

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1681 –

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1681—After they heard Cornelius' terrified cry, everyone on the spaceship jumped into action immediately.

They activated all of the defense systems, and at the same time, they accelerated with full force.

Everyone wanted to get out of there as fast as possible.

Obviously, they were greatly traumatized and shocked by the death of the two beginner Sovereign Rankers.

The opponent could kill a Sovereign Ranker in seconds, let alone these people.

Even if they all rushed forward, it would be like hitting a stone with an egg. They would all die. When David heard what Alba said, he knew that Cornelius was lying to him.

Thus, he immediately acted without hesitation.

He approached the Lightfoot family's spaceship and swung his sword, causing a flash of red light.

Under this red light, the defense system of the spaceship was cut open instantly like a block of tofu, and even the spaceship's body was directly penetrated by the red light and disappeared into the void.

Despite that, the spaceship was not shaken too much.

One could see how sharp and rare this red light was.

Just a casual swing of his sword could cause such tremendous damage.

It was indeed the Evil-Splitting Sword that could cut everything in the world.

Following the gap left by the red light, David stepped into the spaceship and came behind Cornelius.

Everyone dared not move in the Lightfoot family spaceship's control room.

They widened their eyes in terror and stared at the man who had suddenly appeared.

Cornelius sensed something was off, so he turned around slowly.

An incredibly young face appeared in front of him.

'Isn't that the guy who killed the beginner Sovereign Rankers in seconds?

'H-How did he get here?'

As he looked at the face that was filled with murderous intent, Cornelius' heart was racing, and even his body started to shake uncontrollably.

He had been living for so long and this was the first time he had been in such close proximity to death.

"W-Who are you? W-What are you trying to do?" Cornelius asked, trying his best to suppress the terror in his heart.

However, his shaky voice betrayed him.

"I want you to die. As long as you're dead, everything that happened here will be buried in the ground. No one will know the truth," David answered calmly.

"M-My friend, p-please spare me. If you let me go, I can promise you anything you want. Money, women, status, anything you want I can give to you."

"I'm sorry, I don't believe you. So, I can only kill you. You should blame yourself for suffering such a fate."

David's words became the last straw that broke Cornelius.

Thud!

Cornelius knelt in front of David.

He had a complete emotional breakdown.

He was still young, and he had such a promising future. He did not want to die here.

"My Lord, please don't kill me! I beg you, please don't kill me. Please! If you let me go, I, Cornelius Lightfoot, will be your slave. I will only listen to you. If you want me to go east, I will never go west," Cornelius knelt in front of David and begged with tears running down his face.

At this moment, he did not have the airs of the second-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family.

He was facing the crisis of death, so no matter how high his status was, he would be no different than an ordinary person.

David did not sympathize with Cornelius' begging.

What welcomed Cornelius was the red light from David's Evil-Splitting Sword.

When the red light flashed, Cornelius saw the scenes in front of him changing constantly as if he was floating on air.

He did not know that he had already been beheaded.

However, since he was an Eternal Realm beginner Immortal Ranker, he would not die even if he was beheaded.

If he wanted to recover, he needed a lot of energy.

Of course, this was under normal circumstances.

David's Evil-Splitting Sword had already entered Cornelius' body while filled with infinite energy, killing all of the cells inside.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1682 –

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1682—He wanted to recover, but he did not have the chance anymore.

Cornelius' body disappeared in front of the Lightfoot family's eyes.

"M-Master Cornelius is d-dead." One of them muttered to themselves like they lost their soul. Cornelius was the second-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family. At the same time, he was also their employer.

Even if they could go back alive, the Lightfoot family would never spare them since their employer was dead.

After a while, David left the Lightfoot family's spaceship.

Not long after he left...

Boom!

The spaceship turned into ashes in a huge explosion.

Currently, Cornelius and the Lightfoot family he brought all died.

Everyone on the Fellowes family's merchant ship was speechless as they looked at the spaceship that turned to ashes in the distance.

They could predict that the long peaceful Central Sacred Continent would become chaotic soon. Cornelius was the second-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family, and he had a high status among the younger generation of his family, which was second only to the first-in-line heir, Archimedes.

At the same time, the Lightfoot family controlled Splendor, one of the top five trading companies.

Behind them was the Ginger family, one of the six top forces in Star Kingdom that had Sacred Saints.

The Lightfoot family was flourishing now, and they were not comparable to the Fellowes family, a family that was declining gradually.

The Lightfoot family would surely prioritize Cornelius' death. At the same time, they would also be enraged.

Once a family with wealth, power, and authority got mad, the entire Central Sacred Continent might tremble under their feet.

However, compared to the Lightfoot family, everyone was more curious about the identity of the young man who was walking toward them.

David looked too young.

