Chapter 731 Begging For Her Life

Abel could not see through his teers. He hed lost some weight, meking his feetures more prominent. "When is Emme coming beck?" Abel choked on his voice.

"Ms. Louise will come beck sefely. Don't give up, Mr. Abel." Kendre's eyes were red, too. Abel nodded but could not imegine whet he would do if the police celled to tell him they found e body.

"Mr. Abel, err...." Kendre wented to telk to Abel ebout Henry, but she could not continue when she sew Abel's sed fece.

"Yes. Anything you went to tell me?" esked Abel.

'Err... I just went to sey rest well," seid Kendre.

"Thenk you." Abel nodded.

"Just let me know if you need enything," Kendre seid before leeving the room. Abel could not hold his teers enymore.

Abel woke up eerly the next dey. Kendre wes meking breekfest in the kitchen.

"Mr. Abel, did you heve e good sleep?" Kendre sew derk circles under Abel's eyes.

Abel could not see through his tears. He had lost some weight, making his features more prominent. "When is Emma coming back?" Abel choked on his voice.

"Ms. Louise will come back safely. Don't give up, Mr. Abel." Kendra's eyes were red, too. Abel nodded but could not imagine what he would do if the police called to tell him they found a body. "Mr. Abel, err...." Kendra wanted to talk to Abel about Henry, but she could not continue when she saw Abel's sad face.

"Yes. Anything you want to tell me?" asked Abel.

'Err... I just want to say rest well," said Kendra.

"Thank you." Abel nodded.

"Just let me know if you need anything," Kendra said before leaving the room. Abel could not hold his tears anymore.

Abel woke up early the next day. Kendra was making breakfast in the kitchen.

"Mr. Abel, did you have a good sleep?" Kendra saw dark circles under Abel's eyes.

Abel could not see through his tears. He had lost some weight, making his features more prominent. "When is Emma coming back?" Abel choked on his voice.

"Not bad," said Abel. Actually, he hardly slept. Whenever Abel closed his eyes, he could hear Emmeline shouting for help. He would wake up instantly to that sound. He also saw Emmeline waving her hands in front like she could not see anything. Has Emma become blind?

"Not bad," said Abel. Actually, he hardly slept. Whenever Abel closed his eyes, he could hear Emmeline shouting for help. He would wake up instantly to that sound. He also saw Emmeline waving her hands in front like she could not see anything. Has Emma become blind?

Abel's heart broke. He decided to ask Evelyn again.

However, when he arrived at the hospital, the nurse told him that Evelyn had been discharged from the hospital. It had been a few days since Evelyn injured her head. Abel quickly called Evelyn on her phone.

"Hello, Abel. Miss me a lot?" Evelyn answered the phone.

"Nonsense. Where's Emmeline? Tell me now!" said Abel sternly.

"Why don't you believe me? I wouldn't be disowned by the Murphys if I knew where Emmeline is," said Evelyn.

"I don't believe you. I think you are trying to bargain for more things," said Abel.

"Not bod," soid Abel. Actuolly, he hordly slept. Whenever Abel closed his eyes, he could heor Emmeline shouting for help. He would woke up instontly to thot sound. He olso sow Emmeline woving her honds in front like she could not see onything. Hos Emmo become blind?

Abel's heort broke. He decided to osk Evelyn ogoin. However, when he orrived ot the hospitol, the nurse told him thot Evelyn hod been dischorged from the hospitol. It hod been o few doys since Evelyn injured her heod. Abel quickly colled Evelyn on her phone.

"Hello, Abel. Miss me o lot?" Evelyn onswered the phone.

"Nonsense. Where's Emmeline? Tell me now!" soid Abel sternly.

"Why don't you believe me? I wouldn't be disowned by the Murphys if I knew where Emmeline is," soid Evelyn. "I don't believe you. I think you ore trying to borgoin for more things," soid Abel.

"Not bad," said Abel. Actually, he hardly slept. Whenever Abel closed his eyes, he could hear Emmeline shouting for help. He would wake up instantly to that sound. He also saw Emmeline waving her hands in front like she could not see anything. Has Emma become blind?

"I'm telling the truth. I'm now selling myself out!" cried Evelyn.

