

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2584-The other smaller forces in Amber City knew that David was a big shot.

He was fine after killing descendants of the Campbell and Marche family. Not a lot of people in Leila could do that.

At the same time, he was from a major force, probably the heir too.

Within major factions, there was also a significant difference in status among the direct descendants.

For example, the difference between the direct descendant and the heir was miles apart.

The heir had a chance to be the head of the family.

Even if they failed, they would still be the absolute core senior in the end.

The same could not be said for other direct descendants.

Therefore, all the forces in Amber City hoped to have a good relationship with David.

Coincidentally, Arian spread the news that David liked to collect treasures and real estate. So, one could only imagine the scene.

If you wanted to please a big shot, the best way, of course, was to adapt to their taste.

The various forces in Amber City began to try their best to find all kinds of precious treasures for David.

Not only could they get money, but they could also curry favor with David.

It was simply killing two birds with one stone!

So why not?

So in the past six months, the increase in David's lavish points was not too slow.

Although not as crazy as the last time when everyone lined up to sell and leave The Spirit Cage, it was still not bad. At least, it was much better than usual.

In half a year, David's lavish points had accumulated to nearly 8 million.

It was only 2 million short of the 10 million needed to break through.

However, there was also bad news.

Over time, the enthusiasm to please David began to gradually cool down.

As a result, David's lavish points grew slower and slower.

This was human nature and something that could not be helped.

A trend could not be maintained for a long time.

According to the average of the past 6 months, it would take David, at most, two months to get two million lavish points.

However, judging by the last month, it might take longer.

David did not care.

He would break through sooner or later anyway.

It would be fine even if it was a few days late.

Now, there was no potential threat.

He finally understood that if he wanted his lavish points to skyrocket, he had to start something.

That had always worked well.

Pebbles had grown a lot in the past six months. She was already a 13 or 14-year-old girl.

Memories from the past kept appearing in her mind.

However, they were still not very complete, so she did not tell David.

She decided to have a good talk with David after she recalled everything. She would tell him everything then.

Her growth and her memory recovery also had a certain impact on the little girl's character.

She was no longer as cheerful as when she was a child. Now, she liked to sit alone on the roof and look up at the sky.

David would always sit with Pebbles without asking anything.

The two of them just sat together quietly.

Sometimes she would sit in David's arms and put her arms around David's neck to breathe in David's scent.

She would go back to those memory fragments and slowly piece them together.
