

President 1101

Chapter 1101

She still had a thought in her mind that they could make up with each other.

"Hum," Billy didn't look up but just answered. His eyes were still on the television, where the ball game was on.

Natalie was very happy in her heart. It was a good thing that he had responded to her, which was better than being ignored by him.

She poured a glass of milk and a glass of warm water. She put them on the table and was ready to watch the ball game with him together to promote the relationship between them. Before she had sat down, her cell phone rang. It was her cousin's call. She walked away to answer the phone and talked on the phone, with her back to Billy.

Billy looked up and swept over her back dryly. Then he suddenly picked up the milk glass and shook it gently, and the milk rippled.

After a moment, Natalie turned around and sat down next to him with a smile on her face. She picked up the milk glass and drank it slowly. It had been a long time since the two of them were so peaceful.

He watched the ball game all day while she sat by reading newspapers or browsing the shopping information in the online shops. Unconsciously one day had passed.

Natalie usually didn't fall asleep until ten o'clock at night. But today she was a little different than usual. She was too sleepy to stand at nine o'clock. She went to her bedroom and fell asleep in a daze.

Billy looked at the door of the bedroom and narrowed his eyes. He turned around and went downstairs. He sat down on the sofa and continued watching the ball game.

The next morning.

Natalie woke up and looked at the time. It was already 7:30. She brushed her teeth immediately and rushed downstairs without even eating breakfast.

Billy hadn't left yet. He was drinking coffee. He said when he saw her, "Let's go together. There's something I need to tell you."

Suddenly, Natalie felt very happy. Although only one day had passed, she felt that the relationship between them was getting closer again, which was a good sign.

They sat in the car. Billy started the car and said, "Go to the hospital sometime in the next few days for a test."

Natalie froze and asked, "What test?"

"Fetal test," Billy answered and turned the steering wheel of the car to the left.

She was stunned there. It came as a surprise, and she still pretended to be pitiful, "Don't you believe you are the baby's father?"

"I believe it, but it will be better if you go for a test. After all, things are so confusing these days." Billy said meaningfully, "You have to do this test. There's no room for discussion."

"After all, you don't believe me. You still don't believe you're the baby's father,"

Natalie became agitated, but she pretended to be calm. To make him believe, she had to act as if it was real. That was the rule.

"I believe that I'm the baby's father, and you are sure that we are the baby's parents. In that case, you don't have a counterargument, do you?" Billy asked.

Hearing this, Natalie was speechless.

Finally, she said, "I think it's an insult to me and the baby."

'Insult?' There was something meaningful in Billy's eyes, but he said, "You think too much. It's just a test. Now you make me feel that you are very resistant to go for the test."

Fearing that she might be too excited to expose her true thought, Natalie calmed down and said slowly, "I've heard that having a chorionic villus test is very bad and dangerous for the baby. I won't refuse if you really want me to do it, but at least we have to wait until after four months for the amniotic fluid identification."

"Because this test is for you and my baby, I will definitely send for the most reputable experts to do it. I will certainly not put you and the baby at any risk." Billy said dryly, "I can promise you that."

Natalie still refused. She said she didn't want to do it. And she said it was very bad for the baby, and in some cases, it could cause physical deformity of the baby.

But Billy had made up his mind. He wouldn't send for the experts in Santabaca, but in Athana, to make sure that nothing would go wrong.

Chapter 1102

Natalie wanted to say something more, but Billy made up his mind not to hear.

Natalie panicked. She had been absentminded all day, thinking about it. It seemed that she could not get away with it!

The last time she could manipulate Dr. Carl Zack to cheat, what about this time?

She thought a lot at work. She was so testy that she accidentally knocked a cup full of hot water, which almost scalded the colleague next to her.

She thought God would not let her get away with it and drive her mad!

The test was inevitable. Even if she refused to do it then, she would have to do it later! It was a dead-end anyway.

That put her on edge.

There was always something that was not quite right during life. But why did it all happen to her all at once?

Kingsley did mail the ultrasound images to Lanechett. Sherman thought that was so crazy.

Nutritional supplements were piled up in a mountain, and she could hardly eat.

Sherman and Kingsley went out of the apartment and took a walk in the garden.

