

The Divorce Prescription

---- Chapter 846 Jonah stepped forward and stood in front of her. "Ms. Young, I'll be waiting for your thanks." The implication was clear-her thanks meant spending a night with him. Hailey's fair face flushed with embarrassment. Jonah opened the passenger side door. "Ms. Young, get in. I'll take you home." Hailey slid into the car, and Jonah took the driver's seat. With a press of the accelerator, the luxury car sped away. Half an hour later, they arrived at the Lambert residence. Hailey unbuckled her seatbelt and said, "Mr.

Pilsner, I'll head inside now." Jonah nodded, reminding her, "Alright, I'll be waiting for your call, Ms. Young, Don't forget our deal." Hailey quickly exited the car and walked toward the villa. Though she didn't look back, she could feel Jonah's gaze lingering on her. Inside the house, Miranda and Aileen hurried to greet her." Hailey, you're home!" Hailey handed the recorder to Miranda. "Mom, give this to Dad. He'll understand." Miranda frowned slightly. "Hailey, where did this come from? ---- "Mr, Pilsner gave it to me. He's the one who helped us through this mess," Hailey said. Updates are released by Miranda nodded. "Alright. I'll go give this to your father right away." After Miranda left, Aileen looked at Hailey with curiosity . Hailey, did you see Jonah?" Hailey asked, "Aileen, did you already know Jonah is your brother?" Aileen nodded. "Yes, I found out. I even went to Jonah's company to see him. I ran into that annoying Joanne too!" Hailey's expression shifted. "Joanne didn't give you trouble, did she?" Aileen frowned. "She tried, but Jonah showed up. He put her in her place and told her she's not allowed back at his office again! Hailey, I even yelled at Jonah a bit.

He had no idea you were going to see him. When he found out, he came straight to you, didn't he?" Hailey was deeply moved. If Aileen hadn't gone to see Jonah, he might never have found out what was happening at Lambert Group, especially with Joanne in the way. Hailey pulled Aileen into a hug. "I truly owe you and Jonah a big thanks. We were only able to get through this crisis because of him." Aileen smiled warmly. "Hailey, it's what Jonah should do! ---- Don't worry. If he ever tries to bully you, I won't acknowledge him as my brother!" Hailey smirked.

"Aileen, my relationship with your brother can never go back to what it was." "Why?" Aileen asked, feeling confused. "Because we've both changed. I'm not the Hailey I used to be, and your brother isn't Declan anymore," Hailey replied. Aileen looked at her seriously. "Everyone grows up, Hailey. None of us is who we used to be. But as long as the love is still there, that's what matters. If you love Jonah, and Jonah loves you, then you can still be together." Hailey didn't know how to respond. She wasn't sure if Jonah still loved her.

Within three days, Lambert Group's crisis was completely resolved. The worker was arrested and thrown into jail. The company's name was cleared, and its stock price surged. James came home beaming. "Hailey, we really owe Mr. Pilsner big time for this. Don't forget to thank him properly on our behalf!"

The Divorce Prescription

---- Chapter 847 Miranda gently took Hailey's hand. "Hailey, no matter what has happened between you and Mr, Pilsner, we will always remember the favor he did for our family. How about this? Why don't you give him a call and see if he has time? Your father and I would like to invite him to dinner to show our gratitude." James nodded in agreement. "That's right, Hailey. We want to invite Mr. Pilsner to a meal. [haven't seen him in years." Declan used to be James's student, and James had always supported him. Given Declan's past kindness to the Lambert family, this dinner was a must.

Aileen, who hadn't gone to school in the past few days, felt like a part of the Lambert family after all the kindness they had shown her. When the family was in trouble, she knew she had to stay until things were settled before returning to the research base. Aileen smiled. "You don't need to invite Jonah. This is just something he should do. As long as our family gets through this safely, that's all that matters." Miranda chuckled. "No, Aileen. We can't skip the proper etiquette. Jonah helped our family out of kindness, but we still need to show our appreciation.

