

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2118

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2118-He continued to follow the tracks left by someone dragging the snake and moved forward quickly.

On the other side.

As the city closest to the endless forest. Crow City could be described as extremely lively.

Many adventurers came to Crow City every day. After a day or two of rest, they would enter the Endless Forest to explore and try their luck.

At the same time, many adventurers returned to Crow City after returning from the Endless Forest with a full load. After that, they would sell most of their belongings.

Some were ready to enter the Endless Forest again, while others happily chose to leave. They chose not to continue taking risks and go back to live a carefree life.

Crow City was actually a transfer station, so there were many merchants here.

This was a place for adventurers to rest and sell their things.

Today, a major event caused a sensation in the entire Crow City.

Someone actually brought back the body of a Silver Flood Dragon from the Endless Forest.

A Silver Flood Dragon!

An overlord-level beast worth tens of billions of L Dollars on the reward list.

Ten billion L Dollars!

Hearing this number could drive these adventurers who were stuck at the bottom tier crazy.

Tens of billions aside, even if it was only 100 million, they would have immediately found a place to enjoy the rest of their life.

Why would they continue risking their lives in the Endless Forest?

The main commotion was that the person who brought back the body of the Silver Flood Dragon, named Maximus Ledger, was still unknown in the adventure world.

No one had heard of his record before.

Unexpectedly, this person shocked everyone the moment he decided to act.

He dropped such a huge bomb.

Maximus said that he ran into the Silver Flood Dragoon fighting with another overlord-level beast when he entered the Endless Forest with his team.

The battle of those beasts was earth-shattering and spectacular.

The pressure they emitted was enough to deter the entire team.

In the end, the Silver Flood Dragon suffered a lot of losses and was heavily injured by the overlord-level beast. So, it fled.

As the saying went, wealth was obtained from taking risks. Maximus and his team members were unwilling to just remain as spectators, so they followed it secretly.

After watching it for some time, they decided to take a gamble after making sure the Silver Flood Dragon was indeed heavily injured.

They prepared to work together to take down the Silver Flood Dragon.

If they succeeded, they would never have to worry about their livelihoods for the rest of their lives.

After a fierce fight, the seriously injured Silver Flood Dragon was finally killed. However, the Silver Flood Dragon's last desperate struggle also wiped out the rest of the team, and only Maximus survived.

The price paid was not small.

Most people accepted this explanation.

After all, if the Silver Flood Dragon was not seriously injured, how would ordinary people be able to deal with it?

If someone like Maximus could kill the Silver Flood Dragon, then it would not be worth that much money.

At the same time, everyone also lamented the fact that Maximus was so lucky that it was heaven-defying.

His whole team was dead, and he was the only survivor.

Wouldn't it mean that the whole Silver Flood Dragon belonged to him now?

He would have tens of billions of L Dollars to himself.

Just thinking about it would excite a lot of people.

However, Maximus said that although his teammates were all dead, without their help, he would never have been able to kill the Silver Flood Dragon by himself.

Therefore, after selling the Silver Flood Dragon, he would find the families of these dead teammates and distribute the money to them.

It could also be regarded as an explanation for the teammates who died.

Such a generous approach made the adventurers in Crow City look at Maximus with admiration.

It was easy to predict that soon, another name would be solidified in the adventuring world of Crow City and the Endless Forest.

Maximus Ledger!

No matter what method he used, having the ability to bring back the corpse of a Silver Flood Dragon would make him one of the tops in the adventure world.

He was qualified to be the subject of worship of countless adventurers.

However, no one knew that the Silver Flood Dragon was already dead when Maximus and his team found it.

In order to keep the Silver Flood Dragon to himself, Maximus ultimately killed all of his teammates.

He was also pretty ruthless.

Recommended Novels