¦

The next day is Monday.

Alyssa woke up early and put on delicate makeup.

Smith was already waiting for her when she went downstairs.

Alyssa looked around, but did not see "Luther", she walked to Smith: "This time is too much trouble for you, I'd better go to work by car."

After she finished speaking, she turned around and went out.

Smith: "â€!"

Isn't it troublesome at all? He thinks the easiest job is to pick up his boss's from work every day.

After Alyssa left, Karl, who stood at the top of the stairs on the second floor and had a panoramic view, slowly stepped down.

"Sir." Smith respectfully nodded slightly, he knew that Karl had heard what had happened just now, so he didn't explain much.

Karl glanced at the door, showing a smile that was not a smile: "Follow her."

He originally thought that Alyssa would discover his identity, but what he didn't expect was that she had already deliberately started to distance herself from Karl.

Alyssa arrived at Hunt's by car.

She got out of the car and stood in front of the office door, her face full of bitter coldness, and her eyes full of confidence.

She had a big life and came back.

Alyssa raised her foot and walked towards the door, and the passing employees couldn't help but look at Alyssa more.

They all found that Alyssa today seems to be different. Although it is still that face and still beautiful, it just feels that there is something different.

A colleague from the marketing department who was familiar with Alyssa passed by and called her: "Alyssa, morning."

"Morning." Alyssa turned her head and smiled at the speaker.

A pair of beautiful cat eyes are bent into the shape of a crescent, the lips are bright red, the skin is fair, and the features are just right.

The person next to her looked at him in a daze, and after a few seconds he reacted and smiled.

The group of people entered the elevator, and Alyssa chatted with them: "How did you spend the weekend? What did you go out for?"

"I went to the playground with my childâ€!"

"I date my boyfriend."

"I said there was a red spot on this neck, I thought it was bitten by a mosquito!"

"What nonsense!"

The group of people talked and laughed, Alyssa stopped talking, just smiled and went to press the elevator.

However, the elevator doors closed and opened again.

The person who came in was Isabel.

As soon as she came in, the chattering and laughter stopped, and the elevator suddenly became quiet.

Alyssa was in the most advanced elevator. Standing in the corner behind the crowd, Isabel raised her chin and glanced roughly at the people in the elevator, but did not notice Alyssa for the first time.

Alyssa looked at Isabel and found that the coat Isabel was wearing was the new style of a big-name brand that Isabel saw in the mall yesterday, and the price was nearly one million.

Alyssa curled her lips and slowly said with a smile: "Sister, good morning."

At this time, the elevator was slowly rising, and it was very quiet inside. Alyssa's not loud noise spread out in the elevator, and it was inexplicably weird.

Isabel turned her head in disbelief, and when she saw Alyssa clearly, her face suddenly changed.

She seemed to have seen some scary monster. She staggered and almost fell. She supported the handrail in the elevator and stared at Alyssa, "Why are you here? You are not!"

Realizing that she was in the elevator now, she quickly settled her mind, pretending to be calm, and said: "It's Alyssa, you are early today."

When Alyssa spoke, the person standing next to her had already taken the initiative to step back.

Alyssa fixedly stared at Isabel, and said quietly, "It's a little earlier than my sister."

Chapter 93

Isabel was seen by Alyssa's hair standing upright.

She wanted to act calmly, pulling her lips to smile, but the fear in her eyes was too obvious, so that her facial expression became very strange, like a sheep's seizure.

Everyone in the elevator noticed Isabel's abnormality, but no one said anything.

Alyssa slowly walked to Isabel, put her arm around her, and said with envy, "Sister, this dress is newly bought, it's so beautiful, it looks expensive."

If in normal times, Isabel would have to show off her dress, but the person in front of her was Alyssa, who she thought was dead, and she didn't even have the desire to show off.

What's more, the dress on her was bought with the black card of Alyssa.

"No! it's not very expensive," Alyssa said.

"Maybe it's not expensive for my sister. I saw the same dress in the mall yesterday. It costs more than 900,000. You have to book in advance. Most people can't buy it if they want to!"

Isabel ordered the coat in advance, which meant that they had already made a plan to deceive the black card from Alyssa.

From the point of view of others, Alyssa was lovingly holding Isabel's envious new clothes, but only Isabel knew that she was so scared that she didn't even dare to take a mouthful.

Alyssa was very satisfied with Isabel's response. This was the response to doing bad things.

Ding—

When the elevator reached the floor, the door opened automatically.

Isabel wanted to go out but did not dare to move, because Alyssa did not let go of her.

Seeing that Isabel hadn't moved, the others in the elevator dared not go ahead.

Alyssa pretended to be surprised and said, "What does my elder sister think? Why don't you go out yet, everyone is waiting for you."

She said while pulling Isabel out.

When she went out, she didn't forget to turn back and rush to the other people in the elevator and say, "See you later."

After reaching Isabel's office, Alyssa unlocked the door before releasing Isabel.

"Sister seems to be very afraid of me? You make me very embarrassed because others thought I was bullying you." Alyssa said, and Isabel took a step back.

Alyssa sneered, and grabbed Isabel's collar, with a ruthless voice in her voice: "Don't be afraid, I have always listened to my sister so much. Where can I bully you."

Isabel saw Alyssa talking about it for a long time without mentioning what happened yesterday. Fortunately, she thought that Alyssa didn't know that she did the things that day.

Thinking of this, she immediately gained confidence.

Isabel shook off Alyssa's hand and pretended to be puzzled: "Alyssa, you took the wrong medicine, right? Say something inexplicable to me in the morning!"

As she talked, she turned and walked to sit behind the desk and put on the manager's frame: "Well, it's working time. You go back to work first, and come to me after work if you have anything to do."

Alyssa was not surprised that Isabel would pretend that nothing happened.

"Okay, I'll come to see you after work." Alyssa burst into a smile and turned to go out.

As soon as she went out, Isabel anxiously dropped the documents she faced to the ground!

Alyssa appeared alive intact!

The kidnapping case on Saturday was a method she and Colin came up with to deceive Alyssa's black card.

The plan she and Colin agreed upon was to get the black card and let the two kidnapers leave the Rostenvel. Even if Alyssa knew about the incident, she couldn't do anything to them.

But Isabel hated Alyssa so much that she would not let Alyssa so easily.

She secretly added money to the two kidnapers, letting them play with Alyssa, and killed her if they had enough fun!

