

THE DIVORCE PRESCRIPTION

Chapter 885

This past month had felt like a fog for Hailey-her mind completely consumed by thoughts of Jonah. She hadn't even noticed her missed period.

Her cycle was always regular. This time, it was late by an entire month.

She thought back to the times she and Jonah had been together-there had been no protection.

Jonah wanted to get married and have kids. She loved children, too. They had both decided just to let things happen naturally. Could she be pregnant?

Hailey didn't dare tell her mom. She didn't want to worry her parents.

"Mom, I haven't had much of an appetite lately. Maybe I've just been too tired. I don't feel like eating anything heavy," Hailey said.

Miranda gently patted her daughter's back. "Then, I'll go make you a fruit bowl. That should be easier on your stomach."

Hailey nodded. "Thanks, Mom."

As soon as Miranda went to the kitchen, Hailey stood up and left the house. She headed to a nearby small pharmacy.

The lady at the counter looked at her. "Sweetheart, what are you looking for?"

Hailey replied, "Ma'am, I'd like a pregnancy test."

The shopkeeper handed it to her. "Ten dollars."

"Thanks."

Hailey paid, took the test home, locked herself in her room, and took it.

The result came back quickly. There were two red lines.

She was pregnant. She was carrying Jonah's baby!

This baby had come into the world under the unspoken hopes and dreams of both of them. It should have been something joyful, but she and Jonah were already over.

Hailey placed a hand on her lower belly. This would be her first time becoming a mom. She still couldn't fully grasp that a new life was already growing inside her.

There was no hesitation or second-guessing-she was keeping the baby.

Jonah was handsome and incredibly smart He and Aileen were both at the top of their class. With his genes their child was bound to be just like him.

"Celine, you're here! Where's Bella?" Hailey asked.

"Bella went out with her grandma tonight. Since I'm pregnant with twins, her grandma doesn't want me chasing after her."

Hailey reached over and touched Celine's belly. "Celine, I've got news. I'm pregnant, too!"

Celine's face lit up. "You're pregnant? Does Mr. Pilsner know?"

Hailey shook her head. "He doesn't. And there's no need for him to know. Celine, we broke up."
