Chapter 1777

David and Alba went back to Treasure Trove's headquarters together.

Then, Alba utilized her identity as the third young mistress of Treasure Trove to start focusing on East League Trading Company's development.

With the head Valerio's orders, the clients and platforms of Treasure Trove were all opened up for East League Trading Company.

It was so easy to develop a trading company with enough money and platforms.

They only needed to purchase things during the initial phase.

First, they bought a few villas and determined the location of the headquarters.

Then, they set up a few branches in different medium and large trade zones.

Once that was done, they could start operating.

Treasure Trove provided the company with all these channels.

As for the staff?

They could just transfer some over from Treasure Trove.

However, David also told Alba that she could use the staff, platform, and resources from Treasure Trove, but she had to spend money.

In other words, East League Trading Company had to buy them from Treasure Trove.

This was the bottom line and David would not violate it.

He claimed that they wanted to settle the debts properly and he did not want to use his identity to take advantage of Treasure Trove.

In reality, he wanted Alba to spend more money so he could get more lavish points.

When Alba saw how solemn David was, she did as he said.

David had all the money in the world anyway.

To Alba, money was not important, and she did not go easy on the spending.

This was right up David's alley.

As Alba was running around for East League Trading Company and David had nothing to do, the two big families of the Central Sacred Continent, the Lightfoot and Fellowes family, had requested for their Saint Rank grandmasters to come out of seclusion.

The Lightfoot family wanted to find the person who killed Archimedes and Cornelius, while the Fellowes family wanted to make sure David was not lying about his identity.

If Valerio was telling the truth, David would not only be a young Saint, but he would also have a Sacred Saint as master.

In order to preserve the glory of the family and escape the Palmore family's control, the Fellowes family were willing to bet on this

They knew about the Palmore family's ambition.

However, they never had the chance to escape

Now that they had a chance, the family would place a lot of importance on it.

That was why they sent the Saints forward.

David had no idea that the Saints from both families had come out for him.

Right now, David was fiddling with the thing that fell out from Archimedes' body in his room.

It was a stone about the size of his fist.

It had a smooth surface, just like jade from Earth.

Since this thing did not shatter under his Saint Might, then it should be something good.

However, David looked at it for a long time but still could not tell what it was. He could not discover the secret of this stone.

The system also did not show him the history of this stone.

He wanted to ask Alba to look at it.

Since Alba had a lot of knowledge and experience, she might know what this was.

However, Alba was very busy with East League Trading Company, so he did not want to disturb her for the time being.
