

I'm A Quadrillionaire

Chapter 1774

• • •

Chapter 1774

'Is this the first-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family?

'The genius of Star Kingdom?

'He's so cowardly!

David did not understand how they elected Archimedes to be the first-in-line heir.

'Is there no one else?'

David could not handle the pungent smell anymore, so he tossed Archimedes out. After that, a flash of light flashed across the sky.

Boom!

Archimedes disappeared in the explosion, his body turning into dust.

The first-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family died just like that.

It was clear that the Lightfoot family would do something big after both of their heirs died consecutively.

The Saint Realm grandmasters would also come out from seclusion.

The entire Central Sacred Continent might be implicated, and everyone would be tense.

Two heirs from such a huge family died, so the family would surely want to find the killer and exterminate their bloodline to save their face.

How would the outsiders view them if they did not do that?

This was not about the deaths of their heirs anymore, this was about the reputation and glory of the Lightfoot family.

If their heir died, they could just spend more time and resources cultivating another one.

However, it would be a major problem if their reputation was tarnished.

Thus, the Lightfoot family would surely do something big to save face.

Now, they would put the most focus on West End. After killing more than ten powerhouses from the Lightfoot family, David acted as if nothing had happened.

He had slowly gotten used to the law of the jungle. If he wanted to survive and stay alive, he could not be benevolent.

If he let Archimedes and the others go, Archimedes would surely bring even more powerful people from his family to seek revenge soon.

He would not stop until he killed David.

Even though David was not scared, it would be better to just kill Archimedes to lessen the trouble and get it done once and for all.

After taking care of everything, David noticed something floating where Archimedes had died. “My Saint Might didn’t destroy this, so this might be something good.”

David took it with him.

Then, he turned around and said to the air next to him, “Miss Fellowes, come out if you’re done watching. We have to go back now. It would be troublesome if someone saw this. The Lightfoot family is big, so it will be troublesome if they were to retaliate against you.”

After David said that, he saw the air in front of him shaking. Then, a crack appeared and a beautiful figure walked out from it.

The figure belonged to Alba.

After she came out from Valerio’s study, she heard that David had left Treasure Trove’s headquarters. She knew David was going to look for Archimedes, so she followed him.

In the end, she saw something she would never forget.

Even though she found out that David was a Saint from Valerio, she was still greatly shocked when she saw this happening in front of her.

The dozens of powerhouses were killed just like that, leaving no traces behind.

Among them were even two late Sovereign Rankers. They were considered pretty powerful in Star Kingdom.

However, they could not resist David at all.

‘Is this what a Saint is like?’

“He’s indeed so powerful

“Even a partial Saint like Grandpa Val can’t compete with David.

This was the first time Alba had seen a Saint in battle.

The Fellowes family had a few Saint Realm grandmasters, but they were all living in seclusion, and they rarely came out.

Therefore, Alba never saw them killing anyone.

• • •