It's just the right thing to do." James added, "Aileen, we accepted you as our goddaughter because we care about you, not to use you to get Jonah's help. ---- Even now that Jonah is back, you are still part of the Lambert family." Aileen nodded firmly. "Yes!" James turned to Hailey. "Hailey, what are you waiting for? Call Mr. Pilsner now!" Hailey took out her phone. "Okay, I'll call Mr. Pilsner right now. "Go ahead," James urged. Hailey walked aside and dialed Jonah's number. After one ring, the phone was answered. Jonah's deep, magnetic voice came through. "Hello, Ms. Young.

What can I do for you?" His voice carried a playful tone, and as it reached Hailey's ear, it felt warm and affectionate. She couldn't help but feel flustered. Over the past three years, his voice had grown even deeper and more captivating. Hailey spoke up, "Mr. Pilsner, our family's situation has been resolved, and my parents are very grateful. They'd like to invite you to dinner, if you have some time." Jonah chuckled. "Mr. and Mrs. Lambert are too kind. It was my pleasure to help." "My parents really insist on inviting you," Hailey added. "Will you be coming?" Jonah asked.

Hailey's heart skipped a beat. What did he mean by that? ---- "If my parents are inviting you, of course, I'll be there too. We all need to thank you properly," she said. Jonah chuckled. "Somehow, I feel like you're not saying that with all sincerity." Hailey smiled nervously, "Mr. Pilsner, could you kindly accept? Of course, if you're too busy, it's fine..." "Thave time. Tonight works for me," Jonah replied. "Great! I'll let my parents know," Hailey said. "Alright. Is there anything else you need to say, Ms. Young?" Jonah asked teasingly. Hailey's breath hitched.

"What do you mean?" "You haven't forgotten our little agreement, have you?" Jonah teased. Hailey's cheeks flushed. "I haven't forgotten! I'm having my period now!" "No worries. I can wait until your period's over," Jonah responded. Hailey hastily ended the call, still feeling flustered. She held her phone, her heart racing. Three years later, Jonah still had the power to make her feel this way. "Then I'll hang up now," Hailey said. Jonah replied with a simple "Okay." ---- After hanging up, Hailey felt her heart flutter. Three years had passed, yet Jonah still made her heart skip a beat. Chapters first released on Find_Novel(.)net

The Divorce Prescription

---- Chapter 848 Hailey didn't know what it felt like for others to be liked, but her feelings for Jonah were fiery and intense. From three years ago to now, they had never changed. However, there was a three-year gap between them, and there were so many things she wanted to ask him, but she didn't know where to begin. Hailey returned to the living room. "Mom, Dad, Mr. Pilsner said he's available tonight." James smiled. "That's great. I'll have my secretary book a table." Aileen grabbed Hailey's arm. " dresses for tonight." jailey, let's go pick out our Miranda beamed.

"My two little princesses , hurry upstairs! I've even had custom dresses made for you." Miranda was very fashionable and adored her daughters. She loved dressing Hailey and Aileen up, treating them like little princesses. "Mom, we're going upstairs now," Hailey said as she led Aileen upstairs. The two of them entered the room and opened the wardrobe, which was filled with custom-made dresses. Aileen held up one of the dresses and began sizing it up ---- against Hailey, asking, "Hailey, what color do you want to wear? These two look great. I can't decide!

It's your fault for looking good in everything!" Hailey pinched Aileen's cheek and replied, "Aileen, you're just too sweet with your words." Aileen grinned. "Hailey, Jonah is coming tonight. You have to dress up beautifully and make him fall for you, okay?" Hailey's face turned red. "Jonah and Joanne..." "Hailey, Jonah doesn't like Joanne. She's nothing compared to you. In my eyes, you're the only sister-in-law that matters," Aileen said happily. Hailey hugged Aileen and then chose a black spaghetti-strap dress. "Aileen, let's wear this one." Aileen beamed. "That's perfect!

