

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 351

Bocah Tame is Hunang Dull

Celine interrupted Carly's scolding "Hold on! Carly, you have it all wrong. I didn't seduce Mr. Alvarez last night.

"It's actually quite the opposite. In fact, I fought him off. But he took advantage of my fever and vulnerability to have sex with me

Carly couldn't believe what she was hearing. Adams was constantly surrounded by stumming women and never struggled to attract their attention. Yet, despite her numerous attempts to 11 with him, he always brushed her off, claiming he wasn't in the mood or was too busy with work. He always maintained an image of extreme self control. Hence, it was impossible for him to exploit Celine's illness to have sex with her.

She retorted. "Impossible! This is nonsense.

Celine turned to Adam. "Mr. Alvarez, since you're here, could you let Carly know it I'm speaking nonsense?

Adam glanced at Celine and replied, "What she said is true.

Hearing his confirmation, Carly completely broke down observing the look of distress on her face, Celine sneered. "Carly

, did you ever consider the possibility of being cheated on while you were playing the mistress? Mr. Alvarez can't control himself. Next time we meet, you better back down, or I'll make sure you face such betrayal once more."

After that, she left

Carly was at her breaking point. She didn't expect Celine to survive. To make matters worse, Celine and Adam had slept together, and now she felt like she had sabotaged herself. The pain was overwhelming

Adam had no words to justify his actions. The dim light barely revealed his striking features, casting shadows over his expression "Carly, I'm sorry. My feelings for Celine "Enough! Stop talking!" Carly shouted, tossing her bag to the floor.

Celine gathered her luggage, ready to return to Mercity, when Randall and the others approached her. Leaning in, Randall whispered, "Celine, I just witnessed Adam arguing with his girlfriend."

"Yeah. I saw that too. His girlfriend is furious. She even threw her bag."

"Why were they fighting?"

Celine simply remained silent with a smile.

Celine made her way back to her dormitory, and as soon as she arrived, Halley enveloped her in a warm embrace. "Celine, I'm glad you're back." She presented Halley with the gift she had brought back from Marland. They talked for a while before Celine fell asleep.

Her slumber extended into the next day. When she awoke, she realized that she had been sleeping exceptionally well lately, perhaps even a bit too much. As she retrieved her phone, a message from Perry caught her attention, "Celine, are you back?"

Perry: "Let's meet."

Celine "her's meet in Alpite Pharma then fluen't been there for a long time."

Perty: "As the founder of Alpite Planina, but you seem a bit lazy."

During a bustling moment at Alpite Pharma, Adamu liled to register for VIP access and brought Carly along to obtain her medication

Upon their return from Marland, Carly experienced some heart discomfort. Hence, she asked Adam to stay by her side. Tracy and Lucy joined them as sipratimai popularity within the medical industry."

the newly launched heart medication by Alpite Pharma. It's highly effective for the heart and has gained

"The Ionnder of Alplate Pharisa is bebaud its remarkable development. Six years ago, they registered the Alpite Pharina brand, specializing in meshchinal.

partnerships with major hospitals nationwide. It also became a publicly listed large nediral hulinity "

Lury remembered “I believe Alpine Pharma officially went into the world on April 11, and it appears to be referred to as the “Legend 411.

Trary nodded. “That’s right ”

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 352

Chapter 352

Carly gazed at the medicine in her hand and remarked, “This founder is truly remarkable. Adam, are you familiar with ti this founder?” Carly was still undeniably furious, yet she refrained from taking her anger out on Adam. Instead, she was determined to keep his heart close to hers. In her mind, all the blame rested squarely on Celine

Adam thought for a moment before replying, “I’ve seen her once.”

Six years ago, Adam had the opportunity to meet the founder of Alpite Pharma in Lapliona, Awhana.

Back then, he was already an established business tycoon, and he was invited to a business meeting on Finance Street. That memorable night marked the moment when the founder of Alpite Pharma rang the bell at midnight to celebrate the company’s listing

To his astonishment, those around him informed him that the founder was just 16 years old. He also listed his first company at 16, just like this founder. What a coincidence

After dinner, he stepped outside and caught a glimpse of the founder from behind. She donned an elegant black halter dress complemented by a tassel of crystal heels in one hand. At

It seemed she had grown tired of her high heels, as she strolled beneath the dazzling lights of Lapliona, holding a pair of crystal b that moment, the brilliance of the lights accentuated her poise and presence.

