

I'm A Quadrillionaire

Chapter 1804

• • •

Chapter 1804

Next, David only needed to wait patiently.

He hoped his lavish point could continue growing as quickly as today so that he could break through t True Saint Rank.

When that happened, David would not need to fear the Lightfoot family.

At the same time, he could negotiate with the Fellowes family.

If he succeeded, he would be so close to becoming a Sacred Saint.

Once David broke through to Sacred Saint Rank, no one in Star Kingdom could stop him anymore.

‘The Simmons family? The Iridescent Sect? I can come and go as I please!

‘Who will dare to stop me?

“Who will have the qualifications to stop me?

‘As the strongest combat power in Star Kingdom, Sacred Saints can do whatever they want in Star Kingdom.”

On the other side, the Iridescent Continent in Star Kingdom.

As one of the popular major forces in Star Kingdom, the Iridescent Sect also received the Lightfoot family's warrant.

As the head of the sect, Nova naturally saw this.

Initially, she did not believe that David was the person on the warrant.

After all, David was just an Eternal Realm Ruler Ranker.

Therefore, how would he be involved in killing the first-in-line heir of the Lightfoot family?

According to what Nova got, Archimedes was a partial Sovereign Ranker and the protector by his side was even a late Sovereign Ranker.

Compared to them, David, a Ruler Ranker, was no different from an ant.

However, after combining all of the information she got and analyzing it, Nova felt that it might indeed be David.

When David left, his goal was the Central Sacred Continent.

Plus, that kid was extraordinary.

Even though he was only a Ruler Ranker, he could escape from Nek the Saint. Could an ordinary person do that?

Even a Sovereign Ranker would be killed in front of a Saint, let alone a Ruler Ranker.

Back then, Nova was in the room.

Nek did want to kill David, but David survived.

Nova still could not understand it until this day.

As for what happened and what misunderstanding was there in this matter with the Lightfoot family, only David knew.

‘Why won’t this guy calm down?’

Nova thought to herself speechlessly.

‘How long has it been since he arrived in the Central Sacred Continent?’

‘And now he’s causing so much ruckus.’

‘Now, he even provoked the Lightfoot family.’

‘What should I do now?’

‘The Lightfoot family has issued the warrant, so they will not give up.’

‘If they caught David, David would surely die.’

‘But what can I do?’

‘It seems like aside from taking care of his girlfriends for him, I can’t do anything else.’”

Nova was a little helpless.

Even if she was the head of the Iridescent Sect and was well-regarded by the outside world, she had very limited power.

The real decision-makers of the Iridescent Sect were the four reputable elders, and she was just an executor.

• • •