

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2464

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2464-Instead, she was someone who could decide the sect's fate.

"Master Ted, Master Coda, all of The Krums' disciples, goodbye! We'll meet again on Mt. Surr a month later."

After Lorraine said that, she turned to say to Celeste." Celeste, let's go."

"Okay." Celeste then tore the space open and the trio walked in.

She finally understood after listening to their conversation.

Lorraine did not show her strength in front of the elders of her sect.

Her sect got into trouble and she wanted to help, but too bad they did not believe her.

So that was why she called them over.

Celeste did not know Lorraine's purpose and did not bother to ask.

As for Nova?

She cared even less about such trivial matters.

After the three disappeared in the crack and the space went back to normal, the disciples in the sect still had not come back to their senses.

"Lorraine is like a goddess descending from heaven! No one could forget her after just one look," a male disciple murmured.

"Stop thinking about it. Do you think you can even peep at people like Lorraine? You should look at yourself. You're craving for something you're not worthy of," a female disciple retorted from the side.

"I didn't say I want anything to do with her. Can't I just admire her? I think you're jealous of her."

"Tch, what's there to be jealous about? You just said that she's a goddess descending from heaven. I'm just an ordinary person so why would I feel jealous of a goddess? I know myself, but I am indeed envious of her. It'll be so great if I can be like her one day."

"You? Let me return what you said to me just now to you. Go back and take a good look in the mirror!"

'You...' The female disciple was flustered.

"What? Am I wrong? Do you think you can compare to a goddess like Lorraine?"

The female and male disciples argued with each other equally harshly.

Meanwhile, the rest focused on Lorraine's senior and the head of the Iridescent Sect.

"Didn't you guys notice Lorraine's senior? That woman in a red long dress? She is somewhat similar to Lorraine, don't you think? I think those two are equally excellent and they have a quality that will make it impossible for a man to avert their eyes after looking at them."

"I feel that way too. I thought I was delusional."

"Me too!"

"Me too!"

The disciples answered, one after another.

Celeste and Lorraine had the same physique and alluring body.

So naturally, they were similar.

Whenever men saw an alluring body, they would be head over heels.

Meanwhile, Nova, the head of the Iridescent Sect, was not too inferior to the other two.

If she could become the head of the seven high priestesses, her talent and looks must be flawless.

However, she would seem dull compared to the two alluring bodies.

After all, the alluring body was too attractive to men.

The formless energy if emitted could increase the male hormones drastically.

No one could resist the temptation of an alluring body.

The hall was in an uproar. They were all discussing Lorraine and the others.

At this moment, a voice rang out over the disciples' voices. "Enough, stop talking. You're not qualified to talk about the two powerhouses. You're not allowed to spread anything you see today. If this is exposed and Mt. Surr got wind of this in advance and ruin our plan, you will suffer the consequences," Ted said sternly.

'Yes, Master!' All of the sect's disciples in the hall answered together.