Chapter 1391

Sherman would always defend her family or friends.

She only felt pity for Luke now, because the hardships he suffered made her unconsciously support him.

Sherman did like Eileen before, because Eileen had the same experience as her.

But since she knew that Luke had done so much for Eileen and even gave up his own life for her, Eileen still made such a choice. Sherman was in a complicated mood.

Of course, this was Luke and Eileen's private business.

She was in no place to interference. It was all just her inner thoughts.

"He will definitely tell you where he's going. " Eileen insisted on asking this question.

"He doesn't know exactly where he's going. How is he going to tell us? " Sherman blurted out.

Eileen didn't say anything, her chest rising and falling rapidly.

Eileen still didn't get the result she wanted in the end, so she had to take Brad back to the department again, while Ruben was waiting outside her department.

Brad had always been well-behaved and polite, but tonight his behavior was very abnormal.

Brad glared at Ruben with red eyes. He knocked on Ruben and rushed into the room without looking back. Then he slammed the door!

Brad was still young but he could get things right.

Brad knew that his dad was leaving and went far away. He realized that his dad didn't want him and his mom!

In the past, when his mom was not engaged to Ruben, his dad would often come over to stay with him. His dad would pick him up from school and sleep with him at night. But now his dad didn't want him anymore. It was all Ruben's fault!

Laying down on his bed, Brad shed tears in silence and wet the sheets beneath him.

He missed his dad so much.

Ruben looked at Brad's back in surprise and asked, "What's wrong with him?"

"He is in a bad mood and throws a tantrum. Let's go to the fast-food restaurant downstairs." Eileen said.

When Eileen and Ruben arrived at the fastfood restaurant, they sat face to face and ordered two cups of coffee.

Eileen was very silent tonight and said nothing.

Ruben felt something was wrong with her, so he kept asking questions. "What's going on? There's something wrong with you two.

Eileen couldn't stand his constant questions and said, "He's gone."

"Who?" Ruben asked. He then thought about it and asked, "Luke?"

Eileen added three teaspoons of sugar into the coffee, but she still felt bitter and couldn't taste the slightest sweetness.

I'm sorry!" Ruben immediately apologized and showed a guilty look. "It's all my fault. It was my idea that led to the current situation!"

"I don't blame you. I agreed with your idea in the first place. It's partially my fault." She said and took another sip of coffee.

Here was the thing. That day Luke was still seriously ill. Eileen received a call from Ruben who invited her out.

They met in a cafe. Ruben talked to her about their engagement.

Regardless of Luke's illness, Eileen could not get engaged to Ruben at this time.

After spending so many days together, Eileen always felt a sense of distance when she was with Ruben. She had no feelings for him, so she refused.

Chapter 1392

Ruben was not surprised, because her reply made sense to him.

Moreover, after he had spent these days with Eileen, he guessed her reply.

"You have met my father, who is seriously ill. His only hope is to see me get married and have children. Although I can't have a child at the moment, I can get engaged.

Please put on an act with me," said Ruben.

Eileen still shook her head.

"I don't know who else to go to but you. It's just an act. Let's pretend to get engaged. Help me, Eileen."

Ruben's attitude was unusually sincere. He said, "I know you have no feelings for me.

And it's unlikely that we'll continue to develop our relationship, but you're also questioning your feelings for Luke, aren't you? Although I don't know exactly what you're hesitating about, playing this scene with me is an opportunity for you and Luke, isn't it? You'll be able to see him more clearly through this, and you'll get rid of those doubts, won't you?"

Maybe it was because Eileen had a little pity for Ruben's father. More than that, given the second half of what he said, she agreed to his request.

"Didn't he get a clue from the look on your face?" asked Ruben.

Letting out a soft breath, Eileen said, "Maybe I'm acting too real. Although I don't know how to act warm and fuzzy. I've always been good at showing a cold look on my face."

"I didn't notice that you had a talent for acting before." Ruben chuckled as he said, "Do you want to get him back?"

Eileen had a blank look in her eyes.

Ruben said, "I know what you're thinking. Sometimes, cancer isn't incurable."

Eileen said, "All his relatives are dead. If I can't be cured, I'll end up dead, too. So why should I give him hope?"

