Chapter 1773

Archimedes passed out under such huge physical and mental stress.

Not only him, but a lot of the Immortal Rankers at the scene also could not handle the double pressure as they also passed out.

Only Bernard and the other Sovereign Rankers were holding on while gritting their teeth.

David only released a little Saint Might.

If he released all of his strength, everyone at the scene would die from the shock.

How would they get a chance to pass out?

“You can’t insult a Saint. You said this yourself, but not only did you chase after me, you even mocked me just now. Those are considered insults, right? Even if I kill you all now, your family can’t do anything to me,” David said to himself as he looked at Bernard and the other people who were still holding on.

Bernard did not know what to say.

Of course, he could not say anything.

He was holding on with his last breath.

Once he let out this breath, his state of mind would be destroyed, and he would vomit blood and pass out like the others.

Bernard knew he could not escape this.

He could only blame Archimedes for having horrible luck now that things had escalated to this stage.

They offended David, a young Saint, at the tavern the moment they arrived at West End

The fight at the auction also worsened their conflict.

Now, they even dared to come here to seek revenge against a Saint?

They were simply courting death.

Even if the Lightfoot family was intimidating, it was still restricted in front of a Saint.

If a Saint wanted to kill them, they would not be able to escape.

They could only hope that a miracle would happen.

For example, the arrival of their grandmasters.

However, their grandmasters had always stayed in seclusion on the ancestral grounds. Thus, why would they suddenly show up here?

The rest of them wanted to beg David for mercy but they could not say a word.

Even Bernard, a late Sovereign Ranker, could not speak, let alone the beginner and mid-Sovereign Rankers.

Once they exhaled, they would be severely injured.

David figured it was time to send them all to hell. The reason he did not kill them all immediately was that he wanted to test his powers.

Now that he had done that, he saw that it was indeed terrifying.

He only let out a little bit of his energy and he caused so many people to pass out. The rest were no better too. They did not even dare to speak and were all holding onto their last breaths.

Since they were at a point of no return, David did not need to go easy on them anymore.

The Lightfoot family might not be able to find him immediately after he killed these people.

He would have Alba build East League Trading Company up using Treasure Trove's influence and then break through to True Saint Rank.

When the time came, so what if the Lightfoot family knew it was him? He would not be scared even if a True Saint came after him.

Boom!

David released more of his energy.

The Saint Might pressuring everyone doubled.

Bernard and the other Sovereign Rankers were gritting their teeth while trying their best to hold on, but now, they could not endure the pressure of David's Saint Might anymore.

Pfft!

All of their states of mind were destroyed, and they passed out after vomiting blood.

Even if they could survive such injuries, they would need a lot of time to recuperate. They could only recover with the help of a lot of treasures of heaven and earth.

However, David would not give them the chance to do so.

With a wave of his hand, countless bolts of Saint Might shot from his hand and entered the bodies of the Lightfoot family members, wantonly ruining their bodies.

The unconscious Lightfoot family members had no idea that their lives had come to an end.

Under the destruction of the Saint Might, the bodies vanished in the air, leaving no traces behind.

In the end, only Archimedes was left, and he was still in David's hands.

If a Saint wanted to kill an Eternal, it would be a crushing defeat. The Lightfoot family members had no chance of escaping.

When David was about to kill Archimedes once and for all, he suddenly smelled something pungent.

After he looked around, he saw that Archimedes had defecated himself from fear.