The two kidnapers were wanted, and were cruel, and Isabel didn't contact them to ask about the result afterwards, because she was worried that she would be left behind, Alyssa would definitely die, but she didn't expect them to miss it!

Alyssa is different from before. Once she knows that the kidnapping case was planned by her, she will definitely not let her go!

â€¦

Alyssa left Isabel's office and went to find Colin.

The kidnapping case on Saturday must have been done jointly by the father and daughter, otherwise, Isabel could not do it alone.

Alyssa knocked on the door, and Colin's voice came from inside: "Come in."

She pushed the door in, and Colin just raised his head.

When he saw Alyssa, his eyes flashed with surprise, but he was not afraid.

In other words, Colin might not know what the two kidnapers wanted to do to her.

Colin got up and stood up: "Alyssa, are you okay?"

"I am okay, how is my mother?" Alyssa walked over calmly, her expression is intact.

Seeing that she did not mention the kidnapping case, Colin thought she didn't know, and said with a gentle smile: "She's okay, she will bring food at noon. Would you like to eat together?"

Alyssa nodded and responded, "Okay."

At noon, Rachel came to Colin to deliver food to Colin.

When she saw Alyssa was there, her expression changed slightly: "Alyssa is also hereâ€¦"

"It's been a long time since my mother's cooking I tasted. I heard dad say that you will come to deliver the food. I can come and have a meal." When Alyssa spoke, she looked straight into Rachel's eyes, as if she was smiling but not smiling. People couldn't figure out what she was thinking.

"The food I cook tastes very ordinaryâ€¦" Rachel turned her head to avoid Alyssa's gaze while taking out the vegetable rice in the food box.

Rachel's obvious dodge made Alyssa sure that Rachel also knew about Saturday's kidnapping.

Otherwise, what is her guilty conscience?

She can't say how sad it is, but she feels a little discouraged.

She must admit that in the past 22 years, her biological mother has never loved her.

She has no place at all in the heart of her biological mother.

Rachel could do anything for Colin and them.

Isabel was right, she was a poor creature who didn't even love her by her biological mother.

Alyssa lowered her head and laughed lowly: "I haven't eaten the food you cooked, so I don't remember what it tastes like."

Rachel was stunned when she heard the words, she turned her head and glanced at Colin.

Colin gave her a calm look and shook his head.

Rachel was only slightly relieved.

After Saturday's affairs, she found that Alyssa cared very much about her, after all, she could hand over such a precious black card without blinking.

She is so important to Alyssa, if Colin has anything to ask Alyssa to do in the future, she can help him.

He would be very happy to help her and treat her better.

Thinking about this, Rachel smiled on her face, and reached out to give Alyssa warm food, with a flattering tone: "Then you eat more today."

Chapter 94

"Thank you." Alyssa looked at Rachel with a smile.

Although Alyssa was expressing thanks, Rachel always felt that there was something special in her smile, and her cat eyes seemed to have insight into everything.

Rachel shuddered involuntarily, and the chopsticks in her hand could not be held steady for a while and fell to the ground.

Alyssa bent over to help her pick up the chopsticks, and said, "Mom, hold the chopsticks firmly. If you drop it next time, I may not be able to pick up the chopsticks by your side."

Her tone was slow and gentle, but in Rachel's ears, she always felt like she had something special.

Rachel frowned, and put on a smile again: "It's just not careful."

"Really?" Alyssa smiled non-committal and stood up: "I'm full, will leave now."

In fact, she hasn't moved her chopsticks much at all.

Colin watched Alyssa walk out, frowning, he always felt that Alyssa was weird.

â€¦

As soon as Alyssa left Colin's office, the expressions on his face were all condensed, leaving only the biting bitterness.

Rachel just wanted to please, she saw it, but her heart didn't fluctuate at all.

For so many years, she has been deceiving herself and others.

As long as Rachel loves him a little, he will not even buy her clothes for so many years, let alone beg her to marry the impotent Karl for Isabel.

Rachel wanted to please him because of the kidnapping, he understood the importance of her in his heart and tasted the sweetness, right?

If it was before, she might have forgiven Rachel.

However, after being frustrated, people became much more sober, and Rachel's kindness could not numb him.

From now on, she will no longer care about Rachel.

No one can pretend that nothing has happened after being hurt again and again without a limit, and turn that page over.

Alyssa walked to a place where no one was there, and sent a message to the paparazzi whom Tina had introduced to her: "The latest kitchen cleaning towel developed by Hunt's is made of inferior materials and contains harmful toxins."

Hunt's mainly makes household-type daily necessities. In the past two years, it was exposed that the products were fake and inferior, and problems were found, but they were soon suppressed.

She was still in high school at the time. After seeing this news, she went to the factory under the family and saw it once. There were indeed some problems.

The paparazzi Tina introduced to her is relatively reliable and has relatively professional ethics.

Although he is an entertainment paparazzi, he can sell this news to other media.

The paparazzi quickly came back to her: "Are you sure?"

"I'm sure, but you have to go to the factory to take pictures, and I will send you the address." Paparazzi is best at disguising and taking pictures. This is their specialty.

"Yes, yes!"

Because of the in-law relationship with the Adams' family, the Hunt's family's affairs also have a certain news value, so the paparazzi agreed.

Alyssa put away the phone and walked between the cells.

Halfway through, she met Isabel, who came back from eating outside.

Rachel often cooks and sends it to the company, but Isabel had a hedonic idea. She is tired of eating Rachel's food every day, so naturally she is more willing to eat out.

Isabel arrogantly stopped her: "Don't you want to learn from me? I'll have a meeting later, and you will listen to it."

Isabel has been relieved now. She thinks she knows Alyssa very well. If Alyssa knew that she did it, she would naturally not be so peaceful, but she could not be completely sure, so she wanted to put her by her side and take a look.

Alyssa responded with a smile, "Okay."

€

meeting room.

Alyssa sat next to Isabel, listening casually to the content of their meeting.

Although she didn't understand her well, she could feel that Isabel, like her, did not know anything.

Looking at Alyssa's dazed expression, Isabel felt even more proud.

A fool is a fool!

Alyssa doesn't care how proud Isabel is now, because soon all Hunt's projects will be forced to stop.

At the end of the meeting, Isabel left Alyssa.

"You don't even understand the content of such a simple meeting. I advise you to return to your marketing department as soon as possible!" Isabel looked at Alyssa with contempt, her tone of contempt was unabashed.