After thinking for a while, Ruben said, "It's also romantic that you can spend the best part of your life with him."

Eileen shook her head.

"Since you have your own thoughts, I won't get involved." As Ruben couldn't persuade Eileen, he gave up.

Eileen could not describe how she felt.

She was at a loss except for feeling melancholy and uncomfortable.

She wondered what she should do with Brad.

Luke was abroad while she had to be hospitalized. Brad was smart. If she stayed in the hospital for a long time, then Brad would definitely know about it.

Her chest was heaving, and she didn't know what to do.

While she and Ruben were still talking, Ruben's cell phone rang.

He answered the phone. It was his mother calling him. Then, his expression immediately changed a lot. He suddenly ran outside of the cafe.

Eileen was stunned, then got up and paid for the coffee.

When she got back to her room, Brad was already asleep.

However, her chest was still heaving up and down from anger. She looked like she had suffered a lot.

She shook her head. Then she took off Brad's shoes and tucked him in.

Since she couldn't sleep, she took out the letter Luke had left. Then, as she looked at the letter in silence, she was lost in thought.

She was moved at the moment when he risked his life to save her without hesitation.

Besides, she felt scared because she was afraid that she wouldn't see him through and would be hurt again.

She had been living a tough life for the past eight years, so she didn't want to make the same mistake again. She wanted to say yes to him, but she was also afraid. Therefore, she was hesitant and torn inside...

She didn't remember the saying that anyone was humble before love until now, even if one was a king.

She wondered if this was a humble act on his part.

She did not sleep all night.

If she left Brad with Brandy, it would definitely not work, because Brad would be hurt too.

She thought it was a tough question!

Early the next morning, she was making breakfast for Brad, but Brad didn't want to eat.

She knew Brad's doubts, so she went over and hugged him as she said, "Let's find a way to get your dad back. What do you think?"

"You and Mr. Lyall are already engaged, so why are you looking for my dad? Daddy doesn't want me anymore!" Brad's little face looked sorrowful.

Chapter 1393

"I'm not engaged to Ruben. I was just trying to trick Ruben's dad."

For a moment, Brad's expression lit up.

However, he looked lost again.

Eileen asked, "What's wrong?"

Brad lifted his little head and looked at her. "My dad won't come back because you're not with him anymore."

Eileen didn't say anything.

Then Brad asked, "Mommy, why don't you want to be with my daddy? The teacher said one is a good boy if he learns from his mistakes. Besides, my dad already knows that he did wrong. Although he did wrong before, he has a change of heart, so why don't you want to give him a chance?"

Eileen rubbed his head as she said, "You are still young. There is something that you don't understand."

Brad looked obstinate. "I'm not a little kid anymore."

Eileen didn't say anything and just said, "Don't worry. I'll get your dad back."

"Really?"

"Yeah."

Luke had to come back!

Eileen felt relieved to see her son look happy again.

At this time, Ruben called her. She picked up the phone, and Ruben's low voice came over, "Eileen, my father is dead..."

After hearing his words, Eileen felt painful and uncomfortable. Then, she also said tenderly, "Don't take it hard. One will grow old and pass away eventually. And it's so torturous and unbearable to be severely ill. Maybe it's a relief for him to pass away. Do you know Luke suffered the loss of five loved ones in his family? He was the only one left in the Bennington family, but he managed it, didn't he? You still have your mother. Even though your father passed away, you have to take more care of your mother for him."

"Thank you. I also thank you for helping me to make my father's last wish come true. He finally passed away with a smile on his face. And he even said your name."

Eileen felt even more depressed. "My condolences. I'll be there soon."

Ruben was very busy. Everyone looked so sad.

She also felt terrible. Since she didn't know many people there either, she didn't stay much longer and then left with Brad.

When she got home, Brad kept pushing her to get his dad back.

Eileen was helpless, so she went to the Wright family's villa, and then she told Sherman and Kingsley about what happened between her and Ruben. And she hoped they could provide some useful clues.

After hearing her explanation, Sherman shook her head. She sighed softly and then patted Eileen's shoulder. "Sis, I told you so. I almost hated you."

Eileen smiled, "You hated me last time. I could feel it in your tone."

In fact, she didn't regret that she agreed to pretend to get engaged to Ruben.

