I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2571-In the center of Mother's body was a strange space.

It was different from the outside world.

All kinds of vines grew densely, filling the entire space.

It was almost endless, and at a glance, full of green vines.

However, when one ventured deep into the vines, they would find an egg inside.

It was unknown what kind of creature left it there.

It was hard to imagine what kind of creature could lay such a huge egg.

Numerous cracks had already appeared around the eggshell, but it was not broken yet.

Thin streams of red light emanated from the cracks in the eggshell, casting a crimson hue over the vicinity.

At this time, the giant egg was shaking violently. It seemed like the thing inside it wanted to break out.

The emitting red light also became brighter and brighter.

The egg was Mother's core.

In other words, Mother's terrifyingly large body was controlled by this egg.

No, it should be the creature in the egg.

The voice that was talking to Lufian just now also came from this egg.

If Lufian were here, he would be shocked to see that the enemy he had attacked for a long time was an egg.

The creature in the egg had not yet broken out of its shell, but it already possessed the combat power of a partial Heavenly Overlord.

So, one could imagine how terrifying the creature's strength would be if it broke out of the egg.

At the very least, it would not be weaker than Lufian who had only just stepped into Heavenly Overlord Rank.

Once the news spread, it would definitely cause a huge sensation.

The Mother of the Robotias is an unborn egg?

Who would have guessed?

Those civilizations that were devoured by the Robotias would be incredulous if they knew the truth.

A dignified level 8 civilization was eaten by an egg?

It was the most ridiculous thing in the world.

However, that was the truth.

Even if no one believed it, it was why things happened.

In fact, the reason the Robotias continued to invade and devour various civilizations was so that they could channel all the excess energy into this egg, in addition to creating countless Robotias warriors to protect Mother.

The purpose was to provide enough energy for the creature in the egg so that it could break out of the egg one day.

So Mother was not lying.

It was indeed waiting for its master.

When its master left, he warned it not to get involved with a level 9 civilization, but it could devour other civilizations at will.

At first, the creature in the egg was able to obey its master's instructions.

It would start with low civilizations and move up step by step.

However, as it devoured more and more civilizations and became stronger and stronger, it gradually began to be dissatisfied with the status quo.

It felt that devouring level 8 civilizations would be too slow and it did not know how long it would take before it could be born.

So it came up with the idea of trying its luck with a level 9 civilization.

It had the trump card left by its master anyway.

In case of any uncontrollable or unexpected situations, it could still escape.

Coincidentally, level 9 civilization Leila was right next to it.

After a long contemplation, Mother decided to make Leila her first goal.

According to its calculation, the territory of a level 9 civilization was incomparable to a level 8 civilization.

After devouring Leila, it would have accumulated enough energy to break out of its shell and become a Heavenly Overlord beast.

Yet unexpectedly, there was a Heavenly Overlord in Leila.

It was beyond Mother's expectations.

If it knew, would it attack Leila?

Wouldn't it be better to bypass Leila and find other civilizations?

Why provoke a Heavenly Overlord?

Now, it had not gained any advantage but even suffered a loss.

Mother was unable to speak of its bitter suffering.

According to its master, there were very few Heavenly Overlords among the countless level 9 civilizations in the universe. There were not even a hundred of them.