"Oh, let's talk about it." Alyssa glanced at her lightly, then turned and went out.

What Isabel couldn't bear the most was Alyssa's way of not putting her in her eyes.

She looked viciously at Alyssa's back. She didn't believe that Alyssa's luck could be so good every time. One day, she would be able to step Alyssa into the mud!

Alyssa returned to the grid room and checked the Internet, and found that there was no news related to Hunt's family.

Didn't the paparazzi not photograph anything? Or did he not go to the factory to dig materials?

But it didn't take long for Alyssa to wait for the result.

Just before work, an emergency meeting was called in the company.

The atmosphere in the company suddenly became tense, and the sound of telephone ringing was everywhere, and it was full of chaos.

Not long after Alyssa arrived in the project department, she also did some chores, but she was usually very kind to her colleagues, and coupled with her complicated identity, most of her smooth colleagues did not tell her to do things.

Therefore, Alyssa became the most leisurely person.

She slowly turned on her mobile phone and surfed the Internet, and she suddenly saw a piece of news similar to exposing a company's shady business on the headlines.

"When it comes to the daily necessities companies in Rostenvel, people can't help but think of Hunt's. Today, our reporter took a risk and went into Hunt's factories to expose the hidden behind the scenes. Most of the raw materials are from garbage. Recovered from the field, causing great harm to human health!"

Alyssa glanced at ten lines and swiped into the comment area.

“The daily necessities, towels, mops, etc. at home in the previous ten years were all made by this company, but they were no longer used two years ago. As for the reasons, everyone who has used them knows!”

“I just bought a new suit from this brand, can I return it?”

“Do you remember the protagonist of the previous indecent video? It seems to be the daughter of the boss of this company, who can teach such a shameless daughter, what kind of conscience can you expect from him?”

+1, I think what the upstairs said is right!”

+2!”

+ID number, I have guessed that such a company will be exposed sooner or later!”

!”

After this comment mentioning Isabel’s indecent video, there are tens of thousands of comments. This wave of rhythm is really just right, and further deepens the user’s resistance to Hunt’s

Chapter 95

Alyssa read that comment again.

Thanks to the merits of fighting with Isabel in the past few months, the more she looked at it, the more she felt that the comment seemed to be deliberately sent out with rhythm. The following comment even invited a part of the trolls.

Alyssa thought of Tina.

She sent this with tens of thousands of comments as a screenshot to Tina, and asked her: “You posted this comment? Did you find the trolls?”

Tina second replied: “F*ck! You can see this? Honestly, did you install something strange on my phone?”

Alyssa laughed, and succinctly returned two words: “Feeling.”

Tina: “You feel really amazing! However, why don’t you find someone to expose the Hunt family to me! I can help you find the trolls to build up momentum!”

Tina’s trouble-making character has really remained the same.

“Don’t mix in, I can handle it. You are a public figure. Be careful to be hacked out to black you.” Alyssa is really worried about Tina, if someone deliberately wants to hack her, just pick up these things. It’s all black material.

“It’s okay, I won’t be picked up. You have done a good job of keeping secrets. Let’s not talk about it. I will wear a vest and go to Twitter to join in the fun and have dinner together to celebrate.

Celebrate?

Alyssa smiled helplessly and exited the chat interface.

A colleague nearby said to Alyssa aloud: "Alyssa, it's a departmental meeting, why are you still here?"

"Coming soon."

Alyssa put her phone in her pocket and slowly followed the crowd to the meeting.

The person who organized the meeting was not Isabel, but the deputy manager.

The deputy manager has a serious face: "Let's contact the project cooperation customers in your hand, so as to appease them first, and those who want to cancel the cooperation, everyone should try their best to hurry up!"

Alyssa fiddled with her hair boredly, listening indifferently.

The shady scenes in the Hunt factory are exposed, and the image of the company will drop sharply in front of the public, just as a certain milk powder brand that year was exposed and mixed with additives that harm the baby's body. The next moment it collapsed.

Hunt's is a daily necessities brand, not a food category. As long as their public relations skills are in place, they should not go bankrupt, but they will definitely be hit hard.

In this era of rapid development, some people will do whatever it takes to chase fame and gain, and their hearts will be impetuous, and there are only a few people who really do things down to earth.

Alyssa is a bit ruthless in this move, but if Hunt's factory is okay, can the paparazzi be able to take photos?

After the emergency meeting was over, it was time to leave work, and almost everyone had to stay to work overtime.

Alyssa didn't plan to stay to work overtime, she got up and left with her bag, approached the elevator entrance, and walked back towards Colin's office.

Coincidentally, the office door is ajar.

Isabel's angry voice came from inside.

"How much benefit do we give to those media every year? That's how they do things? Dad, what should we do? Will Hunt's go bankrupt like this?"

Hearing the word "bankrupt", Colin yelled to stop her: "Shut up! I said earlier that I would let you rest and go out to play a little more low-key. Now I am caught by Hunt's handle, and You are making a big fuss about your affairs, this is because someone deliberately prevents our family from getting better!"

"How did I know that people would take photos and videos? I was just thinking about having fun, and you didn't care about me at the time."

Isabel was probably too anxious, and she became unbalanced when she was scolded by Colin again, and she began to talk without a word.

With the sound of "pop", Isabel's voice stopped abruptly.

Alyssa gently pushed open the door a bit, and saw Isabel covering her face, followed by her sharp voice: "You hit me?"

Colin seemed to regret it a bit, and his tone eased a lot: "Isabel!"

Isabel took a step back: "Don't call me!"

When she finished speaking, she turned and ran outside.

Seeing this, Alyssa turned and left in a hurry.

When she was approaching the door, she thought of the last time the media went directly to Hunt's door to block people, so she pulled out a mask from her bag and put it on.

In winter, she has the habit of keeping a regular mask in her bag, but she didn't expect it to come in handy at this time.

As soon as Alyssa went out, she was besieged by reporters.

"Are you an employee of Hunt's? What is your position in Hunt's? Are you employees aware of the shady work in Hunt's factory?"

"Sorry, no comment." After Alyssa said, turning her head inadvertently, she saw Isabel walking out.

After changing her mind, Alyssa said aloud: "Your problem, our department manager should be able to help you."

The reporter followed Alyssa's sight and saw Isabel.

