

Read I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2565

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2565-The power of Lufian's Overlord Inferno was not comparable to that of Elora.

Their strengths were not at the same level, so their power was naturally very different.

The dozen or so mechanical behemoths enveloped in the flames did not notice the crisis as they had absolute confidence in their bodies.

They figured that since they were made by Mother, could Lufian destroy them with just a few flames?

What nonsense!

"Haha! Human, you underestimate the Robotias too much. Do you know how high a temperature our bodies can withstand? Flames have no effect on us." A mechanical behemoth laughed loudly.

"Really? I hope you can still laugh after this!" Lufian gave them a demonic grin.

The color of the flame began to change slowly and it gradually turned golden.

Gold also represented supremacy.

The behemoths sensed that something was wrong.

The surface of their bodies began to show signs of melting.

And it was melting faster and faster.

Before they could even attack Lufian, under the golden Overlord Inferno flames, the mechanical behemoths disintegrated into separate entities smaller than human beings.

And that was not all.

After the disintegration, they still could not escape the attack of Overlord Inferno.

These golden flames were like maggots attached to bones, tightly wrapping over them.

No matter how hard they tried, they still could not get rid of it.

Those below Lv 5 level were directly reduced to ashes. On the other hand, the Lv 5s were still barely holding on.

Judging from their situation, they might not be able to last long.

The Robotias' Lv 5 was equivalent to Deities.

In other words, anyone below Divine Realm would die immediately upon touching Lufian's golden Overlord Inferno.

That was how horrifying the golden flame was.

There were only five Lv 6, equivalent to Overlords. They looked more relaxed but it was still not so easy for them to escape the Overlord Inferno.

"Impossible! This is absolutely impossible! How could a mere flame melt our bodies?"

"Mother! Save us!"

Feeling the horror of these golden flames attached to their bodies, the Robotias began to cry out to the mother brain for help.

There were thunderous wails at the scene.

Even though the Robotias were mechanical and their way of reproduction was far from that of naturally formed life, each of them had a mind of its own.

They knew what the individual T meant.

"You want to call for help now? Will it help? Go to hell!" Lufian roared angrily.

As his energy surged, his body also disappeared.

He reappeared in front of one of the Lv 6s.

With a casual punch, the Lv 6 trying to put out the golden flame was smashed into countless pieces.

A red crystal floated where the Lv 6 was smashed, trying to escape.

Yet, how would Lufian allow it?

Stretching out his hand, he grabbed the red crystal and squeezed it lightly.

Smash!

The red crystal shattered.

One should not underestimate this: it was the hub that controlled the Robotia.

After Lufian crushed it, the Robotias, whose strength had reached Overlord Realm, died.

A Heavenly Overlord fighting a Supreme Overlord or an Ancient Overlord was like an adult fighting a child of three or five years old.

A partial Heavenly Overlord could be regarded as an eighty-year-old who could never match an adult opponent.

However, if dozens of seven or eight-year-olds had weapons, the adult might suffer a disadvantage.

Lufian killed a Lv 6 in just a split second.

He was so fast that the Robotias around did not have time to react.

“Next!”

As soon as he said that, Lufian disappeared again.