Let's do a fancy makeup look! I bet Jonah won't be able to take his eyes off you tonight!" Hailey didn't want to make it too extravagant, but Aileen wouldn't take no for an answer. She pushed Hailey in front of the mirror and started doing her makeup. Later that evening, Jonah arrived at Luxuria Hotel's extravagant private room, where James and Miranda were already waiting. James stood up and looked at Jonah. "Declan... Oh no, I should call you Mr. Pilsner now." ---- Jonah was dressed in a custom -tailored black suit, exuding a mature and refined air.

The black lace mask he wore added an extra layer of mystery and elegance, presenting him as a rising star in the business world. Jonah smiled. "Mr. Lambert, I'll always be your student." James chuckled. "I knew back then you weren't just an ordinary person. You've exceeded my expectations. Truly, you're greater than me." James had deep admiration for Jonah. Jonah humbly replied, "You flatter me, Mr. Lambert." Miranda glanced at Jonah. "Mr. Pilsner , shall we sit down?" "Of course," Jonah said, sitting down in the chair that Jeremy had pulled out for him.

He glanced around but didn't see Hailey and Aileen. "Haven't Ms. Young and Aileen arrived yet?" he asked. Miranda checked the time. "Those two have been busy in their room, and we were told to go ahead. They should be here soon. " Just as she finished speaking, the door to the private room. opened, and Aileen walked in, pulling Hailey along with her. Aileen happily exclaimed, "Jonah, we are here!" She pushed Hailey forward. "Jonah, doesn't Hailey look stunning today?" ---- Jonah's gaze immediately fell on Hailey, and he couldn't look away.

NEW NOVEL chapters are published on find📄novel.net

The Divorce Prescription

---- Chapter 849 Hailey wore a black spaghetti -strap dress, and the satin fabric of the dress perfectly accentuated her graceful figure. Her long hair was styled in loose curls, and her face was lightly made up, enhancing her already delicate beauty with a more feminine allure. Hailey felt a little embarrassed as Aileen pushed her forward. She looked at Jonah. "Mr. Pilsner," she greeted softly. Jonah's gaze lingered on Hailey. He had never seen her so enchanting before, and he was momentarily captivated. Aileen giggled. "Jonah, Hailey's calling you! NEW NOVEL CHAPTERS ARE PUBLISHED ON Find1Novel.net

Jonah!" After hearing her a few times, Jonah finally snapped out of his daze and cleared his throat. Aileen teased, "Hailey looks so beautiful tonight that Jonah's stunned." Hailey felt her face heat up under Jonah's intense gaze. Miranda smiled warmly. "Hailey, Aileen, come, sit down." After taking their seats, Aileen looked at Jonah with a grin. "Jonah, you still haven't answered my question. Isn't Hailey gorgeous?" Jonah looked at Hailey and nodded honestly. "She's absolutely beautiful." Aileen chuckled, and Hailey felt her cheeks burn with ---- embarrassment.

As the waiter began to serve the dishes, James looked at Jonah. "Mr. Pilsner, in the past three years, have you been married or single?" Jonah answered, "I'm currently single." He added, "Three years ago, I suffered a severe facial injury. Joanne is a doctor, so she's been by my side since then. We have a doctor-patient relationship." Hailey's heart skipped a beat. Was Jonah explaining this to her? It was only then that she realized Joanne was his doctor. Miranda looked at Jonah's mask. "Mr. Pilsner, what happened to your face?" Aileen asked curiously, "Jonah, why do you always wear a mask?

What happened to your face?" Jonah paused before responding , "I was injured a while ago, but it's much better now." Jonah didn't seem eager to talk about his face, so James quickly changed the subject, discussing business matters instead. Hailey continued to glance at Jonah's face. Though he didn't say much, she could tell he was very self-conscious about it. He had once been so handsome, but now his face was scarred. When Jonah turned around, his eyes met Hailey's. She was ---- gazing at him with a look of sympathy, like she was seeing a wounded animal. Jonah froze.