Although Alyssa has a slim figure and beautiful exposed eyes, she wears ordinary clothes, and she doesn't look like a corporate manager at all.

The clothes that Isabel wore were very brand-name. It appeared in fashion week and was seen by the big names in the entertainment industry. She can wear such expensive clothes and her position in the company is not low.

The reporters were all human beings, and they rushed over to block Isabel.

Alyssa did not go far but retreated to a side that was not very noticeable, watching Isabel be surrounded by the reporters.

"Excuse me, what position do you hold in Hunt's? Do you have anything to say about the exposure to the factory? When do you plan to give the public an account?"

At the very beginning, everyone was still talking about the problems of Hunt's factory.

I don't know who suddenly recognized that Isabel was the heroine of the previous indecent video, and the questions she asked again changed.

"Are you the heroine of the video on Twitter before?"

"Your private life is so chaotic, you can still manage the family business?" The reporter who asked the question obviously didn't know that Isabel was Colin's daughter.

After all, these are not entertainment reporters, they just know about it and don't pay much attention.

There are other reporters who responded quickly and searched the Internet for previous video events.

Then some reporters started live broadcasting directly at Hunt's door.

"Hello everyone, I'm a reporter forâ€¦ I am now at the door of Hunt's company, and the woman standing behind me and being surrounded by reporters asking questions is a middle-level manager of the company. According to reports, This manager was caught in an indecent video scandal some time ago. For such aâ€¦!"

Before the reporter finished speaking, Isabel rushed over and turned on the microphone in her hand.

Isabel had no image at this time, and said grimly: "What are you talking nonsense? Can't you reporters seriously report the facts? How can these fictitious things be reported."

Other reporters slapped Isabel and shot her.

The flash was dazzling, and Isabel raised her hand to cover her face, and her voice was a little hysterical: "Stop shooting, you stop shooting security! Where is security! Get them all away!"

The reporter whose microphone was knocked off by her before picked it up again and found that it was still working, and continued to live with excitement: "The one who knocked off my microphone just now was the manager of Hunt's. I just learned that she is The daughter of Chairman Hunt her name is Isabelâ€¦!"

Chapter 96

For Isabel's ugly appearance, Alyssa had no interest in admiring it again.

She went to the bus stop and took the bus back to the villa.

As soon as she entered the door, she threw her bag away and collapsed on the sofa, too tired to move.

She didn't do anything today, why did she feel so tired?

It may be heart tiring.

When she turned on Twitter on her mobile phone, she just saw the two hot topics "Black Heart Factory" and "Indecent Video Black Heart Factory" being topped on the topic list.

There was scolding in the comments.

Occasionally, there were a few comments that defended Hunt and Isabel, and they were quickly overwhelmed.

Soon, Alyssa saw the video of Isabel being besieged at the office door.

Isabel in the video looks like a madman.

The number one hot comment below the video is: "Why do I feel that this woman looks like a real neuropathy the more I look at it? Otherwise, after her indecent video is released, how can she scold the reporter without any shame, Said this is a mere illusion?"

“Agree with the original poster. Fortunately, I am not her friend. This kind of crazy murder will not be sentenced, right?”

“Simply a crazy woman!”

“You look pretty, how much money will you sleep for?”

Alyssa put down the phone, too lazy to look at it again.

Except for a few bodyguards guarding the door, the whole villa was empty, and it was unknown whether Karl and “Luther” were at home.

Alyssa thought for a while and sent a message to “Luther”: “Are you coming back for dinner?”

If “Luther” does not come back to eat, she will not do it, anyway, there will be bodyguards to cook.

Karl on the other side just ended a three-hour meeting, a little tired.

As soon as he returned to the office and sat down, he received a text message from Alyssa.

When he was about to reply, he saw Peter eagerly opening the door and striding in.

“Karl, look at this!” Peter handed the phone to Karl.

Karl looked down, his pupils shrunk slightly, and after reading it roughly, he said indifferently: “The factory under Hunt’s family has problems. If you want to deal with the family, you can use this to deal with them. No company is clean, so it is generally not anxious. No one will make such a big trick to deal with this family.”

Peter nodded and said, “You said that this happened, is the old man from Hunt’s family going back to the country?”

“It’s possible.” Karl didn’t know what he thought of, and his voice went cold suddenly.

Peter didn’t notice this detail. He asked with some doubts: “This incident was exposed too suddenly. There was really no news before. Who do you think did this?”

Who did it?

Karl’s eyes flickered, and immediately looked at Peter blankly, “I won’t tell you.”

Peter’s eyes widened: “Just look at the news and you will know who did this?”

Karl ignored him and turned on the computer to go online to read news related to Hunt’s family.

Peter was unwilling to continue to ask him: “Then tell me a little bit, is it a competitor in the industry?”

“No,” Karl answered very simply this time.

All the people on the Internet are scolding Hunt’s family, nothing new.

Karl watched for a few minutes and then stopped watching.

He just remembered that Alyssa had sent him a text message before.

He edited a text message and sent it to Alyssa.

Peter wanted to ask a thing more, Karl had already got up with his coat and walked out.

Peter also saw Karl sending text messages just now, but didn't see the content.

Naturally, only Alyssa was the one who would let Karl send text messages.

"Are you coming home for dinner? I didn't drive back and forth today, I'll take your car to your house!" Peter had eaten Alyssa's meal, and was always thinking about it, and wanted to go to Karl's house for a meal.

Karl turned his head and coldly refused: "It's not going on, don't take it."

"Don't be so cold and ruthless, just go to your house for a meal, am I a buddy!"

Karl still refused altogether, "No."

In the end, Peter ran into Karl's car shamelessly.

â€¦

Alyssa stared at the phone screen, watching the text message "Luther" sent back to her.

There is only a simple "um" word on it.

As a poor patient, Alyssa felt that it was necessary for her to add "Luther"'s WeChat account. She could also directly send WeChat to him if she had something to do, without spending any money.

She searched the WeChat mobile phone contacts and found that there was no "Luther".

This person doesn't even use WeChat?

Alyssa put down the phone, got up, and went to the kitchen.

As soon as she cut the vegetables, she heard the sound of a car engine outside.

It should be "Luther" who is back.

"Warm."

This voiceâ€¦

Alyssa turned her head and saw Peter walk in with a smile, still carrying a delicate small box in his hand.

The logo printed on the box is a cake shop or a cake shop that Tina often visits.

