

The Divorce Prescription

#Chapter 765– 768

---- Chapter 765 Hailey smirked. "Alright, I'll sit here and watch. Carly, hurry up and make the call!" It was obvious that Hailey was relishing the unfolding drama. But Carly remained sure of herself. Since Adam was under the influence of the Heartstring Venom, she refused to believe he would back out now. With that, she pulled out her phone and dialed Adam's number, casting a knowing glance at Hailey.

"Hailey, get ready-you're about to be proven wrong!" The phone rang several times, but there was no answer. Soon, a cold, mechanical female voice echoed from the other end. "Sorry, the number you've dialed is temporarily unavailable. Please try again later." Adam wasn't answering. Why wasn't he picking up? Awave of panic rippled through Carly, but she quickly dialed his number again. After multiple attempts, there was still no response. She felt her heart sink-Adam wasn't answering her calls.

They had made plans to meet for dinner here last night, but now Adam was nowhere to be found. What on earth was going on? ---- At that moment, Hailey couldn't suppress her laughter . She had been watching Carly carefully, and as soon as she saw the change in Carly's expression, she knew exactly what was happening. She sneered. "Carly, what's happening? Why hasn't Adam shown up yet? Didn't you call him?

Come on, tell me-did he say he's on his way?" Upon seeing the smug smile on Hailey's face, Carly dug her nails into her palm, but the pain didn't even register. "Carly, what's wrong? You look so pretty today-did you dress up for Adam? Wait, don't tell me he's not coming... Oh no, he's ignoring your calls! I can't believe it-he actually stood you up!" Hailey laughed, clearly enjoying Carly's discomfort. Hailey loved watching Carly struggle.

She was sure Adam wasn't the type to juggle multiple women, but she still couldn't understand why he was tangled up with Carly again. Carly, however, didn't give up. She kept dialing Adam's number, but it kept going straight to voicemail. A feeling of disappointment settled over Carly. She knew Adam wouldn't answer, but she couldn't shake the confusion over what his silence meant. Just then, Hailey took out her phone. "Carly, since Adam isn't picking up for you, let me try.

Let's see if he answers my call." Carly's expression hardened . "Go ahead, let's see if he picks ---- up for you." With that, Hailey dialed Adam's number. The melodic ringtone soon played, but once again, there was no answer. Adam didn't pick up Hailey's call either. Carly couldn't help but laugh. "So, Hailey, looks like Adam didn't answer your call either, huh? Well, now I get it-Adam must be really busy. He's probably in a meeting and doesn't have time to answer his phone.

But he did invite me out for dinner, so I'm sure he'll be here soon!" Hailey's lips curled into a smirk. "Damn, Carly, you're way too confident. I actually think the reason Adam's not answering our calls is that he's with someone important right now." "Someone important ? Hailey , who are you talking about?" "Don't act clueless , Carly. You know exactly who I mean. Let me make it clear-the 'important person' is Celine. I bet Adam's with her right now." + Adam was with Celine?

---- Chapter 766 Carly's expression flickered for a split second, but she quickly denied it. "Hailey, you're wrong! Adam would never be with Celine!" "And what makes you so certain, Carly?" After all, Adam was bound by the Heartstring Venom. The moment he got too close to Celine, he would be struck by an unbearable headache. Of course , Carly had no intention of revealing this secret to Hailey.

Instead, she smirked knowingly and said, "Hailey, I'd bet anything-Adam is absolutely not with Celine." "Alright, let's make a wager. If Adam isn't with Celine, I lose, and I'll call you 'Your Royal Highness.'" "Deal. But if he is with Celine, then I lose, and I'll call you 'Your Royal Highness. With that, the bet was sealed - whoever lost would have to address the winner as "Your Royal Highness". Hailey picked up her phone again. "Carly, it's time for the truth.

I'm calling Celine right now." "Go ahead," Carly shot back. "I'll wait right here. Hailey, you're definitely calling me 'Your Royal Highness' today!" Without hesitation, Hailey dialed Celine's number. The melodious ringtone rang twice before the call was picked -- up, and Celine's clear, elegant voice came through. "Hello, Hailey." "Hey, Celine! Guess who I'm with-Carly! Adam was supposed to have dinner with her at Freeman restaurant tonight, but he never showed up.