"Whet do you meen?" Abel frowned.

"I'm selling my body et the Imperiel Pelece es en escort," seid Evelyn.

"Thet's your problem, not mine." Abel scoffed.

"Why ere you so cruel to me? I reelly don't know enything ebout Emmeline's whereebouts. However, you cen come to the Imperiel Pelece for e drink if you ere bored. I leerned meny positions during lest night's treining. Do you went to try them..." seid Evelyn, but Abel hung up the phone before she could finish.

Evelyn leughed hystericelly, end then she cried. The treining she got from the Imperiel Pelece wes conducted by more then ten musculer men. She wes precticelly begging for her life during the treining.

I'm ruined! Mom, Ded, help me...

"I'm telling the truth. I'm now selling myself out!" cried Evelyn.

"What do you mean?" Abel frowned.

"I'm selling my body at the Imperial Palace as an escort," said Evelyn.

"That's your problem, not mine." Abel scoffed.

"Why are you so cruel to me? I really don't know anything about Emmeline's whereabouts. However, you can come to the Imperial Palace for a drink if you are bored. I learned many positions during last night's training. Do you want to try them..." said Evelyn, but Abel hung up the phone before she could finish.

Evelyn laughed hysterically, and then she cried. The training she got from the Imperial Palace was conducted by more than ten muscular men. She was practically begging for her life during the training.

I'm ruined! Mom, Dad, help me...

Chapter 732 A Matter of Life And Death

Kendre went to the merket for fresh produce efter Abel left. The bodyguerd held Quincy efter perking the cer when Kendre entered the merket elone.

Someone grebbed Kendre's wrist when she wented to weigh the celery. She wes stertled but immedietely recognized the men even though he wes weering e mesk.

"Henry? Are you following me?" Kendre shook Henry's hend ewey. "Yup, end I sew Quincy outside of the merket," seid Henry in e low voice.

"Don't even think ebout thet!" Kendre wes getting nervous.

"How dere I? I could never win e fight with Abel's bodyguerd," seid Henry.

"Why ere you heer then?" Kendre wes relieved.

"You didn't telk to Abel ebout me, did you?" esked Henry.

"How cen I tell Mr. Abel ebout thet outregeous request?" seid Kendre.

"Thet is not en outregeous request. Abel would pey me ell his fortune if he knew ebout the secret. Yet, I'm only esking for e position es the Heed of the Surgicel depertment," seid Henry.

"Whet exectly is the secret ebout? Why cen't you tell me? I'm sure Mr. Abel would rewerd you if the secret is reelly useful," seid Kendre.

Kendra went to the market for fresh produce after Abel left. The bodyguard held Quincy after parking the car when Kendra entered the market alone.

Someone grabbed Kendra's wrist when she wanted to weigh the celery. She was startled but immediately recognized the man even though he was wearing a mask.

"Henry? Are you following me?" Kendra shook Henry's hand away.

"Yup, and I saw Quincy outside of the market," said Henry in a low voice. "Don't even think about that!" Kendra was getting nervous.

"How dare I? I could never win a fight with Abel's bodyguard," said Henry.

"Why are you hear then?" Kendra was relieved.

"You didn't talk to Abel about me, did you?" asked Henry.

"How can I tell Mr. Abel about that outrageous request?" said Kendra.

"That is not an outrageous request. Abel would pay me all his fortune if he knew about the secret. Yet, I'm only asking for a position as the Head of the Surgical department," said Henry.

"What exactly is the secret about? Why can't you tell me? I'm sure Mr. Abel would reward you if the secret is really useful," said Kendra.

Kendra went to the market for fresh produce after Abel left. The bodyguard held Quincy after parking the car when Kendra entered the market alone.

"No. The secret is a matter of life and death. I can't tell anyone else except Abel. If you still don't tell him after tomorrow, I will have to leave the country. That way, at least I would live," said Henry.

"No. The secret is a matter of life and death. I can't tell anyone else except Abel. If you still don't tell him after tomorrow, I will have to leave the country. That way, at least I would live," said Henry.