"Oh, I didn't drive to the company today, and I couldn't go home. I met Luther on the road, so I took his car and stayed there for one night. You have to cook one more person's meal for your hard work. I brought you cakes, which is not respect.

It's worthy of being the boss of an entertainment company, this can be said to be perfect.

However, she is still somewhat unaccustomed to being called "Alyssa" by Peter.

“Thank you.”

Peter was so good-looking and likable, and so polite, of course, Alyssa could only accept the cake with a smile.

Alyssa took a picture of the cake and sent it to Tina.

Tina made an angry expression: “You go buy the cake without me!!!”

“Peter bought it. Does it seem that he bought it at the store someone often goes to? I don’t know if someone has ever met him”

“[Holding a forty-meter long sword.jpg].”

Alyssa stopped teasing her, thinking of what Tina said before, she wanted to celebrate with her: “Would you like to come for dinner?”

“Not.” Peter is also there, Tina is impossible to come.

“

During the meal, Peter, who was stubborn about Hunt’s factory incident, mentioned this incident again.

Alyssa immersed herself in the meal without saying a word, as quiet as a chicken.

After talking for a long time, Peter remembered that Alyssa was also from the Hunt family.

He simply asked Alyssa directly: “Alyssa, what’s going on with your company?”

Nothing special?

Karl squinted slightly and raised his head to look at Peter: “When you are full, you will roll.”

Peter looked inexplicable, when did he provoke this uncle again?

Alyssa is already accustomed to Karl’s uncertain personality, she shook her head: “It’s not very clear, after all, I am just a messenger in the company.”

When the voice fell, “Luther” sitting opposite her suddenly turned his head and glanced at her.

Alyssa’s eyes are deep and mysterious, with a hint of insight.

How did she feel that “Luther” seemed to see that she was lying

Chapter 97

As soon as he finished eating, “Luther” drove Peter away.

Peter grabbed the door frame and didn’t want to leave: “It’s so dark and so cold, can’t you keep me for one night?”

It is difficult for Alyssa to associate Peter, who is holding the door frame like a puppy, and not letting go, with the well-known President Grant of AdamPic Media.

He may be possessed by something strange.

Peter felt Alyssa's gaze, and immediately let go of her hand after a light cough: "In fact, it's not too cold. I'm leaving now."

After Peter left, only Alyssa and "Luther" were left in the hall.

Alyssa glanced at the door, wondering in her heart, why hasn't Karl returned?

Where does he often go out with?

"I'm going up first." Alyssa glanced at "Luther" before turning around to go upstairs.

"Luther" suddenly stopped her: "Alyssa."

"What?" Alyssa stopped to look at him.

She was already very white, under the light, her face was more like a layer of a fine powder, and a pair of cat eyes fixedly looked at him.

"Hunt's matter?" Karl paused deliberately in the middle of speaking. Seeing that Alyssa's eyes were a little bit nervous, he curled his lips and smiled: "Need help?"

When he said the first half of the sentence, Alyssa's heart jumped, thinking he knew something.

After hearing the second half of his sentence, her heart fell to the bottom of her heart again, but her expression was always uncomfortable, and she smiled a little reluctantly: "My dad, he will find a way, after all, this kind of thing happened in the factory. It's a scandal for the company, and they have to solve it themselves."

"Luther" tilted his head, and responded with a smile, "Oh."

Alyssa nodded and went upstairs dingy.

When she returned to the room, she felt a little relieved.

After all, she is a member of Hunt's family. She calculated Hunt's family, and the fewer people knew the better.

Tina is her best friend, so she naturally didn't need to keep it secret.

But "Luther" is different, no matter what he helped her, after all, he is from the Adams' family.

Sometimes adults are so complicated, and it is difficult to trust a person.

€

The next morning, Alyssa got up in the morning and stopped when she passed Karl's study.

Karl's whereabouts were too secret, she didn't ask about Karl's situation in the past two days, and no one would actively tell her that he was completely invisible in this family.

On the contrary, "Luther" looks more like the boss here.

Although Alyssa was puzzled, she didn't think much because she was going to work.

When she arrived at the company when Alyssa passed the public relations department, she saw a large group of people sleeping on the table, and two colleagues with dark circles came out of the pantry making coffee.

It seems that the colleagues in the public relations department stayed up all night last night.

Even if they stayed up all night, things at the factory have already become a big deal. It's not like Isabel's indecent video that can easily be publicized.

As soon as Alyssa sat down in her cubicle, someone came to notify her to go to a meeting.

Alyssa was purely watching the excitement today, so she followed to the meeting room.

It is nothing more than arranging some tasks to stabilize the customer.

When the meeting ended, Alyssa was about to leave with the others, and Colin's secretary did not know when he would come.

The secretary nodded slightly: "Miss Alyssa, the chairman wants you to come over."

"What's the matter?" Alyssa asked, walking out slowly.

The secretary remembered the last time that Colin asked her to come to Alyssa. Alyssa walked away with no face. She stretched out her arm and said helplessly: "You can go there. The chairman was also the same last night. I didn't sleep late"

"Then you let go!" Alyssa originally wanted to see Colin and the others desperate.

She has to admit that her heart is actually quite bad.

At the door of Colin's office, the secretary knocked on the door and said, "Chairman, Miss Alyssa is here."

As she said, she opened the door for Alyssa and respectfully made a gesture of invitation.

"Thank you." Alyssa smiled at the secretary, raised her foot, and walked in, closing the door smoothly.

Colin raised his head from behind the desk, with a gentle smile: "Alyssa is here, have you eaten breakfast?"

There are also a few breakfast boxes on the desk, and the logo on them is familiar. They are from nearby restaurants.

"I've eaten, what's the matter with my dad?" Alyssa sat down opposite him with a serious expression.

Colin's complexion did look haggard a lot, and she could see that he hadn't slept all night, he shook his head, his expression was a bit vicissitudes of life: "You know what happened to the company, a colleague from the public relations department. Yesterday I was busy all night and I didn't see any results. Yesterday someone went to smash the company's store"

Colin put on a bitter face and complained to Alyssa, which seemed a bit pitiful.

But Alyssa knew that Colin's call for her early in the morning was not just a simple complaint, he must have some purpose.

Sure enough, as Colin was talking, he got involved with her: "The Hunt's" is our own company. Although you are married, you are still a member of this family. Now that the company has such a major event, most people can't keep wandering. Anymore, unless!"