So, we made a bet -I'm sure he's with you. Come on, Celine, is he there?" "Hailey, I-ah!" Celine suddenly let out a startled gasp. Hailey immediately stood up, gripping her phone tightly. " Celine, what's going on?" she asked, her voice filled with worry. "Adam, what are you doing? Let go of me-" Upon hearing Celine's voice, Hailey's eyes lit up-Adam had indeed gone to find Celine, and now they were together.

"Celine, you're with Adam, aren't you-" Before Hailey could finish her sentence, the call was suddenly disconnected, replaced by the beeping of a busy line. Carly sprang to her feet, staring at Hailey in shock. "Hailey, what did you just say? Is Adam really with Celine?" A triumphant smile spread across Hailey's face. "That's right, Carly. You heard it too, didn't you?

Adam is with Celine right now." 7 Carly felt like she had been thrown into an abyss, unable to understand how Adam could ditch her to be with Celine instead. ---- What was even more bewildering was how Adam, who had been affected by the Heartstring Venom, could still be with Celine. It was utterly incomprehensible , and she refused to accept it. She knew exactly how powerful the Heartstring Venom from. Yoruzen was, and she couldn't believe for a second that it couldn't control Adam.

Hailey strolled over. "Carly, do you remember our bet? Looks like you lost. Now, go ahead and address me as 'Your Royal Highness!' " "Twon't!" Carly's anger flared. "I won't! I refuse to believe Adam is with Celine! You're lying to me!" "Carly, you really won't believe it until you see it, will you? If you're still unsure, I can take you there so you can see it for yourself." "See for myself?" "Yes, seeing is believing."

You'll have no excuses left once you witness Adam with Celine." Carly clenched her fists, her resolve hardening. She simply couldn't bring herself to accept it. "Fine! Let's go right now! Your words mean nothing -I need to see it with my own eyes! "

---- Chapter 767 "Sure, let's head out now!" Hailey said. Carly stood up, and the two of them walked out together. Inside the villa, Celine opened the door, only to find a tall, handsome figure standing outside -Adam had arrived. What was he doing here? Wasn't he supposed to be having dinner with Carly? He hadn't shown up at the city hall to register their marriage that day, and two days had passed without a word from him-not even an explanation.

Despite trusting Adam's character, Celine couldn't shake the growing resentment inside her. She really didn't want to see him right now. She reached out to close the door, trying to shut him out. But Adam's hand pressed against the door, preventing her from closing it. He looked at her and said, "Celine, please don't close it." Celine's clear eyes met his chiseled features. "Mr. Alvarez, ---- what are you here for?" Adam smirked. "Celine, why are you calling me Mr. Alvarez?"

That's a little too formal, don't you think? After all, we're supposed to be getting married." How dare he bring that up now? Celine looked at him. "We were supposed to register for our marriage, Mr. Alvarez, but you didn't show up, did you?" "Celine, please, let me explain." "Alright, Mr. Alvarez, I'm giving you a chance. Go ahead." "Celine, please, just let me inside. I'll explain everything." After a moment of hesitation, Celine opened the door, allowing Adam to enter.

Once inside the living room, Adam reached out and grabbed Celine's slender arm. "Celine, are you mad at me? Celine's expression remained cold and unyielding. "I'm not." Adam raised an eyebrow. "But your face says otherwise. You waited for me in city hall all day, didn't you? And when I didn't show, you were upset." ---- A sense of relief stirred within Adam-the fact that Celine was angry and jealous meant that she still cared for him and loved him deeply.

Even after all the years of setbacks and misunderstandings, their hearts had never truly strayed from one another. Celine locked eyes with him. "Mr. Alvarez, do you think this is a game? Do you get some kind of sick satisfaction from toying with me?" "Celine, I'm not playing with you," Adam replied. "There was a reason I didn't show up at the city hall that day." "What reason? Tell me." Adam paused, unsure of how to explain. He hadn't figured out the reason himself yet.