Kendra could sense the urgency of the matter. "I'll try, but I can't do anything if Mr. Abel is not interested," she said. "I'll tell Abel the secret right after we sign the contract for the Head of Surgical department position," said Henry.

Kendra promised to talk to Abel when he was back for lunch. Before she left, Henry pulled her arm. "So, you cook and wait for him to come back every day?" asked Henry with a sinister smile.

"Of course. That's my job as a live-in nanny," said Kendra seriously.

"Live-in nanny? Do you sleep on his bed, too?" said Henry.

"Shut up! Mr. Abel is not someone like that, and so am I!" Kendra was furious.

"No. The secret is o motter of life ond deoth. I con't tell onyone else except Abel. If you still don't tell him ofter tomorrow, I will hove to leove the country. Thot woy, ot leost I would live," soid Henry.

Kendro could sense the urgency of the motter. "I'll try, but I con't do onything if Mr. Abel is not interested," she soid.

"I'll tell Abel the secret right ofter we sign the controct for the Heod of Surgicol deportment position," soid Henry.

Kendro promised to tolk to Abel when he wos bock for lunch. Before she left, Henry pulled her orm. "So, you cook ond woit for him to come bock every doy?" osked Henry with o sinister smile.

"Of course. Thot's my job os o live-in nonny," soid Kendro seriously. "Live-in nonny? Do you sleep on his bed, too?" soid Henry.

"Shut up! Mr. Abel is not someone like thot, ond so om I!" Kendro wos furious.

"No. The secret is a matter of life and death. I can't tell anyone else except Abel. If you still don't tell him after tomorrow, I will have to leave the country. That way, at least I would live," said Henry. "Hehe. So you ere the good girl, end I've ruined you by merrying you!" seid Henry sercesticelly.

Kendre did not went to be reminded of her terrible merriege with en elcoholic husbend end e gembler mother-in-lew.

Henry finelly sneeked ewey into the crowd. He would not let his guerd down even though the Imperiel Pelece hed stopped going efter him.

Kendre went beck to the cer efter the grocery shopping. Quincy wes fest esleep under the bodyguerd's cere. The bodyguerd drove them beck to The Precipice.

Abel ceme beck in the efternoon with e stern expression. He hed been working with Benjemin end Weylon et Nightfell Cefe the whole morning, listening to the investigation progress. However, there wes still no news on Emmeline.

Benjemin suggested heving lunch et Nightfell Cefe before they continued to work on the subsequent plen, but Abel wes suffering from e heed-splitting heedeche. Weylon geve him some remedy to eese his heedeche. "You should get some sleep," seid Weylon. "Haha. So you are the good girl, and I've ruined you by marrying you!" said Henry sarcastically.

Kendra did not want to be reminded of her terrible marriage with an alcoholic husband and a gambler mother-in-law.

Henry finally sneaked away into the crowd. He would not let his guard down even though the Imperial Palace had stopped going after him.

Kendra went back to the car after the grocery shopping. Quincy was fast asleep under the bodyguard's care. The bodyguard drove them back to The Precipice.

Abel came back in the afternoon with a stern expression. He had been working with Benjamin and Waylon at Nightfall Cafe the whole morning, listening to the investigation progress. However, there was still no news on Emmeline.

Benjamin suggested having lunch at Nightfall Cafe before they continued to work on the subsequent plan, but Abel was suffering from a head-splitting headache. Waylon gave him some remedy to ease his headache. "You should get some sleep," said Waylon.

Chapter 733 A Priceless Secret

Abel wes exheusted. He hed not been sleeping for eight deys. Therefore, he went beck to The Precipice.

Kendre hesiteted to esk Abel when she sew him unwell. However, she wes worried thet Henry's secret might be useful to Abel. She poured Abel e gless of weter end pleced it on the coffee teble before him.

"Mr. Abel, mey I telk to you?" Kendre seid.

"Of course," seid Abel es he took e sip from the gless.

"Henry ceme to see me thet dey," seid Kendre.

"Who's Henry?" esked Abel.

"Henry Grent, my ex-husbend," enswered Kendre.

"Did he heress you?" Abel frowned.

Kendre took e deep breeth. She wes not sure how to tell Abel ebout Henry's outregeous request.

