

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 271

Chapter 271

Celine looked at Adam. He gave her a cold look before shifting her gaze to Carly and said gently, "Let's go."

He had just agreed to what Carly said in front of Celine.

Carly curved her lips into a sweet and triumphant smile. She knew that Celine's heart was likely filled with envy and hatred at this moment.. She had to be struggling inside. How could a country bumpkin ever try to challenge her? What a joke.

"Alright," she said before looping her arm around Adam's and turning to leave.

But soon, a clear and elegant voice called out from behind. "Adam"

Celine was calling Adam. He stopped in his tracks and turned around.

Carly smiled smugly and said provocatively, "Celine, you're already divorced. Are you still hung up on Adam and trying to win him back?"

Celine stood straight in the corridor, her slender figure poised and unyielding. She ignored Carly. Her clear, translucent eyes rested on his dignified, handsome face,

She said

, "Adam, I loved you."

He stared at her while she continued with her clear and captivating voice, "I never thought loving someone with all ashamed of my heart was s

something to be

"That love doesn't give anyone the right to humiliate me. I once loved you sincerely, but now, I don't love you anymore. She no longer loved him? Adam's tall and upright figure stiffened slightly.

Celine took a few steps toward the pair and added, "What are we now? We're divorced. Strictly speaking, we're exes. A proper ex should act like they don't know each other, even if they meet on the street. They should be dead to each other.

“So, please, keep your current girlfriend in check. Don’t bring her around to haunt me like a ghost. I’m just your ex-wife, not your mother. “Whether you two get married or have as many kids as you want, it’s none of my business. I’m not interested in hearing about it.”

Carly’s face paled. She had come here to show off: She wanted to see Celine hurt and broken, but she was none of that Celine approached the situation with a calm and composed demeanor, turning the tables entirely.

Carly seethed with rage. “Celine, you!”

At that moment, Celine stepped in front of them and slowly curled her lips into a faint smile.

Her cold gaze landed directly on Carly’s face as she said, “And what exactly do you have to show off in front of me? The title of ‘Mrs. Alvarez’ is something that I got bored with, and Adam is a man I’ve already slept with.

“Honestly, it’s the first time I’ve seen someone so smug about picking up my leftovers.”

Carly was rendered speechless. She couldn’t take it anymore. Her chest hurt from sheer anger. How could Celine be so sharp-tongued suddenly? With her message delivered, Celine turned and started to leave.

Before she got far, someone appeared. It was Benjamin. He strode over and said, “Celine, Adam already divorced you. Why are you still talking to him? How can you be so shameless-”

“And you, Benjamin Goodwind!” Celine cut him off mid-sentence. “You’d better lower your voice when speaking to me. Otherwise, I’ll tell everyone how you dropped from a pro to a beginner after losing to me in the game and turn you into a laughingstock!”

He froze, immediately reacting as if his tail had been stepped on. He jumped in fury and shouted, “Celine, you venomous woman!”

She gave him a once-over and said, “Oh, there’s worse. If you provoke me again, I’ll drop you from beginner to nothing!”

What? Benjamin almost choked from sheer frustration

Without sparing the lots another glance, Celine walked off with flair, her steps confident and unbothered.

Benjamin was on the verge of exploding. He boomed, “Adan, look at her!”

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 272

Carly was also furious. “Adam, look at her!”

They had all come to mock Celine, but instead, she completely turned the tables and humiliated them. How outrageous!

Adam watched her slender figure disappear into the distance with an unreadable expression. After a moment, he pressed his lips thin lips together and said, “Enough. Stop making a scene.”

Carly fell silent, forcing herself to suppress the anger she felt toward Celine. “Adam, you said you’d introduce me to Allie tonight. Where is she?”

She hadn’t forgotten her main objective. She needed to push forward her plan to marry Adam as soon as possible.

Adam had seen Hailey earlier. He softly said, “I’ll go find Allie.”

