

The Protector Chapter 1126

Tyrone, Damien, Meredith, Robert, and the others shared similar beliefs that Levi will take the cowardly route at the very last minute.

In their minds, they were sure that he was going to abandon his family when the time came.

Back then, he was able to get through many obstacles due to great timing and luck.

However, this time, his opponent is Erudia's top ancient family.

Even the secret that Emma has was useless.

"Father, I'm quite sure Levi will run away. He must have thought that everything was fine, so he must be surprised that you've come to monitor him," Damien chortled.

He, too, felt that Levi would escape.

"We'll see."

"Let's go. We're meeting with the God of War next."

With that, Tyrone left with Damien.

Caitlyn and Aaron glared at Levi. "I'm warning you. You'd better not leave Zoey and your baby behind."

"That's right. Even if death awaits you, you have to face it yourself. You can't leave this mess behind for Zoey," they ordered.

They feared Levi would just leave.

“Don’t worry. While my son doesn’t excel in anything else, he’s a good man. Otherwise, he’d have admitted defeat to the Garrison clan early on,” Emma defended.

Zoey gently touched her belly and muttered, “I trust Levi. No matter how tough things get, he won’t leave the child and me behind.”

They had been together for a long time. As such, Zoey knew Levi well.

She would not be exaggerating if she claimed that Levi would die for her.

She believed in him.

He would not leave her to face the crisis alone.

Aggrieved, Meredith stomped her feet. “Continue to have blind faith in him then. You’ll find out soon enough that he’ll leave you all eventually!”

If they were honest with themselves, they were not shameless enough to speak the words in their heart.

Tyrone had once abandoned his family for his own benefits.

Hence, they felt that Levi would follow in his father’s footsteps.

As the saying goes, the apple doesn’t fall far from the tree.

Moreover, this was a situation of life and death.

As time passed, the thought of Levi running off became stronger in their minds.

However, they dared not say what Tyrone had done.

All they dared to say was their distrust in Levi.

“Grandma, don’t worry. Until the baby is born, Levi won’t take a step away from me. I swear this on my life,” Zoey proudly stated.

Levi moved closer and held her hands tightly. "Zoey, don't worry. I'll always be with you."

Zoey was sure of Levi's character.

There was nothing more Levi could ask for when he had a wife like this.

He smiled.

There is no way a mere Garrison clan can make me leave her.

Even if the sky collapsed on me, I would not take a step away from her.

"I hope so, but Zoey, I still think you'll be disappointed."

Harry still had a look of disbelief on his face.

"All right. Let's stop talking about this. Levi will never leave me, and I'll leave it at that."

Zoey then asked Levi to help her back to the house.

Several days later, Levi received a call from Percy from North Hampton Warzone.

Percy told him Tyrone wanted to meet him.

He even asked Levi if he should reject Tyrone's request.

"No. I'll be happy to meet with him. I wonder what they want from me." Levi responded.

At the front of North Hampton Warzone.

Tyrone and Damien were quietly waiting.

By now, their tens of thousands of escorts had left.

After all, they had put up enough of a show.

"Hello, Mr. Garrison. The God of War has decided to meet you."

The Protector Chapter 1127

"That's great!" Damien was enraptured.

He was finally going to meet his idol, the God of War.

This would definitely help him a lot in the future.

On the flipside, Tyrone was as calm as the sea.

In his mind, it was only natural that the God of War would come and personally meet someone of his status.

Everyone else is negligible!

I'm the only one that matters!

"Mr. Garrison, please give me a moment! I'll bring you to meet the God of War shortly!" Percy assured.

"Thank you, Commander-in-Chief Covington." Damien politely replied.

The duo waited patiently in the room.

"We're finally able to find out which bloodline of the Garrison family does the God of War belong to." Tyrone was filled with excitement.

In any case, he was determined to recruit the God of War into the Garrison clan.

This way, the status of Garrison clan as Erudia's most powerful ancient family would be fortified.

Not to mention the clan would also be able to cement its footing in Bayview.

Damien was trembling in excitement.

The God of War had always been Damien's source of motivation and fear.

This time, he was going to meet him in person. The overwhelming anxiety was expected.