There were pros and cons to everything, so she couldn't get all the benefits. And she understood that.

Sherman said more cheekily, "Haven't you ever heard of that? It's a woman's right to change her mind all the time. And I'm a woman who always changes my mind!"

Kingsley looked serious. "Luke has never contacted us since he's been away for such a long time, so we don't really know where he is. Maybe someone at his company will know."

Eileen nodded, asked Sherman and Kingsley to keep an eye on Luke's whereabouts, and then went to Luke's office. She then asked Luke's assistants, but they all said they didn't know where Luke was.

At that point, Luke's cell phone still could not be reached.

Kingsley also had people looking for Luke, but he just couldn't get any information.

Chapter 1394

Luke's whereabouts were unknown at all. He seemed to have disappeared from the world.

Sherman took a sip of the water in front of her and said, "In my opinion, someone in Luke's company or at his home must know Luke's whereabouts, but that person keeps his mouth shut."

"Although Luke left without hesitation, I do not believe that he would move on so fast. Even if he decides to move on, he won't do it so quickly. So he must ask someone to keep an eye on Eileen."

Kingsley agreed. "In fact, he is affectionate towards Eileen, so he can never move on fast. That is his weakness. It should be easier for us to find him if we take advantage of this weakness."

Kingsley's words made Eileen's eyes light up. "Here is my suggestion. Do you think it will work..."

Brad got sick. He was pale and could hardly run. He could only walk, and his heart ached occasionally.

Eileen's heart bled for him, but there was nothing she could do, so she took him to a hospital.

The doctor concluded that Brad had the same disease as Merlin did.

Eileen was so anxious that she took Brad to Bennington Corporation again and met Walter Ruiz, the current head of Bennington Corporation. She told him that she wanted to sell her shares.

Walter was surprised. "Bennington Corporation made good profits. Your shares will keep appreciating. Why do you want to sell them in a hurry?"

"My son is suffering from heart disease. I don't even have money to treat him, so what is the use of keeping the shares?"

Hearing Eileen's answer, Walter didn't say anything else and nodded his agreement.

After all, selling shares was a big deal, so Walter had to report to his boss first. He dialed a number. Luke picked up and asked in a deep voice, "What's wrong?"

He had changed his cell phone number because there were phone numbers of Eileen and other people, who he did not want to mention any more, in his previous phone card.

When he answered the phone, he was on a street in Frunclia, which was a beautiful city. The sun was shining brightly there.

"Ms. Barton came to the office just now." "Stop!" Luke interrupted him immediately, "Don't tell me anything about her again, understand?"

"Mr. Bennington, this is a really big deal!" Walter was anxious. "She wants to sell her shares of Bennington Corporation!"

Luke was stunned. Then he said, "Since the shares were given to her, she has the right to deal with them. She can do whatever she wants."

He wondered if Eileen was planning to marry Ruben and wanted to change her shares into her dowry.

Although he and she got divorced, he still hoped that she would be wiser this time and not be as reckless as before.

"Don't call me to talk about her in the future, " Luke warned once more in a deep voice, "or you just quit! Damn! I have not healed yet! Don't break my heart again!"

Beads of sweat appeared on Walter's forehead. "Mr. Bennington, Ms. Barton..."

"If you say one more word about her, just get the hell out of my way!" Luke interrupted directly and refused to listen to Walter's words.

"Mr. Bennington, she said that your son Brad had heart disease and that she wanted to sell her shares to pay for Brad's medical treatment!"

Suddenly, Walter said at one go.

Luke's eyebrows wrinkled this time. "What did you just say? Tell me again!" "Brad has heart disease, the same disease as Ms. Bennington had before. It seems to be a hereditary disease. Brad has been pale and too weak to walk recently."

"Damn it! Why didn't you tell me that earlier?"

Luke's temper flared again. He was furious now. His face also clouded over.

He hurried toward the hotel immediately. He drove so fast that he even ran several red lights, so he was cursed by other drivers. But he was in no mood to care about it.

Chapter 1395

Walter felt so aggrieved. It was just his boss that told him not to say anything about Eileen!

He would be scolded if he mentioned her again, so did he dare to do that?

Meanwhile, Eileen and Brad stayed at Kingsley's home.