She quickly handed him the limited-edition handbag she was carrying, “Adam, give this to Allie. She’ll love it.”

Noticing that Celine was taking too long in the restroom, Hailey felt uneasy. She got up to look for her. Just then, Adam called out to her. “Allie.”

However, she ignored him completely and turned to walk away, but he stepped in her path. “Allie, you’re getting more and more impolite. You’re ignoring me now?”

ctually Allie,

Carly and Melody hadn’t been able to figure out Hailey was actually Hailey was James’ daughter, but she took her mother’s last name. That was why Carly despite their investigations.

Being the youngest child born to James in his later years, and with a birthmark on her face since birth, Hailey was doted on by the entire Lambert family and even by Adam

She glared at him with displeasure and said, “Adam, how could you treat Celine like that? Do you know how badly she fell ill after the divorce? She had a fever of 107 degrees for seven full days. Even when she was unconscious, she was crying-

His sharp eyes flickered, and he interrupted, “Enough. Don’t say another word!”

She froze.

Expressionless, he said with a low and magnetic voice, “We’re divorced. I don’t want to hear anything about her anymore.”

She looked at him in shock. She hadn’t expected him to be so heartless.

He handed her the limited-edition handbag he was holding. She caught the bag and frowned, asking “What’s this?”

“It’s a gift from Carly to you.”

What? Hailey immediately tossed the bag back to Adam. “Take it away! I don’t want anything from a mistress!”

He looked at her and said, “Allie, don’t be so unreasonable. Carly genuinely wants to be your friend. For someone as proud as her, she’s already tried very hard to win you over. You should at least try to befriend her.”

Befriend Carly?

“She’s the one trying to please me. I never asked for it. I’m not going to be friends with someone like her!”

He pressed his lips together and replied, “Allie, I’m planning to marry Carly. She’ll be family in the future.”

Hailey’s pupils shrank. “Adam, you’re marrying Carly right after divorcing Celine?”

Carly was his chosen woman. Marrying her had always been part of the plan, but he got into an accident and became comatose. Celine had entered his life during that time. She was merely a brief interlude.

He nodded and said, “Yes. I’m going to marry Carly.”

Hailey was speechless. After a moment, she relented. “Give me ne the has

bag #

He handed the bag back to her, and she sighed. Her tone was resigned as she said, “Fine. If you’re dead set The Divorce Prescription

Chapter 273

Chapter 273

Adam's expression softened slightly.

"I really like this bag. To show my gratitude, I'll invite Carly to my house tomorrow," said Hailey. She decided to invite Carly to the Lambert residence the next day.

He nodded. "Alright."

After he left, Celine returned shortly. "Hailey, have you been waiting long?"

Hailey smiled and grabbed Celine's hand. "I was just about to come find you."

"Hailey, let's go. I'm starving. Let's head out to have supper."

"Sure. It'll be my treat."

Celine immediately stopped Hailey and pulled a gold-embossed black card from her bag.

"Don't fight me on it. Tonight, it's on me. This card was part of my divorce settlement from Adam. From now on, I'll be swiping his card and letting him pay the bills."

Hailey's eyes lit up. "Celine, that's the best idea I've ever heard! It's compensation from Adam. If you don't spend it, it'll just end up being used by Carly."

Celine looked at the black card in her hand and asked, "How much do you think I can charge on this card?"

Hailey thought for a moment before replying, "I'm not sure. Tomorrow, let's swipe it for a villa!"

Celine looked at her and playfully blinked "You're underestimating him. Tomorrow, let's swipe it for an aircraft carrier!"

Adam conveyed Hailey's invitation to Carly, who, along with Melody, was overjoyed

Melody excitedly exclaimed, "Carly, this is amazing! Allie loves the bag you gave her and agreed to be your friend. She even invited you to visit the Lambert residence tomorrow!"

Carly hadn't expected things to go so smoothly. She had successfully won over Allie, the cherished little darling of the Lamberts

It seemed that earning the Lamberts' recognition and support was just around the corner, Carly was thoroughly satisfied. All the effort she and Adam had put into Allie had been worth it.