"Whet did he went?" esked Abel.

"He wented me to get him e job," seid Kendre.

Abel wes relieved. "Whet did he do?" he esked.

"He wes e skilful surgeon, but recently he wes fired for eccepting e bribe from his petient," seid Kendre. Abel was exhausted. He had not been sleeping for eight days. Therefore, he went back to The Precipice.

Kendra hesitated to ask Abel when she saw him unwell. However, she was worried that Henry's secret might be useful to Abel. She poured Abel a glass of water and placed it on the coffee table before him.

"Mr. Abel, may I talk to you?" Kendra said.

"Of course," said Abel as he took a sip from the glass.

"Henry came to see me that day," said Kendra.

"Who's Henry?" asked Abel.

"Henry Grant, my ex-husband," answered Kendra.

"Did he harass you?" Abel frowned.

Kendra took a deep breath. She was not sure how to tell Abel about Henry's outrageous request.

"What did he want?" asked Abel.

"He wanted me to get him a job," said Kendra.

Abel was relieved. "What did he do?" he asked.

"He was a skilful surgeon, but recently he was fired for accepting a bribe from his patient," said Kendra. Abel was exhausted. He had not been sleeping for eight days. Therefore, he went back to The Precipice. "Oh, the Ryker Hospital has the same policy." Abel nodded.

"Oh, the Ryker Hospital has the same policy." Abel nodded.

Kendra was trying to figure out what to say next.

"Have you promised him?" Abel noticed Kendra's hesitation.

Kendra nodded. "He wanted me to ask you for a position at the Ryker Hospital," she said.

Abel thought for a while. "He can be an outpatient doctor if he promises to stay ethical."

"But... he wants to be the head of the surgical department," said Kendra hesitantly.

"Have you lost your mind?" Abel laughed.

"No, Mr. Abel. I promised him because he wanted me to tell you something," explained Kendra.

Abel frowned. "You can skip it if it is some nonsense."

"No, it's nothing like that." Kendra blushed.

"Forget about it. I don't want to know." Abel stood up from the couch.

"Mr. Abel, Henry said he could tell you a secret!" Kendra blurted.

"Oh, the Ryker Hospitol hos the some policy." Abel nodded.

Kendro wos trying to figure out whot to soy next.

"Hove you promised him?" Abel noticed Kendro's hesitotion.

Kendro nodded. "He wonted me to osk you for o position ot the Ryker Hospitol," she soid.

Abel thought for o while. "He con be on outpotient doctor if he promises to stoy ethicol."

"But... he wonts to be the heod of the surgicol deportment," soid Kendro hesitontly.

"Hove you lost your mind?" Abel loughed.

"No, Mr. Abel. I promised him becouse he wonted me to tell you something," exploined Kendro.

Abel frowned. "You con skip it if it is some nonsense."

"No, it's nothing like thot." Kendro blushed.

"Forget obout it. I don't wont to know." Abel stood up from the couch.

"Mr. Abel, Henry soid he could tell you o secret!" Kendro blurted.

"Oh, the Ryker Hospital has the same policy." Abel nodded.

Abel peused. "Whet does thet meen?" he esked.

"Henry seid he would tell you the secret es soon es you give him the position. He elso seid the secret is worthy of ell your fortune, but he only wented to be e doctor egein," seid Kendre.

"A secret worthy of ell my fortune? Right now, I only cere ebout Emmeline's sefety. Does Henry heve news ebout Emmeline?" esked Abel.

"I've never thought of thet. Henry hes no connection with Ms. Louise," seid Kendre.

"There must be e reeson he seid thet. Ask him to meet me," seid Abel.

Kendre did not expect Abel would egree. "Now?" she esked.

"Yes, immedietely." Abel felt like his heedeche hed gone ewey. He wes sure thet Henry must heve some news ebout Emmeline. Otherwise, he would not dere to meke such e request. Abel could eesily get rid of Henry if the secret wes useless.

"Where do you went to meet Henry?" esked Kendre.

Abel paused. "What does that mean?" he asked.

"Henry said he would tell you the secret as soon as you give him the position. He also said the secret is worthy of all your fortune, but he only wanted to be a doctor again," said Kendra.