The doctor said that the gravida should not lie still all the time, otherwise it would be difficult to give birth to the baby. In addition, she also needed to do some exercise such as walking.

Kingsley asked Sherman not to sit from 6 to 7 p.m. every day, but to take a walk in the garden.

The spring was coming. The willows in the garden began to sprout slowly, green leaves were also coming out.

It was late when they finished their walk. Kingsley was on the phone, and Sherman squatted on the ground to see the budding flowers.

Kingsley looked back and found Sherman still squatting on the ground. He beckoned her to follow him.

Sherman squinted her eyes slightly and said playfully, "Where's your wife? Was she away on business? And my husband's not at home either. What do you say we go to my place tonight?"

A young couple frowned and stared at Sherman and Kingsley as they walked past them.

They also stared at Sherman's belly for a long time. 'Golly, she's pregnant and still doing a dirty thing!'

Sherman could not help laughing when the young couple left. She laughed her head off with her hands on her waist. 'That's so funny!'

Kingsley could not do anything with her but smiled with joy. He had never found her so mischievous.

When she faced strangers, she would be generous, polite. But when she was with someone close to her, she would show a different side and act like a petulant.

How many people were polite with strangers but sloppy with family?

Only in front of the most loved and trusted people would people feel free to show their true selves.

"Quickly now, come on..." Kingsley stood there with his back to Sherman, his body bent slightly, his arms resting on his bent knees. His figure was tall and straight, and his back was broad, which made people feel very stable and secure.

"My feet feel like jelly. I laughed so hard I couldn't walk." She could still remember the look in the young couple's eyes.

"Keep going, my dear. You walk to me, and I'll carry you back to the apartment. Okay?" He coaxed gently.

Chapter 1103

Sherman held her belly with her hands. She thought it wasn't a good posture for him to carry her, so she said, "No, we can't do it like this. If we do it, we'll press the baby."

Kingsley stood up, walked back to her and reached out his hands to catch her. He seized her around the waist. He, whose attractive and long legs in the suit trousers, stepped forward calmly and steadily.

"Let me down. I can walk by myself. I'm pregnant now. I'm very heavy," Holding around his neck with her hands, she said in a low voice. Sherman and the baby added up to a lot of weight.

"I am holding the rest of my life, duty and happiness. I want to experience how much does this responsibility and happiness weigh. Now I realize it's not very heavy. I'll take good care of it," He said. He wouldn't let her down and wanted to feel the weight, "I think the weight of holding up the world is just that..."

Sherman felt warm. She understood that he was making a promise, which was to her.

"You are glib..." She narrowed her eyes and looked at him with a smile, "Have you ever used to be so good at love talk? Tell me the truth. Where did you learn all these words?"

"When I love you very much, I don't have to learn it on purpose, and I just naturally say out those words..." He looked at her affectionately.

In the past, he felt that these words were nauseating and couldn't say them out. He surprised himself by saying out these words so naturally now. He had a feeling that his temperament had changed.

It was said that when people reached their mid-thirties, they had lost their minds, thoughts and ideas. But at this moment, he realized that he had the same passion as he had had in his youth.

With a gentle sigh, Sherman thought he was so naughty. She lifted her chin and kissed him on his lips and chin vigorously.

Kingsley's Adam's apple moved, and he made a little noise. She patted his chest and said, "Hold me tight. Let's go."

Sarah had been staying at the Day family's villa for a period of time these days, and she looked great. It looked like she was in good spirits. She just looked different and happy. She dressed more casually than before and didn't wear high heels anymore.

Natalie's bank card wasn't ready yet, so she couldn't send the bank card number and information to Leonel. Her cousin and her grandmother were late for the bank that day, and the bank had already been closed.

In the past few days, her grandmother had some pain in her legs and was in hospital, so she didn't have time to go to the bank again.

Natalie and Sarah lived in the same villa, but they didn't say hello to each other.

Sarah was so arrogant that Natalie didn't want to talk to her.

In the evening, Billy came back and told Natalie to go to the hospital for the test two days later. All of the experts had arrived.

Then Natalie wasn't in the mood for dinner.

When she got back to her bedroom, she couldn't fall asleep. At this critical moment, who could fall asleep?