Adam was away with Benjamin, leaving Melody with Carly.

"Melody, come with me to the Lambert residence tomorrow."

"Can I, Carly?"

Melody wasn't a direct descendant of the Alvarez family, but rather a distant branch. As a result, she had never been able to interact with the Lamberts directly.

"You course you can! By

By then, you, me, and Allie will be the best of friends, hanging out together all the time," said Carly with a satisfied smile.

Melody beamed with excitement. "That's lovely!"

While the two were happily chatting, they spotted Celine and Halley leaving together after settling their bill.

"Isn't that Ugly Hailey? And Celine is hanging out with her? Carly remarked with disdain.

Melody sneered in agreement. "Carly, Celine is nothing like you. You're capable of becoming good friends with Allie, the Lambert family's little darling. But Celine? She's only worthy of hanging out with someone like Ugly Halley."

Carly covered her mouth and chuckled. "They do make a fitting pair."

At that moment, Melody recalled something "Carly, since you and Adam are planning to get married, you should make sure he gives you his secondary card"

Adam's secondary card?

"Adam's

's secondary card is linked to his primary one. Once you have it, all of Alvarez Group's assets will be at your disposal!"

Carly's heart leaped with joy. She hadn't known such a card existed, but now that she did, she wanted it, though Adam had never mentioned it to her.

"I don't want to ask for it directly, I want to wait for him to hand it over to me voluntarily," she declared with a haughty tone

,” said Melody.

“Everyone says a man’s heart is where his money is. Since he loves you so much, he’ll definitely give you the secondary card on his own,” sa

“Melody, your flattery is unmatched.”

After saying goodbye to Benjamin and Melody, Adam and Carly left the bar.

Carly, I’ll get the driver to take you home.”

She tilted her delicate face up to him, her expression coy. “Adam, I don’t want to go home tonight. I want to spend the night at your place.”

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 274

Carly reflected on her actions. She realized she had been too reserved. She shouldn’t have waited until marriage to let Adam touch her.

He was a straight man, full of youthful vigor, and naturally, he would have desires. If those needs weren’t met, he’d inevitably be tempted by other

Women

That was how Celine had taken advantage of the situation, slipping into his life and eventually his bed.

Tonight, Carly had dropped subtle hints of her intentions by saying that she wanted to go to his villa.

He looked at her radiant and delicate face and moved his thin lips. “I have to work overtime tonight. I don’t have time to accompany you. I’ll get the driver to send you home, okay? Be a good girl”

She felt a tinge of disappointment. “Alright. I’ll leave then.” With that, she got into the car and left.

Leo opened the rear door of the Rolls–Royce Phantom. Adam stepped in and settled into the backseat.

The car sped down the road while Adam reviewed documents. Suddenly, a series of soft chimes rang. His phone had received several text messages. He unlocked his phone to see a series of notifications about transactions made with his exclusive black card. “Dear esteemed VVIP user, your card ending 8888 has been charged 120 dollars at Club 1996 today.”

“Dear esteemed WIP user, your card ending 8888 has been charged 16 dollars at Buns and Dogs Cart today.” “Dear esteemed VVIP user, your card ending 8888 has been charged eight dollars at Blissful Bakes today.”

Celine and Hailey were out getting supper, and all her transactions were being recorded on Adam’s phone. The spending was little, amounting to 16 dollars, eight dollars, six dollars, and two dollars for a pudding.

Adam read the notifications, and a faint smile appeared. In his mind, her crisp voice rang out again.

“Adam, I don’t love you anymore.

She had said she no longer loved him.

that.

A woman like Celine would love and hate with all her heart. When she loved, it was as fierce as the blazing sun. He had been loved by her like th But once she turned away, she would never look back. She truly didn’t love him anymore.