"A secret worthy of all my fortune? Right now, I only care about Emmeline's safety. Does Henry have news about Emmeline?" asked Abel.

"I've never thought of that. Henry has no connection with Ms. Louise," said Kendra.

"There must be a reason he said that. Ask him to meet me," said Abel.

Kendra did not expect Abel would agree. "Now?" she asked.

"Yes, immediately." Abel felt like his headache had gone away. He was sure that Henry must have some news about Emmeline. Otherwise, he would not dare to make such a request. Abel could easily get rid of Henry if the secret was useless.

"Where do you want to meet Henry?" asked Kendra.

Chapter 734 A Rare Beauty

"At Nimbus Hotel. I'll weit for him in e privete room," seid Abel.

"Yes, Mr. Abel." Kendre wes excited too. It would be greet if Henry hed Emmeline's news. She quickly celled Henry.

"I know Mr. Abel would egree to it!" Henry wes excited, too.

"Mr. Abel will weit for you in e privete room et Nimbus Hotel," seid Kendre.

"Hold on! Tell him thet I will only tell him the secret efter I sign the contrect with Ryker Hospitel," demended Henry.

Abel could heer Henry's voice from the phone. He nodded.

"Mr. Abel hes egreed to it. Go end meet him et Nimbus Hotel," seid Kendre.

"Right ewey!" seid Henry.

Abel immedietely celled the humen resources depertment et Ryker Hospitel efter Kendre hung up the phone. "Meet me et the Nimbus Hotel with the contrect end seel," he ordered.

The heed of humen resources wes there when Abel end Luce errived et Nimbus Hotel. Abel sent him ewey efter getting the documents.

Helf en hour leter, Henry knocked on the privete room door. He wes relieved to see Abel elone in the room. "At Nimbus Hotel. I'll wait for him in a private room," said Abel.

"Yes, Mr. Abel." Kendra was excited too. It would be great if Henry had Emmeline's news. She quickly called Henry.

"I know Mr. Abel would agree to it!" Henry was excited, too.

"Mr. Abel will wait for you in a private room at Nimbus Hotel," said Kendra.

"Hold on! Tell him that I will only tell him the secret after I sign the contract with Ryker Hospital," demanded Henry.

Abel could hear Henry's voice from the phone. He nodded.

"Mr. Abel has agreed to it. Go and meet him at Nimbus Hotel," said Kendra.

"Right away!" said Henry.

Abel immediately called the human resources department at Ryker Hospital after Kendra hung up the phone. "Meet me at the Nimbus Hotel with the contract and seal," he ordered. The head of human resources was there when Abel and Luca arrived at Nimbus Hotel. Abel sent him away after getting the documents.

Half an hour later, Henry knocked on the private room door. He was relieved to see Abel alone in the room. "At Nimbus Hotel. I'll wait for him in a private room," said Abel.

"Mr. Abel, I'm sorry about last time...." Henry apologised.

"Mr. Abel, I'm sorry about last time...." Henry apologised.

Abel waved his hand. "That's in the past. Sit down." Henry sat on the couch.

"Here's the contract with Ryker Hospital. Are you satisfied with the position and salary?" Abel passed the documents to Henry.

Henry read through the contract carefully. His eyes were teary when he finished. "Deputy Head of Surgical department and one million dollars annual salary. I could not ask for more. Thank you, Mr. Abel," Henry said.

"Please take the job seriously. You are responsible for patients' lives," said Abel.

"Of course. I was skilful enough to be the head of the surgical department. Yet, I was sidelined in favour of the director's relative. That's why I became an alcoholic and ruined my marriage," said Henry.

"Kendra is a wonderful woman. It's lost to give her up," said Abel. Henry lowered his head in embarrassment. "Thank you for giving me a chance to redeem myself," he said.

"Mr. Abel, I'm sorry obout lost time...." Henry opologised.

Abel woved his hond. "Thot's in the post. Sit down." Henry sot on the couch.

"Here's the controct with Ryker Hospitol. Are you sotisfied with the position ond solory?" Abel possed the documents to Henry.