A fleeting glimpse was all it took. Her figure exuded a captivating beauty, radiating elegance and grace. Even six years later, Adam could vividly recall every detail of her presence, “Mr. Alvarez, is the founder very old?” Lucy asked curiously. She often believed that a doctor’s age correlated with their medical expertise, a notion that stemmed from her preconceived notions.

Adam smiled. ”

“She’s a s extremely young.

Carly, Tracy, and Lucy were surprised to learn that the founder of Alpita Pharma was a young woman.

“We’re all human, but why is there such a gap between us? Hard work often feels insignificant next to talent.” Tracy sighed. Both she and Carly were dedicated players.

Suddenly, a team of bodyguards dressed in black stormed in, establishing a formidable barrier around the VIP entrance. Their commanding presence sparked whispers among the crowd. “Which big shot is coming?

“Don’t you know? Mr. Perry Marshall from Fustain is coming

“Mr. Marshall is familiar with both the legal system and the underground scene. Why did he suddenly arrive in Mercy? I’ve heard he’s “That’s not all. Mr. Marshall was part of a group that included three others, where he held the position of the third man, with two esteemed men heard he’s very handsome.” above him and a younger female mentee below him. The three men are very fond of her. She’s the group’s favorite.”

Adam knew Perry, having dealt with him previously. He was surprised that Perry had actually come to Mercy

Just then, a luxury car pulled up. Perry got out, looking handsome in a trench coat. He walked confidently, with bodyguards in black clearing the path for him

Carly asked, “Adam, why is Mr. Marshall in Mercy?”

Adam glanced at the scene calmly. “No idea. But based on I on how fast he’s walking, he seems to be here to meet someone”

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 353

Adam glanced up and spotted Celine, who had also arrived at Alpita Pharma.

Carly's grip on his arm was firm as she asked, "Why is Celine here? Adam, I don't want to see her. Seeing g her worsens my heart condition."

Adam averted his gaze from Celine and pulled his arm back from Carly's hand. "Let's head back then. I'll drive the car here. After that, he left.

Upon their return, Carly kept pestering Adam. He always complied with her requests and cut off all the connection with Celine. Yet, it was evident to Carly that Adam had grown distant.

His once warm affection seemed to have turned into mere obligation. Overwhelmed with frustration, Carly clenched her fists in anger.

Upon her arrival at Alpita Pharma, Celine went straight to Perry.

Perry grinned. "Celine, you've lost weight. After separating with us, it looks like you've felt the pain of love."

She glared at Perry. She was aware that Perry and the others would mock her, especially since Perry was sarcastic. "If you have nothing else to say, I'm leaving

"This is for you." He stopped Celine and handed her a property ownership certificate.

"What's it?"

"Your identity as a genius has been exposed. Do you still want to stay in the women's dormitory? You can stay in this house."

Celine realized it was time for her to move out, yet Hailey continued to reside in the women's dormitory. Thus, she would probably stay there occasionally. Nonetheless, she accepted the property ownership certificate.

"This is the car I bought for you." Perry took out a car key again after gifting her a house.

Celine accepted it. "Thank you

"Celine, now that you've divorced Mr. Alvarez, when do you plan to return? This time, Perry came to Mercy intending to bring Celine back

She hesitated, saying, “I have some unresolved matters in Mercy that I need to take care of before I can return.”

“Are you referring to the Tate family?”

Celine nodded. “Yes.”

Perry replied, “Alright then. I’ll stay in Mercy for a while.”

“Okay. Let’s keep in touch.” Celine bid farewell to Perry before heading off to her new home.

As Celine stepped outside, she noticed Carly, Tracy, and Lucy waiting for a car. Moments later, a Rolls-Royce Phantom glided to a stop, driven by Adam. Adam turned to Carly without exiting the vehicle and commanded, “Get in.”

In the next moment, he spotted Celine positioned behind Carly. Her bright, clear eyes locked onto his handsome face as he gazed back at her. Carly turned her head and noticed Celine tracking Adam’s gaze. She smirked “Celine, you’re truly everywhere. Are you following us?”

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 354

Celine smiled sarcastically at Carly’s suspicion of her following them. “Carly, letting your imagination run wild is a problem too. This is a hospital. You should get that checked.”

It’s not just coincidence that we keep running into each other. You must still have feelings for Adam, trailing us “Celine, I can’t help but think it’s more than coincidence wherever we go!!