Biting her finger, Natalie exhaled and then inhaled. Otherwise, she was afraid she would suffocate.

The path in front of her had been blocked, and there was no way back. She seemed to be caught in the gap between the stones and was in a dilemma. She could only wait to be crushed to death.

This was something that was going to drive Natalie crazy. She took out her dress from her wardrobe and ripped it one by one.

Only such real venting could make her feel she was alive, and she wouldn't pass out from the tension and suffocation.

She knew that now the things had come this far, and she had to do something about it. On the existing conditions, she had to choose the most beneficial way for herself.

Her divorce from Billy was almost certain, and she couldn't escape.

Then she must get the last sum of the money for her. When the result of the test came out, if Billy wasn't the father of the baby in her belly, it would prove she had an extra-marital affair with another man.

Chapter 1104

If it was proven that she had had an extramarital affair, she wouldn't get a penny.

In the end, it was sure that she would lose Billy and get no money. Then everything she had done was in vain.

If she aborted this baby, then he had no proof that she had had an extra-marital affair. When they divorced, she would get a share of his fortunes. Whatever it was, she was sure to get some of his fortunes.

After weighing the interests in this way, some thoughts gradually emerged in her mind, which were more and more clear, more and more profound and more and more determined...

Then Natalie put her hand on her belly. Her belly wasn't bulging yet, but she had to abort the baby in her belly.

She had been pregnant twice. The first time she was one month pregnant, and the second time she was two months pregnant. She had aborted her first baby and now she was going to abort her second baby as well.

But she looked calm. Once the decision was made, she would calm down.

Natalie stayed up all night. During this period, she didn't sleep well every night. She had to rely on sleeping pills to sleep every night for more than half a month.

Even she could see that the dark circles under her eyes were obvious, and her skin turned yellowish and dark gradually.

In fact, nothing was terrible for her. The most terrible thing for her was the mental torture, which made her sleep and eat badly. This kind of torture was the most terrible for her.

The next morning.

She pushed open the door of her bedroom and went out. She happened to meet Sarah, who walked in the opposite direction to her.

Sarah was indeed in a very good mood and was humming a song. The moment she saw Natalie, she became sullen, and there was a cold snort in her nostrils.

Natalie was already in a really bad mood. As soon as she had felt that Sarah was sullen, she was in an even worse mood.

'What is Sarah so proud of? What is she showing off? How dare she be angry?'

Natalie thought if Leonel hadn't set her up, she wouldn't be in this situation now.

Natalie was getting angrier when she remembered Sarah had hit her and had scratched her before.

As soon as she had changed her mind, there was something different in her eyes. She wanted to abort the baby in her belly anyway, so she wanted someone else to take the blame. Then she had nothing to lose. Sarah deserved to be taught a lesson for being so bossy all the time.

Sarah walked ahead, and she followed.

They reached the landing of the second floor.

As they reached the landing, Natalie suddenly sped up and stepped hard on Sarah's foot with hers on purpose.

Sarah screamed in pain and pushed Natalie forward hard with her hands rudely.

Natalie stumbled and fell straight forward. Just as she fell forward, she hooked her heel around Sarah's ankle on purpose.

Sarah didn't stand properly. She had one foot on tiptoe. Because of what Natalie had done, she fell uncontrollably forward and landed on Natalie.

The stairs on the second floor were long and had two corners. They just rolled down the stairs. From time to time their bellies and heads bumped against the steep steps. They felt so painful that their faces turned pale. No one was better than the other.

Chapter 1105

Natalie hit the sharp corner to the right of the stairs. She immediately clutched her belly with her hands and then rolled over in pain. She felt as if her bowels were tangled up and there was fluid between her legs. She knew perfectly well that she was going to lose her baby...

"Ouch! Ouch!"

Sarah fell down the stairs with her belly down. Her belly had been colliding with the steps. Her face was very pale, too. She screamed violently, gasping. She sounded terribly uncomfortable.

Holding her nearly unconscious belly, Natalie took her last breath to look at Sarah, who was curled up in pain and was surprised to find that blood was flowing from Sarah's legs...

Natalie broadened her eyes.

'Is Sarah pregnant, too?'