A wave of emotion crashed through him, as if something inside him had crumbled. When Hailey realized he was looking at her, she quickly shifted her gaze away. Just then, her phone buzzed with a WhatsApp message. It was from Jonah. Hailey opened the message , and Jonah wrote, "Why are you looking at me like that?" They were all sitting at the same table, yet Jonah found a way to send her a private message. Hailey's face heated up. She was about to reply when James raised his glass. "Mr. Pilsner, thank you for helping our family.

We would like to toast to you." Hailey quickly put her phone away and picked up her glass. She looked at Jonah. "Mr. Pilsner, thank you." Jonah smiled slightly. The dinner soon came to an end, and everyone left the hotel. James said, "Tonight, both Mr. Pilsner and I have had drinks and can't drive. We'll have the secretary drive for us. Hailey, Aileen, you two..." Aileen linked her arm with Hailey's. "Let's ride in Jonah's car. ---- Miranda nodded. "Alright , everyone , let's head to the car."

The Divorce Prescription

---- Chapter 850 As they reached the luxury car, Jonah handed the keys to Jeremy. "You drive." Jeremy nodded. "Yes, Mr. Pilsner." Aileen grinned and said, "I'll sit in the front seat. You and Hailey can sit in the back." She quickly hopped into the front seat, clearly making room for Hailey and Jonah in the back. Hailey immediately noticed Aileen's intent. Jonah, ever the gentleman, opened the rear door. "Get in." Hailey climbed into the back seat, and Jonah followed, closing the door behind him.

As the luxury car smoothly sped down the road, Aileen asked, "Jonah, are you going home or to the office?" Jonah replied, "I'm going to the office. Are you two heading home?" Aileen glanced at Hailey. "Hailey, are we going home now?" Hailey felt Jonah's gaze settle on her face and quickly said, " Yes, let's go home." Just then, Jeremy made a turn. The sudden shift in direction caused Hailey to tilt sideways. Before she could react, Jonah wrapped his arm around her waist, steadying her. ---- Hailey looked up into his deep, affectionate eyes, and her heart skipped a beat.

The car soon steadied, and Hailey quickly moved back into her seat. The moment their bodies separated, the warmth between them faded slightly. Jonah broke the silence. "Jeremy, I recall you mentioning that you needed to go to the supermarket." Jeremy looked confused. "Mr. Pilsner, I think you're mistaken. I-" Jeremy glanced at Jonah through the rearview mirror, and Jonah subtly signaled him with a look. Jeremy caught his cue and quickly changed his response. "Oh, I remember now. I was going to buy something at the supermarket. There's one just nearby. I'll park here, Mr. Pilsner.

Wait for me." Jeremy pulled over to the side of the road and got out of the car. Aileen immediately opened the passenger door and got out. "Hailey, I also need to buy something. I'll go ahead." Hailey called after her, "Hey, Aileen, I need to get out too! Wait for me-" Before she could finish, a strong arm reached around her waist and pulled her back with force. Hailey found herself crashing into Jonah's embrace. ---- She quickly struggled and said, "Mr. Pilsner, what are you doing? Let me go!" Jonah smirked, feeling amused. "Aileen and Jeremy are going to buy something.

Why are you going with them?" "I also need to buy something..." she stammered. Jonah pinched her delicate chin and tilted her head to meet his gaze. "You little liar! Are you avoiding me?" Hailey quickly replied, "I'm not." "Still denying it? I can tell you're avoiding me!" Jonah said, pinching her delicate face as he gazed at her beautiful features. The dazzling city lights illuminated her, enhancing her beauty to a new level. Jonah smirked and casually added, "Don't go home tonight, alright?" Hailey knew what he meant -he wanted her to stay with him tonight. "What for?" Hailey stammered.

"Come to my company and spend the night with me," Jonah replied. "Ms. Young, it's time to fulfill our agreement." Hailey placed both hands on his strong chest. "Mr. Pilsner, I..." Before she could finish, Jonah leaned down and kissed her. Their lips met in a passionate kiss, and Hailey felt the intensity of his affection. The refined scent of his cologne ---- overwhelmed her senses, making her feel weak in his embrace. Newest update provided by

The Novel will be updated first on this website. Come back and continue reading tomorrow, everyone!