I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2144-The team continued in the direction of Nightingale City.

There were no surprises along the way, and the team arrived at Nightingale City safely.

Compared to Crow City, Nightingale City was much bigger and more prosperous.

After all, it was a tier-three city with a descending point.

Every day, many people shuttled back and forth between Leila and The Spirit Cage.

After arriving at Nightingale City, David quietly left the team and started wandering around Nightingale City.

Soon, he came to a huge building.

This building occupied almost one-tenth of the entire Nightingale City and was located in the very center of Nightingale City. It took up a very large area.

There were countless exits around it.

According to David's knowledge of The Spirit Cage and Nightingale City, this should be the descending point.

At the same time, it was also one of the entrances to The Spirit Cage from Leila.

There were many entrances like this in The spirit Cage, and all cities above tier three had them.

It was said that when The Spirit Cage was first built, there were only forests and beasts around when the humans from Leila entered.

As more and more people entered The Spirit Cage, they slowly began to build the city around the descending point.

Only after some time did the current Spirit Cage become the second largest hub of human activity in Leila.

As David looked at the people coming and going through the various entrances to the descending point, he also wanted to go in and look around.

After thinking about it, he gave up on that thought.

He did not need this thing anyway. As long as he wanted to, he could leave The Spirit Cage and return to the real world at any time.

It was more crucial to spend money to get lavish points first.

With only two hundred lavish points, which was the equivalent of spending 20 billion L Dollars, his strength in the real world could go from his current Pre-Deity Rank to real Deity Rank.

‘Let’s see how I can spend 20 billion L Dollars!’

When turning around to leave the descending point, David found a strange man walking out from the exit of the descending point.

This man was not much different from other humans, and the only difference was that he had two fluffy wings behind him.

They were similar to a bird’s wing, only slightly larger.

‘A human with wings?’

It was the first time David had seen such a strange thing.

‘Is he the offspring of a human and some kind of bird?’

‘Humans and birds?’

No matter how David looked at it, he did not think these two races could be combined!

However, as an open-minded earthling, David could still accept it.

After all, in some television series on Earth, humans and snakes could even have children, so it would not be impossible to do the same with birds.

Once an animal became sentient, it would be no different from a human being after it took human form.

Of course, these were all stories fabricated by people on Earth.

It was still unknown whether animals could be cultivated into human form like in the myths they had on Earth.

As a youth of the new age, David would never have believed in such things.

However, he was a little shaken now.

He could accept a lot of things now that he had gone through so many strange occurrences.

After the man with wings on his back came out, he was followed by several others of the same race.

David also found out that the winged people, no matter if they were men or women, seemed to look much better than ordinary humans.

'Might be good genes.'