Tracy promptly chimed in, saying, “You and Mr. Alvarez are divorced. He doesn’t want you anymore, so stop being thick skinned and following him

Lucy was surprised to learn that Celine was a genius girl, but she thought it didn’t matter much. She chuckled.

“Celine, I didn’t expect you to be a genius girl. But you didn’t pursue a career after graduation. Instead, you married Mr. Alvarez and took on the role of a housewife.

“Now that he has divorced you, it seems like you feel lost and directionless.

less. Instead of fixating on Mr. Alvarez and Carly, it’s time to focus on yourself and find a job. Financial independence is important for a woman.”

Celine was at a loss for words. Just then, her new car pulled up. Everyone, I'm simply waiting for my car here. I won't be able to chat any longer. I'm leaving ”

Carly laughed. “Waiting for a car? A taxi? It's hard to hail a taxi outside the hospital,”

Celine had a history of relying on taxis, which naturally led Carly to think of her in this way

Tracy cast a disdainful glance at Celine. “Celine, I have to say I truly look down on you. Just look at other geniuses. They all own homes and cars and are thriving

“Yet, here you are, still relying on taxis for transportation You're bringing down the reputation of genius girl“:”

Lucy quickly stopped Tracy. “Forget it. That's enough. Celine's actually quite pitiful.”

Celine noticed her new car had come to a halt, and the driver exited and approached her. She moved past Tracy and Lucy, positioning herself directly in front of Carly.

With a mischievous wink, she exclaimed, “Carly, you were absolutely right. It's incredibly hard to hail a taxi around here.”

Upon hearing that, Carly appeared proud

Celine turned to Adam in the Rolls-Royce and inquired, “Mr. Alvarez, would you give me a ride?”

Carly's face went pale. “No way!”

Celine stared at Carly. “If that's the case, what are you going on about with all this nonsense?”

Carly felt completely defeated.

Adam glanced at Celine. It had been two days since he returned, and they hadn't spoken Today, her long, silky hair flowed gracefully around her, framing her stunning face that captivated anyone who laid eyes on her.

He remarked, “It's indeed difficult to get a tax around here. You...”

was wrapping up his words, the driver approached Celine and said, “Hello, Ms. Tate, I’ve picked up your new car for you. I took it for a test drive, and it performs wonderfully. It’s ready for you to drive now.”

Celine nodded. “Wright. Thank you.” After that, the driver left.

Carly was stumped “New car? Celine, did you buy a car?”

Tray and Luey were somewhat skeptical. They couldn’t help but question when Celine had purchased a new car.

Celine retrieved the car key from her bag, making a “ding”

Cerly Klatrer u

Lup and was taken aback to see the lotary vehicle parked by the roadside. It was a Rolls-Royce

It bore e desemblance to dan’s, in this or was part of the Wraith Luminary Collection, specifically crafted for women.

“Celine, did you really buy a Holls Royer? How did you manage to afford it?” Tracy exclaimed in disbelief. They were taken aback by Celine’s unexpected be there astudled women and smirked

Take a guess “War that, Celer hopped into her new car. She pressed the accelerator atid elegantly sped away.

Adam wate lied as Celine wardshed from view, her hair daring in the wind as she drove away. She lood summing and outstanding, radiating an

He was struck by an incredible sense of fanlarity with Cello as if he recognized fer from a post encounter.

It dawned on laim that she resembled a remarkable woman. To be eat, the founder of Alpine Pharma, whom he bad net briefly in Lapliona,

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 355

Chapter 355

No. It couldn’t be possible. Adam couldn’t help but feel a sense of amusement. The thought of linking Celine with such an extraordinary founder was simply absurd.

Even though Celine had her own car, she still asked him for a ride. Adam chuckled, realizing she was trying to annoy Carly and tease him. She was becoming increasingly bold.

At that moment, Carly, Tracy, and Lucy climbed into the vehicle. Carly took the front passenger seat, while Tracy and Lucy settled into the back. After that, Adam floored the accelerator, and the luxurious Rolls-Royce Phantom glided effortlessly down the road.

Carly was shocked that Celine drove a Rolls-Royce like Adam. She felt Celine didn't deserve it. She asked, "Adam, did Celine spend your money again?" Tracy interjected, "Mr. Alvarez, during your divorce, did you give a lot of money to Celine? If not, how could she possibly afford a Rolls-Royce?"

