

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2591-“Pebbles, are you sure Davey is in here?” Sylvio asked again.

“Of course! I the door for him every time he goes into seclusion. I will beat anyone who dares to disturb him.” After the little girl said that, she lifted her right fist and waved it. Then, she added seriously, “Sylvio, you shouldn’t disturb Davey. If not, I will beat you up even if you’re my master.”

Sylvio smiled after he heard that. He could tell David’s position in her heart from her words.

It was pretty high and Lufian could never compare to it.

Perhaps this was the so-called fate.

The pursuit and companionship of hundreds of epochs were not worth the few years spent with others.

The god of destiny made fools of people.

Some things were like this.

The more you seek, the more you will not get it.

As the saying goes, a carefully bedded flower might not blossom, while a casually planted willow might survive.

If Elora was interested in Lufian, they would already have ended up together.

It was a pity that he lost to fate in the end.

It was hard to figure out how fate worked.

Even with Zwei Arithmetics when Sylvia could seek good luck and avoid bad, he still could not understand.

He could only see a little part of it.

Nevertheless, this small part was what enabled him to progress to his current level despite his lack of natural talent.

So, one could see how terrifying and mysterious the way of destiny was.

If anyone could figure out how destiny worked, they would have a bright future.

“Of course I won’t! I know I hate people disturbing me when I’m in seclusion, so naturally, I won’t do such a thing.” Sylvio laughed.

“That’s more like it.” The little girl nodded happily.

Then, she asked curiously, “Sylvio, did you come here to find me?”

“You can say that,” Sylvio replied.

Of course, he came specifically to see Elora.

Lufian fusion his dual souls to achieve Heavenly Overlord Rank and affected a lot of things.

Currently, only Elora could restrain him.

Yet, at the same time, he had another purpose coming here. That was to meet David.

He wanted to see if the variable David could deal with Lufian.

However, Elora had lost her memory so Sylvio did not know how to tell her.

‘Then, can you tell me about the past, Sylvio?’

“I can, but the effect won’t be very good if I tell you. It will be much better if you remember it yourself,” Sylvio thought for a while and said.

He was right.

When it came to some things, finding out from others and remembering were completely different things.

Moreover, Elora had lived for thousands of epochs, so where should he start?

Especially when it came to Lufian. Sylvio had no idea how he should start.

“But my mind is in a mess right now. A lot of my memories are fragmented and I can’t put them together at all. If I try to think slightly harder, I will feel a splitting headache,” the little girl said with a painful expression on her face.

‘This is the repercussion after suffering trauma to your soul. I will help you later to see if I can help you restore some memories.’