Eileen was sipping jasmine tea, the faint aroma wafting through the air. Brad was playing actively with Kingsley's baby.

Brad's forehead was covered with sweat, but he looked so energetic.

He felt that his dad and his mom were both liars and only he himself was normal.

Although he also lied, he only told white lies.

His dad united him to cheat his mom, and his mom also united him to cheat his dad.

What a mess! He wondered if his dad would fall into the trap and if his mom would ask him to pretend to be sick and send him to the hospital.

He didn't want to spend all day in a hospital bed. It was really uncomfortable!

Brad played at Kingsley's home until it was getting dark. Eileen was ready to take Brad away.

It was already dark, and Sherman naturally worried about them. So she asked her driver to take them home. On the way back home, Brad suddenly said he was hungry.

Eileen told the driver that Brad needed to eat something and then took Brad away. Brad said he wanted to eat spaghetti, so Eileen took him to a restaurant famous for its spaghetti.

Brad was really hungry. He added ham, meatballs, and vegetables to his spaghetti.

Eileen frowned. "It's almost bedtime. Your tummy will ache if you eat too much food."

"It's okay. I'm growing now, and I need to eat a lot of food."

Brad replied with a good reason, "Mom, can I add mushroom to my spaghetti?"

Eileen couldn't help but pinch her brows. She could not believe that she was convinced by such a young child!

"All right. Since you are growing, you can eat a lot of food. If you want to eat something else, just order it all at once."

Brad nodded his head vigorously. "If I don't eat enough, I won't grow taller in the future.

I have to plan for my future."

Eileen's mouth twitched slightly. She picked up the teacup on the table and took two sips.

Eileen thought Brad had changed. He had been a good boy who behaved himself before. But why had he become so talkative and slick?

Brad was not full, so he ordered a hamburger and enjoyed it.

"Just eat whatever you like."

Eileen smiled and ordered soup for Brad. " Have some soup while you eat the hamburger. It will settle your stomach."

Recently, after Brad fell asleep every night, she asked Kirsten to look after Brad and went to see a doctor secretly.

She suffered from exhaustion and even vomited blood.

She really didn't know how much longer she could hold on.

Suddenly, the phone in her bag vibrated. Eileen took out the phone. It was Sherman calling. Eileen picked up and asked curiously, "What's wrong?"

"Where are you now?" Sherman asked in an excited voice.

"I am having dinner with Brad."

"Finish it right now! Luke is back! He is at the airport now! Hurry up and get ready," Sherman hurriedly said.

As soon as she heard Sherman's words, Eileen looked serious and directly pushed away the plate in front of Brad. "Let's go."

Brad was still hungry and reluctant to leave, so Eileen ordered another serving of spaghetti and took it away. She then said, " Hurry up. Your dad is back!"

Brad smiled and nodded his head vigorously.

They hailed a cab, got in, and quickly rushed towards the hospital.

Fortunately, Kingsley had already talked to the head of the hospital and prepared a ward in advance. Brad could live in it immediately.

Chapter 1396

Lying in bed, Brad said he was hungry.

Eileen hurriedly microwaved the spaghetti she had brought back and served Brad.

Brad happily took the bowl and enjoyed it.

Unexpectedly, Eileen felt a bit nervous, checked her watch for the umpteenth times. She tried to compose herself, 'Relax. It's not the first time to see him.'

Eileen got a call from Sherman as Brad finished eating. "He's downstairs."

The ward was full of the smell of mushrooms. Eileen opened the window to ventilate the ward and went to dump the garbage.

Brad sat on the bed, ripped off his hospital gown as his dad did, then shook his head vigorously, messing up all his hair, pinching himself a few times before laying down.

No sooner had Brad lay down than the door was opened.

Luke went in and strode to the bed.

Brad pretended to be asleep and didn't move at all.

Luke's eyes fell upon Brad's face, "It's just a few days. How come you look so thin these days?" He sounded very down.

Brad licked his lips secretly.

His mind was full of the shredded pancake, chicken, spaghetti, and hamburger...

Luke fondled Brad's cheeks and then went to Brad's attending physician's office, "Tell me honestly, how is my son?"

The physician looked embarrassed and didn't know how to put it.

After all, it was Mr. Wright who told him to do that, but it was true that the boy wasn't sick.