He set down his phone. Truthfully, he had never truly loved Celine, but for some reason, the moment he lost her, an inexplicable sense of emptiness enveloped his heart.

In the women’s hostel, Celine woke up to find that Hailey was gone. She found it odd. Where would Hailey have gone to?

“Hailey? Hailey?”

Celine searched around but couldn’t find any sign of her. Then, she noticed a small note on her desk. Written in Hailey’s neat handwriting, it read, ” Celine, don’t bother looking for me. I’m heading home today,”

She had gone home.

In truth, Celine had no idea where Hailey’s home was. Even after all this time together, Halley’s family had never come to visit, and she had never brought it up. Since she hadn’t mentioned it, Celine hadn’t asked.

Friendships, after all, required boundaries. With the right balance, both parties could feel comfortable and at ease.

Celine carefully put away the note, Just then, her phone chined with a WhatsApp notification. It was from Perry.

“Celine, the medicinal herb you needed has arrived.”

Her eyes lit up. The most important herb had finally arrived. Hailey's birthmark could now be treated.

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 275

Chapter 275

When Halley returned to the Lambert residence, Linda came out early to greet her.

"McHaley, welcome home!"

When Hailey was born with a birthmark on her face, she was labeled "Ugly Hailey". If it had been anyone else, they might have grown self-conscious, but she remained cheerful and optimistic. Because of this, all the servants in the Lambert residence adored her.

she hugged Linda happily and said, "Linda, I'm back. I've invited two guests over today, and I want to make sure I give them a proper welcome."

She emphasized the words "proper welcome"

Linda beamed and asked, "Are they your friends, Ms. Hailey? It's wonderful that you're making more friends."

At that moment, a houry car pulled into the driveway, and two women stepped out. It was Carly and Melody, the two invited guests Hailey was talking about

Halley smirked. Speak of the devil.

It was Carly and Melody's first time at the Lambert residence, so both of them had dressed up meticulously, hoping to leave a good impression on Allie.

"Meloch, what do you think Allie looks like?"

I'm not sure what she looks like, but I'm certain she'll adore you, Carly Carly was brimming with joy, but the next second, her expression froze. She had spotted Hailey. Carly was stunned.

"Halley, why are you here?"

Melody looked equally bewildered "Hailey, this is the Lambert residence. How could you possibly be allowed in here?"

Neither Carly nor Melody could have imagined encountering Hailey at the Lambert residence.

Linda spoke immediately “She is-

Halley interrupted her, turning to Carly and Melody. “That’s right. This is the Lambert residence. Guess how I happen to be here.”

Carly looked puzzled “Could it be that you’re...”

Hailey pushed: “Who do you think I am?”

Carly glanced at Linda beside her and said, “Is she your mother? Is your mother a maid here?”

Linda’s face darkened instantly. “You!”

Hailey stepped forward, shielding Linda from view

, refusing to let her say another word

Melody burst into laughter and teased, “Hailey, we didn’t know your mom was a maid here. Why didn’t you tell us sooner?”

Carly looked at Hailey with disdain and said, “Hailey, it’s not your fault you were born ugly, but it is your fault for coming out and scaring people.”

“Hailey, honestly, we feel sorry for you. Your mom’s a maid, and you’re just an ugly woman. “How about we organize a charity fundraiser to collect money so you can get that birthmark on your face fixed? You really look awful right now,” Melody added.

“No wonder you hang out with Celine. Besides her, who else would want to befriend Ugly Hailey?”

Carly and Melody both began attacking Hailey with their mean comments.

Linda was trembling with anger. At first, she had thought these two were Lilley’s friends, but now, it was clear they were nothing more than stray dogs that were barking wildly at Hailey-

If not for Hailey stopping her, she would have already called the bodyguards.

Hailey didn’t seem angry at all. She asked, “Why are you two here at the Lambert residence then?”

Carly limitedly replied with pride, “Have you heard of the Lambert family’s youngest daughter, Allie? She invited us over today as her guests!”