He never changed ever since getting the system.

As his skills rose, David's temperament was the only thing that changed.

He was so young and yet he was so terrifyingly strong.

He could even kill the two Sovereign Rankers from the Lightfoot family in seconds.

How strong was he?

If David said he did not have a strong background and he got to where he was by himself, who would believe him?

No one.

Even if someone was talented, he could only exceed his peers if he had a force behind him that gave him continuous resources.

In any case, they had never heard of any talented young people in Star Kingdom who came from poor families.

It was not that powerful people would not come from poor families, but people from strong families might never exceed their peers. If they wanted to be strong, they needed even more time and to overcome greater difficulties.

It was no exaggeration to say that the ability David showed now was not inferior to those top geniuses in Star Kingdom.

Aside from Alba, everyone else was wondering if David was the direct descendant of the six top forces of Star Kingdom.

If not, how would he explain his performance today?

He killed the two Sovereign Rankers from the Lightfoot family in seconds. Not everyone could do that.

Especially now that David was so young.

While everyone was wondering who David was, Alba said, "You should know how big the influence and how serious the consequences will be if you leak what happened today. I will also be in danger, let alone you all. You should know what to do, right? I don't need to tell you what you should do, right?"

"Don't worry, Miss. We will never utter one word of this even if we die."

"Yes, don't worry, Miss. This will also implicate our families. Plus, he has saved all of us so we will not say anything even if we die."

"That's good," Alba said, looking straight ahead.

She was watching David walking back slowly.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1683 –

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1683–The East End of the Central Sacred Continent was one of the five super-large trade zones.

The five super-large trade zones in the east, south, west, north, and center were each controlled by one of the top five trading companies.

Splendor, owned by the Lightfoot family, controlled the East End, while Treasure Trove of the Fellowes family controlled the West End.

There was a very large area at the East End of the Central Sacred Continent.

There were towering mountains and precipitous ridges, lush trees, and wild beasts.

It was the most primitive ecological environment, and countless quaint buildings stood in the center of this area.

This was where the main residence of the Lightfoot family was located.

Shortly after Cornelius' death...

Ding ding ding!

The nine consecutive loud chimes broke the peace.

Noises started to sound in the originally unusually quiet building complex.

"What happened? The family rang the bell nine times in a row. This hasn't happened for many years."

"Who knows? Let's go quickly! Since the bell rang nine times, something important must have happened to the family, and we will know what when we get to the main hall later."

"Let's go! They rang the bell nine times in a row. This is the most urgent convening order for the family. Anyone who hears it must rush to the hall as soon as possible no matter what they are doing."

Many people began to pour out of the quiet and quaint buildings, and they all rushed toward the main hall.

A man in his thirties was sitting cross-legged on the top floor inside a tower of the main residence of the Lightfoot family.

The nine chimes also woke him up.

The man opened his eyes, showing a trace of doubt.

'Why did the family issue a convening order now?

"They even rang it nine times.

'What the hell happened?'

The man wondered for a moment, but he did not find an answer.

However, he did not get up and rush to the hall like other members of the Lightfoot family. Instead, he continued to close his eyes.

Not long after, a voice came from outside the door.

“Master, the family has issued the highest-standard convening order. Something urgent must have happened. Do you want to go and see?”

“I’m at a critical moment now, so I won’t go. You should go and see what happened. After that, come back and tell me,” the man replied with his eyes closed.

“But...”

“No buts! If any elders in the family ask, just say that I’m at a critical moment of breakthrough and I can’t leave. I believe they will understand.”

“Yes, Master!”

The people outside the door leave.

The top floor of the tower fell into silence again.

This man was Archimedes Lightfoot, the first-in-line heir to the Lightfoot family.

At the same time, he was also top among the young generation of Star Kingdom.

Although he was not as good as the top geniuses, he was already considered outstanding compared to others.

If nothing unexpected happened, the next head of the Lightfoot family would almost certainly be him.

Cornelius was too arrogant out there, but in front of Archimedes, he still had to be respectful.

Cornelius had always wanted to surpass Archimedes.

It was a pity that no matter how hard he tried, he still failed.

Over time, the gap between the two grew farther.

This dealt a severe blow to Cornelius’ self-confidence.

Even after so long, Cornelius was still unwilling to give up on the position of head of the family.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1684 –

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1684—Therefore, he decided to go his own way and start from elsewhere in his quest to compete for the position of head.

This was how he decided to curry favor with the son of the Ginger family and plan to attack Alba.

Of course, Cornelius also paid for this with his life.

Archimedes continued to practice with his eyes closed.

After some time....

Knock knock knock!

A knock on the door woke him up.

“Who is it?” Archimedes asked somewhat dissatisfied.

He hated it when others disturbed him when he was practicing.