However, the physician's hesitation and embarrassment were mistaken by Luke for Brad's condition being too serious.

Luke felt his heart was completely been ripped out.

He took out his phone and made a call to an Athana hospital.

"I need the best doctors in cardiology and the most advanced equipment. I'm good for the money. The plane will pick you up immediately, and you must be in Lanechett by 6 p.m. tomorrow!"

He did not forget Merlin's illness. Her face was always pale. She couldn't run or jump, and she was always breathing heavily.

He couldn't let his son go through this kind of torture!

He and Brad were the only ones left in the Bennington family. How could he let his son have an accident?

He would cure Brad if it cost him everything!

Money was nothing compared to life.

He could have no money, but he couldn't live without Brad!

Returning to the ward, Luke sat down by the bed with his head down and took Brad's little hand lovingly.

Just as the old saying: Men do not easily shed tears, only the non-arrival sadness.

Brad squinted and felt the back of his hand wet.

'Is daddy crying?'

He felt sorry for his dad, then he opened his eyes and murmured, "You're back, daddy."

With a swift movement, Luke sat upright. "Are you okay?"

Even if he was worried, he couldn't show it.

He was Brad's rock.

He couldn't make Brad feel insecure.

"I have to pee..." Brad mumbled.

Then, Luke immediately bent down and carried Brad to the toilet.

He always felt that Brad had lost a lot of weight, but that was all in his mind.

"Did you not eat well?"

Brad shook his head, "I have lost my appetite."

Luke gritted his teeth and held Brad more tightly.

The veins on his back bulged as if they were about to explode, and he was holding back.

After using the toilet, Brad squinted comfortably and was carried back to the bed by Luke.

Although Eileen was standing in the dark, she could see this scene clearly.

Seeing Luke again was enough to make her nervous. In addition, after seeing his look, she couldn't help getting more nervous, and her fingertips were shaking uncontrollably.

But what happened next was inevitable. And she couldn't keep hiding in the back all the time.

After thinking about it, she finally mustered up the courage and walked over.

Hearing her footsteps, Luke turned around and said flatly, "Brad will be okay!"

'Is he trying to make me feel better?' That made Eileen more nervous.

Chapter 1397

'What would he do if he knew it was a scam?'

"Uh...It's getting stuffy in here. I'm going out for some air." As soon as Brad saw his mother coming, he winked at her secretly, lifted the quilt, and got out of bed to leave.

Luke stood up to follow.

Brad pointed to the next ward, "Daddy, I'm going to spend some time alone with a friend in the next room. Wait here. I'll be right back. Okay?"

Brad had no qualms when he lied, "He had lost all his hair. He thinks he looks ugly. If people see him like this, he will cry."

Hearing this, Luke frowned and did not follow.

He knew Brad would be happy to have friends playing with him at times like this.

Then Brad moved towards the door. When he closed the door, he mouthed his mother, "Go ahead!"

Brad had done his part. The rest was up to his mom!

Luke took out his phone and called the Athana hospital again, "Where are you? You haven't left yet? What are you waiting for? Listen, if you can't arrive here on time, you'll be fired!"

Luke's face clouded over with anger, and Eileen was flustered.

Seconds later, Eileen stepped forward and snatched Luke's phone.

Luke stared at her, and his glare was glacial.

Eileen met his eyes, "I lied. Brad is healthy and not sick at all. I did it to get you back."

Luke said icily, "What do you mean?"

"Brad didn't get sick, and he didn't have a heart attack. I lied to you. I've got things to say to you."

"That was all a lie?" Luke's tempers began to fray, "Good on you!"

Eileen said nothing.

"Humph! Are you gonna tell me you're getting married?"

Luke gave a brittle laugh. There was a coldness in him that chilled Eileen.

"Do you think I'm not angry enough and want to piss me off? Or just to remind me of your wedding present?"

Eileen shook her head and said emphatically, "I just wanted to tell you that Ruben and I are not engaged. And Brad needs you..."

Luke's heart was thumping wildly, but he didn't let his face show any emotion, "Is your fever so bad that you're delirious?"

"I don't have a fever. I'm sober. I'm not kidding!"

Eileen began to explain, "My engagement to Ruben was fake. He asked me to pretend to be engaged to him to reassure his ailing father, and I said yes."

