

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 1984

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 1984-The two of them fought just now and she determined that the man was at least a mid-True Saint.

The man in the mask did not look weak either.

The two True Saint powerhouses could not be sent out by just any force.

“Celeste, who are they?” Eira asked, suppressing the anger in her heart.

She had to confirm the identities of the two before she could react.

It would be fine if it were just the two of them.

Even if they joined forces, they still could not take away the Ice Soul Excalibur.

However, if they had help, then the outcome was uncertain.

Chaos would break out in Star Kingdom and the Iridescent Sect would not be able to survive.

Most importantly, the task of the four sisters was not yet complete.

Since the establishment of the Iridescent Sect, it had frequently sent outstanding disciples out for marriage just to maintain a good relationship with the major forces of the Star Kingdom and not to be targeted by the strong powers.

That way, they would have time to complete their tasks secretly.

Today was the first time that a True Saint came to make trouble in the Iridescent Sect.

Hence, Eira and her sisters had to pay close attention to it.

“Master, this is the last time I will call you that. From today onwards, I will no longer be your disciple, nor will I be the elder of the Iridescent Sect. I am just a free woman,” Celeste said calmly.

As soon as she said that, all the other seniors of the Iridescent Sect, except for Nova, were shocked.

‘Is Elder Red going to betray the sect?’

This was no small matter, but after that, they understood.

It would be hard for anyone to accept being sent to stay in the ice cavern for a hundred years by their most respected teacher.

The point was that until now, everyone still did not know what mistake Elder Red made.

Only Nova was not surprised at all.

She knew that once David saved Elder Red, she would not stay in the Iridescent Sect anymore.

“What did you say? Repeat that!” Eira asked, staring at Celeste with a cold look in her eyes.

“I said... from today, I am no longer your disciple, nor the elder of the Iridescent Sect!” Celeste repeated.

“Are you trying to betray your sect? Do you know that without me, you would have ceased to exist long ago? Everything you have was bestowed by me. Now you tell me that you want to leave the Iridescent Sect?” Eira was seeing red.

“I don’t want to go this far, but since my body was damaged, you no longer consider me your disciple, right? And I didn’t do anything wrong in that matter with Nek. Just because he is a Saint, you blame everything on me and banished me to the ice cavern. The moment I entered the ice cavern, I had already decided that when I came out, I would live for myself.” Celeste’s voice was calm and monotonous.

“You rebel!” Eira cursed angrily.

With her strength and status, she could betray others, but others could not betray her.

Not only that, but there was also a secret hidden in Eira’s heart.

She did not actually rescue Celeste.

When the four sisters established the Iridescent Sect and decided to only accept women, they did not plan to develop their strength.

Instead, their decision was made so that it would be more convenient to complete their tasks secretly.

After that, they searched all over the world to find the physique they needed.

When Celeste was discovered, she was still a baby. In order to get her and avoid future troubles, Eira and her sisters killed all the members of the Red family, leaving only Celeste.

The alluring body was the last link of their mission, and they needed Celeste to get into Saint Realm to exert its greatest effect.

That was why the four sisters were so angry after knowing that Celeste's alluring body was damaged.

If Lorraine's appearance had not rekindled their hope, Celeste's end might have been even worse.

Now that she heard Celeste saying that she wanted to leave the Iridescent Sect, Eira had only one thought in mind.

She wanted to kill Celeste.

Recommended Novels