Adam rested his hand adorned with an elegant watch on the steering wheel, his gaze fixed firmly ahead without uttering a word.

Carly grasped the meaning behind his silence. He was unwilling to discuss the substantial amount of money he had given to Celine during their divorce. Adam's generosity was evident, and it was clear he had parted with a significant sum.

While Carly had previously brushed it off, the reality of Celine purchasing a Rolls-Royce with that money was hard to ignore. Yet, Adam chose not to engage in this topic, leaving the conversation to come to a close.

Carly stifled her anger "Adam, I heard you've recently relocated to Jupiter Heights. I'd love to go and see your new place."

Tracy's interest was piqued. "Jupiter Heights is worth hundreds of millions, and every inch of land is valuable. Mr. Alvarez, I want to see it too."

Adam remained silent as the lipcurry car drove to Jupiter Heights. After thirty minutes, the Rolls-Royce Phantom arrived, and Carly stepped out. "Wow, this place is amazing!"

Tracy and Lucy were both amazed by the place's grandeur.

In an instant, a Rolls-Royce raced into view and stopped. The driver's door was swung open to reveal Celine's elegant silhouette stepping out. She had also driven to Jupiter Heights,

Carly was taken aback. "Celine, why are you here too?"

Celine was also surprised to find Carly and the others there, but she followed the address on the property ownership certificate. Thus, it must be correct

That was her new home.

Tracy comfully said, “Celine, your actions make people think less of you. It’s unethical to have tracked him from the hospital to Jupiter Heights. How did you discover that Mr. Alvarez lad moved there?”

d there as well

Celine was astonished to discover that Adam also resided in Jupiter Heights. The house that Perry had arranged for her was located Celine could simply shrug and respond, “What a coincidence! I live here as well.”

Lucy burst out laughing “Celine, enough with the boating. This is jupiter Heights. Do you really think you Celine said nothing as she stepped into the elevator. Adam glanced at her before following suit and entering the elevator.

u could live here?”

Lucy suggested, “Carly, Tracy, let’s go in too. Didn’t Celine mention she lives here? Let’s see where she lives. We can expose her when she lies later.” “Okay.”

Moments later, the elevator ascended to the ninth floor, Celine stepped out, followed closely by Adam. There were just two residences on one floor of Jupiter Heights, with only one household copying each unit.

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 356

Celine and Adam came out together.

Tracy exclaimed with a laugh, “Caught you, Celine! There are only two households on the ninth floor. Surely, you can’t be one of them living right across from Mr. Alvarez”

Lucy reprimanded, “Celine, you claimed you didn’t follow Mr. Alvarez, but you did come here with him!

“Celine, you’re being very sneaky. You even knew Adam lived on the 9th floor and seemed to stallchim. Have you lost your mind?”

Celine turned to Adam. “Mr. Alvarez, are you staying on the ninth floor?”

Adam gestured toward go and replied, “This is my home.”

“Oh.” Celine approached 902, entered the password, and it clicked open,

Carly, Tracy, and Lucy were astounded to discover that Celine resided at 902 and lived next door to Adam in Jupiter Heights

Celine entered and looked at Carly and the others before closing the door. “You’re right. Mr. Alvarez and I are neighbors.”

With a decisive bang, she slammed the door shut

Lucy couldn’t help but gasp at Celine’s extraordinary luck. Suddenly, she owned a luxury car and a house. She questioned whether Celine was still the same person she once laww

Carly stared at Adam in disbelief. “Celine actually purchased a house in Jupiter Heights and is now living right across from you?”

Adam frowned at the closed door of 902, unsure about Celine’s current situation since he had no contact with her.

Carly was on the verge of exploding. “Adam, how much money did you give Celine? Just look at how she wastes it—driving around in a luxury car and living extravagantly.

“What’s next for her? Is she planning to buy a private jet and a yacht? This is unacceptable.”

Celine was just a country woman. If Carly couldn’t even drive a Rolls-Royce or live in Jupiter Heights, it was completely unrealistic to think that Celine could Tracy disagreed, saying “Mr. Alvarez, you can offer Celine some divorce compensation, but not too much. Does she really want to get rich just from divorcing you?”

Adam pulled out his phone and scrolled through his messages. Unfortunately, there were no spending alerts from the bank.

For the past two days, Celine had been catching up on sleep in the women’s dormitory without spending Adam’s money.