But before she could think too much, she felt another sharp pain. It was too much for her and then she passed out.

Lying on the ground, Sarah was struggling constantly. A sharp pain was too much for her. Her face was very pale. Tiny drops of sweat broke out on her forehead. She was very painful.

This was what Moriah saw when she was called back by the servant. There was blood under Natalie and between Sarah's legs...

She felt a little dizzy and quickly called the hospital for ambulances to come with doctors.

Then she called Billy and told him to go to the hospital quickly because something serious had happened at home.

When Billy arrived at the hospital, both Sarah and Natalie had been sent to the operating rooms.

He looked a little sullen and asked the hospital director to call a nurse to come out of Natalie's operating room. He had something to say.

The director agreed. The door to the operating room was opened and a nurse came out with her mask off.

Billy took her to the corner out of the operating room. He looked sullen and kept saying something in a low voice.

After having heard it, the nurse nodded repeatedly to show that she had understood.

Moriah came over. Seeing this, she asked Billy what he had said to the nurse.

Billy didn't answer but asked her how Sarah was now.

Being the same with the situation here, Sarah was still in the operating room. Moriah frowned hard and said, "I'm afraid she's going to lose her baby."

Billy didn't know Sarah was pregnant, and Sarah had kept it a secret from him.

Billy didn't like Leonel very much, so he didn't want Leonel to be the father of the baby in Sarah's belly.

So Sarah just kept it from him.

"What the hell is going on?" Billy asked.

Moriah shook her head and said she didn't know what was going on. By the time she rushed back from the garden to the living room, both of them had passed out and were unconscious.

Billy didn't ask any further questions. Billy and Moriah walked back outside Sarah's operating room and waited.

Another hour later, the lights in the operating room went out and Sarah was wheeled out.

As they anxiously inquired about Sarah, the doctor said, "Ms. Day has lost her baby. Regarding the rest, there is nothing serious about her except that she has to be taken care of."

"As for Mrs. Day, this is her second miscarriage. I'm afraid she will tend to have recurrent miscarriages and it will be difficult to keep the baby in the future."

Chapter 1106

Moriah was calm when she heard these words.

Whether Natalie would tend to have recurrent miscarriages in the future or not, it had nothing to do with the Day family.

Natalie had a miscarriage, which suggested the end of her relationship with the Day family.

Billy couldn't get a divorce before because of the baby, but he could divorce Natalie now.

It was dark when Natalie woke up. She looked at her belly and felt relieved.

Finally, she had a miscarriage.

However, when she remembered the scene before she fainted, she was thinking about one question. 'Was Sarah pregnant?'

As she was lost in thought, the door was pushed open and Billy came in.

Natalie immediately pretended to be weak and looked unusually painful. "Billy, our baby... We lost our baby!"

Saying that, she pinched her thigh under the quilt. As sharp pain came upon her, her tears welled up in her eyes. She looked extremely painful.

Billy was indifferent. Even after seeing her look like this, he looked at Natalie in disgust.

Natalie did not think much about it. She thought that Billy was in pain and didn't want to express it. After shedding tears silently for a while, she seemed to think of something and pretended to ask anxiously, "Where is Sarah? How is she doing?" "She is fine, but she lost her baby too." Billy stared at Natalie as he said.

"Was Sarah pregnant?" Natalie was surprised and said slowly, "Even after experiencing the loss of my baby for the second time, I'm heartbroken to hear it and can't accept it. I think Sarah must be very upset. I want to see her."

Billy ignored her and asked, "What happened in the morning?"

Natalie froze and said despondently, "In the morning, Sarah and I went downstairs together. She was in front of me. I suddenly slipped and stepped on her foot. You know, ever since the gossip about me and Leonel hit the headlines, the relationship between her and me has not been good. Maybe she hates me, so she pushed me with force. I rolled downstairs. But I didn't expect that she didn't stand still and fell with me.

What a pity for the two unborn babies."

As Natalie said those words, she kept shedding tears.

Actually, she should thank the pain in her body, which made her keep shedding tears.

At this moment, the door of the ward was pushed open. Sarah came in. Her body was extremely weak, so she walked unsteadily.

It was difficult for Sarah to walk even though Moriah supported her.

