I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2605-Inside the secret room, Sylvio let out a long exhale.

The injuries to his soul were 80% healed. So, it would not affect him in his next task.

After that, he started to make medicine to help Elora recover her soul.

After it was done, Sylvio opened the door of the secret room.

When David and Pebbles saw him, they walked over and greeted him at the same time.

“Sylvio!”

“Sylvio!”

“Hey, the medicine is done. We can help Pebbles recover her soul now,” Sylvio said.

“That’s great! Sylvio, do you need a quieter room?” David asked happily.

“No need. I think this room is good enough. The soundproofing is also good. Let’s not waste time and do it here.”

Sylvio was anxious as well.

He had no idea what was happening out there.

Lufian was like a time bomb. He could detonate at any time if he could not find Elora.

Moreover, it would be devastating.

The entire Leila would be affected.

“Alright, I’ll keep watch outside for you. I’ll make sure no one disturbs you.”

Sylvio nodded and looked at Pebbles.

“Come in with me. No one will disturb us this time.”

After he said that, he turned to walk into the room.

Pebbles looked at David and followed Sylvio into the secret room.

Meanwhile, David kept watch outside.

Three days later.

Inside the secret room.

Sylvio slowly removed his hand from Pebbles' head.

No, she was not Pebbles now. It would be more appropriate to call her Elora.

It was because she had recovered her memories.

She remembered everything.

She was Empress Elora, one of the five Leila rulers.

Of course, the experiences of her soul being damaged twice and being forced to come to The Spirit Cage were something she could never forget.

Even though it was just a few years, Elora felt happier in here than all of her time outside combined.

She wanted to stay in The Spirit Cage and stay by David's side.

“Sylvio, why are you here as well?” Elora opened her eyes and asked.

“You remember everything?” Sylvio did not answer but asked.

“Yes, I remember everything.” Elora nodded.

“That's good. I came to find you.”

“Are the Robotias and the Soul Devourers attacking us?”

However, even though I have recovered my memory, I'm still a soul. I don't have a body yet. I can't cast a lot of the secret techniques, and my combat power is limited, so I might not be able to help much. I might even become a burden to you." Elora shook her head.

She forgot to mention another thing.

She would be at a bigger disadvantage fighting the Soul Devourers with her soul. She could only let them abuse her.

Of course, Sylvio knew this.

"It's not that." Sylvio brushed aside what Elora said.

"Not that? What is it then?" Elora asked curiously.

"Elora, what I'm about to tell you next is very important. You have to be prepared."

"Tell me, Sylvio. I'm all ears."
