

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2199

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2199-As the audience kept bidding, the price of the Elf women broke through the 50 billion mark.

It was so fast that it was astonishing.

Moreover, the price was still rising rapidly.

If this continued, breaking through the 100 billion mark would just be a matter of time.

It was as if what they were spending was not money.

This was something David did not expect.

At the same time, he could not understand this baffling phenomenon.

He saw how the people were. They looked as if they wanted to buy the women even if they had to spend their entire fortune.

Those who did not know better would think they were bidding for some kind of magical medicine that could make them soar to success.

'Are those women worth this?

'It is understandable for rich people to spend some money to buy women for their enjoyment, but why were they willing to spend their entire fortune on women?'

David did not understand the status of the Elf women in Leila, so he could not understand why everyone was so crazy.

If one bought an Elf woman with their entire fortune and then sold her off in a first-tier city, their worth would directly double.

If one did not make money when they had the chance, they would be fools.

In this world, aside from David, who would complain about having too much money?

“Mr. Rivers, is there anything special about the Elf women? How are they so valuable?” David asked in a low voice.

“Master David, you have no idea! The Elf women are a status symbol in Leila, but they are very limited and many direct descendants of powerful forces can only wish for them. So that’s why everyone is so crazy over them. As long as one has the women, they would have huge benefits no matter if they used the women to flatter the big shots or sell them in a first-tier city,” Thor explained.

“I see! Why are you not participating? This is such a great opportunity.”

“Master David, you must be joking. Of course, I want to have them. Unfortunately, most of my assets are on my goods so I don’t have that much money. We have to pay on the spot at the underground fair and delays are not allowed. So, I have no choice but to give up,” Thor smiled bitterly.

Of course, he also wanted to buy the women and make a fortune!

However, he did not have enough money, so what could he do?

They only started bidding at the 50 billion mark!

There were five Elf women, so if they were sold one by one, they could easily sell for more than 50 billion if everything went well.

Buying an Elf woman in The Spirit Cage did not mean that they could only enjoy the woman in The Spirit Cage. One could also force the woman to tell them her location in the real world and find her body in Leila.

Therefore, when it was time to leave The Spirit Cage and return to Leila, they would also have an Elf maid.

The Elves used to be far less popular than they were now.

Unexpectedly, in recent years, all major forces in Leila had been pursuing the Elf women, which led to the discovery of this phenomenon.

Of course, the Elven Queen was also promoting this.

Currently, the Elves were like the top-level luxury goods on Earth.

Aside from being expensive, they were also not something that could be bought with money as they were all symbols of nobility.

Occasionally, they would appear on the second-hand market and naturally attract countless people to fight for them.

Thor wanted to borrow some money from David.

After all, if David could take out 500 billion to pay back Pebbles' debts, he must not be short on money.

However, he did not know if David was going to join in the auction.

If he was, wouldn't Thor be biting the hand that fed him if he offended David by bidding against David using David's money?

If David was not going to bid, then Thor would ask.

If not, he would be so upset to watch such a huge benefit slipping away from right in front of his eyes.

After getting Thor's explanation, David was still confused.

Yet, his confusion did not affect the people on the scene's crazy bidding.

In a blink of an eye, the price rose by 30 billion and came to a sky-high price of 80 billion.

Even David, someone who did not care about money at all, felt that this was a little horrifying.

He shook his head.

'They're insane.'

However, when the price was raised to 80 billion, everyone started to lose enthusiasm.

Not everyone could fork out 80 billion as it was such an astronomical amount.

If it were assets, the people on the scene were all worth this, but their assets were useless.