

THE DIVORCE PRESCRIPTION

Chapter 900

It had been a long time since Jonah and Hailey had been apart. At this youthful age, his needs were strong. After the brief contact with Hailey, it was inevitable that thoughts of desire would start to stir.

Just then, his phone buzzed.

Jonah pulled his phone out of his pocket, opened Instagram, and saw a follow request. The name on the request was "Little H".

Jonah raised an eyebrow. When did Hailey's Instagram handle change to Little H? Was she trying to act cute?

However, he couldn't deny that she was cute.

He accepted the follow request. The link to the origin of this information rests in

On the other side, Hannah was overjoyed. "It went through! Hailey, Jonah followed me on Instagram!"

It seemed that Jonah had followed Hannah back.

Hailey forced a smile and said, "Well, congratulations."

Hannah quickly typed, "I'm going to text Jonah now!"

She sent a direct message that read, "I like you."

Hannah was a bold and carefree young lady, so she openly confessed her feelings.

Jonah saw the message from Little H saying she liked him.

The heat he had tried to shake off earlier began to stir again, and he quickly responded.

Hannah eagerly checked her phone. "Jonah replied to me! Let's see what he said."

Hailey saw Jonah's reply. "How much do you like me?"

It was a playful, teasing response from a mature man in the face of a confession.

It was the kind of thing that could make anyone blush.

Sure enough, Hannah's face flushed a bright red. She remembered Jonah from earlier in the living room-he had seemed so dignified and distant. He was definitely not the type to approach women.

Yet here he was, responding with a playful message, "How much do you like me?"

Hannah thought he was such a tease.

Her heart raced, and she quickly typed back, "I like you so much!"

Jonah saw her response and smiled slightly.

Soon after, another message from Hannah popped up. "Can we have dinner together tomorrow?"

Since she had asked him out for dinner, Jonah assumed she was making her move.

Hailey felt her heart ache as she watched the bold and lively Hannah relentlessly pursue Jonah.

She couldn't help but wonder if Jonah would say yes.

Just then, Jonah replied, "What do you likeve

eat? Western food?

hay for tomorrow

have my assistant make a reservation

vethet

Hannah happily grabbed Hailey's arm. "Hailey, did you see that? Jonah wants to go on a date with me!"

Hailey felt a sharp pain in her chest

as she could believe that he acet

y Jonah's reply. She stiet accepted

Hannah like that ent

Wasn't he already in a relationship? Didn't he care if Joanne found out?

She couldn't help but wonder if Jonah had changed Had he become more open to anyone who came along and started to like beautiful ladies too?

Hannah quickly replied, "Okay."

And just like that, Jonah and Hannah's date was set for tomorrow.

Hailey forced a smile and said, "Congratulations."

Hannah grinned. "Hailey, thank you! You're the one who brought me and Jonah together."

Hailey didn't know what to say in response.

Hannah continued, "I'm going to head out now. I need to prepare for tomorrow's date with Jonah."

With that, Hannah left.

Hailey stood frozen as a whirlwind of emotions raced through her.

Just then, Aileen ran in. "Hailey, what are you doing standing here alone? Let's go have dinner. Jonah made dinner."