I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1790—Almost all the major forces in Star Kingdom knew that the Palmore family was about to take action against the Fellowes family and take down Treasure Trove.

Meanwhile, the Fellowes family could only let such a behemoth do whatever they wanted.

They were a family that was on the verge of collapse and yet they dared to become the enemies of the Lightfoot family. How reckless.

The key was that Valerio even embarrassed Dax in front of Grandmaster Koen.

‘What will the grandmaster think of me now that I can’t even complete something so small?’

‘He will surely doubt my abilities.’

“Lord Dax, I told you I can give you the information of other clients, but not David’s! Please stop making things hard for me,” Valerio said fearlessly.

The two looked at each other.

Dax’s eyes were full of anger, while Valerio’s eyes were the opposite. His eyes were strangely calm.

Just when Dax was about to say something harsh, Koen, who was silent on the side, suddenly asked, “Valerio, can you represent your family?”

“Grandmaster Koen, I am not talented enough. Although I am not the head of the Fellowes family, I can still represent the Fellowes family in this matter,” Valerio replied.

“In other words, your attitude represents the attitude of the entire Fellowes family, correct?”

“Exactly!”

“Okay! Very good! Very good! It seems that your family is determined to protect David, so I have reason to suspect that you are colluding with him. Archimedes’s death is related to David. So, does it mean that your family may also be involved?” Koen narrowed his eyes and asked.

He was also furious.

He was a powerful Saint, but he could not control a mere partial Saint.

How preposterous!

“Grandmaster Koen, don’t talk nonsense if you don’t have the evidence. There are many reasons why I don’t want to give you David’s information, but we are definitely not colluding. We have no idea whether David has anything to do with Archimedes’ death. He left after the auction and has not contacted us after that.”

“Evidence? For us, your unwillingness to provide the information we need is the best evidence. If you want to eliminate the suspicion surrounding your family, you must fully cooperate with us to find the killer. Otherwise, don’t blame me for taking action and forcefully taking you to the Fellowes family to ask for an explanation,” Koen threatened.

“Grandmaster Koen, you are a Saint. If you want to fight, I will naturally be powerless to resist, but I have already said that my words represent my family. Even if you take me to them, the grandmasters will also give you the same answer,” Valerio replied calmly.

He was not bothered by Koen’s threats at all.

Normally, he would worry about Koen taking action.

If he was forcefully taken to the Fellowes family, he would lose his position as the head of Treasure Trove no matter what.

This was what a big family was like. Prestige was of the utmost importance.

The head of Treasure Trove was second only to the head of the family.

How could he be forcefully taken away?

It would not happen even if the other party was a Saint.

However, Valerio was not scared of Koen now because Grandmaster Roald was still in Treasure Trove How would he allow Koen to act recklessly on the Fellowes family’s territory?