She had been so determined before, so Luke didn't believe her at all.

"Do you expect me to believe that?"

Chapter 1398

Eileen said, "I can call Ruben and ask him to come here to explain everything to you. Don't you know me well?"

Luke stared at her and said, "Didn't you say that you were willing to marry him for repaying him and the sense of guilt?"

She nodded, "I said so indeed! I said that on purpose because I wanted to deceive you! I'm a human, not a stone. After you did so many things for me, how could I hurt your heart? How could I choose to marry Ruben at such a time? Didn't you feel that it was too sudden?"

Luke said, "If one falls in love, it's not surprising whatever one does." Luke's heart beat fast. What she had said took him by surprise. He was at a loss and didn't know what to do.

Eileen felt helpless.

Luke's gaze became deep and meaningful gradually. He became serious and said, "So you deceived me in such a way?"

Eileen said, "I knew that you hated being deceived and Merlin's disease was your taboo, but I had no other choice! I deceived you. You believed and left decisively."

She explained, "I didn't know my position in your heart, but you loved Brad very much."

Luke sneered and sat there in silence.

Inside his pockets, he was patting his thighs rhythmically.

When he was happy, he always did that.

His anger for being deceived had vanished without a trace.

It was rare for him to hear her say so. After all, he had been totally deceived by her!

Eileen said, "You still don't believe me? Or you are still angry with me? You have just held on several months after you expressed your feelings to me. How long have I held on after I expressed my feelings to you?"

She continued, "Eight years! You will never know what I have experienced and how sad I have been in the eight years. Have you run out of your patience in the short eight months?"

She stared at him and said, "What you have experienced in the eight months is nothing to what I have experienced in the eight years. If you are still angry with me, do as you wish. It seems that you are not worth my love anymore."

Luke's eyes were filled with affection. He stood up and walked out of the ward.

Seeing that, Eileen felt heartbroken. What he had experienced in the eight months was nothing to what she had experienced in the eight years, but he was still angry with her.

Although she was wrong and deserved it this time, she felt sad about his reaction...

Luke walked out of the ward. Then he stopped suddenly and said, "I will live in the Bennington family's villa tonight and leave at 2 p.m. tomorrow by air..."

Then he closed the ward door and passed the corner of the corridor in the hospital.

The seriousness disappeared on his face immediately. His face was filled with happiness and excitement.

He walked happily and clenched his fists excitedly.

He said, "Tarot says that I will win her heart recently. It's true..."

On the contrary, Eileen felt sad for his reaction in the ward. Brad walked in and asked her about the result, but she didn't reply.

Brad was anxious. 'Why Dad and Mom are so troublesome?'

Sherman called Eileen and asked her about the result.

Eileen told Sherman what had happened including what Luke had said at last.

Sherman thought about it and said, "You're stupid! What Luke has said is meaningful. He wants you to stop him when he leaves at 2 p.m. tomorrow."

Chapter 1399

Eileen thought about it. 'Sherman is right.'

Eileen hung up. The sadness and dissatisfaction were erased from her mind. She sneered.

I have felt wrong for eight years while he has just experienced it for several months. I'm still angry with him. How dare he want me to go to the airport to stop him?'

'I have given him an out, but he even wants to swim all over me!'

'Does he think that I'm the same as before?'

'I ask him to stay not because I want to rekindle the romance but because I can't take care of Brad anymore.'

'Even if he will leave tomorrow, I won't stop him.' 'I will tell him my condition and ask him to take care of Brad. Then I will have nothing to worry about.'

That night, Luke called Kingsley to drink.

At 9 p.m., Kingsley hadn't arrived yet. Luke had arrived first. The table in front of him was filled with wine. He beamed with pleasure.

Kingsley arrived and sat opposite Luke. Kingsley asked, "Why are you so happy today?"

Luke said, "I'm very happy..." He narrowed his eyes, poured the wine and wore a smile all the time like an idiot.

Kingsley said, "What has happened?"

Kingsley picked up the glass of wine and shook it gently. The wine rippled in the glass.

Luke said, "She told me that Brad needed me."

He smiled brightly and added, "She said that she got engaged to Ruben to help him. She didn't love him!"

Kingsley knew these things earlier than Luke, so he didn't feel surprised at all.