“Really?” Hailey exclaimed and pretended to be envious. “Did Allie actually invite you two to the Lambert residence?”

Carly and Melody lifted their chins high, their faces filled with smugness. “That’s right. Are you jealous now, Halley?”

“Allie is the most beloved youngest daughter of the Lambert family. She’s their precious little darling, and she invited us over to hang out,

We get to play with Allie, while you, Ugly Hailey, are stuck hanging out with someone from the countryside like Celine. How pitiful.” Linda was so exasperated she nearly rolled her eyes. She couldn’t believe what she was hearing.

marrying her, then she’ll be family. I’m willing to befriend her.”

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 276

Chapter 276

Hailey laughed heartily. “That’s right. I’m so envious of how you get to hang out with Allie.”

After laughing to her heart’s content, Melody said, “Carly, let’s not waste any more time on Ugly Hailey. Let’s go in and meet Allie.”

Not wanting to waste time on Hailey as well, Carly said, “All right. Let’s go while she stewes in her envy.” With that, the duo entered the house.

As Lind watched them stroll into the house, Linda chuckled. “Ms. Hailey, they still don’t know your identity.”

Hailey raised a brow in amusement. “Patience. I’ll give them a good welcome.”

Soon, Carly and Melody arrived in the living room. Carly felt as if she was dreaming—she had finally stepped into the Lambert residence. She was now one step closer to her goal.

Just then, a housekeeper walked over. “Ladies, please have a seat. Ms. Lambert is getting changed and will be here soon.”

“All right. Thank you.” The two ladies sat on the couch and patiently waited for “Allie”

Carly had confidence in her social skills. In fact, she was already practicing her lines in her mind to impress “Allie“.

Carly was determined to make Allie” her strongest ally. Soon, the housekeeper’s voice rang out, “Ms. Lambert is coming down.”

Both Carly and Melody stood and turned toward the staircase excitedly. Immediately after that, they inhaled sharply and froze. Hailey had changed into a dress and was descending the stairs. Her beautiful eyes were fixed on the astonished guests

Shocked beyond words, Carly and Melody exclaimed, “Hailey? It’s you?”

Hailey walked to the guests and fluttered her eyelashes. “Yes. It’s me.”

Carly uttered in astonishment, “Allie’s the one we’re waiting for, Why are you...”

Carly’s voice trailed off. Hailey appeared when they were waiting for “Allie“, which meant only one thing—Hailey was Allie.

Melody could not believe what was happening. “Hailey, are you... Allie?”

Carly’s and Melody’s pupils constricted. Never in their wildest dreams did they imagine Hailey to be Allie.

They could not accept the fact that the unimpressive, ugly woman who often hung out with Celine was the daughter of the Lamberts. “Halley, this is all an act, isn’t it? How dare a hideous woman like yo you pretend to be Allie

But before Carly could finish, Linda yelled, “How dare you?”

the two women the shock of their lives. Meanwhile, Hailey walked past

A team of black bodyguards rushed in and surrounded Carly and Melody, giving the them and sat on the couch.

Linda berated them, saying, “How dare you two insult Ms. Hailey so freely? Another word and I’ll tell these men to throw you out the door.”

Carly and Melody turned to look at Halley, who took the teacup from the housekeeper and gracefully took a sip. Halley then looked at the guests and said, “Weren’t you two looking for Allie? Well, congratulations. You found her. I am Allie”

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 277

Play

Hailey was not putting on an act. She was laying her cards on the table and revealing her identity

Carly's brain was fried, unable to think clearly anymore. She could not believe Hailey was Allie

Carly and Melody had hunted high and low in Yorhine University for Allie. And now, the person they desperately wanted to make connections with Carly refused to believe it, thinking the heavens were playing a joke on her. Even Melody stood rooted to the spot.

Hailey laughed. "Carly, Adam says you really want to be my friend. So why aren't you talking now? Weren't you rather talkative earlier?"