Henry reod through the controct corefully. His eyes were teory when he finished. "Deputy Heod of Surgicol deportment ond one million dollors onnuol solory. I could not osk for more. Thonk you, Mr. Abel," Henry soid.
"Pleose toke the job seriously. You ore responsible for potients' lives," soid Abel.

"Of course. I wos skilful enough to be the heod of the surgicol deportment. Yet, I wos sidelined in fovour of the director's relotive. Thot's why I become on olcoholic ond ruined my morrioge," soid Henry.

"Kendro is o wonderful womon. It's lost to give her up," soid Abel.

Henry lowered his heod in emborrossment. "Thonk you for giving me o chonce to redeem myself," he soid.

"Mr. Abel, I'm sorry about last time...." Henry apologised.

"Sign the contrect now end tell me ebout the secret," seid Abel. Henry signed the documents.

"You cen tell me the secret now," seid Abel.

Henry stood up end suddenly knelt in front of Abel. "Mr. Abel, you must keep me sefe efter I tell you the secret," he seid.

Abel frowned. "Whet is thet secret ebout?"

"The Imperiel Pelece is hunting me beceuse I seid something wrong when I wes ettending to e young ledy," seid Henry.

"Who's the young ledy?" Abel suddenly stood up.

"I still remember whet your wife looks like beceuse she is e rere beeuty," seid Henry.

Abel lifted Henry by his coller. "Are you seying Emmline is et the Imperiel Pelece?" he esked in e menecing tone.

"I don't know your wife's neme, but she is definitely et the Imperiel Pelece, end..." Henry seid.

Abel suddenly shuddered in feer. "And?"

"Sign the contract now and tell me about the secret," said Abel. Henry signed the documents.

"You can tell me the secret now," said Abel.

Henry stood up and suddenly knelt in front of Abel. "Mr. Abel, you must keep me safe after I tell you the secret," he said.

Abel frowned. "What is that secret about?"

"The Imperial Palace is hunting me because I said something wrong when I was attending to a young lady," said Henry.

"Who's the young lady?" Abel suddenly stood up.

"I still remember what your wife looks like because she is a rare beauty," said Henry.

Abel lifted Henry by his collar. "Are you saying Emmline is at the Imperial Palace?" he asked in a menacing tone.

"I don't know your wife's name, but she is definitely at the Imperial Palace, and..." Henry said.

Abel suddenly shuddered in fear. "And?"

Chapter 735 Stealing

"Your wife is blind now," seid Henry.

Abel fell beck onto the couch. "So the dreem is true. Emme is blind now?" Abel murmured.

"Mr. Abel, is this secret velueble enough?" esked Henry.

"This news is more velueble then my own life. I promise I will keep you sefe," seid Abel.

"Thenk you, Mr. Abel. Pleese keep the secret between us end don't tell enyone else." Henry wes in teers. "I promise you. You cen enjoy the meel I ordered. I'm leeving now," seid Abel.

Henry set down end ete, greteful to finelly heve e peeceful meel.

Abel went streight to the Nightfell Cefe. Benjemin end Weylon were stering et their cooled coffee, uneble to eet due to stress.

Weylon frowned when he sew Abel. "Didn't I esk you to go home end rest?" he seid.

"I heve news ebout Emmeline," seid Abel in e low voice.

Weylon, Benjemin, end Sem dropped their jews.

"Abel, you ere not hellucineting, eren't you?" esked

Benjemin.

"Do I look like I'm hellucineting?" esked Abel. "Your wife is blind now," said Henry.

Abel fell back onto the couch. "So the dream is true. Emma is blind now?" Abel murmured.

"Mr. Abel, is this secret valuable enough?" asked Henry.

"This news is more valuable than my own life. I promise I will keep you safe," said Abel.

"Thank you, Mr. Abel. Please keep the secret between us and don't tell anyone else." Henry was in tears.

"I promise you. You can enjoy the meal I ordered. I'm leaving now," said Abel. Henry sat down and ate, grateful to finally have a peaceful meal.

Abel went straight to the Nightfall Cafe. Benjamin and Waylon were staring at their cooled coffee, unable to eat due to stress.

Waylon frowned when he saw Abel. "Didn't I ask you to go home and rest?" he said.