“Master, it’s me!” An old man’s voice came from outside the door.

“Come in!” Cornelius said.

The door opened and an old man with gray hair walked in from the outside.

The identity of this old man was not simple.

His name was Bernard Lightfoot. He was a relatively distant member of the Lightfoot family, and he was also the protector sent to Archimedes by the family.

He was very strong and was an Eternal Realm late Sovereign Ranker.

As the first-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family, Archimedes’ safety was very important, and it was a lot more important than that of Cornelius.

If Cornelius was dead, the Lightfoot family would be outraged.

However, if Archimedes died, the Lightfoot family would not just be outraged, they would turn the whole world upside down.

Even the few Saint Realm grandmasters would be alarmed.

Suh was the gap between the first-in-line heir and the second-in-line heir.

It seemed they were only one position away, but the treatment they received was very different.

For example, Archimedes had a protector, but Cornelius did not.

If Archimedes was the one who attacked Alba and not Cornelius, David, a mid-Sovereign Ranker, might suffer a disadvantage at the hands of the late Sovereign Rank old man.

Of course, David's mind power and Evil-Splitting Sword were his greatest assists. So, he would not be scared.

However, it would be difficult if he wanted to kill and silence the old man.

After Bernard came in, Archimedes got up to welcome him.

Archimedes would not put on the airs in front of the old man who had been with him for so many years and did everything he could to guarantee his safety.

"Uncle Bernard, you're here. Please sir," Archimedes said courteously.

"Master Archi, I already know why the family issued a convening order," the old man said after he sat down.

"Oh, what is it? Tell me." Archimedes asked curiously.

"Cornelius is dead."

"Cornelius is dead? How?" Archimedes asked with a frown.

Archimedes was familiar with the second-in-line heir of the family.

He was talented, but was still pretty inferior to Archimedes.

Back then, Cornelius made up his mind to train so he could fight for the position of head of the family with Archimedes.

After he was mercilessly defeated, Cornelius stayed silent for a while.

Recently, it was said that he had once again become active and he was getting very close to the Ginger family.

How did he die so suddenly?

This entire time, Archimedes was never bothered about Cornelius.

“It’s uncertain how he died, but his life plaque broke not long ago, so the family issued a convening order. The head and all of the seniors are outraged. They ordered us to find the reason he died and the murderer. Then, they will suppress the murderer with everything they have and annihilate the murderer’s entire bloodline to protect the dignity of the Lightfoot family,” Bernard said.

After this, he told Archimedes what happened in the main hall just now.

After Archimedes heard that, he pondered for a while and said, “Cornelius is ultimately still the second-in-line heir of the family. His death will soon spread across the Central Sacred Continent, so this will indeed cause a huge blow to the family’s prestige. It’s normal for the seniors to be mad. Right, where is Cornelius’ protector?”

“They all died, including the two beginner Sovereign Rankers. All of them were defeated and none of them survived,” Bernard answered.

“Since the murderer could kill two beginner Sovereign Rankers, he’s not weak. I wonder who it is. If they accidentally killed Cornelius because they didn’t know who he was, it’s still understandable. If they knew Cornelius was the direct descendant of the Lightfoot family and they still killed him, then this would be interesting,” Archimedes chuckled and said. However, his smile looked sinister.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1685 –

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1685—After David dealt with all the members of the Lightfoot family, he returned to the merchant ship of the Fellowes family.

Everyone greeted him with admiration.

No matter where one was, the strong would always be respected.

In addition, David was not only strong, but he was also very powerful. This showed how strong the force behind him was.

Alba’s maids looked at David with starry eyes.

It was a pity that Miss Alba already has a fiancé, and that fiancé’s identity and strength were equally terrifying. Otherwise, this man and Miss Alba would be a perfect match.

“Miss Fellowes, I’ve taken care of the Lightfoot family. When are we going to leave?” David asked after entering.

“Master David, I need to talk to you. Everyone else, return to your posts, check the merchant ship, and then let’s continue traveling the original route.’

“Yes, Miss!”

Alba turned to leave.

David followed behind her, but he did not realize that Alba had changed the way she addressed him.

She changed from calling him David to Master David.

Obviously, his performance today made Alba feel that it was inappropriate to call David directly by name.

David conquered Alba with his strength.

The two walked to the door of a room and Alba pushed open the door before walking in.

This should be Alba’s room. David stood at the door and hesitated for a while before he went in bravely.

The things in the room were relatively simple.

However, it was very neat and filled with an intoxicating fragrance.

One could tell it was a woman’s room at a glance,

However, it did not look like the room belonging to Miss Alba from Treasure Trove.

She was born into a wealthy family, so shouldn’t her room be extravagant?

“Please sit down!”