Hailey sat on the couch with Linda and the bodyguards standing behind her with reverence Meanwhile, Hailey watched a pathetic-looking Carly in Carly was stumped. She could not help but recall the words she said earlier to insult Hailey before discovering the latter's true identity.

Melody stuttered, "H-Hailey, you-

However, Hailey shot a look at Melody, saying, "Don't interrupt. I wasn't talking to you."

Melody immediately fell silent

Linda scoffed. "Melody, your father is only from the lesser branch of the Alvarez family. Mr. Alvarez helped him only because he begged Mr. Alvarez two years ago.

"Meanwhile, you were smart enough to suck up to Mrs. Alvarez Senior. That's how you got to where u are today.

"Hmph. You got to where you are now with just pure luck. You have no right to interrupt Ms. Hailey," Linda's words instantly exposed Melody's unimpressive background, leaving the latter's face pale.

Turning to Carly, Hailey said, "Oh, right. You gave me a limited edition beg yesterday."

Linda handed the bag to Hailey, who fiddled with it for a while. "The bag is quite pretty, but I don't like it." With a thud, she threw the bag into the bin. Carly froze with shock Hailey continued to stare at Carly and said, “I know Adam likes you and wants to marry you, but that has nothing to do with me.

“To me, I only have one sister-in-law, that is Celine. You will never replace her. You’ll never find the easy way out through me.”

Carly’s face was as pale as a sheet. After all, Hailey had rejected her and even objected to her joining the Lamberts.

There was no way Carly could marry Adam now that Mary and the Lamberts did not like her. Even worse, Hailey liked Celine and only approved her as the sister-in-law.

Finally, Carly lowered her ego and forced the words out. “A-Allie, surely there’s some misunderstanding between us. Celine must’ve badmouthed me to you I can explain things-”

Hailey curled her lips. “Carly, do you know why

Carly shook her head in response

why I asked you to come here today?”

“Adam says you want to win my favor. So I wanted to see what you look like when you’re sucking up to someone. I’ve got to say, it’s really interesting.” Hailey clapped for Carly. Humiliated, Carly clenched her fist so tightly that her fingers dug into her palm. Hailey had trampled on everything Carly had pride in “Get these two out of the house,” Linda ordered.

The bodyguards behind them marched forward and grabbed hold of Carly and Melody.

“Let go of me! Hailey, I’m the one Adam cares for the most. You wouldn’t dare to hurt a single hair on my head.” Finally, Carly used Adam’s name. However, Hailey got to her feet, not the slightest bit terrified.

“Carly, let’s be clear about this. This is my house, not the Alvarez’s. Throw them out now.

“Got it, Ms. Hailey,” responded the guards. Before Carly and Melody could even put up a fight, they were thrown out of the house, and the door was shut behind them.

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 278

Linda laughed uproariously. Hailey smirked mischievously too.

y were not

After all, Hailey had promised to give Carly and Melody a good welcome. Hailey was determined to show them she had Celine's back and they allowed to bully her best friend,

Hailey had avenged Celine for what had happened when she was severely sick

Meanwhile, Carly and Melody got up, looking utterly disheveled. They never thought they would be thrown out of the Lambert residence.

The two women were furious, concluding that anyone close to Celine was nothing but trouble. "Carly, what do we do? Hailey's on Celine's side," said Melody.

"Let's leave this place first," Carly instructed with a sinister expression. She was not going to give up so easily.

Thus, Carly and Melody went on their way first. Unfortunately, it was raining

Carly was almost drenched from head to toe. She felt as if she was having the worst day ever.

Just then, a fancy car pulled up, and the driver rolled down the window. "Are you Melody? My boss wants you to get in," he said to Melody.

Melody did not know who his boss was, but when she opened the car door and got in with Carly, they saw Ewan Shaw.

Ewan was the youngest son of the Shaw family and the most popular student at Yorhine University. He was also the captain of the university's basketball team, making him popular among the young girls.

