

Lycan Prince Matteo

Thirteen

Freya

Oh my goddess, how did he find out? I felt guilty when he told me about Clay being my first kiss. It was the truth, but I never thought that he would ever find out that we were mates.

I had already lost my hope that he would be able to find out about us. That's why I was willing to start a relationship with Clay. I knew that he had been rejected and there was no mate that was waiting for him.

But now that Matteo was claiming me, I felt sorry for Clay instantly. It was because, I know, deep in my heart, I was going to choose my mate over him.

Matteo was angry and I could see that. I was scared and worried that he would do something bad to Clay and I didn't like that. He didn't know anything.

Our conversation ended well, I guess. After I told him that I hated him and started to cry, I only did that to test him. I want to know whether he will be feeling guilty and will try to console me. And when he did, I already knew that I had won. I found a way to get what I wanted.

"I am going home now" I said, not leaving my eyes at him.

"Fine," he replied, "I know what he was thinking. He knew that he had already lost to me, so I smiled. "You're smiling? Are you that happy that I am so powerless with you?"

"Yes, you got a problem with that?" I answered. He sighed before he pulled me. I looked up to him because he was tall and huge at 6 feet 7 inches in height, while I was only 5 feet 6 inches.

"You should be thankful that I have been feeling guilty for almost five months for hurting you by being with another female Lycan. Just so you know, your punishment is still waiting for you." He replied before he claimed my mouth.

We caught our breath after that long kiss and he had not left his eyes off of me. "What?" I asked,

"Nothing, I just couldn't believe that you are right before me." I rolled my eyes at him, and remembered that mom and dad were waiting.

"I really need to go home now."

"Can't you just stay here? You know that I'm a Lycan and it was in our nature to mark and mate with our mate as soon as we found them."

"Don't you dare do that," I warned him.

"If I planned on doing that, you would be lying on my bed by now. I just want to be with you."

"My parents will be worried and I didn't want that to happen."

"What about the tournament tomorrow?" He asked.

"What about it?"

"Are you still going to fight? You don't know how worried I was when Jack called your name. Although I already know that you have your wolf, I still couldn't help but worry."

"I am fine and I can fight. Mom and dad trained me regularly and they were both good fighters. One of the best in the Midnight Pack." I assured him, "Plus, Pi is so excited and I don't think that we will lose to anyone."

"Just don't get hurt, please." He pleaded. I was touched, so I decided to reward him.

"Kiss me," I told him. He was rubbing my face with his thumb and I started to feel something building up in between my thighs. I saw him smile and granted my request willingly.

We shared another deep and long kiss. I looked at him and was about to say something but he beat me to it, "Fine, let's go." I smiled at the thought that he didn't want to be away from me even for a moment. But I had to because I needed to tell my parents about it myself.

I was sure that they would be scolding me for not telling them either, so I had to get ready. We walked back to our house and I could feel Calvin and a few of his warriors following us.

His beta was grinning when we went down and Matteo told him that he would be sending me home. I'm sure that he already knew that we are OK now.

Now I had to think about how I was going to tell my parents about it. I had a feeling that they would be shocked because I was not telling them anything about him.

"Your parents had no idea about me?" He asked. We were walking on our way to our home and Calvin along with 4 other Lycan warriors were following us.

"Do you always have your babysitter with you?" I asked, annoyed. How come a full grown Lycan had someone following him all the time?

"You know that I am a prince and a future king." I puffed with his reply and continued walking. "If it was others, they would have jumped for you, you know." He added.

"Who would want a mate that is wanted by all females and get worried that one of them might succeed?" I asked and he was speechless.

"I am worried that Clay and Alec would take you away from me too, but I am still happy that you are mine." He replied smiling. "And stop rolling your eyes at me. You don't know how much I wanted you to do that when I fu you." I looked at him instantly and then behind us were his future beta and warriors are.

I know that they heard him because they were laughing. "Can you stop saying such a word? You know that your warriors are following us and hear everything you say!" I exclaimed and he laughed.

I started to walk faster because I started to feel annoyed with him as well. Now that I knew that he was all over me, there's no way that I am not going to take advantage of that.

I could sense him behind me walking even faster, even if I knew that it was pointless because he was a lot faster than me.

"Frey!" I rolled my eyes when I heard a familiar voice. Why do I have to see this idiot? "Frey, let's talk." He said, sounded distraught.

"What is it, Joric?" I asked impatiently.

"I'm your mate, right?" I was surprised, how the hell did he think that he was my mate? Is he out of his mind? "It's because I can't smell you so I can't acknowledge you. Tell me the truth, Freya."

"I am not your mate, idiot! If ever you are, I will never ever let you know." I replied and turned my back at him. I don't have time to spare for his nonsense.

"Frey, I know it. You're mine, just admit it." He said, following me. I started to feel worried about him because Matteo was just behind us.

"You are not my mate Joric, so you better stop saying." I told him.

"Joric, what's going on?" Alpha Daniel, his dad asked. Now we're attracting attention.

"Dad, she knew it. She knew that I was his mate but she didn't want to tell me. She was mad at me because of all my flings." I hate this. I don't know what got into him that he's acting this way.

"Frey?" Alpha Daniel asked and I shook my head, telling him that he is not my mate. "She already said it, Joric. She didn't feel the bond, so she's not your mate."

"She's just saying that! I just can't smell her scent. That's why she managed to lie. I want her dad, only her. I've been wanting her ever since she came into the pack. But Clay and Alec are guarding her, so that I cannot approach her." I think he's going crazy and will soon lose his position.

"I am sorry alpha, but he is not my mate." I said and turned around, but was stopped by Joric,

"You are mine, Freya, only mine. Clay or even Alec has no right over you!" he shouted. Alpha Daniel and beta Jack took him away but were stopped by Matteo. I just hope that the future idiot alpha will stop spewing nonsense. Oh, I'd rather leave them, so I started walking away. I still have to eat my dinner because my mate didn't even think about inviting me to dinner.