

Read I Am A Quadrillionaire Chapter 2488

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2488-What she saw was a handsome face.

Pebbles had seen this face countless times in her dream.

The strange thing was that she had forgotten everything but this face.

As she looked at the familiar face, the little girl's eyes widened, and she was totally awake. She squealed in a childish voice, "D-Davey? Y-You're out!"

David smiled and nodded.

"Yeah, I'm out, and the moment I did, I came straight to you. You should go to sleep if you're tired, Pebbles. I'm here, so everything will be fine. I am your strong support so if anyone dares to bully you, I'll beat them up."

How could the little girl sleep now? As she looked at David, her vision became blurry and she burst into tears.

"Boohoo! Davey, I miss you so much! I've been wandering for so long just to look for you, but I couldn't find you anywhere."

"Pebbles, good girl, stop crying, Davey's here!" David comforted her.

The little girl hugged David tightly and slowly fell asleep while crying.

She was already full, so she needed to sleep to digest the treasures in her body and restore her damaged soul.

Seeing that Pebbles had fallen asleep, David turned and left the room.

Beanie was at the door and standing there quietly the entire time. She did not go up to disturb the reunion.

"Beanie, you said that Rivers discovered Pebbles, right?" David walked over and asked.

"Yes, Master! Rivers said that when he met Pebbles in front of the shop, she was all dirty like a wandering beggar," Beanie replied.

“Tell Rivers to come back and tell me how he met Pebbles.”

“Yes, Master, Rivers is already on his way back.”

After half an hour, David sat in the living room with Pebbles in his arms.

Meanwhile, Beanie sat on the other side with Thor.

After listening to Thor’s detailed account of the encounter, David frowned.

According to what Rivers said, Pebbles should have been wandering in Amber City for a long time.

Yet, this time was different from last time.

Last time, the little girl relied on her speed to steal and was chased by many businessmen including Thor.

However, this time she remembered what David said and did not steal a single treasure.

This made David feel quite relieved.

As to how Pebbles got to this point and what she encountered after she left, Thor had no idea.

When he met the little girl, she looked like a little beggar and she had forgotten everything except for David.

However, Thor still told David his analysis.

There was only one possibility for Pebbles to be in this situation.

Her soul had been severely wounded.

She would selectively remember what was most important to her and forget the rest.

There were some similarities between what Thor said and what David had in mind.

Something must have happened to the little girl’s family.

After her memory was restored, she might want to take revenge.

As a result, she was defeated by the enemy again, causing her soul to be damaged so she returned to The Spirit Cage to recover.

'Sigh, why bother doing all this?' David sighed helplessly in his heart.

He thought, 'Can't she tell me directly?

'If there is any problem, we can discuss it and face it together.

'If the enemy is so strong that I cannot rival them, we can wait until I break through to the peak of Overlord Realm, or even further, before we seek revenge together.'

According to the past rules of the system, Heavenly Overlord Rank should be the highest combat power in Leila.

If he went one step further, he could absolutely solve any troubles and problems.