Melody did not expect to see Ewan. Despite the two of them being the most popular students, she was not close to him because she was only interested in Nathan.

Melody was particular about her image in front of guys. As a pretty woman with large breasts, she was naturally the dream girl of every introverted guy. Looking at Ewan, Melody said sweetly, "Thank you, Ewan "

"You're welcome, Melody," responded Ewan with an attractive smile. He then handed Melody a towel. "Here, wipe yourself with this. You're wet." Again, Melody thanked him. Meanwhile, Carly's eyes lit up at the sight of Ewan. If her memory served her right, Ewan was Hailey's fiance.

Both the Lamberts and the Shaws had a marriage agreement, and Hailey was promised to be married to Ewan.

Carly's gaze was fixed on Melody. The latter's bright and kind attitude made Carly smile mysteriously.

Suddenly, Ewan's phone rang.

As soon as he answered it, Hailey's chirpy voice could be heard saying, "Ewan, don't forget we're watching a movie at 7: Dop.m."

H

Ewan pursed his lips and said plainly, "Got it." With that, he hung up.

Having witnessed that scene, Carly instantly came up with a brilliant idea. Soon, the car pulled up in front of Yochine University

Carly and Melody got out of the car and said, "Thank you, Ewan."

"Don't mention it," answered Carly with a smile.

Once the car was out of sight, Carly tugged at Melody's arm and asked, "Melody, don't you realize likes you?"

"But he's Hailey's fiance," said Melody. "Doesn't Hailey belittle you? Well, wouldn't it be satisfying if you snatched her fiance from her?"

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 279

Melody paused momentarily to process the idea that never crossed her mind. "But Carly, it's Nate that I like."

Carly immediately advised, "Melody, you should give up on Nathan. He's getting married to Laura. The Gardners and the Lynches are going to be in-laws.

"This land of marriage is unshakable. You must hurry up and look for a new target.

"The Shaws are a wealthy family from Mercity. What's there to consider when Ewan comes from a good family and has a nice character?

"Remember, this is the guy the Lynches have chosen to become Halley's husband. Just win him over, and you'll get to marry into the Shaws."

Carly was right. Nathan was getting married soon. Regardless of how much Melody liked him, she should not waste her youth on him. Melody was from a distant branch of the Alvarez family. Now that Linda had brought that up to humiliate her, Melody was even more determined to marry well

At that point, Ewan was the best option. There was surely nothing imperfect about him if the Lynches would pick him.

All Melody needed to do to get her revenge on Hailey was win Ewan over. Regardless of her identity as the illegitimate daughter of the distant branch, she was capable of winning over the fiancée of the Lynches' daughter.

Carly smirked. "Who would've known Ewan's fiancée was an ugly woman? No man on earth would pick an ugly woman if he had a choice. Melody, Ewan likes you."

Melody was was an expert in keeping a lot of men interested in her. When she saw that look on Ewan's face, she knew he liked her. Melody was sure that Bailey had nothing to make Ewan stay.

Meanwhile, Melody was the most popular student at Yorhine University majoring in dance, making her the dream girl of every introverted guy. For Melody, winning Ewan over was a piece of cake.

Nodding, Melody said, "Okay, Carly. I'll bring you good news soon."

"Hailey's meeting Ewan for a movie tonight, isn't she? Well, you know what to do," said Carly.

Blushing, Melody made an okay sign with her hand.

When Hailey returned to the female dormitory, she did not tell Celine about how she taught Carly and Melody a lesson.

instead, Hailey changed into a pretty y dress and twirled in front of Celine. "Celine, do you think Ewan will like it if I wear this for our date?" Celine was writing a prescription when she looked up at Hailey's bright expression. Nodding, Celine answered, "He will."

With that, Hailey decided she was going to go with the dress. Next, she began doing her makeup.

