

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2293

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2293

When a strange voice came from the sky, Sahar felt the pressure on him being lifted.

He could care about anything else.

He got up immediately and flew into the air.

'Aren't I the decision maker on Simmons Continent?

'I'm afraid that if I act too slowly, I will offend this strange person.'

As a True Saint, he could not even beat a Sacred Saint, not to mention an opponent who was a partial Deity with Divine Power, perhaps even a real Deity.

How would Sahar have the slightest resistance facing such a powerful opponent?

In less than three seconds, he came to the sky above Simmons Continent.

Then, he saw a man who was exerting great pressure by just hovering in the sky.

'He's too strong!'

Sahar felt the Saint Power in his body had almost stopped moving and could not function.

It was like a rushing river just now, but now, it had turned into a dry and smelly ditch.

"Sahar greets you, My Lord! I had no idea that you were coming so I didn't come to welcome you. Please forgive me."

Sahar cupped his fists and bowed at ninety degrees to Blue.

He kept his posture very low.

“Are you the person in charge of this continent?” Blue looked at Sahar and asked.

‘Yes, my Lord. My name is Sahar Simmons and I am the person in charge of Simmons Continent,’ Sahar replied in a low voice.

He still bowed at ninety degrees and did not dare to get up without permission.

“Introduce me to your civilization. By the way, tell me who are the strong ones and who’s the strongest one here.”

‘Yes, my Lord!’

Sahar recomposed his thoughts and then began to briefly introduce Blue to Star Kingdom.

At the same time, he was thinking in his heart, ‘He came from another higher civilization as I have guessed.’

Suddenly, a light flashed in Sahar’s eyes.

‘If I can please him and get him to accept me as his subordinate, wouldn’t I be invincible in Star Kingdom in the future?’

‘David and the six Saints would all have to bow their noble heads in front of me.’

‘If I can be favored by him, the first thing I will do is kill David and let him know what will happen to him if he offends the Simmons family.’

Sahar would never spare David.

When David came to the family house back then, he not only killed Nek, another Saint in the Simmons family beside him, but he also made Sahar’s unhealed injuries even more serious.

Sahar had always been brooding about this matter.

He had been thinking about the time he could take revenge.

Now the opportunity had finally come.

A powerhouse with supernatural power had come to Star Kingdom, and this would definitely usher in a big change.

Therefore, Sahar must seize this opportunity.

After listening to Sahar's brief introduction, Blue frowned slightly.

"According to what you said just now, there is no powerhouse beyond Saint Realm here? The strongest are the six Sacred Saints?"

"Yes, my Lord. Star Kingdom is only a level 7 civilization. Naturally, there is no one beyond Saint Realm, but now that you are here, my Lord, you are the number one in Star Kingdom," Sahar complimented.

After Simmons Continent activated the formation and implemented the blockade policy, not even a trace of information could be transmitted, so it could be said that Sahar had no idea what happened in Star Kingdom during this period.

Naturally, he did not know about the battle between David and Azul.

He did not know that David had now surpassed Saint Realm and had become a national idol.

It was such a coincidence that Blue chose Simmons Continent.

If he picked another living planet at random, he would have known about David saving Star Kingdom.