Yet, she drove a luxury car and resided in an u upscale home. While this amount of money meant little to him, he was curious and perplexed about the source of Celine’s wealth.

Adam replied, “She didn’t spend my money.”

Carly steered. “You’re lying. Adam. If Celine didn’t use your money, then where did she get graduation and has no job. She’s been entirely dependent on you!

tit? She's a genius girl, but she became a housewife after two security pu

guards approached her and

Carly was bursting with part up anger and had plenty to express. However, just as she was about to speak up, sed, "Ma'ain, we don't permit loud noises in Jupiter Heights "

Two ser unity guards replied, "We've received a complaint from the resident of you regarding loud noises coming i argumeat, please take it outside to avoid disturbing the residetat and their nest."

was shocked that Cebre mally called to complain about her.

from this area. If you wish to engage in attempted to knock ou Callner's dour, but two security guards quickly plused her to the ground, Jupiter Heights had the best security in Mercity, and strelland barr on the ground, brandishing a stun gun. They warned, "Ma'aru, this is your second warning Please retrain from

The security pred taking sing kiel pours

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 357

Chapter 357

Lucy and Tracy were horrified to find Carly pinned to the ground. Without hesitation, they surged forward, determined to save her.

"Let her go! Now!

"This is your third warning. We'll have to throw w you out now.

With that, Carly, Tracy, and Lacy were locked out of Jupiter Heights, and the door snapped shut behind them.

They were at a loss for words. They had never encountered such injustice before, especially Carly. She was always treated as the guest of honor with Adam. Being coldly dismissed and thrown out was a first for her.

Tracy was furious “It’s all Celine’s fault! Carly, what exactly happened? Celine has a luxury car and house, and she even kicked us out. It’s ridiculous!” Carly clenched her fist in frustration. “Celine is nothing. Adam broke up with her, so he divorced her and compensated her with a massive sum of money.

Lucy glanced at the residence, a hint of jealousy in her voice, “Carly, Tracy, don’t worry. No matter how much Mr. Alvarez gives her, Celine’ll waste it all.

She’s just a housewife without a job. It’ll be interesting to see how she manages once the money is all gone.”

These words struck a chord, allowing Carly and Tracy to finally set aside their anger. Then, Tracy remarked, “Carly, you should definitely discover how much Mr. Alvarez gave Celine in the divorce settlement.”

Carly believed that Adam must be giving her between 100 million and 200 million dollars. After all, with his vast fortune, such sums were trivial to him. While she hadn’t been curious before, her interest was piqued now.

“I’ll find it out”

At that moment, a charming ringtone filled the air as Tracy’s phone began to ring. A smile lit up her face. It was her boyfriend, Dr. C, calling Tracy pressed the button to connect. When Dr. C’s voice came through, she erupted with joy. “That’s great! Absolutely incredible!”

Carly inquired, “Tracy, what good news did Dr. C share?”

Tracy replied excitedly. “The funds we invested in Dr. C’s company have already multiplied tenfold. Our wealth has soared to new heights. We’ve struck gold this time!”

“Really?” Carly and Lucy were overjoyed.

truly

Sonia and Tracy’s families, along with Carly’s family, made significant investments in Dr. C’s company, even going so far as to mortgage Tate Manor and their company shares. They had risked all their assets. Now their investment had earned tenfold, resulting in a huge profit.

Carly's mood instantly brightened. "We're wealthy now. Celine may rely on Adam's divorce settlement, but we're rich ourselves.

Lury proposed. "Since your grandma has been feeling down lately, why not take her shopping tomorrow? It could lift her spirits and allow our whole family to enjoy some quality time together."

"Sure.

Celine was astonished to discover that the bone Perry had arranged for her was located in Jupiter Heights, right next door to Adam. What an incredible

However, being a ballion dollar luxury apartment complex, Jupiter Heights truly embodied opulence and was the perfect place to call home.

be was enjoying = hourious baths infused with milk and delicate rose petals when her phone chimed with a WhatsApp notification. It was a message fron Perry

I'll take you to the mall tomorrow."

Sheepreed. "Aingi

After enjoying lært baths, Celine cleaned the house and eyes were drawn to a strikingly handsome atal tall hagore. It was Adlan.

arbage bag to head downstairs. Just as she stepped outside to dispose of the trash, lier

Celine sensed that trip relaticauluja

e happened to be u

fint strong cough to warrant a greeting, and she felt it would be more comfortable to act as if they were

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 358

lowever, Adam stopped Celine and asked, "Don't you have anything to say to me?"