When Sarah walked to the bedside with a pale face, she slapped Natalie. Sarah looked crazy and yelled, "I lost my baby! Give back my baby."

Natalie dodged and shouted in pain, "I lost my baby too! If you hadn't pushed me, nothing would have happened at all!" "Don't argue! How dare you? I lost my baby because of you! It's your fault!" Sarah shouted, grabbing Natalie hard.

"You pushed me so hard, so I lost my baby too!" Natalie grabbed Sarah with force to make her acting more realistic.

Both of them had just had a miscarriage, and their bodies were very weak. After a few moments of arguing, they both fainted.

Billy carried Sarah back to the room and put her on the bed. When the doctor came, he walked out of the ward and intended to go back to the Day family's villa.

He had to go back to find out what exactly happened this morning.

Chapter 1107

He came back to the Day family's villa soon, and he went to the second floor directly to get the surveillance video of the corner.

It was very clear that Natalie stepped on Sarah's foot accidentally, and then Sarah pushed her hard. After that, the two rolled down the steps...

Billy seemed to have nothing to do. With a long body leaning on the sofa, he unlocked the buttons on the suit casually, and threw it on the bed. He replayed the video over and over again.

He would not have any doubts about Natalie's words before. He would believe anything she said.

But now, with so many things happening, he no longer believed in her.

As the video replayed over and over again, Billy's eyes became deeper and colder.

Sherman hadn't seen Luke these days, so she felt quite happy. As the weather got warmer, she became happier.

Without going to work, she had nothing to do but spend money. Fortunately, she saved some money when she worked before, and this money could help her live a good life for a few months.

As for the money Billy gave her, she planned to leave it to the child in her belly.

In any case, she deserved that money. She thought it was reasonable that her baby got the money. Sherman caressed her belly lightly.

Kingsley's mother was worried and wanted to come over to take care of her. Sherman quickly refused, because she thought she was strong enough.

Kingsley wore a light gray sweater and a pair of slacks, and he looked very elegant. He was holding a laptop, and his wellshaped hands were tapping on the keyboard. His hands moved quickly, and he looked very serious.

Sherman stared at him curiously and asked, "What are you doing?"

"I'm thinking about the baby's name..." He replied and still looked at the computer.

"Have you decided yet?" She raised her head and squinted her eyes. The man put the computer on the table. He reached out and took an orange from the fruit plate, peeled off the orange, and then fed her the orange. He said, "I have chosen a lot, but I don't think they are suitable."

He closed his eyes. After thinking about it for a while, Kingsley said in a low voice, "How about Salman Wright?"

The orange was a bit sour and sweet. She smiled and then frowned, "Sherman Wright?"

He chuckled, "Don't be naughty..."

"The two names sound too similar, and one may mistake 'Salman' for 'Sherman'." Although "Salman" was a good first name, she didn't like its pronunciation.

He chuckled again and being with her always made him happy. He had never had this kind of comfortable feeling before.

When the two were still whispering softly and sweetly, the phone rang. It was Luke.

He asked Kingsley to go to the bar because he wanted to have a drink.

Kingsley refused directly. He had no interest in drinking in the bar now, and he thought it was a waste of time to stay at the bar.

"Why don't you come to the bar? Merlin has been dead. Tomorrow is her birthday, and I felt sad. However, you are unwilling to drink with me." Luke said mockingly.

Kingsley's eyebrows frowned slightly, and he blamed himself because he almost forgot that tomorrow was Merlin's birthday.

Kingsley said to Luke that tomorrow was Merlin's birthday, so he would accompany Luke to drink tomorrow.

Chapter 1108

Hearing Luke's voice, Sherman shrugged her shoulders and said, "I find it a miracle that he hasn't harassed you for so long."

"Tomorrow is Merlin's birthday. He asked me to drink with him." Kingsley said, "If you don't agree, I'll refuse him."

"It's okay. Besides, tomorrow is Merlin's birthday. I'm not that petty." Sherman said with a smile.

Kingsley took her into his arms and took out the movie tickets. She had always wanted to go to see a movie, so he asked Lee to buy two movie tickets.

Her eyes lit up. And then her eyes lit up even more when she saw the name of the movie. 'I haven't watched horror movies for a long time!'