Meanwhile, Levi arrived and met with Percy.

"God of War, it appears that Tyrone intends for you to regress to the Garrison clan! According to him, the Garrison family in Erudia originated from the Garrison clan. Hence, he insists that you are a member of the Garrison clan and wants you to regress!" Percy sarcastically explained the situation.

"Dream on! He's asking for the impossible! Who does he think he is? I'm not related to the Garrison clan!" Levi exploded in rage.

"If that's the case, shall we meet with them now?" Percy questioned.

"Sure," Levi was looking forward to meeting them now.

His initial plan was to wait patiently until Zoey gave birth to the child. Only then, he would address the issue with the Garrison clan.

However, Tyrone was becoming more aggressive with each passing moment. Now, the man even had the audacity to threaten Levi. His actions had significantly dampened both Zoey and Levi's moods.

Thus, Levi decided to solve the issue once and for all.

I'll meet them as the God of War!

I am done hiding my identity!

Levi and Percy walked side by side into the hall.

Just then, a loud whirring sound can be heard coming from the sky.

Levi looked upwards and exclaimed, "It's the Dragonite Helicopter..."

In Erudia, the usage frequency of the Dragonite Helicopter was extremely low.

The reason being the helicopter was utilized specifically for special missions only. It would only be used either to transport people of status or valuable resources. Additionally, it was also used as a message courier to convey and deliver urgent orders.

If the Dragonite Helicopter were to appear, it must signify an impending important event.

Thud!

Levi's heart sank as he realized that something was wrong.

The Dragonite Helicopter landed on a nearby lawn.

Two men got off the Dragonite Helicopter. They were decked out in black battle suits with a gold dragon imprinted on their chest plate.

"It's the Dragonites!" Levi exclaimed.

The Dragonite Helicopter belonged to the jurisdiction of Erudia and Oakland City. Even Levi himself had no right nor power to mobilize it.

Since the Dragonites are here personally to convey and deliver the order. This must mean that the order came from Erudia.

Needless to say, the order is meant for me.

Something big must have happened!

The fact that both the Dragonite Helicopter and the Dragonites were there could only mean that the situation must be extremely urgent and required Levi to personally address it.

Standing beside Levi, Percy was dumbfounded.

He did not expect the Dragonites to show up.

What happened?

Meanwhile, Levi appeared to have figured it out and his face was as pale as paper.

If anything were to happen at this juncture...

I would be in an awkward position.

The two Dragonites strode toward Levi and announced, "The God of War is hereby summoned by this order. This order is extremely urgent!"

The Protector Chapter 1128

Levi stood up straight and saluted.

He gazed at the two Dragonites, "What's the order?"

"The God of War is to lead your warriors, including the Five Great Wars Regiment, Calvary Regiment, Specter Army, Beasts, and Dragon Legion, and head to North Base One! This order is extremely urgent and requires immediate action. Any form of disobedience will entail military punishment!" the Dragonites enunciated the order clearly.

The Dragonites had issued an irrevocable order.

Levi retrieved the order and glanced through it. As expected, it was an order of the highest level.

Even someone of his status must comply with the order.

"What happened?" Levi asked calmly.

"God of War, do you remember the Blood King Palace?" the Dragonites asked.

"Of course. I eradicated them three years ago! They are a formidable force to be reckoned with. I wouldn't be exaggerating if I say that the threat of the Blood King Palace is even greater than a whole country!" Levi replied.

The Blood King Palace was once an organization in the Western Dark World. It consisted of thousands of elite warriors.

They were a bunch of lunatics, exceptionally specialized at assassination and sabotage.

They were vicious and merciless, without any regard to the consequences of their actions.

They frequently massacred cities of people.

An enemy as such was terrifying.

After all, it was a group of lunatics that ranged in the thousands.

Back then, the Blood King Palace was the most feared and dangerous organization in the Western Dark World.

In fact, it wasn't just other organizations that were afraid of them, even strong countries were also terrified of them.

The threat from the Blood King Palace was just too overwhelming.

The fact they would strike at unexpected times to take revenge loomed over the Blood King Palace's enemies.