His silence only made Celine's frustration grow. "Mr. Alvarez, if you have nothing to say, then you can leave." Without another word, Celine began to gather her things. Adam's eyes landed on something, and he quickly reached out, grabbing it. "What's this?" He looked closer -it was two plane tickets. "Celine, are you planning to leave?" ---- Celine nodded without hesitation .

"Yes, I'm taking Bella and leaving this place." Since Adam had shown no intention of marrying her, there was no reason for her to stay. She had allowed him into the house, giving both him and their relationship a chance. But since he hadn't said anything, she decided it was time to leave the Capitol with Bella. "Celine, you can't leave with Bella. I won't allow it!" Celine scoffed. "Mr. Alvarez, be reasonable. Why can't Bella and I leave? Please, just go. I heard you have dinner plans with Ms.

Hampton -why don't you go ahead and join her?" She turned to walk away, but her phone rang just then. It was Hailey calling. Celine pressed the button to answer, but Adam snatched the phone out of her hand before she could say more than a few words.

---- Chapter 768 "Mr. Alvarez , what are you doing? Please give me back my phone!" Celine snapped. Adam reached out and gripped her shoulder firmly. " Celine, I won't let you take Bella and leave. Do you understand?" "Mr. Alvarez, you don't get to decide my future. Bella and I are free to go wherever we please!" Celine retorted. Adam was resolute. He had just found them again and couldn't bear the thought of losing them once more.

He opened his mouth to speak, but before he could, a sudden, intense pain shot through his head. The crushing headache returned with overwhelming force. His face turned pale. Even though he had taken painkillers earlier, the stabbing pain was much more intense than he had expected, completely beyond his control. At that moment, Celine shoved him away. "Mr. Alvarez, if you're not leaving, then I will." Without a word, she stuffed the plane tickets into her bag ---- and turned to leave.

"Celine, don't go!" Adam pleaded. He quickly stepped forward and wrapped his arms around her from behind. The pain in his head deepened, growing more intense the closer he got to her and tearing through him with every pulse. Still, he couldn't bring himself to pull away. He buried his face in her long hair, nuzzling it with a longing affection. In spite of the torment, a sense of happiness washed over him. "Mr. Alvarez, please let go!" "I won't! Celine, don't leave with Bella.

I can't lose you!" Adam pushed Celine onto the couch, pinning her beneath him. He leaned in, gripping her face as he kissed her deeply. Startled by the force of the kiss, Celine immediately shoved against his solid chest. "Adam, stop! Let me go!" But Adam didn't back off. He kissed her even more urgently, desperately savoring the sweetness of her mouth as if it were the only thing that could dull the pain ---- consuming him. Just then, a luxury car pulled up outside the villa.

Hailey and Carly stepped out. Hailey grinned. "Carly, we're here. Adam and Celine are inside." Carly looked at the villa skeptically. "I don't buy it. Let's go in and see for ourselves!" "alright, I'll open the door." Hailey punched in the security code and unlocked the villa door. The two of them stepped inside. It didn't take long before they found Adam and Celine. Adam had Celine pinned to the couch, kissing her passionately-an intimate, heated moment. Hailey quickly covered her eyes.

"Well, it looks like Adam and Celine really can't keep their hands off each other, huh?" Carly stood frozen, her mind struggling to process what was unfolding before her. Adam was really with Celine, and they were being affectionate. How could this be? Why was this happening? ---- Wasn't Adam under the Heartstring venom? He shouldn't be able to touch Celine. Hailey turned to Carly. "So, you see it now, don't you, Carly?"

Adam and Celine are together!" Carly felt her heart sink, the weight of reality crashing over her. She took a step forward and asked, "Adam, what are you and Celine doing?" At the sound of Carly's voice, Celine blinked, and in a flash, she pushed Adam away. "Adam, let go of me!" + This time, Adam didn't resist. He let go of her, allowing Celine to sit up. But without warning, he reached out again, pulling her back into his arms. He tilted his head, locking eyes with Carly. "Carly, do you really not understand what's happening here?"
