

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2729-The Southern Region of Five Continent.

The area near the edge of the Elven Forest.

After walking a little further, one would reach the junction of the Elven Forest and the Misty Forest.

The Misty Forest was the Vingeans' territory.

The Misty Forest, as its name suggested, was shrouded in dense fog all year round and it had very low visibility.

Most people could not even tell what direction they are facing when they entered.

Only the Vingeans living inside could go on with their activities without being affected.

Once the Vingeans took the Elven women into the Misty Forest, it was basically impossible for the women to come out.

A lot of Elven women were busy going about their business in a small valley near the Misty Forest in the Elven Forest.

There were thousands or perhaps even tens of thousands of them.

Elven Queen Isa was hiding in the dark, quietly waiting for David and Evie to arrive.

At the same time, they were also waiting for the arrival of the Vingeans.

The plan this time was actually not complicated.

First, Isa would secretly release the news.

Near the junction of the Elven Forest and the Misty Forest, one would find the Water of Life or the Fountain of Youth.

That was something that would only appear in the Elven Forest. Thus, it was extremely rare and considered priceless.

It was one of the most precious treasures of the Elves.

It was even more valuable than Elven women.

After all, only male dignitaries would like and need Elven women.

However, everyone would need the Water of Life.

As everyone knew, after reaching Eternal Realm, a person would have a lifespan of at least one epoch.

If one did not reach Eternal Realm, their life span would be very short.

Yet, some treasures could prolong life. The Water of Life was one such treasure.

It was also the treasure with the best effect.

This treasure was more important than anything else to people who were about to break through to Eternal Realm just as their lives were coming to an end.

They would spend all of their money to buy it.

Extending one's lifespan meant having the opportunity to breakthrough Eternal Realm and be reborn again.

The temptation was too great.

The Water of Life did more than that.

It also had another name—the Fountain of Youth.

Women could stay young forever after taking a certain amount of it.

Even if a woman below Eternal Realm took it, it would still be effective.

The appeal of eternal youth to women was self-evident.

Not only that, but the Water of Life could also be taken to replenish vitality when one's body was severely injured. That way, it would ensure the injured have enough time for treatment.

Carrying some of the Water of Life with one could save lives at critical moments.

Therefore, every time the Water of Life appeared, it would cause people to swarm to it frenziedly.

It was much more popular than Elven women as its value was on a whole other level.

However, the Water of Life would only appear in the Elven Forest in small amounts, and never in the Misty Forest next to it.

Sending carefully cultivated Elven women was just one of the reasons why Isa could get the favor of Leila's major forces.

She also ignored the opposition of the Elven elders and insisted on taking out the Water of Life that the Elves had stored for many years. Only then was she recognized by Leila's major forces.

Of course, time proved that Isa did the right thing.

At least now the Elves could walk openly around Leila.

Only the Vingeans were still secretly abducting Elven women because of their geographical advantage.

The Water of Life in this valley was not fake as it truly existed.

Isa had already discovered it long ago, but she just never came to collect it.

The location of the small valley was near the junction of the two races, so the risk that came with its collection was high.

If they were discovered by the Vingeans, it might cause a repeat of the previous tragedy.

Isa did not dare to take risks, so she had always waited for an opportunity to halsanally saw some hope of revenge when David showed up.
