I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2323-Leila, a level 9 civilization.

Outside the forbidden area of the Feather family, a large team of more than ten people stood in an orderly manner.

The leader was a middle-aged man with a dark face.

He was Ward Feather, the head of the Feather family.

The dozen or so people behind Ward were the absolute core of the Feather family, people who were qualified to participate in determining the fate of the Feather family.

Without exception, even the weakest of these ten was a beginner Pre-Deity.

They were the backbone of the entire Feather family.

Blue was originally one of them.

However, he had been killed by David.

They were at the place where the number one of the Feather family, Grandmaster Bertram, lived in seclusion.

No one was allowed to disturb him unless it was very serious.

If Ward and the others in the team were the pillars of the Feather family, then Bertram was the stabilizing force of the family. As long as he was around, the Feather family would not fall.

Even if it did, it could still be rebuilt since Bertram was one of Leila's few Ancestral Deities.

He was a giant who could intimidate anyone.

Otherwise, it would be impossible for the Feather family to grow to the scale it is today if they had only just relied on Ward, the Pre-Deities, and a few Primordial Deity grandmasters.

To put it simply and bluntly, the height of the strength of the most powerful person would determine the limit of this force.

If one accidentally crossed this limit, he would be the cat's paw.

This unspoken rule applied everywhere.

Whether Earth, the Milky Way, Star Kingdom, or Leila, it was all the same.

Ward's purpose in coming to the forbidden area was naturally because of Blue's death.

The death of a Pre-Deity core member was not a small loss for the Feather family.

One must know that apart from the several Primordial Deity grandmasters and Grandmaster Bertram, who had been living in seclusion all year round, the Pre-Deities were the ones in the family who were active and there were only a dozen of them in total.

Now that one was dead, it was a very big matter.

Since this involved the death of a Pre-Deity, Ward, as head of the family, also realized the seriousness of the matter.

Therefore, he had to come to interrupt Grandmaster Bertram's seclusion and seek his decision.

"Current head of the Feather family, Ward, has led all the core members of the family to visit you, Grandmaster Bertram. Please punish us accordingly for disturbing your peace," Ward got on his knees and shouted respectfully.

"We came with Lord Ward to pay respects to you. Grandmaster Bertram. Please punish us accordingly for disturbing your peace."

The rest of the core members of the Feather family followed Ward to kneel on the ground and shouted in unison.

The forbidden area was quiet and they could not hear anything emanating from it.

Ward and the others could only kneel and wait quietly, not daring to make the slightest movement.

It took about a few minutes before an old voice said from the forbidden area.

“What is it?”

“Grandmaster, Blue, one of the core members of the family, died suddenly when he went to perform a mission in a level 7 civilization. Since this is about a Pre-Deity, I don’t dare to be careless, so I came to ask you for instructions,” Ward replied.

“Do you know who did it?”

“I don’t know!” Ward shook his head.

“Any clues?”

“None!” Ward continued shaking his head.