Celine lifted her sparkling eyes to meet his gaze. "What?"

Adam asked, "How did you afford the luxury car and hosise, and whose money did you use?"

Celine straightened her back and replied, “Mr. Alvarez, I didn’t use your money. That’s all I have to say,”

She wanted to leave, but Adam blocked her path again.

Celine smirked. “Mr. Alvarez, I can see you’re confused. You, like Carlkshers, believe that, as a housewife, I depend solely on the divorce settlement you gave me and can’t eam my own money.”

Adam believed this to be true. It was clear that Celine was currently unemployed. “You’re highly educated and talented. You took care of me in the past, and now I want to support you in retum.

“What industry are you interested in? I can help you secure a position in that field or invest in you to help you launch your own Adarn was unaware of anything regarding Celine, except that he had recently discovered she was a genius girl.

business.”

Celine gazed at the strikingly handsome and dignified man before her. He possessed the charm and wealth to captivate any woman. Following their divorce, he had provided her with financial support, a career, and all the resources she could desire. He was more than capable of fulfilling her every wish and tending to her needs.

However, she declined. “It’s not necessary.”

Celine found herself unable to descend the stairs as he obstructed her path. Hence, she decided to turn around and head home. However, just then, he grabbed her wrist forcefully.

She felt his clean, slender fingers on her delicate skin, and a vivid image of his hands caressing her taking over her mind. She couldn’t push him away as he pressed her down forcefully, leaving her unable to resist.

“Let me go!” Celine cried out, her instinct urging her to push him away. But Adam reacted swiftly, pressing her firmly against the wall.

She glared at him. “If you do that again, I’ll tell Carly.”

“What are you going to blame me for this time?” Adam asked, his gaze locked onto her ley expression. He couldn’t shake off the memory of her last complaint about him.

Celine telt puzzled, noticing what seemed like an indulgence on Adam’s handsome face. “While you was still a form of sexual harassment.”

Adem sneered and asked casually, “Heading to your place tonight?”

Celine was stunned into disbelief.

Adam continued, "Or my place?"

Celine shamed, "Adam"

He playfully pinched her cheek and remarked, "See? This is sexual harassment.

She was rendered speechless. It turned out he was teasing her. What a psychopath!

didn't force yourself on me this time, what you

Adam stared condescendingly at her with a playful yet piercing look. "Celine, let me ask you again. How did you manage to afford the house and car?" If she didn't spend her money, where did her money come from?

Celine responded, "What is it that you're doubting? Are you suspecting that I used other men's money?"

He remained silent, his gaze devoid of any emotion. Celine understood that she was correct. He believed she was squandering other people's money, he had likely commandeered (Gandall and the others in his twisted mind

She lied. "I did pay for that. Those are gifts from others

المالك

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 359

men's money. At that

Chapter 359

Adam frowned "Who gifted them to you?"

Celine was amused "My boyfriend."

Adam's charming features hardened abruptly as he recalled Celine's earlier revelation about her having a boyfriend. Now, that very boyfriend had appeared again.

"That your rich boyfriend that you mentioned before?"

"Yeah. That's him."

Adam sneered. “Your boyfriend must be a big shot to buy you a luxury car and a nice house, Mercy is small. I can hardly picture who your boyfriend might be.”

She smiled. “Mr. Alvarez, it’s your issue if you can’t figure out who my boyfriend is. I’m leaving now Celine wanted to leave, but Adam held her back. “Celine, you need to consider finding a job. With your education, you should value yourself and work on enhancing your worth instead of pretending to be with a wealthy boyfriend.”

He doubted that she had a handsome and wealthy boyfriend.

Celine didn’t explain further, shoving Adam aside. “Mr. Alvarez, my personal matters are none of your concern.” After that, she entered the house. As Adam watched her door close, he stood still, visibly upset. He sensed she was hiding something from him, and that lingering feeling made him uncomfortable.

The following day, Celine and Perry arrived at the mall. With a warm smile, Perry said, “Celine, go ahead and choose some clothes. It’s my “You’re so generous, Perry. Thank you.”

Celine began selecting her clothes when suddenly, Perry’s p

’s phone rang. He glanced at his phone and remarked, “Celine, I need to step out to take this call.

