I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2519-Two days went by very quickly.

David's lavish points came to 2.7 million after rising rapidly for the past two days.

It was only one step away from 2.8 million.

There was still a long line in front of Jumbo Court.

There were a lot of people who were not afraid of death, betting that the battle would not start so soon. They wanted to get the money before leaving.

As the saying goes, 'Man dies in pursuit of wealth as birds die in pursuit of food'.

With money, they could do anything in the real world.

At least, they would not have problems surviving.

They had been working so hard in The Spirit Cage for so long. No one was willing to give up everything and go back empty-handed.

David did some calculations.

If everything continued at this speed, David could get 2.8 million lavish points in two more hours.

When the time came, he could leave The Spirit Cage and go back to the real world to make a breakthrough.

However, before that, he still needed to see someone to ask a small favor.

The moment he walked out of the door with Pebbles sleeping in his arms, he felt countless spies from the Campbell family staring at him.

David could feel these people's breathing getting rapid.

A lot of them seemed to be losing their heads out of fear.

They were looking at him with wonder, fear, and panic in their eyes.

The Campbell family's guards were not idiots.

They knew very well that since David was so calm after he publicly killed Perry, the direct descendant of the Campbell family, and Miss Fabiola of the Marche family, he would not be someone ordinary.

What if he was prompted by an impulse and killed them because he was annoyed by them? They would die in vain.

So, everyone was looking at David with fear in their eyes.

To be honest, they did not want to come to monitor this bringer of bad luck who suddenly appeared in Amber City and dared to challenge the authority of the Campbell family.

However, they were the Campbell family's guards, so they could only obey.

If not, they would suffer an even worse ending.

David was not bothered by the gazes on him and continued his journey.

He was heading to the mayor's residence.

The Campbell family's guards followed him the whole way.

They did not dare to get too close to him and only followed from afar.

Some of them were sending messages back to the family and would constantly update them about David's whereabouts.

When he got to the mayor's residence, David was stopped by the guards.

"Please stop here, Sir. Anyone without urgent matters is not allowed to enter the mayor's residence."

The two guards guarding the mayor's residence saw how aristocratic, outstanding, and classy David was. So they knew he was not an ordinary person and were not rude to him.

They had been guards at the mayor's residence for many years. They did not have any other skills but they did have discerning eyes.

The two could tell from a glance that David was not simple.

“Please tell Mayor Salem that David is here to see him,” David said courteously.

This was not the first time he’s come to the mayor’s residence in Amber City. However, the last time he came here, these two guards were not the ones on duty.

They should be new and they might be operating on a shift basis.

‘David?’ The two guards were shocked when they heard this name.

In the past few days, David’s name was very well-known in Amber City.

The people at the bottom of society might not understand, but as the guards of the mayor’s residence in Amber City, they were well connected.

So, they knew David was the reason for the chaos in Amber City.

He was also the person who killed the direct descendants of the Campbell and Marche families.

People described David as a bringer of bad luck who would kill without hesitation.

From what they could see now, it seemed that David did not match the description.

If David was really a bringer of bad luck who killed without hesitation, how could he speak so courteously?