Celine had just recently gotten to know that Ewan was Hailey's fiancée: "Hailey, why do you like Ewan?" "Everyone calls me ugly because of this birthmark on my face. Ewan's the only person who says I'm pretty

“I think he’s a really kind person. After some time, he confessed his feelings to me, and we got engaged ”

Celine met Ewan once when he was playing basketball on the court with many girls cheering for him. No doubt, he looked charming and charismatic. Nodding Celine approached Hailey and covered the birthmark on the left side of her face.

Hailey’s real face was revealed. She had an innocent face and a pair of large, twinkling eyes which gave her a dainty look. Many men w Hailey if not for her birthmark.

“It’s almost time, Celine. I’ll get going first. Having done her makeup, Hailey stood and grabbed her bag to leave.

Waving with a smile, Celine said, “Okay. Have fun.”

Ewan had arrived at Yorhine University ty to head to the cinema. However, it was still run to the cinema in the rain.

would’ve fallen for still raining. Since his car was parked quite a distance away, he planned to pretty face

Just then, a pink umbrella appeared over hiin. Ewan turned around to find himself looking at Melody’s innocent,

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 280

Ewan’s eyes lit up. “Melody?” Melody wore a blue and white top with a black skirt, accentuating her figure perfectly.

Standing before Ewan with her slender legs close to each other, Melody smiled and said, “You spared me from the rain by offering me a ride today, Let me hold the umbrella for you in return.”

Ewan smiled when he heard that.

“You’ve got a date, don’t you? Here, take this umbrella. I’ll get going now,” said Melody before leaving Melody had only taken a step when she suddenly twisted her ankle. She inhaled sharply from the pain. Ewan hurried forward and asked concernedly, "What's wrong. Melody?"

Melody's eyes were wet with tears, making her look weak and helpless. "I twisted my ankle. It hurts." "I'll take you to the infirmary to get treated." Ewan reached out and carried Melody in his arms. Melody looked at him innocently and asked, "But you have a date, don't you?"

Smiling, Ewan stated, "You're more important than the date."

Blushing, Melody requested, "Could you take me to the dance studio then? There is some medication there."

As Ewan carried Melody into the studio, she stared at his charming face. "Ewan, how did you know who am I?"

Ewan thought about it before answering, "Our university had a basketball competition the other day.

"I was the captain of the basketball team while you were the captain of the cheerleading team. I noticed you instantly when you came out to dance. But back then, you didn't seem interested in any of the guys in our university,"

Melody had always been the cheer captain. During that match, she wore a basketball jersey to warm up on the court

Her large breasts bounced under her shirt, causing everyone on the court to shriek in excitement.

That was when Ewan noticed her. In fact, it was hard for him not to notice her since the boys around him constantly talked about her. They even mentioned that she was the most popular girl from the dance faculty, Yorhine University's dance faculty had two popular students. One of them was Melody, who was famous for her breasts.

The other was Clara Wells, who was famous for her hips. Those body parts were a surefire in attracting ng a guy's attention.

His words touched Melody. Ewan had liked her long ago while she had her heart set on Nathan.

Just then, a clap of thunder shook the sky. Melody shrieked and wrapped her arms around Ewan's neck.

Looking down at her, Ewan asked gently with a smile, “You’re afraid of thunder?”

Melody nodded cowardly. “Yes.”

“Scaredy-cat,” said Ewan, causing Melody to glare at him jokingly. Their eyes met with emotion so intense it could form a thread, Suddenly, a melodious ringtone rang out. It came from the phone in Ewan’s pocket. The phone kept ringing, but Ewan did not answer it. Curious, Melody asked, “Ewan, aren’t you going to answer it? What if it’s something urgent?”

A hint of impatience flashed past Ewan’s eyes. “I don’t need to answer it.”

Hailey had arrived at the cinema a long time ago. At first, the lobby was y was crowded with people. And now she was

was the only one left.

The movie had already started, and everyone had already entered the cinema hall.

When Hailey pulled out her phone to dial Ewan’s number, all she heard in response was a robotic, female voice. “Sorry. The number you dialed is Unavailable. Please call again later.”