Perry stepped away to answer the phone while Celine browsed through the clothing racks. The enthusiastic salesperson closely followed her. “You’re so graceful, Mader. This lace dress is perfect for you.” about to give it a try when a familiar voice interrupted her, saying, “Celine, why is it you again?”

Celine turned and saw someone she knew. Sonia, Carly, Tracy, and Lucy approached her.

Carly had shrugged off the anger of being kicked out the night before and felt uplifted. She and Tracy supported Sonia on either side. Sonia and Lucy entered engaged in lively conversation with a mocking smile.

“Celine, why are you here? Are you here to buy clothes?” asked Carly.

Celine nodded. “Yeah. I’m here to shop.”

Tracy grinned. “We have a piece of great news, Celine. Are you ready to hear it?”

Before Celine could respond, Sonia beamed “Celine, do you recall our investment in Dr. C’s company? Our initial funds have multiplied tenfold. We’re now wealthy.”

She continued, “Celine, you called Dr. C a scoundrel when we invested. I think you’re just jealous.”

Chartered

The Divorce Prescription Chapter 360

“Despite being a genius girl, just take a look at where you stand now. You married Mr. Alvarez and embraced life as a housewife

“After the divorce, you achieved nothing. Alas, it’s clear that you don’t measure up to Tracy and Carly,” Sonia clasped Carly and Tracy’s hands, beaming with pride.

Celine was amused. “Dr. C increased your investment tenfold? Wow! That’s impressive.

Tracy remarked, “Don’t be jealous, Celine. Dr. C is my boyfriend, and we’re getting married soon.”

Celine nodded. “Your Investment has skyrocketed tenfold. But, where’s that tenfold return? Did Dr. C specify when he would be transferring the funds to You?”

Sonia was stunned. This. ” likes, I still think he’s lying.

“It appears he didn’t clarify. Since the money wasn’t in your possession, Dr. C can claim he’s multiplied it as much as he likes. You’d better watch out ”

Tracy’s anger flared instantly. Her boyfriend was Dr. C, the one aspect of her life she took the most pride in. She wouldn’t stand for anyone to insult him, “Celine, you’re just jealous of me because I have a boyfriend like Dr. C.” Carly added sarcastically, “Celine isn’t just jealous of you. She’s also envious of me because I have Adam”

The moment the words were uttered, a rich and captivating voice sounded. “What are you doing?”

Celine looked up. It was Adam

Carly immediately grabbed his arm and replied, “We were just talking to Celine. She was jealous of me and Tracy because Tracy has Dr. C and I have you.” Celine was speechless. “Carly, you were the one who said that. Not me.

Lucy interrupted, saying, "There's no shame in feeling envious of Carly and Tracy. Don't feel embarrassed about it."

Celine found the Tates' perspective to be utterly distorted. "I don't feel envious of you. I have a boyfriend too, I'm not out shopping alone today. I'm with him "

Sonia swiftly remembered. "Celine, you mentioned before that y

you had a very wealthy boyfriend. Why do you continue to boast about it? "Have you considered your current circumstances? Despite being highly educated, you're unemployed. What makes you think a rich man would be interested in you?"

Tracy contemptuously remarked, "Celine, you only have a luxury car and house because of Mr. Alvarez's money. Eventually, you'll run out." Celine smiled. "You seem to have misunderstood. The luxury car I drive and the nice home I reside in were gifts from my boyfriend. I didn't use Mr. Alvarez's money for any of this in fact, my boyfriend is just as wealthy as Mr. Alvarez "

Carly scotted in elled "Stop bragging, Celine. Who can compete with Adam in Mercity?"

Celine simply remained silent with a smile.

Adam gazed at Celine's beautiful face and asked, "Since you mentioned you came here with your boyfriend, I'd love to meet him. Where is he? Lucy chimed in "That's right. Since your boyfriend is so rich, we'd love to meet him. " tott, saying, "Lhough. Let's ignore her bragging and go buy some clothes Celitar glared up and started Perry's striking silhouette approaching, having just concluded his phone call.

Her bright eyes surveyed each face before breaking into a warm smile. "Since you're all so curious about my boyfriend, I'm happy to make the Celine directed her party ahead. Everyone followed her lead, turning to see Perry making his entrance, Carly, Tracy, Sonia, and Lucy all gasped in shock. Carly called out. "Mr Perry Marshall?