Lying on the ward bed, Natalie borrowed her cousin's phone to call Leonel and told him something about the money.

Leonel said, "I won't give you money. Now that you have aborted the baby, no one will believe you even if you say the baby is mine."

Hearing his words, Natalie was so angry that she almost fainted, "What did you mean?"

"As the saying goes, everything is about timing. If you had given me the bank card number when I promised you before, the money must have been on your card by now. But you keep delaying it. Now that such an accident happened, you can only admit that you are out of luck." Leonel said.

Natalie said with a stern face, "Leonel!"

"Don't be angry. I just tell the truth. What about one million dollars?"

"Do you think I'm a beggar?" Natalie said. Of course, she was reluctant. There was a big difference between six million dollars and one million dollars!

"I can only give you one million dollars. It doesn't matter whether you accept it or not. Don't forget that it's up to me." Leonel directly hung up the phone.

Natalie smashed the glass on the ground, and it shattered into pieces. She was still very angry.

"It's your fault! Why did you have a beauty treatment that day? Now six million dollars is gone! You're so stupid!"

Natalie kept scolding her cousin, who was standing beside her. Natalie wanted to slap her in her face very much.

Her cousin was very aggrieved. She didn't expect her grandma to be in the hospital the next day because there was something wrong with her legs. It couldn't be blamed on her. But seeing Natalie's stern face, she didn't dare to say anything.

When Billy came to her ward in the evening, Natalie calmed down and pretended to be cautious and miserable.

But he turned a blind eye to her. He put the computer in his hand on the table and threw her an agreement.

After picking it up, Natalie was stunned. It was a divorce agreement, which said that she should give up all the property!

"Do you want to divorce me? And I have to give up all the property?" She took the agreement and the look on her face changed.

Billy looked at her and said coldly, "Do you have any problem?"

"Of course. I won't divorce you or give up the property. I won't let you get what you want!" Saying that, she shredded the divorce agreement. The ward was instantly full of white scraps of the divorce agreement.

"Do you think you have a choice?" Billy suddenly had a stern face. His expression was as cold as the winter wind.

Chapter 1109

Billy sounded pretty certain. Knowing that there was a hidden message in Billy's question, Natalie asked, "What do you mean by that?"

"Huh, don't you know better than me?" Raising his hand, Billy threw another file at her face.

The corners of the file cut her face. Since it hurt a lot, Natalie screamed out in pain. Then she picked up the file from the ground.

It was about her trip to Bostabaca for a paternity test. She had stored the result in her phone but deleted it right after she checked it. 'How could he find it?' "The file can be deleted, but what you deleted can also be restored. Don't be so shocked." Billy said coldly. After drinking that cup of milk the other night, Natalie fell into a deep sleep. Billy then had an expert check her phone. At first, Billy didn't care so much about the findings. But he did not expect that in the end, he found out something really 'interesting'!

The other day when Billy walked into the room, he was surprised to smell something burnt in the room. It occurred to Billy that Natalie must have hidden something from him!

The screenshot of the Natalie's test result was unexpected.

Billy hadn't got any report from the hospital in Bostabaca except for a screenshot on her phone, then it meant that Billy's power didn't work in

Bostabaca. The hospital did not provide any information about the test she received there. At the thought of this, Natalie asked, "What can it prove? Nothing can be proved! Someone must have set me up, so they must have deliberately forged such a screenshot on my phone. And maybe it is because you want to divorce me, but you don't want to split the property. You think of such tricks to frame me!"

Natalie was right. The hospital she went to in Bostabaca indeed enjoyed a good reputation for protecting the privacy of their patients. That was why many officials and wealthy people went to see a doctor there.

Natalie went there by bus. She booked the ticket without using her ID card. So, it was simply impossible to find out that she had been there.

Billy did go to the hospital in Bostabaca, where the staff refused to provide him with any information about Natalie's test there.

Seeing the staff being so insistent, Billy didn't bother himself to ask them again. After all, he could certainly find out what had happened. No need to rush.

Billy's sneer stabbed Natalie like a sharp thorn. Getting closer, Billy then grabbed tightly by Natalie's throat, saying, "I didn't know you were such a good actress before, ah? If the child in your belly isn't Leonel's, then why were you so panicked when I asked you to have a paternity test?"