Alba beckoned David to sit. Then, she skillfully made a pot of tea and poured a cup for David.

David was not shy either.

After sitting down, he picked up the teacup and drank the tea.

David did not know much about tea.

Before this, tea was something to quench his thirst.

However, when he arrived at Eternal Realm, he did not even need to quench his thirst.

Alba sat across from David and shook her head when she saw how he drank the tea.

The tea leaves were of top-notch quality, so the price was terrifyingly high.

Ordinary people would not be able to afford a single leaf after working hard for a lifetime.

How could David drink the tea like this?

What a waste.

However, Alba did not say anything. She picked up her teacup and took a sip, which was much more elegant compared to David's gulping.

The two were silent for a while.

Alba never took her eyes off David. It was as if she wanted to see through him.

David could not bear it anymore, so he asked the question he was worried about.

"Miss Fellowes, you asked me to kill Cornelius today. However, I don't like trouble. Are the people you brought reliable? They won't leak what happened today, right?"

He had killed all the Lightfoot family members.

However, there were still a lot of people on the Fellowes family's side. David was not a cold-blooded murderer, so naturally, he would not kill them.

There would surely be hidden risks if these people were kept alive.

"Don't worry, Master David. You can trust these people I brought this time. Plus, even though you're the one who took action, we're all responsible. If word got out, the Lightfoot family would not dare to do anything to you if they learned about your identity, but we will all die. They're not idiots, so they won't tell anyone," Alba said.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1686 –

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1686—"That's good! But our plan has to be accelerated. I hope you can help me more with the trading company and use Treasure Trove's contacts to help me accomplish it as soon as possible so that I have the capital to compete with the Lightfoot family. If you are accidentally exposed at that time, I can protect you if the Lightfoot family comes to cause trouble for you."

“Master David, I’m actually curious, why are you so eager to start a new trading company and make it big?”

“My teacher assigned this task to me when I came out. At the same time, this is also a test from him. I don’t know the specific reason for it. I only know that since I was young, I had to do what that old man said no matter what. Otherwise, I will be punished, and I can only request things from him after I complete the tasks,” David explained.

Now, he was blaming all of the unreasonable things on his master that did not exist.

“I see! Then I will notify Elmer later and ask him to make preparations first. After we participate in the auction, we will put all our focus on it. Don’t worry, Master David, as long as we have the funds, I, Alba Fellowes, am confident that I can build the trading company up in a short time.”

Alba still did not quite understand David’s master’s intention in doing this, but she did not doubt him.

After all, he was a Sacred Saint.

It was normal for them to set up some weird tests for their disciples.

Cornelius was dead.

Hence, now she had no other choice but to rely on David.

Otherwise, if word about what happened today got out and the Lightfoot family decided to pursue it, the Fellowes family would inevitably abandon Alba.

The Fellowes family was struggling, so they would not let the family fall into a worse state in order to protect her.

Besides, Alba was not valued by the family in the first place.

Having said that, what ultimately happened to her still depended on her fiancé.

Perhaps she could escape this.

However, Alba did not want her life to be in the hands of that man.

“Before I left, my master gave me a lot of money, so the funds are not a problem. Miss

Fellowes, just tell me how much you need. However, I can only hide in the dark, so I need you to do everything on the surface for me,” David said confidently.

He had nothing but money.

The more Alba spent, the happier he would be.

“Sure!” Alba answered.

“Miss Fellowes, pardon me for asking. You should be starting on a new path if you’re doing this, right? Won’t your family mind?”

“Don’t worry about this. I am still the third young mistress of the family. Even though they don’t value me, I still have status. The family allows its direct descendants to do their own thing outside. They won’t ask as long as it doesn’t threaten the family’s interest.”

“That’s good. I hope we have a pleasant cooperation, Miss Fellowes,” David said with a grin. Then, he stood up and reached out his hand.

As long as Alba worked a little harder and spent more money to get him more lavish points to improve his strength, it would not matter if he killed Cornelius.

If the Lightfoot family dared to seek revenge, David would not mind annihilating all of them as well.

However, according to what Cornelius said, the Lightfoot family had two True Saint and three Pre-Saint grandmasters.

It would be impossible to annihilate the Lightfoot family if David was not a Sacred Saint.

Alba stood up and reached out to shake David’s hand.

David felt that Alba’s hand was a little cold, however, it felt nice and soft.

Her hand was smooth and comfortable.

It was as if he was touching some top-quality silk.

Right now, he was curious about Alba.

She had a nice body, and her skin was also excellent, so she had to look gorgeous.

At this moment, Alba’s face under the veil was red.

This was the first time she stayed in a room with a man about her age, and this was also the first time she touched a man about her age.

A female direct descendant from a big family valued her reputation and integrity very much. Even her fiancé never touched her like this.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-