I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2490-Half a month later, a young man walked out of the descending point in Amber City.

The moment he appeared, many people came over to him. The butler in the lead called out respectfully, "Master Perry!"

"Hey." The young man nodded and grunted a reply.

Then, he continued to walk forward.

The people behind him followed.

"Master Perry, Lord Egan asked you to go back," the butler chased after him and said.

"Got it. I'll go back in a bit," the young man said casually.

"But Master Perry, Lord Egan is waiting for you now."

"He's waiting for me? Alright, I got it, I'll go now." The young man was already a little impatient.

He finally came to The Spirit Cage and he did not have the time to enjoy himself before being scolded by Uncle Egan. Of course, he would be pissed.

However, he did not dare to go against Uncle Egan.

That was someone who was among the ranks in the Campbell family.

If Egan was not happy with him, Perry would suffer.

The young man walked in the direction of the Campbell family's base camp, with the old butler following behind.

Three more days passed.

Beanie and Thor raised the price of Amber City's treasures repeatedly and eventually, they got into big trouble.

Not even Arian could help them now.

Because the person involved this time was the Campbell family, one of the three major families in Amber City.

The Birch, Campbell, and Vidales families took turns to be in charge of Amber City, and, in the real world Leila, they were all top forces.

They all had partial Overlords watching over the families.

In the face of such a powerful family, Arian, the captain of the Amber City law enforcement team, was powerless.

To the Campbell family, Arian would be the captain of the Amber City law enforcement team when they wanted to play nice, if they did not, he was nothing.

The reason was very simple.

The direct descendant of the Campbell family, Perry, was back.

When Perry was in The Spirit Cage previously, he secretly found some businessmen who helped him make money and cultivate his power.

Using the name of the Campbell family, these businessmen were unscrupulous and arrogant in The Spirit Cage. They would buy and sell by force.

They were notorious in the Amber City business circle.

Most of the benefits were taken by Perry. The rest of the businessmen could only look for scraps.

Later, Perry was summoned by his family, left The Spirit Cage, and returned to the real world.

That group of businessmen then kept a low profile.

They were already ruining the Campbell family's name with what they did. With Perry gone, no one in the Campbell family would protect them.

Now, Perry was back all of a sudden.

When they heard that someone was competing with them for business in Amber City, and that person was the reason they could not make any money recently, they could no longer sit still.

So what if they had Arian as their backer?

Arian was nothing to Perry.

So, the conflict started.

Perry was domineering and arrogant.

He would not suffer any grievances since he was backed by Leila's top power, the Campbell family.

When he found that someone was constantly driving up the price of Amber City's treasures, Perry directly brought his people to find them.

How dare they threaten Perry's interest?

They were simply looking for death.

Amber City Center.

A large group of people were crowding in front of Jumbo Court.

Jumbo Court was Thor's shop in Amber City.

It was also the main source for David to obtain lavish points.

"Master Perry, this is the boss of Jumbo Court. During your absence, he has been driving up the price of treasures and taking almost more than 80% of the share. We can't even get scraps!" A businessman with a beer belly complained to Perry.

"That's right! Master Perry, the price proposed by Jumbo Court is too high. So, the bosses who have treasures to sell will all come here. Moreover, they have Captain Longer's help. It's not that we are not capable, but we are powerless!"

"Master Perry, please help us!" The group of businessmen began to cry.