Those years, the Blood King Palace reigned unchallenged and their ferocity outranked even Levi himself.

Truth be told, Levi even opined that the threat posed by the Blood King Palace significantly exceeds that of the Eighteen-Nation Alliance.

"Could it be that the Blood King Palace has return?" Levi shakenly asked.

"Yes, that is correct! The Blood King Palace is back! Last night, they launched several attacks on North Base One and we suffered severe casualties! According to intelligence, the forces of the Blood King Palace are far stronger than three years ago!" the Dragonites nervously answered.

"How is that possible? I eradicated them during our last encounter three years ago!" Levi was puzzled.

It must be a calculated scheme.

Someone must be behind all of this.

Unbeknownst to him, Levi had actually guessed it correctly.

The person who orchestrated all these was someone who knows about his weakness. And although they have failed once, that doesn't mean that they would just let Levi off the hook.

That person was none other than Tenichi, the military strategist of Raysonia.

He was the one who lured the Blood King Palace out of hiding...

The fear of the Blood King Palace was deeply rooted in many hearts and the gang of lunatics was not something an ordinary commoner could deal with.

At the moment, only the God of War had what it takes to face them head-on and came out on top.

No one else had been successful before.

Even for Levi, it took him a whole year to successfully complete what he thought was the eradication of the Blood King Palace.

Therefore, when the Blood King Palace resurfaces, Erudia would surely order the God of War to personally confront him.

With that plan in mind, Tenichi was sure that Levi would be transferred away.

As expected.

When the Blood King Palace showed up, Erudia immediately thought of Levi.

An urgent order to eradicate the Blood King Palace once more was immediately delivered and conveyed to Levi.

"God of War, we're afraid we cannot provide an answer to your question. Rumors have it that it is the surviving minions of the Blood King Palace who hid for nearly four years!"

“God of War, it’s best if you head out now! There’s no time to lose!” the Dragonites pestered him further.

Levi took a deep breath and roared, “Order the Azure Dragon to rejoin us immediately! We’ll be heading to war!”

The Protector Chapter 1129

The order from Erudia was to be prioritized immediately.

Levi had no time to dilly dally.

After he gave the order, the Five Great Wars Regiment and the others grouped up within a short period of time.

“We head out, now!” Levi ordered without hesitation.

“God of War, please wait a moment!” Azure Dragon said.

The others also had a hesitant look on their faces.

“Speak!” Levi impatiently demanded.

“God of War, what about Ms. Lopez? She’s about to go into labor soon. This is clearly the enemy’s scheme to lure you away so that they would have the chance to capture them!” Azure calmly postulated.

“He’s right! At the very least, please allow some of us to stay here and protect Ms. Lopez.” White Tiger proposed.

Although White Tiger loved to battle, Zoey’s safety was his primary concern.

Levi shook his head, “That’s not possible. The order was clear that all of us must head north! No one gets to stay behind.”

“But what about Ms. Lopez? What about your child? Don’t you want to witness the birth of your child?”

“That’s right, the last time we took out the Blood King Palace, we had to spend one whole year to do so! Now that their forces are even stronger this time, we may need a longer time! It may take up to one and a half years!”

“To leave for one and a half years at such a critical time is too risky!”

They were not willing to abandon Zoey for such a long time, not to mention that she was about to give birth to a child.

It was too heartless for Zoey and the child.

Besides, the risks of leaving was too high.

“Why don’t we stay back?” the Cavalry Regiment suggested, which was surprising considering they were always the quiet ones.

“Are you all disobeying my order?” Levi growled.

With that, every single one of them stood up straight and dared not speak another word.

A military order was absolute and they dared not disobey.

“Everyone, head toward the North now!” Levi shouted.

This time, there were no disagreements. They prepared the necessary transportations and were ready to depart.

Levi did not even get to meet Zoey or his own mother before departing. There was simply no time for such arrangements.

He departed without hesitation toward the North.

The situation was extremely urgent.

Levi knew very well how terrifying the Blood King Palace was.

Any delay would entail massive destruction.

Hence, he needed to act immediately.

Even if it meant that he could not meet with his family...

As Levi left, Percy assured, "I will do my best to protect her."

However, he was well aware of his limitations.

