

THE DIVORCE PRESCRIPTION

Chapter 644

Adam smiled. "She's beautiful, smart, talented, and full of vibrant energy. She's truly incredible, like a shining star."

Bella giggled. "Mr. Handsome, you sound like you're talking about my mommy. She's just like that too."

Adam chuckled. In a child's eyes, their mom is always the best. He understood that. But to him, no one shined brighter than Celine.

"Mr. Handsome, are you with the person you like?" Bella asked.

Adam shook his head. "Not yet. I haven't won her over."

Bella nodded seriously, as if taking in the information.

By then, they had reached Room 808. Adam glanced at the number and said, "Alright, we're here. Let me knock."

He rang the doorbell.

Inside, Celine had been waiting for Bella. When she heard the bell, her assistant stood up to answer it.

"I've got it," Celine said, stopping her. "Bella will want to see me first."

She walked to the door.

Outside, Adam looked at Bella with a smile. "Sweetie, what's your name?"

"Bella," she said proudly. "You can just call me Bella."

That was a beautiful name.

Adam nodded. "And what's your mommy's name? What should I call her?"

"My mommy's name is Celine," Bella answered.

The name hit Adam like a truck, and he stood frozen in place. His deep gaze flickered with shock as he stared at Bella. "What did you say?"

"Mr. Handsome, what's wrong? My mommy's name is Celine Tate. Oh, and she has a nickname-Linny!"

Adam felt like the air had been sucked from his lungs when he realized Bella's mother was Celine.

At that moment, the door clicked open.

"Bella, you're here!" Celine greeted her sweetly.

Bella beamed. "Mommy, look! I brought Mr. Handsome with me!"

Celine turned to see Adam, and their eyes met.

Celine looked at Adam, still in shock. "Mr. Alvarez, what are you doing here?"

Without hesitation, she scooped Bella out of his arms.

Adam struggled to collect himself. "Celine, is Bella your daughter?"

Celine nodded. "Yes."

Bella looked between them in confusion. "Mommy, do you know Mr. Handsome?"

Celine frowned. "Bella, are you talking about Mr. Alvarez?"

Bella nodded. "Yeah! That's him!"