Speaking of what he said, he already understood very well, that he wanted Alyssa to help him seek Adams' family.

Alyssa was the initiator of this incident, how could she help Colin.

As if she didn't understand, she said with a serious face: "Yes, this is a serious matter. Yesterday, I saw that all of them were scolding our company on the Internet. In this way, we have to make corrections. To be forgiven by consumers!"

This is simple to say. The most important issue for Hunt's right now is that all partners have to terminate their cooperation, and even can sue Hunt's. This is nothing but worse for them.

However, at this time, if the Adams' family could come out and say something to the Hunt family, those partners would not dare to terminate the cooperation.

After all, no one can provoke the Adams' family.

Colin saw that Alyssa was so inadequate, his complexion changed slightly, and his tone became serious, and no longer obliquely said, "These are secondary. The most important thing now is to maintain the normal operation of the company. You let Karl send someone Just come out and send a message, and our family will be able to overcome this difficulty."

Alyssa's eyes lit up: "That's all right?"

Colin thought he had touched Alyssa, so he nodded and said: "Yes, it's that simple."

But soon, Alyssa's face collapsed again, and she was a little bit horrified: "He gave me the black card before, but the kidnappers cheated it away. I haven't dared to tell him that, if he knows this, he will definitely not let me go!"

Chapter 98

While talking, Alyssa paid attention to Colin's expression.

When she mentioned the black card, she clearly saw a guilty conscience on Colin's face.

Know your guilty conscience now?

However, it was too late.

Seeing that Alyssa's fear was not pretending, Colin felt a little embarrassed, and said, "Don't tell him about the black card first.

Alyssa sneered in her heart, it was the time, and Colin didn't want to hand over the black card.

Although she thought so in her heart, the panic on her face became deeper and deeper.

She quietly pinched her leg, tears swirling in her eyes with pain, and then squeezed hard, tears came out.

Alyssa said with tears in her eyes, "That black card was just that Karl lent me, and I have to return it to him later. Even if I don't say it, he will know it sooner or later!"

As if thinking of something terrible, Alyssa cried even harder: "You don't know how terrible his person is. He is simply a devil. He will definitely not let me go!"

Alyssa couldn't stop crying, she only now knew that her lacrimal glands were so developed.

Maybe she can really try it out in the entertainment industry.

Colin was upset at first, but he had been so warm to Alyssa because he was asked to pretend to be deliberate because of something. Now seeing her crying all the time, he is even more upset.

"Don't cry!" Colin yelled at her angrily.

Alyssa stopped crying immediately and burped.

Colin saw a little contempt in her eyes. A fool is a fool. Even if it becomes beautiful and normal, it is still useless.

He thought that Alyssa had already turned Karl's fascination around, so she got the black card from Karl, but he didn't expect it to be just borrowed for use.

Alyssa felt a little disgusted with herself, and she didn't want to be like this, she just cried too much.

Colin seemed to have made some major determination, and asked, "If the black card can be retrieved?"

"Can you get it back?"

A look of surprise appeared on Alyssa's face, but it quickly disappeared. She gave a bleak smile: "Where can I find it back? I don't even remember what the two kidnappers looked like!"

Colin silently observed Alyssa's expression, and made sure that he really knew nothing about the truth of Rachel's kidnapping, then frowned and said, "I'll find a way."

!

Coming out of Colin's office, Alyssa went to the bathroom to wash her face.

Fortunately, she didn't wear makeup today, otherwise, this face would not be able to be seen.

After washing her face, she found that her eyes and nose were still red.

She just cried so much.

She returned to her position, and the colleague next to her saw her look like this and asked her concerned: "Alyssa, what's wrong with you?"

Alyssa shook her head: "It's okay."

The colleague didn't ask more, but another colleague who had seen Colin's secretary come to Alyssa before whispered, "The chairman was looking for her."

"What is the chairman looking for?"

"I don't know, it may be because of the factory. Didn't she marry Karl? The chairman might want to borrow this relationship."

""

Alyssa listened silently, feeling that the people in the project department were still very good, and they could all guess right.

What they said later, Alyssa didn't hear clearly, but vaguely heard the words "too much; how could the chairman be like this".

Alyssa was a little curious about what the two colleagues had made up.

But they seem to be saying bad things about Colin?

"

AdamPic Media.

"Karl, should I ask Best Day to bring food over at noon?" Peter's most positive thing every day is eating.

Karl did not raise his head: "No."

Peter asked him: "Where are you going?"

Karl ignored him.

Peter rolled his eyes angrily. If he hadn't known Karl for so many years, Karl's personality, as cold as a refrigerator, would have long been beaten by him.

Karl just finished doing what he was holding. He looked up at Peter's expression and said in a chilly tone: "You can beat me?"

Peter looked at him like a ghost: "Damn, I can't beat you! Can you guess what I think?"

Karl laughed, picked up the phone, and walked out.

Peter has always been a talkative and active personality. He often fights in groups when he was a teenager in Secondary Two, and people who are familiar with him can easily guess his thoughts.

Karl drove to Hunt's family.

The Hunt's factory was exposed yesterday. After a night of fermentation, the world has already known it, and it is difficult for Colin to jump over the wall and guess that the person behind the scenes is Alyssa.

He was not at ease, so he planned to go to the Hunt's to see the situation.

He drove the car to the parking lot and took out his mobile phone to call Alyssa, but no one answered.

He got off the car and went directly to the company.

Because of the factory, access to the Hunt's has become stricter.

As soon as Karl entered, he was stopped by the security guard: "Who, who are you looking for?"

Most of the security guards are on the third and outer floors because they are afraid of making trouble.

Karl is tall, and most people have to look up at him when standing in front of him.

He bowed his head, his expressionless face was not angry and arrogant: "Find someone."

The security guard felt that this person's aura was too strong, and he was a big shot, so he didn't dare to neglect him, so he took him to the front desk directly: "Tell them who you are looking for."

The lady at the front desk was also ready today and was almost caught in by the reporters. At the moment, she was already in the dark.

But when she saw Karl's face, she was a little stuttered: "Excuse me! who are you looking for?"

"Alyssa." Karl lowered his eyes, hiding his impatience.

His patience has never been very good, but when he encounters something related to Alyssa, he finds that his patience will be higher.

"Alyssa?" The lady at the front desk felt that this sentence was familiar.

