I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1739—"Archimedes, I told you that even if I go bankrupt and get scolded by my master, I won't allow you to act so arrogantly in front of me. Do you think you're safe if you ask for 8 trillion? I'm sorry, I'm going to ask for 9 trillion. I don't believe you'll still dare to continue bidding. Your family is loaded, but you're not the head of the family yet. You're just an heir so you won't be able to use so much money," David looked at Archimedes and yelled.

He looked as if he was throwing caution in the wind and was determined to fight to the end with Archimedes.

'9 trillion!'

Archimedes was stunned.

He thought he was mad, but he did not expect to meet someone madder than him.

David was willing to spend 9 trillion for a mid-level Soulbound Weapon just because he was acting in a fit of rage.

In the end, he even added 1 trillion directly to the price.

This should be David's limit, judging from his face.

If Archimedes continued, David would surely stop.

However, it would not be easy.

If Archimedes added only 100 billion, his image would still be tarnished even if he got the Hammer of Thunder.

After all, David added 1 trillion at once, and he only added 100 billion.

However, if he added 1 trillion, that would be 10 trillion Star Dollars.

10 trillion!

Even as the first-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family, Archimedes could not take out so much money. He still needed to come up with a plan and make up for it with favors.

If he did not have that conflict with David at the tavern, Archimedes would think that Treasure Trove sent David here to raise the price.

'What should I do now?'

'Should I continue?

'Should I continue to fight?

'If I don't, I won't be able to show my face.

'If I do, I will have to spend the rest of my life in seclusion and only come out when I'm at Sovereign Rank.'

Archimedes could not decide.

To be honest, only idiots would spend 10 trillion to buy a mid-level Soulbound Weapon.

David was very nervous.

He kept repeating in his heart, 'Go on!

'My friend, my brother, daddy! Please! Call out a f*cking price!

'Just once.'

As long as Archimedes raised the price to 10 trillion, David would raise it to 11 trillion.

In addition to the 300 billion just now, he would have spent 11.3 trillion Star Dollars today, which was equivalent to 11300 lavish points.

If he spent 13000 lavish points, he could raise his mind power to Sovereign level 10.

With his Body and Mind at level 10, David's combat power would be at partial Saint Rank.

With the remaining 10000 lavish points, he could increase his Body again.

After making his Body Sovereign level 10, he could break through to Saint level 1.

That way, David's combat power would be at beginner Saint Realm.

When the time came, David would not be so helpless facing Nek, the beginner Saint.

He might even defeat Nek with the help of his Evil-Splitting Sword and mind power.

He could get to Saint Realm so easily!

Now, it all depended on Archimedes' decision.

If he could not get enough lavish points to break through to Saint Realm, he would still need more time.

He could only wait for Alba to develop the trading company so that he could spend another trillion Star Dollars.

The longer he waited, the more dangers he would encounter.

As he looked at Archimedes' hesitating eyes, David knew he was undergoing a fierce debate with himself. He had to add fuel to the fire.

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1740–If not, his Saint Realm dream would go down the drain.

“Haha, time’s up. Miss Fellowes, tell everyone who the Hammer of Thunder will go to now! Archimedes is a coward. He doesn’t dare to bid anymore. I was right just now. He’s just an heir, how could he have so much money? The Lightfoot family is rich, but it’s their money. Archimedes can’t represent his family. I guess I’ve won. Archimedes Lightfoot, admit your defeat! You will only live in my shadow for the rest of your life. You will never walk out of it, haha!”

After David said that, he chortled.

He seemed to feel joyful beating Archimedes.

Archimedes was still hesitating, but when he heard what David said and his ear-piercing chortle, it felt as if he had been smashed across the head.

Archimedes was seeing stars.

‘No! I can’t let that punk step all over me!

‘I can’t lose no matter how big the price is!’

Before he could think clearly, Archimedes yelled out another price.

“10 trillion!”

Just like David, he added another 1 trillion.

At this moment, David wanted to cry.

He finally felt at ease.

Archimedes was such a good boy.

If he did not come to this auction, David would only get enough lavish points to break through to partial Saint Realm.

Now, he had enough to be a Saint.

At this moment, David wanted to yell, 'Saint Realm, here I come!'

However, it was not the time.

After all, this was not over and he still had not obtained the lavish points.

"Archimedes, you're too inexperienced if you want to defeat me. 11 trillion!" David wiped the grin off his face and said seriously.

"12 tri-..." Archimedes did not even think before calling out.

However, Bernard stopped him.

"Master Archi, enough!"

He could not allow this to continue anymore.

Clearly, the other party could still go on.

If they continued, the final price would be at least above 15 trillion or even 20 trillion.

Only a fool would spend a sky-high price like 15 trillion to buy a 1 or 2 trillion-valuation mid-level Soulbound Weapon.

It was not worth it even if it was for retaliation.

Besides, they could not afford it.

If the Fellowes family came to ask for money, they would have to ask the family for help.

This behavior would also make the seniors upset with Master Archimedes.

Whenever a direct descendant caused trouble outside and could not solve it, it would make them look bad if they asked their family to clean up their mess for them.

This would also affect who would get the position of the future head of the family.

There were three other heirs aside from Archimedes and Cornelius.

Aside from that, there were also more than ten potential heirs eying that spot.

Thus, any mistakes or dirt would be maximized.

Usually, the head of a family would not be the strongest person.

Instead, it would be the one who could coordinate and focus on the overall situation and led the family to glory.

Of course, their strength also played a part, but it was not the most important aspect.

Back then, Archimedes excelled in all aspects, and he was also the most cunning.

However, he went mad after what he encountered today.

That was why he kept trying to ignore the overall situation.

“Uncle Bernard, leave me alone. I want to let that kid know that there is no way in hell that he’ll beat me!”

“Master, you’ve been blinded by rage. Let’s go.”

“No, I won’t...”

Before he could finish, Bernard chopped down on the nape of Archimedes’ neck, causing him to pass out.