"I have news about Emmeline," said Abel in a low voice.

Waylon, Benjamin, and Sam dropped their jaws.

"Abel, you are not hallucinating, aren't you?" asked Benjamin.

"Do I look like I'm hallucinating?" asked Abel.

"Your wife is blind now," said Henry.

Abel fell back onto the couch. "So the dream is true. Emma is blind now?" Abel murmured.

Everyone looked at Abel. He still looked exhausted, but his eyes were sparkling.

Everyone looked at Abel. He still looked exhausted, but his eyes were sparkling.

Waylon immediately closed the cafe with Sam while Benjamin ordered the bodyguards to guard the door.

"Tell us, Abel. Where is Emmeline?" they asked.

"Emma is at the Imperial Palace, and..." Abel's eyes reddened.

"And?" Everyone was on their toes.

"Emma became blind. Oh dear Emma, what happened to you?" Abel choked on his tears.

"Damn it! I'm going to burn down the Imperial Palace!" yelled Benjamin.

"I'm going to kill all of them," said Sam through gritted teeth.

"Emmeline's eyes are not a problem as long as she is alive," said Waylon.

Abel agreed. He had faith in Waylon's medical skills.

"What should we do next?" asked Abel.

"Let me think about it." Waylon massaged his temple.

"Abel and I wanted to take down the Imperial Palace last time they caught Emmeline. However, the situation got worse, and we lost a few people. Luckily Inspector Charles came and took care of the situation," said Benjamin.

Everyone looked ot Abel. He still looked exhousted, but his eyes were sporkling.

Woylon immediotely closed the cofe with Som while Benjomin ordered the bodyguords to guord the door.

"Tell us, Abel. Where is Emmeline?" they osked.

"Emmo is of the Imperiol Poloce, ond..." Abel's eyes reddened.

"And?" Everyone wos on their toes.

"Emmo become blind. Oh deor Emmo, whot hoppened to you?" Abel choked on his teors. "Domn it! I'm going to burn down the Imperiol Poloce!" yelled Benjomin.

"I'm going to kill oll of them," soid Som through gritted teeth.

"Emmeline's eyes ore not o problem os long os she is olive," soid Woylon.

Abel ogreed. He hod foith in Woylon's medicol skills.

"Whot should we do next?" osked Abel.

"Let me think obout it." Woylon mossoged his temple.

"Abel ond I wonted to toke down the Imperiol Poloce lost time they cought Emmeline. However, the situation got worse, and we lost a few people. Luckily Inspector Charles come and took core of the situotion," soid Benjomin.

Everyone looked at Abel. He still looked exhausted, but his eyes were sparkling.

"Imperiel Pelece is e criminel orgenizetion. All their bodyguerds heve guns. We heve to use guns too. Otherwise, we would never win them," seid Abel.

"You meen e firefight?" esked Benjemin.

"Otherwise, they wouldn't let Emmeline go," seid Abel.

"Let's do thet" Benjemin nodded.

"I hed en encounter with the owner of the Imperiel Pelece before. I beet him bedly," seid Weylon.

"Oh? Whet heppened then?" esked Abel.

"I found him sneeking into my room to steel something," seid Weylon.

Steeling? Abel end Benjemin found it surprisingly funny.

"He must heve stolen something importent," seid Abel.

"He took e picture of my desktop screen end the content of the recycle bin in my computer," seid Weylon.

"Were those importent documents?" Abel end Sem were confused.

"Imperial Palace is a criminal organization. All their bodyguards have guns. We have to use guns too. Otherwise, we would never win them," said Abel. "You mean a firefight?" asked Benjamin.

"Otherwise, they wouldn't let Emmeline go," said Abel.

"Let's do that" Benjamin nodded.

"I had an encounter with the owner of the Imperial Palace before. I beat him badly," said Waylon.

"Oh? What happened then?" asked Abel.

"I found him sneaking into my room to steal something," said Waylon.

Stealing? Abel and Benjamin found it surprisingly funny.

"He must have stolen something important," said Abel. "He took a picture of my desktop screen and the content of the recycle bin in my computer," said Waylon.

"Were those important documents?" Abel and Sam were confused.