Before the lady at the front desk spoke again, a familiar female voice came into Karl's ears: "Luther?"

Karl turned his head and looked around, just in time to see Alyssa coming from not far away.

She walked slowly, as if not sure if it was him, and then trot in his direction.

It was lunch break, and Alyssa was about to go out for dinner, but as soon as she got out of the elevator, she saw a tall and tall man who was suspected of "Luther" standing at the front desk to be questioned by the front desk lady.

How could "Luther" kind of arrogant man willing to accept cross-examination from the front desk lady?

But the more they looked more and more like, she called his name aloud.

Unexpectedly, it was really "Luther".

Alyssa ran up to him with a face full of doubt: "It's really you, why are you here?"

When the receptionist on the side saw Alyssa, she also recognized her and said with a smile, "Miss Alyssa, this gentleman is here to see you."

Chapter 99

The doubts on Alyssa's face grew deeper: "Do you have anything to do with me?"

But she also knew that this was not the place to talk, so she took "Luther" out.

Karl was dragged away by her with a sloppy look. Because of his height, she would have to take two steps when he took one step. In this way, he had a calm and unhurried breath in his whole body.

“What are you looking for with me?” Alyssa asked the previous question again when she was out.

In her opinion, “Luther” would not come to her if nothing happened.

“Luther” did not immediately answer her question but looked at her calmly.

Alyssa had cried before, and although she couldn’t see any traces now, Karl still noticed that her eyes were a little swollen, and there was a hint of abnormal redness.

Cried?

He squinted slightly, really unable to associate the words “Alyssa” and “Crying” together.

What’s more, she was still in Hunt’s family, she would never cry at Colin, right?

After a few seconds, Karl said, “Passing by, you invite me to dinner.”

The tone of course sounds pretty awkward.

But “Luther” is her benefactor, after all, Alyssa will satisfy him as long as his request is not excessive.

Alyssa took him to a restaurant a little far away from the company, where it is not easy to meet company colleagues and there will be less trouble.

When they arrived at the restaurant, after the two sat down, although “Luther” didn’t say anything, Alyssa could feel that he didn’t like it very much.

Alyssa can actually understand him.

He is the eldest of the family, and he usually eats meals in places like Best Day, completely treating Best Day as his family’s back kitchen.

He asked her to invite him to the meal. This kind of restaurant costs hundreds of times to eat. For her it’s still quite expensive.

Thinking of this, Alyssa touched her wallet involuntarily, her expression aching.

Karl noticed Alyssa’s expression, and the corners of his lips raised involuntarily. Of course, he knew she was poor.

But it is really interesting for him to squeeze her to invite him to a meal and take advantage of her.

The waiter came to order, and Alyssa pushed the menu to “Luther”: “You order first.”

“Luther” was not polite, as soon as he opened the menu, he read three dishes in a row.

Alyssa knows that the restaurant’s signature dishes are on the front of the menu, which are quite expensive.

Karl turned back again and ordered a soup, then looked up at Alyssa, and asked seriously, “Am I ordering too much?”

Alyssa shook her head: “Not much!”

She remembered that when she ate with them at Best Day last time, there were only four or five people eating, a large table of dishes, no worse than the full table of Manhan.

Karl nodded in agreement: "Then I'll nod two more."

Alyssa: "â€¦"

Karl looked at it and frowned slightly, "There is nothing to eat."

Then he passed the menu to Alyssa.

Alyssa's life concept is actually quite simple, she thinks it is enough for two people to eat three dishes and one soup.

But thinking of sitting opposite is the "Luther", so she added two dishes and a dim sum, otherwise, she would feel wrong to him.

After ordering food, Alyssa got up and went to the bathroom.

Watching her disappear, Karl called the waiter and handed out a card: "Pay the bill."

â€¦

When Alyssa came out of the bathroom, she saw Isabel.

But Isabel did not see Alyssa, because she was walking towards the door with her back to Alyssa.

Alyssa deliberately slowed down and fell behind Isabel, just not wanting Isabel to see her having dinner with "Luther" and cause unnecessary trouble.

However, Isabel was going in the same direction as Alyssa, and Alyssa had to go slower and slowerâ€¦

Until Isabel entered a box.

When Alyssa passed the box, she stopped slightly.

The soundproofing in the dining room is not very good.

There was a quarrel inside.

Isabel's voice was sharp, and the volume from the box had been reduced a lot: "You can't return the black card to her!"

"Noâ€¦ girlâ€¦ what do you wantâ€¦"

It was Colin who was speaking later, and his voice was a little smaller than Isabel's, so she couldn't hear him completely.

Are these two, the father and daughter arguing about not returning the black card?

It has been less than twenty-four hours since the factory incidents were exposed. This is the second time Colin and Isabel have been arguing.

Colin really loves Isabel, and Isabel is really spoiled. Now the Hunt family is in crisis. She didn't think about how to help Colin resolve the company crisis but quarreled with Colin for her own benefit.

Isabel still said this to Colin. Wouldn't she be more ruthless with Rachel in the future?

Alyssa's mood is a bit complicated, she no longer wants to care about Rachel.

No matter how Isabel treats Rachel in the future, this is Rachel's own choice.

Even when she exchanged her black card for Rachel, Rachel was not even touched at all, but instead wanted to please her so that she could use it later!

Alyssa took a deep breath, slowed down, and returned to the table where "Luther" was.

Several dishes have already been served, "Luther" did not move his chopsticks, holding the phone and didn't know what he was doing.

Feeling someone coming, he raised his head and paused for a second with his eyes on Alyssa's face, then put down the phone, so he could say in a leisurely manner: "I'm about to call Smith."

Alyssa looked inexplicable: "What are you doing?"

"Luther" has a serious tone: "Let him take someone to the toilet to fish you out."

Alyssa: "!"

Well, she went to the bathroom this time for more than 20 minutes.

Alyssa didn't answer, "Luther" might feel boring, so she stopped talking, but didn't eat much.

When paying for the bill, the waiter handed a card to Alyssa: "Hello, your husband has already paid for the bill. A total of 680 has been spent."

"my husband?"

Alyssa didn't realize that what the waiter said was "Luther". The first thing she thought of was Karl.

She turned her head and asked "Luther": "Your cousin is also eating here?"

"Luther"'s expressionless face suddenly sank, gave her a cold glance, turned, and strode out.