Some things were within his expectations; some were not.

He anticipated that those that were once defeated would not let this slide.

They would try to separate Levi from Zoey and his mother.

However, Percy could not figure out how they would achieve that purpose.

At the end of the day, the borders enjoyed tranquility and peace.

Levi should have never been transferred away.

However, it was unexpected that the Blood King Palace would reappear with forces stronger than before.

The Blood King Palace's return was significant enough to transfer Levi out of Erudia.

Levi was the only one that defeated them before, the others didn't even come close.

This was truly beyond his expectation.

Such a dire circumstance happened coincidentally during the most critical moment for Zoey.

With the order of the highest level, Levi could not even bid farewell with Zoey and the others.

Meredith accurately predicted this.

At this moment, Levi was indeed gone.

And he would be gone for more than a year...

The Protector Chapter 1130

According to them, Levi was scared away by the Garrison clan.

For the sake of survival, Levi abandoned his family and escaped.

The silence was deafening.

Everyone's facial expression was icy cold.

Especially Azure Dragon and the few men that sat beside Levi, their frustration was evident.

The sudden order caught everyone off guard.

Levi didn't even have time to make arrangements for Zoey and the others.

However, they dared not question further about Levi's command.

Everyone understood that Levi's only goal now was to eradicate the Blood King Palace.

Nonetheless, Azure Dragon was concerned about the safety of Zoey and others.

At the hall, Tyrone and Damien were still waiting.

As they heard some commotion outside, the duo walked out to have a look.

What greeted their sights were fleets of armored vehicles leaving swiftly.

"What happened?" Tyrone and Damien were shocked.

"Mr. Garrison, my deepest apologies. The God of War had been summoned to the North! He cannot meet with you anymore," Percy regrettably explained.

"What? What is the issue that required the God of War himself to personally attend to?" Tyrone was surprised.

Damien became nervous as well.

It must be something significant in order to require the involvement of the God of War himself.

"It's classified information and I cannot disclose it to you. Please, go home." Percy refused to answer.

"What?"

As the armored vehicles passed by, Damien was startled.

"I think I just saw someone familiar..." Damien suddenly mumbled.

"Did you see someone you know?" Tyrone asked.

"I think I met them somewhere before, Was it at Levi's wedding?" Damien was unsure.

Damien thought he had met some of them during Levi's wedding.

"That's impossible!" Tyrone dismissed his statement without any hesitation.

It was simply impossible.

Since the God of War was heading toward the North, they no longer had any purpose to remain in North Hampton.

"Oh yes, I still need to meet Levi regarding another matter!" Tyrone abruptly recalled.

The Garrison clan made a decision regarding the family name of Levi's unborn child.

As anyone who bore the Garrison family name would be inevitably related to the Garrison clan, the clan decided they wanted to avoid this.

As such, once the child was born, he cannot bear the family name of Garrison.

Seeing Tyrone and Damien arrived once again, Zoey and the others started to panic.

"Where is Levi? Get him out here right now!" Tyrone shouted.

"Levi's not here..." Emma nervously replied.

She gulped and took a deep breath in an attempt to calm herself down.

It had been a few hours, but Levi had yet to return.

Even Emma herself had no idea where her son had gone to.

For the past few months, Emma had always been by Zoey's side and she would not leave her alone for more than ten minutes.

Damien scoffed. "Could it be that he had run away?"

"Hah, that might be possible," Tyrone nodded in agreement.

For some reason, a sense of trepidation settled in Meredith's and the others' hearts when they heard that.

The circumstances did suggest that Levi had escaped.

"What do you want?" Zoey asked.

Tyrone arrogantly replied, "What I want is simple. Your unborn child cannot bear the family name of Garrison! Since the Garrison family in Erudia originated from the Garrison Clan, whoever that wished to bear the Garrison name must seek our approval! And I'm telling you now that Levi's child is not allowed to do so!"

"It's none of your business what my child's surname would be!" Zoey firmly refuted the preposterous demand.

“You can choose to ignore us, but you will make an enemy of the Garrison clan! The consequences will be abysmal!” Tyrone left after making the threat.

Zoey thought about it and called Levi.
