Chapter 19

Xavia had no idea what Zivon was thinking. She opened the car door and led Maison out of the car as soon as they arrived at the mall.

This was a shopping mall with several floors. Everything that one would have expected to find could be found here. It was bustling and noisy.

Maison was very excited as he had never been to places like this before.

Xavia took him with her as she chose many different styles and felt the fabric of the clothes. She worked seriously and meticulously.

inherent noble aura and temperament, countless women admired him very much.

The group of three attracted the attention of many people, especially Zivon. Due to his

Zivon did not like such places, so he ordered in a low voice, "Pay attention to your working efficiency."

Xavia looked at him and shook her head. "Sorry, Mr. Burton, I can't work any faster."

"Children's skin is delicate. So, I have to choose pure cotton fabric and also avoid safety hazards at the same time. For instance, this kind of clothes with ropes will get tangled around the neck easily so it is not suitable for children. Therefore, I'll have to choose carefully. If you're unable to wait, you can go ahead with your schedule, okay? I'll take good care of Maison."

Damn it. Was she ordering him around or was she hoping that he would leave?

Zivon had a cold expression on his face and just ignored her.

Xavia just shrugged and continued picking out clothes for Maison. It took her a whole afternoon before she finally picked out thirty pairs of clothes that she was satisfied with.

Just as she was planning to leave with Maison, a woman wearing heavy makeup suddenly bumped into them.

Maison was completely caught off guard. He bumped into the railing due to the excessive force.

Bang! The glass railing instantly broke and Maison's body fell outward uncontrollably.

"Oh! Ahh!"

"Oh my god!"

This was the second floor and it was exactly six meters high. Maison would lose his life if he were to fall from this height!

The people around them were all shocked and terrified when they saw the accident. They were all screaming out of horror.

Zivon, who was making the payment at that time, turned around when he heard the chaos, immediately seeing Maison's body flying out. The expression on his face instantly changed. "Maison!"

Zivon hurriedly rushed over with wide steps.

However, when he had just taken half a step, Xavia quickly reacted as she was standing close to Maison at that time. She didn't even hesitate before jumping out and hugging Maison.

Everyone witnessed the big and small figure falling to the ground rapidly.

"Ahh!" The shrieks got even louder.

Two seconds later, a loud bang and a crash sounded.

Commotion erupted immediately upstairs and downstairs.

Zivon really didn't expect Xavia to jump out at all, so he was in a trance for a moment. After that, he finally reacted, spun on his heel and rushed downstairs.

There was already a crowd surrounding the spacious hall.

The both of them fell and landed on a bouncy castle. It was clearly visible that the child was on the top and the woman was on the bottom when they landed.

"Luckily they landed on the bouncy castle otherwise they'd be dead."

"That mother actually jumped to protect her child despite the danger. She is really amazing."

"I wonder if they are fine?"

quick onceover to make sure that he was fine. Satisfied, his gaze then fell onto Xavia.

Zivon squeezed through the crowd and quickly approached the scene. He gave Maison a

He saw that her face was pale and her beautiful brows were knitted tightly together. She was obviously in a lot of pain.

He asked, "How are you doing?"

Xavia only felt pain coming from her internal organs. However, she couldn't care less and soon as possible."

focused on Maison, who was in her arms. "How is Maison? Is he hurt?"

Damn it. She was still asking about the child at this time!

Zivon felt as though something was tugging at his heartstrings at that time. His gaze darkened before he plucked Maison out of her arms and blurted out, "He's fine. You should lie down first."

After that, Zivon took out his cell phone and called Zayne, "Come over to Galaxy Plaza as Zayne was at a hospital nearby. He rushed over immediately after hearing about the situation. "Did you suffer from a fall, our precious Maison? How are you feeling now?

Hurry up and let uncle give you a checkup."

This was the young master's precious son and he was the heir of the Burton family. He mustn't suffer from any mishaps and accidents.

However...

"Maison is fine. Give her a checkup." This was the first time Zivon didn't prioritize Maison.

Zayne was shocked. Since when did the young master care about other people?

Instead, he asked Zayne to check on Xavia.