Kingsley asked, "Then what about you?"

What did you say?"

Luke said, "I told her that I would leave at 2 p.m. by air tomorrow." He took a sip of the wine and looked complacent.

Kingsley narrowed his eyes and said, "It sounds like you don't plan to forgive her."

Luke said, "She lied to me and hurt my heart. She only explained it to me. I won't forgive her so easily." He narrowed his eyes and added, "She needs to stop me before I board the plane and express her feelings to me loudly in public!"

Kingsley said, "Then I will wait for your good news." Although he said so, he didn't agree with Luke.

'Hasn't he heard that never trouble trouble till trouble troubles you?'

'Now that Eileen has apologized and said so, how can he want her to stop him in the airport and express her feelings in public?'

'He is too confident. How dare he want Eileen to do so? Is he dreaming?'

'It seems that I will see an exciting scene!'

The more Luke said, the more complacent he was. He drank nonstop, floating on air.

Soon, it was 2 a.m. Luke was still reluctant to leave. Kingsley looked at his watch frequently.

He had a family now and was different from before. He had a wife and a son. He couldn't stay here for too long.

Luke was still drinking. Kingsley said goodbye to him and stood up to leave.

Luke nodded, said goodbye to Kingsley and looked at his watch. He gave up the idea of calling Brad and asked his assistant to drive him home.

When Kingsley arrived home, Sherman asked why he was so late. It was almost 3 a.m.

Kingsley said, "Luke was in a good mood and drank nonstop. He didn't let me leave. He said something funny."

Sherman was interested in interesting things all the time. Hearing that, she asked Kingsley what Luke had said.

Kingsley drank a glass of water and told her what Luke had said.

Chapter 1400

Hearing that, Sherman burst into laughter and couldn't wait to call Eileen.

Kingsley stopped her.

It was 3 a.m. Eileen must have fallen asleep.

The next morning.

When Eileen was eating breakfast, her phone rang. She answered the phone.

Sherman said on the phone, "Luke had a chat with Kingsley last night. Luke said that he wouldn't forgive you until you went to the airport to stop him and express your feelings to him."

Hearing that, Eileen sneered and didn't bother to know more about it. She just asked, "Are you available at noon?"

Sherman asked, "What do you want?"

Eileen said, "I know a new restaurant. Brad would like to have a try. Let's go there together."

Sherman agreed immediately, "OK."

In the restroom, Brad was talking on the phone with Luke. Luke said, "You are becoming a skillful liar."

Brad said, "I learn it from you!"

Brad shifted responsibility and said, "As for pretending to be sick, I also learn it from you."

Luke criticized, "Why do you learn crooked ways fast than other things?"

Brad smiled and said, "Dad, I did that for you. Now that you have come back, Mom can't leave anymore."

Luke said angrily, "You are naughty. It seems that I need to teach you a lesson!"

Luke put on the show. To be more realistic, he called Kingsley again and again and asked Kingsley to see him off at the airport.

Kingsley drove to the airport resignedly.

Luke prepared well. He carried his suitcase, passport and visa. He even bought the ticket.

Seeing Kingsley, Luke came up to him and hugged him. Luke said, "I don't know when I will come back. Kingsley, take care of yourself."

Kingsley was speechless.

'He is such a drama queen!'

If I didn't know him, I would think that he was an actor who was putting on a play.' Luke let off his hands and looked at his watch. It was 1:30 p.m., but Eileen had not shown up yet. He told her that he would leave at 2 p.m.

Kingsley asked, "Hasn't she come here?"

Kingsley frowned and looked at Luke.

Luke said, "It's 1:30 p.m. and still early. Let's wait for her."

However, she didn't show up at 1:40 p.m. She didn't show up at 1:50 p.m. At 2:00 p.m., she still didn't show up.

The outcome didn't surprise Kingsley at all. He said, "She won't come here."

Luke found an excuse for her and said, "It's far away from the center of the city. She might be stuck in traffic. It's normal that she is late. Let's wait for her."

Kingsley said, "Let me call Sherman." Kingsley took out his phone and called Sherman, "What is going on?"

When he was talking with Sherman on the phone, Luke stared at him all the time. As soon as Kingsley hung up, Luke asked, "What did she say?"