Natalie's face reddened from Billy's strangling. Natalie could barely breathe and she stammered, "When... when did I panic?"

"You didn't panic? If not, how come you fell down and then miscarried the baby? Tell me, what are you trying to hide from me?" Billy tightened his grab.

"No...I didn't. These are all your wild guesses!" Natalie coughed.

"Wild guesses, huh..." Standing by the window, Billy ignored the fact that Natalie was pale and delicate right now. His eyes were bloodshot, "Don't you know that I can still take a DNA test with the placenta?"

Even if you've miscarried the baby, I can still get the test result!"

Natalie's eyes widened in shock.

"The result is here, but what can you do after checking it now?" It seemed that Billy wanted to strangle her to death. "And you framed Sarah. If I hadn't played the video back so many times, I wouldn't have noticed the change of your look and your last effort! You deliberately miscarried the child but accused Sarah did it. It's brilliant of you to rationalize the miscarriage of the child in this way!"

She felt a burst of chills on the spine of her back and all her hairs were standing on end. Natalie shivered and felt like she was going to die from his strangling.

Billy wanted to kill her!

"So you must have cheated on me many times before! But I still trust you so much. I choose to be with you at the expense of my happy life. I'm fucking blind!" Billy lost control of himself. Kneeling on the ground, Billy slapped Natalie in the face again and again while strangling her with the other hand.

Short of breath, Natalie could barely talk. Then she tried to make her words come out, "It's too late! Sherman won't even look at you because she thinks you're disgusting!" Never hitting women was one of Billy's principles. But what Natalie did made him go crazy and he could stand her anymore. What she said just now hurt his deepest feelings. Gritting his teeth, Billy kept slapping her. And his eyes were red and fierce. He got blinded at this moment, unable to see anything.

Chapter 1110

Natalie's breath had gone weak. The pain in her body had numbed her. She couldn't even open her mouth to make any voice.

Blood trickled down the corners of her mouth. Her eyes rolled back. She looked like she was dying.

Moriah pushed open the door and saw the scene, and she was completely shocked. Sarah looked like crazy. She went at Natalie and hit her along with Billy.

"You slut! You slept with Leonel! You made me lose my baby on purpose! I want you dead!"

The three of them grappled together. They all looked like mad. It was out of control.

The scene was frightening.

Moriah was really scared. Billy looked like he was going crazy. He lost his mind. Blood spread across Natalie's face...

Moriah hurriedly rushed over and tried to separate the three. However, she couldn't pull them apart.

If his son and daughter get into a lawsuit because of Natalie, it would not be worth it!

Moriah could do nothing but get out and call for help. Several servants came, and finally, the three were separated.

Immediately, Moriah called a doctor for Natalie. They could not hurt the woman at the moment. Otherwise, if she filed a lawsuit against them, neither Billy nor Sarah would be spared from the consequence!

The doctor examined Natalie carefully. from head to toe, step by step. Finally, the test results showed that Natalie was fine, nothing serious with her.

Finally, Moriah could be relieved.

Billy was standing against the wall, his hands clenched into fists, veins standing out on the back of his hands, bloodshot in his eyes. His chest heaved violently.

Sarah had passed out again. The nurse had taken her out of the room.

"You haven't had any rest for a long time. G o back and get some sleep." Moriah demanded Billy.

Billy was over-emotional. If he stayed here, Moriah was afraid that if he got impulsive again, the situation would get worse.

Breathing heavily, Billy didn't say a word. He turned around, draped his suit over his shoulders, and left in a daze.

When Natalie woke up, it was early the next morning. The sky was still gray, not entirely lightened up.

Lying in the hospital bed, Natalie looked dull. Her eyes were vacant and wandering dumbly.

Till this time, Natalie knew well that all her dreams had been shattered.

She failed to keep her marriage to Billy. Now it seemed that she would not get any property after the divorce. She didn't get any money from Leonel either. No one else would be as miserable as she was!

From the beginning till now, it was such a difficult course. She had schemed so much and gone through so much. But everything she did to marry into the Day family was now all in vain.

Everything was gone! All gone!