

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2592-After living for such a long age, Sylvio had some knowledge of healing souls.

Combined with the special elixir he developed, it would work even better.

“Really? That’s great! Sylvio, let’s start now! I want to restore my memory quickly.”

Pebbles immediately beamed.

For some reason, in her subconscious mind, she trusted the old man very much.

She could also feel that he was not hostile and wanted to do this for her good.

“Not now. I need some special elixirs as assistance to achieve better results. Pebbles, just stay here and watch over Davey. Wait for me, I’ll go to the mayor’s mansion to collect some elixirs and I’ll be back soon,” Sylvio ordered.

With his identity and status in Leila, the people in the mayor’s residence would do their best to help find any treasures he wanted and not waste anytime.

As long as Sylvio instructed the other party not to disclose his location, he believed no one would dare to break that agreement.

Only after collecting the elixir could he better help Elora restore her soul.

“No need, Sylvio. Davey bought a lot of treasures of heaven and earth to help me recover. Go have a look and see what you need. You can take anything you need.”

“Really? Bring me to see if there is anything I need. If there is, it will save me a lot of trouble.”

“Um... Sylvio, I’ll tell you where it is and you can go by yourself. I have to watch the door for Davey so I can’t leave.” The little girl looked as if she was in a dilemma.

She wanted to take Sylvio there, but she could not leave.

What if someone came to disturb Davey after she left?

Although that possibility was slim, the little girl could not gamble with Davey’s safety.

When it came to Davey’s safety, she would nip any potential danger in the bud.

“Pebbles, it should be fine! It’s just for a short while. Just take me there and come back. Besides, will anyone disturb him here?”

“No, Sylvio, I promised Davey that I would guard the door for him. I can’t leave under any circumstances, not even for a short while. You should go alone! I’ll tell you the location,” the little girl said seriously.

David’s importance to her was self-evident.

Now that she lost her memory again, she only remembered David, not even Sylvio.

So one could see how high David’s status was in Pebbles’ heart.

“Oh, you.” Sylvio smiled bitterly and shook his head.

He was now even more sure of David’s importance in Elora’s heart. She genuinely did not want to move even an inch!

“Sylvio, why don’t you go outside and find a guard? I’ll ask him to take you there.”

Pebbles’ eyes suddenly lit up and she said quickly.

“Alright!” Sylvio nodded.

He could find it himself, but such important places were usually guarded.

To avoid trouble, it would be better to have someone lead the way.

Anyway, it would not take much time.

Soon Sylvio found a guard.

He subdued the other party before he could even react, brought him over, and then untied him.

Before the guard could cry for help, Pebbles said, “Don’t panic, this is my master. Take him to the treasure room to get some treasures. I will explain to David later.”

“Yes, Miss,” the guard said respectfully to Pebbles.

Who did not know that little Princess Pebbles was the master’s sweetheart?

Her words were the master’s words.

It might even be more useful than the words of the master because the master would listen to her.

Everyone here was envious of little Princess Pebbles.

Even if she asked for the stars in the sky, the master would pick them for her without hesitation.

Moreover, the master was a big shot. The mayor, the captain of the law enforcement team, and the heads of the major forces in Amber City all want to curry favor with him.
