

Chapter 1294

Sean's last sentence was what Jennie and her daughter hoped to hear the most.

"Seany, you should go back in. We'll leave after we watch you go in."

Jennie's tone was sweet with a hint of gentleness. The old woman was seasoned and experienced. Especially the first few years when Lori was still a young girl were particularly tough on her.

But she did not have eyes for sub-par men. She set her sights on the cream of the crop, and becoming the mistress of such wealthy and successful men. She would not hang onto them either, leaving after making her fortune. After some time, she was now an expert. Besides, she had bathed in luxuries since she was a girl, meticulously maintaining her beauty. That was why, even though she was already in her 50s, Jennie still looked like a beautiful pearl, like a woman in her late 30s. Besides, the matured yet shy look she presented exuded a sense of wanton allure deep from within her bones.

Sean looked at her in a daze. "..."

"Seany, why aren't you heading in?" she

"Seany, why aren't you heading in?" she asked deliberately. Before he could say anything, she said, "Oh, I know. Seany, we haven't left each other our phone numbers."

Sean immediately nodded. "Right, right, right. We have been old friends for decades. You're my childhood playmate, and now that we've met each other, how can we not give each other our contact numbers? Besides, we need to contact each other on the phone to arrange a meeting between our families, yes?"

As he spoke, the two of them gathered close together and exchanged phone numbers, adding each other on WhatsApp.

At that moment, Sean felt as if he was twenty years younger. Back then, when he was in his 40s, matured, charming, and with a wildly successful career, many young women were wildly in love with him. They wanted nothing, except to lay in his arms. And now, he was experiencing the same feeling again. As if he had turned into a young man again. He felt an emotion he could hardly describe with words. It was sweet, and exciting, and... a little terrifying. Sean did not even know how he got into the elevator.

Anyway, he had bid goodbye to Jennie

Anyway, he had bid goodbye to Jennie seven or eight times, and in the end, they even sent each other greetings on WhatsApp in front of each other.

The second Sean stepped into the elevator, Jennie and Lori looked at each other and smiled.

They reached their car, and as Lori started the engine, she looked at her mother and asked, "Mom, I didn't know you were such an expert at dealing with men. Even till now, I still think I'm nothing compared to you."

In front of her own daughter, Jennie did not attempt to disguise herself either. She smiled confidently. "As long as a woman can dress well and use her beauty and allure in the right way, there's no wealth or treasure in this world that she cannot obtain."

When she said this, Jennie seemed to have forgotten how badly she had been deceived by a man.

"Mom, you are right," Lori said in a tone full of reverence.

"My daughter, since our aim in returning home was Sebastian Ford, first, you have to by a man.

"Mom, you are right," Lori said in a tone full of reverence.

"My daughter, since our aim in returning home was Sebastian Ford, first, you have to master the necessary skills."

"Mom..." Listening to her mother's blunt instructions, Lori still blushed. After all, how could a young girl in her 20s be as thick-skinned as a 50-year-old hag?

"Don't be shy. Wearing revealing clothing... These are things that are all very shallow and obvious to the eye. A man like Sebastian Ford would never fall for this. Think about it; you poured in so much effort ..."
