

QUADRUPLETS UNITE: MOTHER'S WORDS ARE LAW!

Chapter 1138 Let's See Who Is Better at Racing on the Sea

Emmeline did not like crowded places, so she held hands with Abel and walked along the beach towards a more secluded area.

Fewer people were there, but a few couples played beach volleyball.

Abel asked Emmeline, "Darling, do you want to play?"

Emmeline turned her head and looked to the side, remaining silent.

Following her gaze, Abel saw that she was captivated by the motorboats on the water.

He remembered that she loved high-speed activities.

Like racing cars.

Wouldn't she be interested in riding a motorboat right now?

"Do you want to play with this?" Abel asked.

"Of course!" Emmeline exclaimed with excitement.

Just a moment ago, she could not open her eyes because she woke up early, but now she was good.

"Then let's play!" Abel took her small hand and walked over.

A few young motorboat coaches were patiently explaining to the tourists.

"Should we ride together or separately?" Abel asked Emmeline.

"Separately." Emmeline smiled, "You won't be able to catch up with me!"

"Are you sure?" Abel smirked, his eyes filled with provocation.

"I know you must have been trained for this."
Emmeline said, "But don't forget, I spent four years on Adelmar Island."

She narrowed her peach blossom eyes proudly, with a challenging expression, "I am certified!"

"Funny." Abel scoffed, "I also got the license!"

"You have a driver's license, too?" Emmeline asked in surprise.

"Is that so surprising?" Abel chuckled, "I got the license after professional training."

"Cut the crap." Emmeline said, "Let's see who's better on the water!"

"Let's see!" Abel turned and walked towards the coach.

The coach was a handsome young guy with wheat-colored healthy skin and deep, dark eyes.

Seeing Abel and then looking at Emmeline behind him, the young man showed astonishment.

Are these two angels?

The man is too handsome, and the woman is too beautiful!

The young man felt like dreaming to see such a beautiful lady and handsome man.

The young man pinched his arm and winced in pain.

It was not a dream!

He turned his head to look at Emmeline behind Abel, indicating that he would be happy to serve her.

Abel told him, "Rent two motorcycles. No need for a guide."

No need for a guide?

The young man was surprised again.

Emmeline also spoke, "I have a driver's license, and so does my husband."

The coach automatically ignored the driver's license part and focused on the words "my husband."

A disappointed expression appeared on his handsome face.

"So both of you can drive?" The young man looked at them again.

They wore shorts, t-shirts, and beach sneakers, so their outfit was not a problem.

"Hmm!"

"Hmm!"

Abel and Emmeline nodded at the same time.

"Tell me the first step." The young man turned his gentle gaze towards Emmeline.

"Insert the key into the motorcycle, put the key ring on the right hand, ignite, and start," Emmeline answered.

"Explain the precautions for high-speed driving." the young man asked Abel with a serious face.

"Avoid sharp turns during high-speed driving, and maintain the balance between the body and the motorcycle to prevent accidents," Abel replied.

"Alright then." The young man handed them two keys and said, "Put on life jackets and come over here."

He pointed to the two blue and white motorcycles on the beach.

Emmeline and Abel were excited and locked their belongings in the nearby storage box, with the keys tied to their wrists.

After putting on the yellow life jackets, they exchanged glances, and each got on a motorcycle.

"Go for it!" Emmeline winked at Abel.

"Wait until I win you over!" Abel also winked at Emmeline.

The two understood each other without saying a word, one feeling proud and the other feeling shy.

Then they inserted their keys and started the engines.

The motorboats roared as they left the shore and drove into the sea.

The water around Golden Island was clear and blue. Those with good eyesight could see several tens of meters underwater.

The two motorboats were like wild horses, galloping freely on the blue sea under the clear sky.

Water splashes hit their bodies as they sped along, making them delightfully scream.

Their mood was simply exhilarating!
