I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2204-His combat strength would also increase accordingly.

Beyond partial Ancestral Deity Rank, he would be an Ancestral Deity.

This was also the last rank in Divine Realm.

Even if David had never been to level 9 civilization Leila and knew nothing about Leila, he could also guess that Ancestral Deities were not nobodies in Leila. They were definitely in the ranks of the powerful people.

However, his guess was still too conservative.

When David went to Leila, he would know about Leila's situation.

Ancestral Deity Rank was more than just stepping into the ranks of powerful people.

One had to know at there were only five Overlords in the entire Leila.

There were not a lot of partial Overlords too.

Further down would be the Ancestral Deities.

So, one could only imagine how powerful an Ancestral Deity was in Leila.

Although they were not number one, they were still among the top.

As long as David got to Leila as an Ancestral Deity, he would be able to do anything he wanted.

The chances of encountering a partial Overlord or a real Overlord were too low.

This kind of powerhouse would hardly show their faces easily.

The level 9 civilization was very large and it was already the highest level of civilization known in the universe.

As for the God Tier Civilization, it only existed in legends and no one had actually seen it.

Rumor had it that the entire universe was the God Tier Civilization containing many civilizations of level nine and below.

Leila was a level 9 civilization.

The Ener Region, which was controlled by the Robotias, was also a level 9 civilization.

However, the direction of development of the two sides was different.

One was to study the inside of the body and stimulate the potential, while the other was to study the outside of the body and be good at using external forces.

In fact, the Robotias were developing real technology.

They had already reached the pinnacle of science and technology, so they were abandoning their physical bodies to choose mechanical bodies.

The entire Ener Region was composed of various metals.

There was no soil, let alone plants and animals.

Instead, there was just endless mechanical life.

Mechanical life did not need to eat.

The energy sources that supported them came from all kinds of matter in the universe.

That was why the Robotias could not wait to find a way to invade other civilizations.

It was because the energy in the Ener Region had almost been exhausted by the Robotias after countless epochs of development.

To have the energy to continue to develop technology, the Robotias must invade the territory of other civilizations.

Leila was their primary target.

Once they occupied Leila, the energy contained in it was enough for the Robotias to develop for countless epochs.

When Leila's energy ran out, maybe the Robotias would have improved and could get energy from the universe's matters.

After the Elven Princess were sold, Black Fox just wanted to leave quickly and immediately announced that the underground trade fair had ended.

Everyone in the hall was stunned.

In every past underground trade fair, Black Fox would present three treasures for everyone to bid for.

However, why did he leave after auctioning the first one this time?

Many people could not help expressing their doubts.

Black Fox did not answer everyone's questions.

After the announcement, he quietly left.

In the end, the underground trade fair ended with many people feeling dissatisfied.

Some even decide secretly that they would not participate next time.

They still had no idea that there would be no future underground fair.

Black Fox would be gone forever and nobody would organize underground trade fairs anymore.

David and his gang went through many secret passages and returned to the Treasure Pavilion.

Following behind them were the five Elf women.

Now that David had paid for them, they belonged to David.

After they returned to Treasure Pavilion, David did not stop. He borrowed a carriage from Thor and took Beanie and the five Elf women, who were still in fear, to return to the mansion he bought