He walked very fast like wind under his feet.

Karl felt that if he didn't walk faster, he might have to beat Alyssa.

The waiter realized that he had misunderstood the relationship between the two guests, and quickly explained: "Excuse me, I thought that the gentleman and you were married, and he just paid the bill."

Alyssa was stunned for a while before chasing out with the card.

"Luther" didn't go far, and when Alyssa caught up, he was answering the phone.

Chapter 100

Alyssa kicked her feet, waiting for him to finish the call.

Two minutes later, "Luther" hung up the phone and looked back at her, looking at her with a blank expression on his face.

Alyssa was getting goosebumps all over her body. She gave him the card and cash: "After you say that I will invite you to the meal, of course, I will pay the bill."

"Luther" took the card back but didn't take the cash.

Alyssa also gave him money: "Hey, money for you!"

"Luther"'s gaze fell on her slender white fingers, and then stretched out his hand. Alyssa thought he was going to take the money, but she did not expect that he directly held her hand.

Alyssa's complexion changed slightly before she could speak, "Luther" put her in her arms with a hard hand, he lowered his eyes, Alyssa's eyes churned secretly, and his voice was as deep as The aged wine is mellow and intoxicating.

But what he said was completely shameless: "You really want to pay me back, then k!ss me, if you k!ss, I will collect the money."

"???" Neuropathy!

This was on the side of the road where people came and went, Alyssa was so nervous that her heart seemed to jump out of her throat, her heart was anxious, her knees pushed up hard!

"hiss!"

Karl was just paying attention to Alyssa's facial expressions. He didn't even think that she would make such a move. Otherwise, with his skill and vigilance, how could he be caught.

However, Alyssa was cruel enough to hit his important parts directly, it was really painful.

This also made Karl realize that his level of vigilance in front of Alyssa was almost zero.

"You are you okay?" Alyssa heard him hiss coldly. Although there was no change in his face, he could feel that she seemed to be painful from his tight jaw.

Although she really cares whether he is okay, she is not guilty at all. For such a shameless man who always wants to take advantage of her, he must be beaten when there is a chance!

"Luther" did not let go of her hand, but said sullenly, "I'm fine, but you're okay."

If she really kicked him badly, his sexual blessing for the rest of his life would be over.

Alyssa couldn't understand the deep meaning of his words, only thinking that she irritated him and he wanted to clean her up.

Don't know if it's too late to run?

When she was about to run, she realized that her hand was still being held by "Luther".

Realizing that she was going to suffer, she subconsciously raised her head to look at "Luther", but he lowered his head and k!ssed her.

Alyssa was angry and wanted to repeat the same trick, but “Luther” had been prepared for a long time, so Alyssa did not succeed, and he was so aggressive that he kissed hard and hard, and even gasped. Alyssa is not given any chance.

He got up cruelly, Alyssa was not his opponent at all, and couldn’t get a breath, so she reached out and pushed him.

She has softened at this time, she has no strength at all, but seems to be flirting.

Karl’s breathing heavier again, and he bit her lips like punishment, then let go of her, stepped back, and stared at her deeply.

Alyssa was unpreparedly pushed away by him, and she staggered before standing still.

There was some pain in the corners of her lips, she reached out and touched it, and found that there was a little blood on her hand, only to realize that “Luther” had just bit her lip.

Alyssa really didn’t know how to deal with “Luther”, it was useless to scold him, he would only be more shameless, and could not beat him.

She glared at him and turned to leave.

“Warm!”

She was about to leave when she heard someone calling her.

This familiar voice made Alyssa’s mood even worse.

When Isabel came out of the restaurant, she saw Alyssa and “Luther” kissing in the street, but this time she stopped taking pictures.

After all, the last time she took a photo and scrambled the topic, but in the end, it was also suppressed by the Adams’ family, and nothing went on.

“I just looked at the back and thought it was you. I didn’t expect it to be you.” As soon as she saw Alyssa, Isabel kindly greeted her, and then looked at “Luther” pretending to be surprised: “So coincidental, Mr. Adams is here too?”

Karl didn’t even look at her, bent his legs and squatted down, picking up the money that Alyssa had thrown on the ground in panic.

Although Alyssa was still angry with “Luther” in her heart, she had to admit that the extravagance inherent in this man-made him squatting on the ground to pick up money especially pleasing to the eye.

Realizing that she was bewitched by the skin of “Luther” again, Alyssa bit her lip secretly.

Be more sober, no matter how good your temperament is, you can’t hide his perverted state as a frivolous sister-in-law!

After “Luther” picked up the money, he shook the non-existent dust slowly, and then put the money into his pocket.

Alyssa: “â€¦”

She found that she couldn't understand "Luther" more and more. She wanted to hate but couldn't hate him. When she wanted to live peacefully with him, he had to be shameless

Isabel on the side was also shocked when she saw "Luther" behavior.

This "Luther" would actually squat on the ground to pick up a few hundred dollars?

She didn't know what was going on with the hundreds of dollars, she only knew that she had thought of a way to solve Hunt's crisis without returning the black card to Alyssa.

She can s3duce "Luther". Since "Luther" lives in Karl's home, he must also be a close and talkative relative of Adams' family.

This method of killing two birds with one stone is really great.

Thinking that she was about to fall asleep to "Luther", the smile on Isabel's face became even more proud.

She deliberately pulled her clothes, revealing the low-cut dress inside, and looked at "Luther" with wintry eyes.

But before she could speak, "Luther" said provocatively in Alyssa's direction: "I will pick you up after work."

Then he left straight away.

Alyssa looked at him coldly, he just deliberately said this to offend her!

A cold wind blew, Isabel shrank from the cold and quickly gathered her coat, and she turned her head to see Alyssa looking at her with a smile.

Isabel's face suddenly sank: "Humph! Hunt's family is now in crisis. If you don't want to find a way to ask Karl to help us, you are still hooking up with a wild man here. You are so bold!"

"I'm just a handyman at Adams' family, not as good as my sister, and I am ashamed that I can't help Hunt's family." There was a smile on Alyssa's face, not at all ashamed.

She walked slowly to Isabel and continued: "I lost the black card. Where would I dare to ask Karl? He has a weird temper and a violent one. He might be angry and transfer his anger to me and beat the sh!t out of me."

"Useless thing!" Isabel sneered, and suddenly noticed Alyssa's red and swollen lips and the wound on her lips.