

I'm A Quadrillionaire

Chapter 1798

• • •

Chapter 1798

This showed that David could only choose to run or hide in the face of the Lightfoot family's pursuit.

The ones who were confident in themselves wanted to catch David in exchange for ten billion Star Dollars and three favors from the Lightfoot family.

The ones who were not confident in themselves wanted to find all traces of David to provide to the Lightfoot family so they could get 100 million Star Dollars and one favor.

The Lightfoot family's action brought together almost 80% of the people in West End as they all participated in the witch hunt. As for the people from other areas, they were also rushing toward West End.

The Fellowes family could not do anything about the Lightfoot family's warrant.

Valerio had tried his absolute best to wipe all traces of David, however, there were too many people at the auction.

David was so flashy when he was fighting with Archimedes at the auction.

They raised a mid-level Soulbound Weapon to a sky-high price of 11 trillion Star Dollars, which was ten times more than its original price.

Hence, it was hard for the people at the auction to not remember them.

Even if Valerio did everything he could, the Lightfoot family still managed to find some of the people who escaped the radar and got David's portrait.

They used the portrait to issue the warrant while the reward was also very generous.

If the Lightfoot family did not have David's portrait, the effect of the warrant would not be as good as it was now. It would be impossible to find David with just his name.

Plus, David could always change his name.

If they did not have this portrait who would dare to claim that David was the person the Lightfoot family was looking for?

However, things were different with a portrait. Thu David would be discovered no matter where he went.

The Fellowes family could only inform David to not leave the house during this period through Alba.

At the same time, they also urged Alba to hurry up.

Once David completed his task and got his master, the Lightfoot family would bow their heads obediently under the pressure of a Sacred Saint.

It would be uncertain whether the Ginger family would come and protect them at that time.

The Fellowes family was also worried that the Lightfoot family would discover David early, forcing him ask his master to come out in advance, which would mean he failed his mission.

By then, all of their efforts would have been in vain.

What the Lightfoot family did indirectly helped David.

To ensure the Fellowes family's final chance not to be interrupted,

Valerio went all out after consulting Grandmaster Roald. He directly split off many properties of Treasure Trove and sold them to David's East League Trading Company to speed up the development of East League Trading Company.

Such an act of self-sacrifice caused David's lavish points to skyrocket.

In some ways, David actually had the Lightfoot family to thank. His recent rapid increase in strength was all due to the Lightfoot family.

Killing Cornelius made Alba trust David even more.

Then, the enraged Archimedes allowed David to spend 11 trillion

Star Dollars at one time, directly breaking through to Saint Realm beginner Pre-Saint Rank from mid- Sovereign Rank.

This leap went down in Star Kingdom history.

After that, he killed Archimedes and caused the Lightfoot family to turn out in full strength to look for the killer.

The Fellowes family felt the crisis again, so they made a prompt and resolute decision to help David.

• • •